on Sunday be right back folks [Music] [Applause] [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening - your own horrible podcast I'm your host Marc Pascoe my website what on earth is happening calm before the break I was talking about the loof on PA East Coast Conference and that's this coming Saturday and Sunday October 15th and 16th at the Four Points Sheraton Philadelphia Northeast and for more information on that great conference you can go to their website main line MUFON comm you could also go to MUFON PA dot-com and get more information and get tickets so that's the one announcement I have for today I want to do a very brief recap of the topics that we have been talking about over the past many weeks and you can find some of the images that go along with this talk at my website what on earth is happening calm on the radio show page just click the radio show tab with a button on the upper left-hand side of the page and underneath the player there you'll see images for today's show and there's 14 images listed there I'm taking a look at image number 2 right now and it is the expressions of natural law we talked about this many weeks ago and you can go back in the podcast archive and listen to any of these shows if you're new a new listener to the show I highly recommend going back to podcast number one and starting at the very beginning because as I've said many times this information that I present here on this radio show is a tapestry and it is set in building block style I guess you could say where you can't really build the top floor of a house until you build a firm foundation therefore some of the things that are talked about in later podcasts are more advanced concepts and ideas than the ones that are talked about in earlier ones or at least the earlier ones are prerequisite knowledge meaning you really need a firm grasp and understanding of the earlier material in order to have a firm grasp and understanding of the later material so that having been said over the last many weeks we talked about natural law we talked about what it is we talked about its principles the basic principles that underlie natural law and we looked into those then we talked about the expressions of natural law or in other words how natural law actually works in our lives to create what it is we experience through our choices so we're actually the ones who are creating the experience but it is working through the expressions of natural law and we took a look at the positive and negative expressions of natural law and how our free will decisions based on one of these polarities goes into effect in the world to create what we get ok so it's always functioning it's always working as it should be working we're always bound by it as long as we're in the three dimensional space-time continuum that we call the universe if we're in this universe these laws and expressions are in effect and they are always working flawlessly it is up to us to understand how this functions so we can make better decisions in alignment with these forces and if we choose expanded consciousness which I have termed love in the examples I have given because that's really what love is true love anyway we will seek knowledge specifically knowledge of self to understand how it is that we actually work and that will help us to understand the macrocosm x macrocosmic expression okay because that which is below is like to that which is above in other words the microcosm is a reflection of the macrocosm and to study one is to study the other so if we know ourselves as fully as possible we will begin to understand the cosmic forces that are at work in our lives and then we will begin to really develop true self-respect for both ourselves and others and that ultimately is having perfect governance over our own thoughts our own emotions and our own actions such that we cannot be manipulated by others into doing things that are not moral this is the state of true sovereignty and in that state and only in that state can we ever really hope to create a world that resembles true freedom in any way shape or form if we do not understand our sovereignty any effort to build a world that is based in freedom is doomed from the start okay once we do have that knowledge and we do develop that true internal self respect and unison with the true self we can then really start building a world that is based on true freedom which is the absence of external rulership over our freewill decisions no coercion over others and that is ultimately what creates a world that is based in order true order or what we term good meaning that we are not experiencing self inflicted suffering that our situation our state of mind and being is essentially good and it is ordered conversely if we choose fear the other force or polarity that is an illusory force that is not anything that is truly real it is based on false identifications okay we will refuse truth continue down the path of ignorance develop internal confusion which results in the attempt to take external control over others or to give up control over our own being and mind and decision-making power and free will and hand that to others who are going to use it irresponsibly and immorally and that's what's going to create a world that is based on evil or pure chaos and ultimately that's the path that we have been going down ladies and gentlemen sad to say but true and we need to reverse that and transmute the all of the fears of this world and the people who are experiencing them and continuing to propagate them into higher consciousness and the only way to do that is through a deep understanding of natural law its principles it's a it's expressions and its manifestations without that we are navigating blind as I've said many many times that's what we need a deep understanding of this material these principles that are simply in effect whether we like them or not whether we have understood them in the past or not whether we believe in them or not as I've said belief in any of this is completely irrelevant that's hard for a lot of people to hear who are very deeply count in calcified ego but these laws are in effect in our lives the end it's not a matter of accepting it it's a matter of discovering it it's about getting out of the mindset of do I want to even accept this or not it is what is it is what is and I'm not shy about saying that I know this I don't think this this isn't my belief system I don't have a belief system I know how this works and many other people do know how it works as well it's not a matter of belief it's a matter of finding it out so when we come back I'll briefly review the concepts of right and wrong knowing our rights the natural law transgressions and apophysis on the other side of this break be right back folks don't go anything [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone and it's true you can't stop someone that is deeply rooted in truth the truth is going to conquer this place in one form or another folks and take that however you will it's up to us ultimately we want to accept the truth we can get out of this mess we want to refuse it and deny it nature is going to have its way in one form or another so let's take a look at one of the other concepts we've been looking at the difference between right and wrong and oh yes there is a huge difference and there is such a thing and I've said many times any of the so-called teachers who are trying to tell people that it's all relative and there is no real difference between right and wrong and it's not about right versus wrong hard deceivers they're new-age deceivers where they're just simply Satanists or dark Luciferians in disguise who are trying to sell that lie and unfortunately a lot of people buy that lie it's called moral relativism and it's why we're in the mess that we're in it's why we're heading headlong into a prison cell and the key being thrown away ok so right we saw in connection with the word correct or in other words true based in truth that which is true there's a reason that the word right is the same as the word correct means the same thing just like there's a reason that the word wrong and incorrect it means both immoral and not true because if something is not true and you act upon it it does become something that is immoral when you act with wrong information you have inwardly formed yourself in the wrong way by taking in wrong ideologies things that not based in truth see right actions are always based in natural law meaning that actions that are based in the right never result in harm to other living beings it's a negative expression actually it does not result in harm and choosing the right is actually about knowing which actions do not result in harm it's about knowledge of the negative which as we've looked at is known as apophysis and I'll briefly review that as well wrong actions are not based in natural law they violate the natural law rights of others by resulting in harm to other living beings this is actually not difficult folks we all really have I shouldn't say all I should say the vast majority of us have an innate psychological and moral compass in our lives called a Kampf called the conscience where we do know the difference innately between right and wrong actions we can tell whether we're causing suffering whether our actions are causing harm to others it isn't that difficult people want to lie to themselves and others and say oh you can never really know what's right or wrong and so uh you know what's good for one person might be bad for another and this is all nonsense this is all moral relativistic nonsense you know whether your actions are in harmony with natural law because you know whether they cause suffering or whether they don't cause suffering and that's what determines whether we have a right to perform those actions or not it's all justifications that people use we're going to talk a lot about people who enact those justifications and try to sell people on those justifications later in the show today knowing our rights is about understanding more over than anything else what our rights are not which actions are not rights because they cause harm this is called understanding our rights in the apophatic sense through the negative expression another concept about knowing our rights that we talked about a few weeks ago was that natural law holds true regardless of population and we're going to be giving specific examples of this today right and wrong is not a function of population it's a function of consciousness folks it has nothing to do with how many people there are in the world the choice remains the same do you choose the right or do you choose the wrong through knowing which actions cause harm that's it and population has nothing to do with that whether there's one other person in the room with you or whether you're taking some form of an action on 7 billion people or seven hundred quadrillion people the population is meaningless the act remains the same when in doubt as to whether an action is or is not in harmony with natural law the best case scenario the best thing to do is to visualize whether you can take that action where there's only one other person present and we're going to be giving an example of that today or maybe a couple of examples of it okay so we took a look at the natural law transgressions or which actions do result in harm there's four basic ones murder rape theft and trespass and we talked about a few weeks back about how they all ultimately are a derivation of one ultimate natural law trespass which is theft taking something which is not yours to take in the case of murder it's a life in the case of rape it's someone's sexual right to exercise their own sexuality and sexual expressions in the way they see fit in the case of theft that's taking someone else's properties in the case of trespass that's taking someone else's security in there in their lair so it's all ultimately about theft about knowing what is you what you have the right to own and knowing what you do not have the right to take and it's very sad that most people in the world the vast majority of the human population have no idea about what is truly their own and what they do not have the right to take from others it's a quite sad situation one of the tools for really understanding this that I've attempted to put into the hands of listeners of this show is the concept of apophysis which is a method of reasoning of coming to the truth okay by eliminating the negatives okay when you're given a limited set of possibilities it's a way to arrive at knowledge by exclusion we're saying this definitely is not what I'm talking about this is not one of our rights this is not right action and eliminating those things and what remains is the truth what remains is one of your rights what remains is action that you do have a moral right to take so we need to look at the negative not deny it and brush it aside and put our our hands over our eyes and ears like members of the New Age movement do when it comes to talking about anything that's negative we need to embrace the negative look at the darkness that's how we understand the shadow side of the self the shadow side of the collective consciousness as well which doesn't really have a conscience which acts in completely immoral ways through groupthink we need to understand how that psychological dynamic works but sadly most people run in the exact opposite direction from that because they don't want the responsibilities of true knowledge they want to claim ignorance well I don't know so that's not my fault it's called abdication votes and it's why we're in this situation we're in we'll be right back after these messages [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark passio that's all the review I'm going to do of topics we've already covered I want to take a look deeper into the Aquinas on Liberty essay that we read last week and go over a few points and specifically analyze some of the commentary that Dave Allen F put forward on the essay on his lucid streams blog these are links to these documents and and and the blog can be found on the last podcast that I did which was podcast number 79 on the what on earth is happening podcast page at what on earth is happening calm so before we do that we have a caller on the line so let's go to the phones Mike in New York you're live on what on earth is happening what do you have for us here today hi mark thank you for taking my call sure know how I'm gonna I'm gonna try and relate what's going on with the protests in New York to natural law perfect okay the night I've been in the city in and out throughout the past couple weeks and most of the people depending on where you stand you're gonna get a different answer that says to me two things one there's a lot of confusion and to the base where the problem is is the ignorance that's right now we are the New York educational full system is one of the worst in the country so that that's definitely a big long going problem that's plagued our state for a while and because of this the what here ups into chaos is perfect for you know the New York police the powers that that are trying to control this to be able to control it and it's because that the the people there that have that put up the website that that are organizing these things not nothing on their website not one thing describes natural law or has any any of it solution basin in natural law so the only outcome you're ever going to get from this is chaos control and then eventually the destruction of it absolutely so so I I'm urging people I've been I've been out there trying to just talk natural law and just tell them to look up the word handing out whatever I can print out on my my work printer and hand out the people right but I feel like again it's people are the more more you try and tell them that further they run from the truth I feel and it's and it's this this defense mechanism that's been installed I think in the mass majority of mine Mike it means they might have to convert themselves into an actual psychological adult and they want to remain perpetual children most of them anyway I don't want a blanket statement this and say that's all because there are some people who are there who probably do have a firm understanding of these principles but I would suggest yet that they're probably the vast minority and as you said ignorance is rampant within the the entire world and specifically in you know communities in inner cities and you know in in massive metropolitan cities where that we have horrible forms of public education that amount to nothing but indoctrination so the ignorance of bounds and until people realize that it's a matter of increasing consciousness and understanding the the the choices that we make and understanding how they need to be rooted in natural law I have to agree that we're not going to make much progress in a state of ignorance you know you're right and it's just about you know if people realize that that they're they're protesting out there they're there they're protesting for things that they don't actually have and they're not understanding the things that they actually do have in terms of freedoms and and and and things like that and I feel that you know it you know a lot of people are asked for a hand that's not the way life works because when you work against natural law well when you work with harmony and nature and natural law you then you then are able to command it so to speak or then able to control it and then have a positive outcome the outcome that we all want you know initially in our hearts but are really working towards the opposite absolutely and you know it's not to say that the corporation's aren't doing things that are completely immoral and in most cases really do need to be stopped from the things that they're doing like lobbying government and then basically having government enact their laws in order to control the populations to get them to do what the corporation's see as beneficial to them this definitely goes on so things like that shouldn't be ignored and I understand why it creates the anger that it does in the population because I experienced the same emotions when I see what a lot of these corporations are doing but the answer certainly isn't to swing to the opposite side of a low vibratory form of consciousness known as socialism you know this is just the exact opposite of capitalism on what you can call the real political spectrum which is a function of consciousness and this is maybe a graphic I haven't included it on the website here today but since we're talking about this in the the situation in New York and other cities around the country I'll perhaps post this graph that I made about the forms of government as a function or an expression of human consciousness and that'll help people to really understand how that dynamic works it's not about going to the opposite wing of unconsciousness it's about going upward in consciousness to get to less forms of control of coercion of violence which is what we're going to talk about here today in the second part of the show force versus violence it's about expanding the force of our own consciousness and setting down ways of acting that are really truly violent a violation of other people's natural law rights which is what we see as the response everywhere whenever people gather and assemble to address that have their grievances addressed and then we see acts of violence or violation of their natural law Wright's done by the very people who have sworn oaths to protect their rights under the Constitution and that's exactly what's going on it's the key people polarized it's the this extreme versus that extreme it's never finding balance and center within yourself because if you control yourself if you rule yourself if you claim your own sovereignty then there's no company out there there's there's there's nothing nobody's ever take can take away from you because you have it all and they can't they can't get it they can't get to it it's more about what we need to stop doing we need to stop supporting these companies that we feel are acting immorally we need to stop participating with government we need to stop asking government for any services in other words it's about growing up and becoming a big boy and a big girl and actually doing things for ourselves self-reliance this is what most of these people don't understand they want someone to take care of them from cradle to grave they don't want to take care of themselves and it isn't about saying that you can't help other people and or help to take care of everyone we have to I agree we need to be our own stewards we need to basically guide and simultaneously Shepherd ourselves that's what it's about doing it's about developing true care for your fellow man doing unto others as you would have done but not through through the initiation of violence not through enacting laws that are based in coercion and taking from other people what we feel we have the right to take that's never going to accomplish or solve anything we're going to talk about taxation in the second part of the show as well and we're going to talk about how these police and military are constantly treading all over the inherent natural law rights of other people and how that needs to stop so Mike phenomenal points I mean this is a great understanding of the dynamic and I always like to hear callers who really really grasp you know what this dynamic is and have a firm handle on what really needs to be done so I appreciate the call Thank You machi oh great job you got it take care that is what it's all about ladies and gentlemen it's more about stopping things that we're already doing then it is starting to do new things you know that's the apophatic sense of the solution that needs to be enacted it's about really stopping actions instead of creating new ones it's more about that than it is the creation of new action I know that's another hard thing for people to grasp who always want to say it's never about looking at the negative yeah I agree set up new systems that are pout that are empowering and that are you know sustainable and that really do keep natural law in mind wonderful but if we try to continue to do some of the immoral things that we're doing I mean as individuals and in group think institutions where people think that they can be a member of this institution with no conscience that is based on violence and somehow they're magically going to transmute that into something that's good and in harmony with natural law it's a pipe dream ladies and gentlemen it's a pipe dream it doesn't work that way it never has worked that way and it never will work that way we need to stop doing things that are in violation of natural law we want to talk about that distinction of force versus violence coming up in the second hour we'll be back don't go anywhere you're listening - what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcast radio network [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on their post market has no fee the show is live every Sunday 5:00 to 7:00 a.m. Eastern Time that's 4 to 6 p.m. central here on Oracle broadcasting what I want to do now is shift back to something we covered last week which was the great essay on natural law by a gentleman calling himself Aquinas which is an Internet handle no relation to Thomas Aquinas the Christian philosopher perhaps maybe taking the handle from Thomas Aquinas who knows I know Thomas Aquinas did write on natural law so it's quite possible but he wrote this essay called on Liberty ok and I covered it back in an early podcast and did so again in this natural law section of the radio show and I covered as well a commentator on this essay named David Lynn F who posted this to his blog site called lucid streams at lucid streams calm and the link is there in the last podcast number 79 and I'm a repost it again this week but I want to just touch upon five things that I think are critically important in this essay and on Allen F's commentary on the essay and then I'm gonna chime in and make some commentary of my own in this essay Aquinas says that true Liberty is the highest of natural endowments ok natural meaning not man-made and an endowment is a birthright meaning that Liberty is not granted freedom is never granted rights are never granted they are inherent they are birthrights we come into the cosmos with them already okay they just exist the creator made them man did not make them you did not make your rights or anyone else's rights they're based in natural law and that word itself is based on net tear all nets are meaning God or spirits all light or you could even look at that as all the all spirit the spirit of the light that's what the word natural actually means in its ancient etymology so continuing with what Aquinas said in the essay he says that Liberty confers on man this dignity that he is in the hand of his counsel and has power over his actions true free will is what Aquinas is talking about here we ultimately have the power over our own actions we want to you know abdicate responsibility for that all the time but ultimately no one must act a certain way it's always a choice it's always a choice and people don't want to hear that they want to justify oh no I have children to support well it's still a choice you don't need to do something immoral because you have children to support you could do something else it's a choice back to the essay Aquinas says that on the use that is made of Liberty the highest good and the greatest evil alike depend man indeed is free to obey his reason to seek moral good and to Shrive unswervingly after his last end yet he is also free in turn to turn to turn aside to all other things and in pursuing the empty semblance of good to disturb rightful order and to fall headlong into the dish ruction which he has voluntarily chosen it's a choice we never don't have a choice this is nonsense abdication of personal responsibility it's saying I don't own my own actions that's exactly what you do own you own your own actions and you can't give them over to somebody else try as people may so this is what the law of cause and effect basically states we need to choose the good and then there will be order and there will be good and that's a manifestation of our actions that's why I call it the generative expression or manifestation he says 'ln f now responding to this part in his commentary says that the Creator has given humans the ability to reason and choose reason aligned with truth will inevitably lead to liberty but humans can also choose to ignore reason and to choose less wisely which will inevitably lead to confusion and chaos perfect understanding I mean and and worded beautifully as well this is the understanding that people as a whole need to arrive at this is what consciousness is I don't know any simpler way of putting it it's more than that it's more than that ladies and gentlemen that's what love is love is taking the time to truly understand something like that so going back to the essay this is another point that I want to explore Aquinas says that we the people have been brought low meaning low in consciousness and have been rendered soft and vulnerable as the direct result of having imbibed and believed in a false notion of liberty and the pursuit of happiness we've bought a false notion of freedom of being given permissions permits to do things we have the natural law right to do licensing being allowed to stay in our own property on our own land in our own house because we pay property taxes and were given the privilege to live in that place by a lord of the land a landlord who actually owns that land so Lynette responds to this and this is really about the part in the essay that Aquinas was talking about the idea of the pursuit of happiness the phrase the pursuit of happiness replacing the phrase that the word property because property implies a true ownership what we have the right to own and what we do not have the right to take it's a strong word property a lot of people in the new agey movements or in the movements that are bent toward socialism and inevitably communism because that's where socialism inevitably leads want to believe that there's no such thing as property and they're dead wrong there is such a thing as property and most above all else the thing that I own more than anything is my own mind I own my own thoughts I own my own emotions and I own my own actions I own those things the sad part is that most people don't own those things they want to hand them away to other people and say you represent me or or you tell me what's best for me going back to the essay or I should say the commentary on the essay by Lynette he says ever since I realized that the phrase quote life liberty and the pursuit of happiness unquote was inspired by John Locke's quote life liberty and property unquote I considered that happiness is far too ambiguous while property is clear and specific this small linguistic departure by the founding fathers may have set the stage for the devolution from our country's original ideals happiness is a shallow feeling that does not predicate freedom sometimes we must feel pain when we do the right thing the only part I'd take slight exception to it I wouldn't say all forms of happiness are shallow feelings some are based in true happiness you know so happiness can be there can be gradations of happiness and you can have real true lasting happiness based on truth and principles and then you could have a ephemeral happiness you know just hedonistic pleasure or joy which is fleeting so I think just saying all happiness is a shallow feeling is a little bit strong but that's how he chose the word it but I certainly believe that that's not what predicates freedom I agree with him wholeheartedly that sometimes to have freedom we have to do what in the moment may be painful to do in the long term what is right think about that folks think about it deeper perfect time to take a break and continue with this on the other side don't go anywhere you're listening - what on earth is happening [Applause] [Music] we're back ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark Cassio my website what on earth is happening calm if you go up to that site on the radio show page there are a series of images posted as links you can follow the concepts that are being discussed on today's show and I apologize somebody in a chatroom mentioned I wasn't giving the numbers of the the slides as I went so I'll try to be better about that we've basically taken a look at the first seven images up there taking a look at the Aquinas on Liberty essay and David Lin F's commentary on this essay and I wanted to hit upon five basic points on that and we covered a couple of them already I want to move right now to the third point that Aquinas states in the essay that freedom of choice is therefore the essential property of the human will and this is a critical idea that we've talked about many times on the show but the will cannot proceed to act until it is enlightened by intellectual knowledge and this is the role of knowledge ladies and gentlemen again a lot of New Agers or you know apologists out there don't want to think or acknowledge that knowledge itself is of critical importance it is about what we know you know and this comes down to saying no you know it's not a coincidence that the word no KN o w in the word no n o are said spoken from the mouth the vibratory essence of those words are the same when we speak them in the English language that's not a coincidence because those who don't have any knowledge in other words who don't know who and what they really are who don't know what the truth is who don't know what the right is we'll never say no to an oppressor it's all about saying no this is what I keep coming back to the the New Age movement I know I keep really strongly attacking it in a lot of the recent shows because I can't tell you how much it ignores natural law and you'll never hear any of these concepts brought up in New Age mumbo jumbo that's out there certainly not with any depth they'll talk about you know striving to do the right thing but they'll never give you the breakdown of natural law expressions they'll never really talk about that the fact that more and more and more chaos will be created in the world the more people do not understand how natural law functions they'll never give you that little gem of knowledge that is basically the most important thing to understand if we want to correct the ills of the world because the to them it's it's about always ignoring the negative and I'm telling you the exploration of the negative is the most important thing to do to understand what's wrong that's what a diagnosis is when you recognize there's a problem you got to get to the cause forget the effect the effect is the symptom you've got to get down to the cause of the problem and ultimately that's what all of this exploration in the natural law is about it's about stopping stop focusing and and basically being completely trapped in the effect that you're seeing and rising up above that to get to the world of causality we need to understand the root cause of factors of what has created these conditions and that's what I told people here on day one on this radio show in the very first podcast what this whole show was going to be about so that's what we're really exploring folks this is all about the law of cause and effect will continue with appliances essay and Lynette's commentary on it on the other side maybe right back these eyes asleep that's where they want to keep us and the understanding of natural law its principles its expressions how it works in our lives is indispensable to the work of awakening we need to get past the symptoms and look at the causal factors and that's what we're doing that's what the understanding of natural law is it's one in the same with the law of cause and effect so let's go back to Aquinas as si and wrap up some of these points he says that freedom of choice is an essential property of the will but the will cannot act can not cannot proceed to act until it is enlightened by knowledge thus in all voluntary acts choice is subsequent to an intellectual judgment that something is good or desirable Lynette responds to this by saying our gift of will is tied to rational thought in other words what he's saying here is that our thought is really the ultimate creator of the world in which we live if we want to change the world in which we live we need to change our mind that's what needs to be transmuted and the world remains the way that it is because not enough people's minds have been transmuted into the opposite polarity they're still dwelling with their thoughts in fear rather than in higher consciousness or love and they're still ignoring this law of cause and effect which is based in natural law back to Lynette's commentary he says we use reason to judge the options before us and then we choose resulting in action every voluntary act is an expression of our ability to choose rightly but we always choose based on our evaluation of what will result in the most good our thought processes can fail to deliver the good we may believe instead of reason holding close those institutions of security that contradict fundamental moral truths and I'll I'll chime in here and say this is exactly what the banking institutions are this is exactly what the military institutions are this is exactly what the police institution is all about people who believe that they're involved for the good it doesn't matter what you believe it matters what is is this something that is in harmony with natural law principles and therefore is going to create order or are the actions since they are based in group think group mind which does not have conscience only an individual is truly endowed with a conscience is it going to be creating disorder disharmony and ultimately chaos and evil in the world and that's the level of mind control that these people in these institutions need to get out of so that they stop taking the actions that they're taking that's where the dynamic is going to fundamentally shift and become geared toward true freedom nowhere else as long as those people still believe in that nonsense and keep doing what they're doing the world is never going to be free and that's a hard bitter pill to swallow for 90% or more of the people of this planet but that's the truth back to Lynette's commentary he says we may believe instead of raising reason holding close those institutions of security that contradict fundamental moral truths or we might think we know based on false information we're not perfect but striving to discover and understand that which is true will always keep us pointed in the right direction choosing knowledge over ignorant striving to know the truth that means you're at least going in the right direction it's ultimately then it becomes a matter of abandoning attachment abandoning attachment to former ideas and saying you know what I once thought that was right and that was gonna result in good but now I've seen the error of my ways of thinking that way and I've changed my mind and you know what that's called that's called making an apology and ultimately it's making an apology to your higher self we've talked about Masonic lis what that concept of apology means it's Apollo's G that's why there's a G in the middle of the compasses in square it's all about word play puns green language etc and people will deny that they'll laugh at it and they'll say oh you're making connections where none exist no that's exactly why that there's a G there it's about making that apology the transmutation of mind of mental energy which ultimately results in the transformation and transmutation of reality and that is the light that knowledge itself is the light of the Sun Apollo the ancient Greek Sun God it's actually the symbol of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania right here which is the founding Masonic Lodge erected here in the United States by founding fathers of this country Apollo his face is right on it with the Rays of the Sun coming out and sadly I asked members of that Lodge who that is on their seal and they said they didn't know and I believe that they were telling me the truth that they didn't know and it's a sign of how degraded the lodge system is as we've talked about here when we looked into Freemasonry many weeks back but going back to the essay enough has a perfect interpretation of this a phenomenal understanding though I couldn't put it that better myself I you know this is why I'm reading this folks these guys are even more eloquent than me I mean particularly Aquinas who is a wordsmith and has a way with words Butlin F understands this perfectly and really can break it down and even simpler terms for people to understand and I really appreciate that which is why I'm reading this in going into an analysis of the essay in commentary okay two more quick points in all voluntary acts Aquinas says choice is subsequent to a judgment upon the truth of the good presented declaring to which good preference should be given because that is the case it is an immediate isn't it is an immutably true principle that human Liberty depends entirely on intellectual judgments that conform to reason and the natural law in other words what we hold in our mind is what he is saying that then determines how we feel and how we act thought emotion and action Aquinas says if a judgment which does not conform to the natural law or to Reason and which is therefore objectively false and immoral is acted upon by the will then it is a source of grave disorder in society exponentially multiply the number of individual immoral acts and you have a republic that collapses from moral decay in a short period of time I'll read Lynette's commentary to this on the other side of this break we're continuing to explore the world of cause and effect and understand that if we're ever going to a change to change the effect to have any hope of doing that we need to get into the world of causes and understand causality we'll be right back folks [Music] we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening on their host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm I want to wrap up the analysis of the opponents on Liberty essay and they've won F's commentary in this segment maybe take a phone call and then get into the breakdown of force versus violence in the last couple segments of the show Lynette responds to the previous paragraph that I read by Aquinas by saying that human beings base all choices of action on intellectual evaluation and those choices are based on what we judge is quote best for us at given moments if a choice is based on fallacious reasoning instead of truth and logic we are in contradiction with nature and the result will be grave disorder it is the exponential accumulation of all of the false choices leading to immoral actions that have led to the state of confusion and increasing lack of Liberty that we find ourselves in once again a totally correct evaluation of the situation and a great understanding of this natural law principle of cause and effect people can think they are doing the right thing as you know secret police did in Stalinist Russia as Nazis did in Hitler's Germany etc and yet still be causing enormous harm and enormous chaos in the world doesn't matter whether they think it's the correct thing it actually has to be in harmony with truth and if it's out of harmony with truth any actions based in it if it's out of harmony with truth and morality any actions based in those falsities are going to result in disorder and chaos every time that's the law of cause and effect it's how all natural law functions Aquinas the the final thing I want to touch on is what he talks about about giving in to hedonism and living a life of moral relativism which he concludes the essay with he says hedonism or the tyranny of the passions has no place in the well-ordered man or in the well-ordered civilization unfortunately our leadest overlords have long been at dumbing us down to the level of beasts that cannot employ their natural natural rational endowments but only their carnal lusts we allowed this to happen because we mistakenly believe the lie they told us namely that true Liberty is the quote right to do whatever we want as long as it is not illegal or discoverable true Liberty true Liberty is an essential property of objective truth and morality it is the property of truth and morality do you understand what that means that he's choosing his words very specifically true Liberty is the property of truth meaning only those who are in alignment with truth ever receive that fruit you can't have Liberty without knowing what is true and knowing what is right because Liberty is granted through natural law it is the property of truth and morality something owns freedom ultimately in the cosmic sense nature owns it you can call that God if you want I'm not uncomfortable with using that term like a lot of people are call it whatever you want it's a higher force that man did not put into the universe it is pre-existing before men and it is functioning according to laws then we are bound by so long as we are in this universe and if we're in harmony with that force of truth and more and more and good then we will have freedom if we act in contradiction and opposition to that force I don't care what you do you will never be free Aquinas continues and says therefore there can not there can be no true Liberty in a civilization that enshrines moral relativity if your mindset is moral relativism and that there is no actual such thing as definitive objective right versus wrong you can never be free get as offended about that as you like if you're a believer if your religion is moral relativism the thing that holds you back you can get as offended about that as you like that's the truth for all eternity in this universe there will never be any true Liberty in a civilization that enshrines moral relativism and we talked about moral relativism relativism as being the fundamental fundamental ideology upon which the religion of the elite class is based Satanism and dark luciferianism their fundamental tenets is moral relativism there's no real such thing as the difference between right and wrong so if you want to believe that and accept that into your psychological and moral makeup you will forever remain a slave and that's just how it is get is offended about it as you like the next part David Allen F gives his final commentary on this essay and he says what is moral is what is true truth is truth it is what has happened as I like to put it is the actual manifestation of the collapsed wavefunction of true of all possible choices that collapses upon the the present moment and forms what we call the actual events of the present moment the point particle collapse from the wavefunction that was the past that's what the truth is and it only exists in the present moment there is only the moment of truth the current moment there is only the now the future is not here and has has not been decided upon yet there is a tendency toward what will manifest in the future based on the choices being made in the present yes but that's always mutable it's always changeable based on changing our mind and therefore changing our decisions that govern our behaviors that's what we have to understand the truth as it is what is it is what has happened it's a perfect way of putting it there can be no shadings of truth continuing with Lynette's commentary here no relative orderings of less or more truth it simply is to the degree the truth can be known knowing what is moral action becomes completely unambiguous Solon F is saying do we have a society that is incapable of knowing what the truth is or incapable of knowing what is moral know we have an ignorant society not an ashen twon't it is discoverable it's everywhere it's all around us there's so much information in the world and knowledge about this in the world that it's almost laughable but it's being ignored continuing len f says we have been educated to believe in a lie that morality can be determined and handed down in the laws of man that this has led to an idea that what is good is simply what feels good that is called hedonism this way of thinking excludes reason and therefore prevents us from connecting with what is true because we're constantly just trying to do what feels good and as he's already stated sometimes doing the right thing brings some pain especially in a world full of mind control this is an artifact of the domination culture and the extent of our acceptance of that is the extent that we subjugate ourselves and move further away from Liberty and closer to slavery [Music] read this essay in its commentary folks give it to others they need to understand it now [Music] behind the girl I'll make my day [Music] quite appropriate I would say given what we're about to talk about one of the most controversial things that you'll ever talk about in a discussion with natural law is the difference the distinct difference between force and violence and that's what we're going to get into in this segment before I do that I want to we've wrapped up the commentary on Aquinas azan Liberty essay and again I said before the break put this into other people's hands it's not enough for you to know it help other people to understand that and I'd suggest maybe even giving the printout that is up on the site on podcast 79 with Dave Lynette's commentary because the commentary really illuminates the essay even further so with that having been said I'd just like to briefly read a quote from a book on Hermeticism called the stellar man by john baines this is actually posted with the podcast on podcast number 73 the book is there for those who want to download it and check it out and I don't agree with everything that said and I don't agree with everything that is said in hermeticism either I'm I don't subscribe to an ism ladies and gentlemen I've already told people I have no one tradition I consider myself someone who integrates things I take an integral approach meaning that which is truly resonant with the truth I take and incorporate into a way of being in the world I don't subscribe to any one particular thing I'm not a Kabbalists I'm not a freemason in the sense that I you know identify with this as the only truth okay I'm not a Rosicrucian in that sense although I would consider myself all of those things I'm not what I would consult consider a traditionalist Christian although I think I embody the essence Herick Christian way of being in the world okay I'm not a her Metis in that respect while I respect the philosophies of hermetic thought but there's no one of these things that is the ultimate truth it's about taking pieces from everything and assembling the big picture by being eclectic about the information we take into ourselves I want to make that real clear and hopefully that stops people from continuing to ask what is your belief system I don't have a belief system I'm a truth seeker I want to understand how the universe really functions that's it and you can't do that from studying one thing you have to study everything okay so with that having been said Bane says regarding the principle of cause and effect the principle of cause and effect states every cause has its effect every effect has its cause everything happens according to the law capital L meaning natural law chance is only a name for law not recognized there are many planes of causation but nothing escapes the law capital L natural law this law teaches us that nothing in the universe happens by chance everything has a specific cause what we call chance is only something where its causes remain unknown it is not possible that something should exist apart from and beyond the laws in other words beyond natural law as this force would be independent and superior to the universe applying the law of rhythm to the call law of cause and effect we could state that the magnitude of an effect is always equivalent to the importance of the cause which generated it think about that the magnitude of the effect in other words like an entire species falling into perpetual slavery perpetual meaning as long as that planet is going to be there barring some cosmic event that would come from some astronomical body like an asteroid or a comet or the Sun and I say that with deliberate dramatic pause okay barring that there could be eternal slavery for this species based on their ignorance of natural law okay the importance of the cause the knowledge of natural law or the subsequent ignore land refusal of it as we explained in discussing the principle of polarity there are two basic planes that of causes which is the superior plane and that of effects which is the lower or inferior plane and man in his daily life man in general he means here Homo sapiens is aware only of the latter or in other words the plane of effects that's why we're a species that is screaming at a movie screen sitting in our chair in the movie theater bang or our fists against the arms of the chair that were seated in screaming with our fists up in the air at the movie screen which is a projection humanity doesn't seem interested in getting up out of their chair walking to the back of the theater going into the projection room which is equivalent to going within oneself and changing one's own mind and changing the film that's being run through the projector and then a new movie would be shown that we might enjoy humanity doesn't seem interested in that they want to scream at the screen forever which is operating on the law on the plane of effects and it's never to the plane of causality finally Bane says we live in the world of effects and only the her medicine have has knowledge of the occult causes of events in other words the plane of causality now I would beg to differ that he says only the her medicines maybe one who has come into hermetic knowledge but that can happen without considering oneself a hermit assist ascribing wholesale to the philosophy of Hermeticism hermeticism can definitely help with that as can many other traditions but it is all about the knowledge of those planes of existence and that the one is always subordinate to the other meaning though the world of effects is always subordinate to the law of causal causes the world the plane of causality you have to get to the causal factors in order to solve a problem the end you're never going to solve a problem by perpetually looking at the results or the effects were the symptoms and again I said stated this on day one and told you that's what the entire show would be about trying to get people to that knowledge so let's take a couple of calls in this segment here we go let's go to the phones austin in wyoming you're live on what on earth is happening how are you well I'm doing great thank you for taking my call mark sure great show today I'm glad you read that little excerpt at baldi on regarding cause and effect if I might I may just add a little bit more to that sure this is an excerpt from the key to gossipy and it says karma is the law of cause and effect again karma is the ultimate law of the universe the source origin and fount of all other laws which exist through nature karma is the unerring law which affected to cause on the physical mental and spiritual planes of being as no cause remains without its dual effect the greatest to least from a cosmic disturbance down to the movement of your hand and as like producers like karma is that unseen and unknown law which adjusts wisely intelligently and equitably each effect to its cause tracing the ladder back to its producer and uh I think we can even tie that into another expert kai Bali on stating that uh having trouble finding it says something along the lines of the wisdom is closed to those without ears to hear it let's Rin along those lines I think that I think that uh the law of karma the law of cause and effect is always in a cosmic turn and if you're living within natural law rights you will have eyes to see where the universe is guiding you through cynical mysticism and through the turning wheel of karma whereas if you're living in in you're living against the law of karma you will still be affected by it but you won't be what's happening to you as being effect that's right that's exactly right and that's why it's very difficult to wake people up in that modality of consciousness Austin absolutely brilliant points you brought up thanks for all your contributions thank the first take Michael off you got it some great calls today stick around last segment coming up on this edition of what on earth is happening [Music] we're back everyone this is the last segment for this edition of what on earth is happening I had originally planned to delve a little bit deeper into the breakdown of force versus violence here today on the show but know things unfold organically and I got into a further analysis of the essay by Aquinas on natural law and the commentary by Dave Lynn F on that essay and we had a couple really great callers so instead of trying to rush this information what I'm going to do is just touch on it a little bit and give the basics maybe the basic definitions and then we'll basically review that a little bit next week toward the beginning of the show and then we'll do maybe an entire show on this concept next week on the show so this is again what I said was one of the most controversial pieces of knowledge in natural law because we have been mind-controlled into a false definition of the word force and into a false understanding of which actions are violence and which are within our natural law rights because they are a defense against violence see the state wants to have us believe that they possess a monopoly on force on action basically that you can't really take any action in defense of yourself and your rights and your freedom yourself that that's all the state's responsibility that that's not an inherent right of man that you have to use their quote services and protections whether you want them or not okay they are actually not a monopoly on force but more over than anything else they pretty much have a monopoly on violence and if we understand the distinction between these things that becomes very very clear what I mean by that statement looking at image number eight on the website on what on earth is happening or with this podcast okay on the radio show page of what on earth is happening or with the pod posted with the podcast image number eight shows a chart of a breakdown and the distinguishment between the concepts of force and violence so let's give some basic definitions what is force and we're using this as a noun okay what is force what is this potential or capacity okay because that's ultimately what force is it's the ability to do something force is the capacity to do work or cause physical change in the world force is energy strength or active power it is the male principle the ability to act is what force is anything that we do in the world we do through this capacity all actions are force if you want to build something you need to exert force or the ability to do work in order to build something it's the use of will now whether the key thing to keep in mind here is whether it is in harmony with natural law or not so force can be abused and turned into violence okay so what is violence what is the definition of violence violence is the immoral use of physical power which is force we define force as active power or the capacity or ability see the potential to do work okay having the capacity to do something violence on the other hand is the immoral use of that force to coerce compel or restrain it is using that capacity in a way that is in not that is not in compliance with natural law or the inherent rights of other beings so we have to understand there's a very very distinct difference between these two things and unfortunately this distinction has been completely blurred or even erased in the modern world force the capacity to do work to cause physical change it is the active power of a person the male principle the masculine principle is actually a better way of saying it has nothing to do with gender or sex it has to do with the internal active quality of a being violence on the other hand the immoral use of physical power employed to coerce against one's will to compel or to restrain and meaning restrain in the sense that you're stopping someone from from engaging or using their force in a capacity in which they are allowed to do it meaning in a natural law capacity in compliance with natural law restrain violent restraint is stopping somebody from doing something that they do have the right to do like assemble or speak etc so force is voluntary action and it is based in morality and natural law does not violate the fundamental natural law rights of other beings violence on the other hand is the initiation and use of coercive action against free will in other words which is not based in morality natural law and the this is every word is specifically chosen here in these definitions ladies and gentlemen very specifically chosen violence is the initiation meaning it does matter who started it you know this is another nonsense thing in the world of statism you know anybody react anybody who actually decides to take physical action against the initiation of violence it doesn't matter who started it well no it does matter who started it that's all that matters that's all that matters is who started the immoral action if I'm walking out on the street and someone comes up to me and tries to rob me and punches me in the face I have every right through whatever amount of force I need to use to put down that attack because they began the immoral action they initiated coercive use of force that's what violence is you're doing something with something that you possess this capacity called force they you don't have a right to do so all that matters is whether you're right or wrong and all that matters is whether you started it this is these are concepts that are incredibly difficult for people who have been brainwashed into statism to accept to know that that is the truth that all that matters is whether it was initiated and the person initiating it did not have the right to take that action that's what violence is that's what violence always is and it's always wrong violence is never right force employed to counteract violence is within natural law rights and that's another hard pill to swallow for most people because they're under deep statist mind control what they're really under is the abdication of personal responsibility that's what they're really giving up their own responsibility to act in harmony with natural law we're going to do a whole show on this next week force versus violence and then the week after that we're going to do an entire show on the abdication of personal responsibility what responsibility really is and how the abdication of that capacity is what is creating the negative effects of the world in which we're living that's what's coming up on what on earth is happening so force its its actions which we actually always possess the right to take and this can include defending oneself against violent action while violence we never have the right to take because we never have the right to initiate coercive action against another person so long as they are not harming someone it's all about whether harm is involved whether the violation of another natural law of another's natural law rights is involved force never violates another's natural law rights while violence always does that's why it's called a violation it's based in violence we'll explore these ideas in depth on the next edition of what on earth is happening that's all the time we have for this edition folks we'll see you next week right here on Oracle broadcasting stick around Chris Everard is up next [Music]

freedom man that's what it's all about [Music] [Music] welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Mark Pascoe [Music] welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle Broadcasting Network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm the networks website Oracle broadcasting calm this show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time that's 4 to 6 central we have a good show lined up for you here today we're going to be continuing our ongoing discussion of natural law natural laws principles its manifestation in the world and in our lives and specifically today we will be covering the very controversial topic regarding natural law of force versus violence and really deeply understanding the difference and there is a gigantic difference between these two things as a matter of fact they're complete polar opposites so we'll be looking into that a little bit later on today I'm actually today is October 16 2011 and I am actually just fresh in from the MUFON PA East Coast conference that happened over this this weekend I actually left the conference just a bit earlier today to be live here today on on the air on Oracle and it was just a great time just phenomenal speakers that blew everybody away with tremendous amounts of information left a lot of food for thought for everyone there I want to thank all the organizers of the conference and the people at MUFON for hosting such a great event it was definitely a learning experience and anybody that has a chance to check out a conference that's hosted by the mutual UFO network if you are interested in the UFO phenomenon and associated paranormal phenomenon you won't want to miss their events because they're really well put together so I do have one event announcement that I'd like to read for an event that's coming up in the Philadelphia area on this short segment and then we'll jump into our topic for today in the next segment so this actually two Wednesdays from now or Wednesday October 20 six 2011 at 7:15 p.m. right here in Philadelphia at media bureau studios media bureau Studios is at 725 North fourth Street that's the corner of 4th and Brown the activist group truth freedom prosperity who I work with in this area will be hosting their free monthly documentary screening and discussion night that's Wednesday October 26th it's going to be happening at 7:15 p.m. at media bureau studios the film for this month is called defense against the psychopaths defense against the psychopaths and the description of the film is what is psychopathy what are the personality traits and behavioral characteristics of psychopaths why is it so difficult to identify a psychopath what are the best defensive strategies for dealing with psychopaths once they have been discovered what does any of this have to do with truth freedom and prosperity well you'll have to come out to this great documentary screen night and discussion night to find out you're listening to what on earth is happening folks I'm mark passio we'll be right back [Music] we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio I'd like to direct everyone up to my website at what on earth is happening calm if you're not already listening there as most people who listen to this show know I post associated images along with each show so that people can get a visual representation of some of the concepts and ideas that we discuss here on the show so up on the radio show page if you go to what on earth is happening dot-com and you click the radio show tab you will see underneath the player on that page images for today's show and I did update this pretty late because again I got in late from the from the conference today this afternoon so I did update it kind of last minute there should be 12 images you should be seeing 12 links there four images and if you don't see all 12 you might want to refresh the page so 12 images up there and we're going to be again discussing force versus violence here today a concept within natural law and those 12 images are going to I'm going to be referring to and I'll try to do my best about naming which image I'm talking about I do want to mention one other thing that's up on the website from last week that I posted with podcast number 80 and I believe I said last week that I was going to post this graphic that I had made to try to in a very small amount of space try to convey a very big idea that represents the real political spectrum in a graph okay as a function of consciousness the type of government that we have in any given society or in the world for that matter as a whole as a function of the amount of consciousness that exists in that given society so that graph is up there posted with podcast number eighty and I posted it as a PDF document with all of the fonts embedded so that it's pretty much resolution independent you could blow it up and print it as big as you would like to print it I highly recommend the people attempt to show this this graph to others and try to get them to understand it because this is how natural law functions in other words if we are going down in consciousness natural law is always going to make sure that we get a more chaotic and enslaved experience and that means totalitarianism in some form or another see people think there's such a big amount of difference between communism and fascism in this fake political spectrum that's taught in schools and there is no difference between them they represent total control same could be said with capitalism and socialism which are just different forms of control leading to even deeper control okay so these don't respect individual rights either one of these okay just because you don't believe in money doesn't mean you're automatically a socialist okay I'm looking for real freedom not a false idea of freedom that is handed to us by the establishment that we're supposed to buy into so to relate this with you know these protests that are going on before we jump into our main topic for tonight I went down and checked out Occupy Philly in my city here last week and I have to tell you I wasn't really impressed at all I was actually somewhat horrified by the lack of knowledge that is displayed by these people who were out there protesting and really don't understand any of the causal factors that have led to the current condition in this world that we have right now so they're out there with you know two of the three things that are necessary to create any true change which is a good start but without the the third all-important ingredient you're not going to get much done and you're always going to be able to be co-opted and let in a different direction a direction that you don't want to go down or maybe even some of them might actually do want to go down but they have care they do care about the situation that's at hand that I can I can give them and they do have the will to actually get up you know off their asses and get out into the streets and try to do something I don't know how effective that action is going to be though without the all-important third ingredient of consciousness which is knowledge okay they don't have enough knowledge they're extremely ignorant on a lot of different things and it's very apparent just speaking with people for a very short amount of time the level of ignorance that exists there about the causal dynamics of these problems they're raging against the effects and as I read last week on the show when I read a little bit from a little another excerpt from the stellar man by John Baines you can not solve a problem dealing with it at the level of the effects that are experienced that are manifested those are manifestations that come from a form of consciousness which is the primary causal factor that led to that condition or manifestation in order to change the effect you cannot stay on the plane of effects again I likened it to hating the movie that you're watching okay on the television or at the movie theater and screaming at the screen you've got to take the DVD out of the DVD player and put a new one in you change the actual code that's being read or you got to go back to the projection room and you have to change the film that's being projected on to the screen you have to rise above in consciousness get out of the plane of effects and get to the plane of causality causality and the only way you're going to reach that plane of cause is by coming up in consciousness yourself you're never going to be able to solve that problem at the same level of consciousness where the effects are manifested at it doesn't work that way that's just how natural law functions and that unfortunately to give my personal report if there having been there for the better part of a day I have to say that is my assessment of the situation it is a lot of ignorance there about things that really do need to be known and not just peripherally but deeply understood and that knowledge is not present it's not present and unfortunately from the the vibe that I got while there these are full cups and what I mean by that is try to fill a cup with something new that's already full you can't do it these people are walking around thinking that they hold a lot of knowledge and a lot of know-how about what's really going on and I you know I know it sounds arrogant to some people that I'm trying to say no you don't know what you're talking about you don't really know the causal factors but I think I can speak to that I think I can speak from that perspective because of the amount of research that I have put into the real causal dynamics of what has been going on that's all I've done with the last it's practically 20 years of my life so we need to get information like this and like this graph into more people's consciousness and help them to understand it at a deep fundamental level of awareness that it's all about consciousness a word unfortunately that I did not hear spoken one time at the Occupy Philly protests here in Philadelphia by anyone other than myself we'll be right back we'll be right back folks you're listening - what on earth is happening [Music] we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark passio let's jump into the topic of discussion for today which is going to be natural law once again we have a few more weeks of going through natural law and some of the most important topics that need to be discussed when talking about it we're going to be talking about force versus violence this week next week we'll be taking a look at natural law versus the laws of man and how huge that difference really is people think that the laws of man are supposed to be in some kind of adherence or mirror a mirroring of natural law and really nothing could be farther from the truth so we'll be looking at man's law versus natural law next week the following week I'm going to take a look at the dynamic of free will versus the abdication of free will and personal responsibility so that should be a great show that's coming up on what on earth is happening in future weeks so let's give the call-in number I'll give it right here in this segment and feel free to call in at any time but I am going to ask that the topic of discussion be limited to natural law or questions about natural law okay so comments or questions about natural law are fine but let's keep it on topic tonight most shows yes in the past I've said it's you know a free-for-all you can talk about anything you want nothing is taboo or off-topic today I'd like to keep the discussion focused on natural law and specifically the topic of force versus violence would be really great if you keep it limited to that but you could ask any questions about a natural law or make any comments regarding the topic the call-in number is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the call-in number eight six six eight four one one zero six five so in the past many weeks that we've been talking about natural law as the ultimate solution the understanding of this is rising in consciousness okay that's the these are equivalent notions the understanding of natural law and rising up in consciousness are the same thing okay this is what we need in order to enact any solution to any problem is to understand the principles of natural law and how natural law manifests in our lives that understanding is synonymous with consciousness okay we looked at the expressions of natural law and since we did I have kept this chart up on the images because it is one of the most easy to grasp and clear conceptual graphics that anybody is going to find on how natural law actually manifests okay this these are the two base expressions for our choices for natural law we either choose the positive or the negative we choose love or fear and then it works through different expressions as I've termed them the iniciative expression the internal expression and the external expression ultimately to give us a manifestation or a result in the physical world in which we live okay and if we choose the positive dynamic of consciousness of expansion and consciousness and wanting to move toward greater awareness which is love okay if we choose that dynamic that expression we will ultimately end up with order or good the things that we call good for ourselves or in other words order an orderly existence or an orderly civilization if instead we choose the negative expression the negative dynamic which is fear okay which manifests through ignorance confusion and control we will ultimately create nothing but chaos or what we have traditionally called evil for Humanity so that's the expressions of natural law and that chart is once again up on the images section that was slide number one slide number two on the website right now talks about the dynamics of morality of right versus wrong and the very clear distinction between these two things and there is such a thing as right and wrong and there is a complete antithesis between them they are not the same thing they're not shades of grey as people will have us believe there's nothing relative about them this is all satanic mindset and trying to propagate Satanism through society moral relativity which as we heard in the essay that Aquinas wrote so eloquently moral relativism is what's going to lead to the downfall of any civilization that is attempting to base itself in freedom because it's not the freedom to do whatever we want it's the freedom to do whatever we want within the parameters of natural law of nature's law not man's law but nature's law and nature's law is governed by the dynamic of morality by the dynamic of right versus wrong and we need to understand what our rights are and we need to understand what our rights are not and it's actually probably even more important that we understand what our rights are not which is a big part of what we're going to talk about here today when we take a look at the difference between force and violence so right is always based in natural law meaning that actions that are right that we do have the right to take do not result in harm to other beings they do not harm or cause injury to another living being okay wrong the very antithesis of the idea of a right okay is based on immoral behavior is defined by immoral behavior meaning that it has no basis in natural law it is a violation of natural law rights okay it were in other words any actions that are wrong always result in harm to another living being harm or injury to another living being okay so we need to understand our rights and the best way to do that is understanding what rights we do not have because taking an action that is wrong or not right okay which is not one of our rights to take always results in harm so we need to define our rights in the apophatic sense define them through the negative know what our rights are not okay so we have the very clear understanding of what we do not have the natural law right to do and then we can understand any everything that falls outside of those those violations of natural law are our rights okay so it's in the embrace of the negative pathway to arrive at the truth of what right is okay that's slide number three puts forward those concepts of the apophatic sense of knowing our rights that's the best way to know what our rights are to know what our rights are not because actions that are not based in morality cause harm to other living beings the second part of this slide number three I'm gonna talk a lot about tonight and it's that natural law holds true it is always in effect as it always is it's never not in effect but it it holds true regardless of population a lot of people want to make this completely inane argument okay that has no basis in fact that as you have more people that you need to somehow in whatever ways violate someone's natural law rights because if you didn't do that this big group of people would somehow turn chaotic and you would not be able to deal with the situation and this is bunk there's no easier way of saying it it's just completely untrue it's a complete strong argument there's no basis in reality to it okay natural law holds true whether there is one person two people eight people ten trillion people or a hundred Googleplex people okay and yes that is a number okay there's doesn't make a difference how many people exist in the world how many beings natural law still is in effect and we still need to recognize it and choose the right over the wrong otherwise we're choosing payoffs actively we'll get back into this dynamic on the other side of this break don't go anywhere folks right back for you information [Music] welcome back everyone let's jump right back into our discussion on natural law doing a brief review of concepts from past weeks we were looking at slide number three on what on earth is happening calm on the radio show page and we were looking at point number two on that slide that Nate natural law holds true regardless of human population it doesn't matter whether there's one or ten quadrillion people in the world that Nate nature's laws are always in effect and choosing the true good not the semblance of good not what we think is good see because we can be misguided to choose the false good you know an idea that somebody has sold to us as good that's not what I'm talking about here when I talk about choosing something that that Li that is based in good I'm talking about actual virtue okay actions which do not result in harm to another living being okay so many people are told this is going to be good and it's actually resulting in harm and trouncing other people's natural law rights that they do have a right to take and we'll get into these things today and I'm going to give a couple of big generalized examples and then people can call in and ask questions about any other examples or situations and I'll to the best of my ability talk about whether something is within natural law or it isn't outside of the boundaries of natural law and therefore is a violation of someone else's rights so the third point here on this slide is a scenario I'm also going to try to get people to visualize whether an action is actually right is actually good versus what you may think about it in any kind of a conditioned or extraordinarily brainwashed state as a lot of people you know really still are in in the world okay so this is about shedding ego shedding attached mint shedding what we have previously believed and getting down to knowledge about what is actually right morally correct okay so the best way of doing this is visualizing in your own mind that there is only you and one other living being present see because for some and the reason I'm saying this it there's a there's a method to this visualization experience there's a method to the madness as they say whenever you put beings in heard mentality or groupthink situations conscience leaves that scenario for the most part this is just how this dynamic works when there's enough people present a mob or a huge group of people the the energy dynamic that's going on in that specifically because so many of those people are ignorant and unlearned that mob does not really have a conscience so you can't envision the scenario of whether something is actually good or bad in reality when you envision groupthink scenarios you have to take it down to the fundamental core axiom the fundamental core principle okay and understand if there's only me and one other living being is this action right or is it wrong and then it becomes very clear at least to a person with a soul it becomes very clear to a person with a brain it becomes very clear maybe there's some animalistic people out there then it's still they still don't get the difference between right and wrong maybe two people without a real conscience who are truly Psychopaths at their core their fundamental underlying nature is psychopathic which is why I'm going to show the movie there are people like that in the world ladies and gentlemen I mean we can't try to see the world through rose-colored glasses and try to just make believe that there are no psychopaths in the world their abs we are there are people who are born that way through whatever function or reason maybe it's a genetic disorder maybe it's you know trauma that's it was experienced in the womb who knows but there is definitely there are definitely people who are born without conscience without the ability to empathize with anybody else I I think it is an actual debilitating condition in the limbic brain in the actual part of the brain that generates the the neural peptides and the other chemicals that go into the body from the brain and are released from the the glandular system within the the midbrain and this part of the brain is simply malfunctioning that's what helps us this part of the brain the limbic brain or the mem million brain is what allows us to experience emotion and to forge connections emotional bonds with other people through the release of such chemicals that the brain releases in the human bloodstream and the the human nervous system when that's not being done those emotions are not present so Psychopaths do not have the ability to experience the full range of human emotions it's literally like an amputation has taken place it's like trying to go up to someone with no arms and hand them something and say hey could you hold this for me for a minute it can't be done they don't have arms you know doesn't matter how much they want to do it and that's what a psychopath is like and there are people like that so we have to understand that not everybody is going to in regardless of how much information is brought to bear on the correctness of an action or the in correctness of another action they're going to choose only in the pure selfish sense of what is good for them because they don't care they don't have the dynamic of care they don't need to have the capacity to care the ability isn't even there so we have to keep that in mind you know and understand that yes there are people like that in the world so we looked at natural law transgressions what are the harmful actions the best way of knowing what our rights are not what actions we do not have a right to take is knowing what actions do cause harm and the four basic natural law transgressions are on slide number four murder rape theft and trespass which in past weeks we actually simplified these things we didn't even give more complex examples of them but simplified them and said that ultimately they're all one there is one underlying natural law trespass and that is theft that is taking that which does not belong to you whether it is a life whether it is someone else's safety or well-being whether it is someone else's health whether it is someone else's property whether it is someone else's personal space or security within that space okay that's that that's what all wrongdoing boils down to so it's alright doing is understanding is is the understanding of what do you have a right to own what is your true property and your true property is your thoughts your emotions and your actions and yes that could extend to your living space you're the layer that in which you live and operate I do believe in actual property rights definitely okay I'm speaking to you through a microphone that I own I'm speaking to you through a computer that I own if someone tried to come in here and take physical objects I happen to be using and depend upon to do certain tasks and activities that's a morally wrong thing it's and that doesn't belong to them it's my property I do have a right to use it okay so there is such a thing as property both internal property and external property I think this notion definitely extends too far with people who want more and more and more and more and more and can never get enough and want the whole world to be their own you know there are some things we don't have a right to own but my fundamental point here is natural law transgressions all boil down to theft taking that which does not belong to you that's what all wrongdoing is about it's a theft in some form or another so let's get into the deep topic for today that we're going to expand upon and hopefully take some calls on and this is force versus violence one of the main fundamental air of natural law that needs to be studied and the difference needs to be discerned this is about discernment between polar opposites like right and wrong okay yeah we live in a world of duality okay there there are things that we have to make the discernment about what's real and what's illusion because at the fundamental essence level there isn't any duality there's only one thing and everything else is based in the ego mind set okay the ego mind and that's the illusory component that we need to burn away so that we purify and get down to the fundamental essence of what is true so that we're left with truth and love and goodness these are the real and all of this other stuff is illusion that the ego mind creates you know the ego again doesn't need to be eliminated it needs to be recognized and used as the tool that it is to help us operate in the three-dimensional world to gain experience and learn and grow unfortunately the ego has set up camp in most people's mind and in their hearts and said I'm takin over this house and you're not booting me out of here even for a second so force versus violence we need to define names in order to exercise discernment and know which is which and when these are present in any given situation so we're going to look at the definition of force and the definition of violence in the next segment don't go anywhere folks are listening to what on earth is happening right here on the oracle Broadcasting Network [Music] [Music] okay everyone we're back this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passier we're taking a look now at the profits of today's discussion on natural law which is on slide number five on what on earth is happening dot-com on the radio show page and this is a simple chart that takes a look at the differences between force and violence and there is a huge difference between them and this is where we are going to get into the power of words words are ultimately what shape and create our reality words are vibratory energy if we don't understand the words that we are using and the words that this world is made of we are going to be powerless to truly affect any real change either with the either within our own consciousness and certainly in the external world around us we're not going to be able to create any of that influence to create change unless we understand words and their effects so these two words have too long been used synonymously they are not synonyms they are only synonyms in the completely mind controlled brain that's where they exist as synonyms these words are the complete antithesis of each other they are opposites they are opposites in what they affect in the in the actual 3d world in which we live and they are opposites in their essence at the core of their essence because one of them is based in right one of them is based in natural law and natural laws principles one of them is based in wrong one of them is a violation of natural law rights so that's what I'm going to hopefully be able to get some of listeners of this broadcast here today to grasp and deeply understand not everyone will understand this and that's fine okay let's take a look first at definitions force is defined as the capacity to do work or cause physical change the capacity okay it is a an ability to get something done that's what force is it is energy you need energy to do something strength or active power okay so you could use will actually interchangeably with the word force the force of one's will the force of knowledge the force of truth it's a power an active power it's the male principle as I described it last week the masculine principle again is much more accurate to call it force is based in right that's the key thing to keep in mind and this is what people have done the dominators the occultists have obfuscated they've used the technique the mind manipulation technique through words to obfuscate or confuse the difference okay to blur this difference between force and violence by using force interchangeably with violence with the word violence to try to get people to associate the word force with doing something that is violent I'm talking about the essence of the word force and we're talking about force again as a noun a force we're not talking about forcing somebody to do something coercion see it would be better to say using violence to get somebody to do something because then you're really clear in words see it's this is all about connotative meaning and what people think is meant by something it is the perception of meaning and unfortunately that's where words begin to really fail humanity because you you have to elaborate more and more and be more superfluous with your words to try to be as clear as possible about what you mean by a certain term this is why you know just using one word is just so inadequate and it's going to take a whole show to basically really help someone to understand the difference between these terms so let's look at violence and what that is let's give the basic definition for that violence is the immoral use of physical power or force to coerce compel or restrain in other words it's taking an action against someone else that you didn't have a right under natural law to take these are actions that resulted in harm or injury to another living being that's what violence is violence oh let's look at it like this an easier way to look at it ladies and gentlemen is the left-hand column okay and the definition that we gave for force at the top part of that column is the use of this capacity look at that column in blue there as usage okay and on the right hand side that red column right look at that side where it says violence and the definition that we've given up there at the top in the first box underneath violence look at that as abuse so that we're taking these definitions okay and we're elaborating on them but the best way of seeing the the real dichotomy the real hardcore difference between these two ideas is one is per use and the other is abuse AB use improper use okay excuse me so that's the key factor to keep in mind one is use the proper use under natural law that's force the other is always wrong to take to initiate that action so force is always based in something that is voluntary that's why we have a right to do it to use a force you you have a right to use force to build a home you have a right to use force to lift the book you have a right to use force to make a meal you have a right you use force when you lift food to your mouth and put it in your mouth and chew it you're actively using different forces that you have a right to use to do those things as soon as coercion enters the picture you have left the world of force and you have entered the realm of violence you have left usage and you have turned to abuse because violence is the initiation of action that you do not have a right to take against another it is coercive action force is voluntary action you did it of your own free will volitionally it is based in morality and natural law as soon as another is harmed by any amount of force that you're using when you initiated that behavior okay and I want to qualify it by that statement you initiated it and someone is harmed that's always violence that's always wrong that's always against natural law and you never have a right to do that under any circumstances okay so as I said last week the the real difference between these two types of action is one is initiated where the right to initiate did not exist so it does matter who starts an act of violence it absolutely matters this is another brainwashing technique that people who want to own the monopoly on force and say oh we're the ones who are allowed to use any force okay and if we see violence it doesn't matter who started it we're gonna we're gonna do something negative to both people involved you know doesn't matter who started the violence and then who might have been using force to protect themself against violence we're gonna just you know operate the same way over both of those and it doesn't matter who started it well this is another form of complete bunker and mind control it absolutely matters who initiated the first action that they did not have the right to take absolutely as a matter of fact that's all that matters when it comes to this principle when it comes to understanding this dynamic will look deeper into the difference between force and violence on the other side of this break don't go anywhere folks this is what on earth is happening [Music] made up stone [Music] we're back everyone we are looking at the dynamic the god natural law of force versus violence today on what on earth is happening and we are on image number five on what on earth is happening calm on the radio show page under images for today's show or image number five along with this podcast if you're listening by podcast we went through a couple of these dynamics on this chart and I want to finish up this chart and look at one other set of set of principles to take a very deep understanding of what actions fall within our natural law rights and therefore we do have a right to take verses those which do not and therefore with the ones we do not have a right to take before I start talking about some specific examples that I want to give here today so force is voluntary action it is always based in morality or right or natural law it does not violate another's natural law rights okay violence is always the initiation and use of coercive action and that is never based in morality or natural law it's always wrong okay force we always have a right to use it because it doesn't violate anyone else's natural law rights violence we never have a right to use violence there's no such thing as a right to use violence under any circumstances and you'll understand what I mean by that okay force may be used to defend oneself against violence so I'm going to use an example of that it's the only time that we are allowed to do something that ordinarily we would not be allowed to do under natural law so I guess I could give an example of this now okay if an attacker comes up to me on the street I walk out of my home I walk down to my corner and I'm accosted on the street and one says if you don't give me whatever money you happen to have or any other valuables you happen to have in your pockets you know of your jacket and pants I'm going to do harm to you in some form or another they might have a gun they might have a knife they might just want to beat you with their hands okay this is the initiation and use of coercive action it is not based in natural law or morality therefore I then receive the right to put down that action okay I would then be able to use force not violence but force to put down that action and I would be allowed to use whatever amount of force is required to put down that action under natural law it's it's very simple if you just think of it in these terms if I responded to that by saying I'm not giving you anything and then the person tried to come at me okay I would be able to use whatever force I was able to use whether I had a gun on me and squeeze the trigger and put a bullet in that individual whether I took out a club or a knife or a tire iron or whatever I had on me to put down that person's incursion against my natural law rights I would receive that right at that point okay now yes that action would be doing harm to that other individuals body but only after they abdicated their right to stay free of harm by initiating violence by using force that they did not have the right to use in that instant for coercion okay to come helm that you give them something understand the difference it's critical to understand that difference we'll look at this people on the other side stay where this everyone [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcast and radio network on their host mark Hasse oh my website what on earth is happening dot-com the topic of discussion for today is force versus violence as one of the major components of understanding natural law so we're looking at slide number 5 on the 12 images that I've posted with this broadcast on the website and we were looking at a specific example the example where someone is accosted threatened with violence and maybe violence has actually been in this initiated against them okay so someone has attempted to attack someone in order to take something from them that does not belong to them let's take a look at this action in depth is force being used by the attacker or is violence being used by the attacker well they don't have a right to do what they're doing they're taking something it's theft it's one of the natural law transgressions they're trying to take that which does not belong to them therefore this is the immoral use of physical power to coerce compel or restrain that is what violence is so this is a violent action okay it is the initiation and use of coercion action which is not based in morality or natural law violence is action which one never possesses the right to take so this person is not within their natural law rights okay natural ins always involves the violation of another's natural law rights so I step out into the street an attacker comes at me they want my money they start swinging on me they have violated my natural law rights to remain safe healthy and in keeping of my own possessions okay therefore I then receive a right okay to do something to correct that situation matter of fact it's a right I've always had okay I now have the right to exercise that right okay and I want to be very specific about this and try to explain it as clearly as possible because this is where people don't understand that if I were to have to put down this attack I would not physically put it down okay to beat back this attack in some form or another okay such that this other being who this another immoral person who came at me was incapacitated through my physical action I would not have performed violence I would have used force to do that so let's take a look at my response let's say I'm armed okay I'm carrying so I take out the weapon and I fire two rounds into the center-of-mass was that an act of violence this is the fundamental question of the day ladies and gentlemen ask yourself this question is that would that be able to be construed as an act of violence and I would say absolutely not that is not violence that was a response to violence based in force not based in violence you see this is where you have to get out of your mind control folks that the state has put you in and that in many cases the New Age movement has even put you in okay if I respond physically to an act of violence to protect myself I have not engaged violence with violence I have responded to violence with the amount of force which is based in right okay I have a right to protect myself in that situation okay so I have not responded with violence I have responded with force the amount of force necessary to put down that attack so let's look at this chart and see where my actions fall okay the attacker came at me tries to take what I have I discharged a weapon and put the attacker down okay I have exercised my capacity to cause physical change I have used energy strength or active power at my disposal because my natural law rights were being violated violence was being done to me so I engaged in an action which I possessed here's the concept of possession or ownership again inherently within me I have the right to take out my capacity to act and then exert it in the physical world okay I have a right to take my capacity to act and then put it into effect in the physical world that's a called a right so force which is what I would be using in this instance I always have a right force is backed by right violence is never backed by right it is wrong in 100% of the circumstances there is no such thing as a justification for violence if you understand the real definition of the word violence versus the real definition of the word force but here is where we have a a problem with semantics and people get into semantical games and arguments and they never actually hit the nail on the head with the difference between these things they still insist that they are the same because they want to play semantics games with words that's exactly what the occultists the mind controllers the complete psychopaths of this world are doing with words to try to obvious their meaning did I violate another person's natural law rights in my action in that circumstance absolutely not I did not I possessed the right to take that action and I used it properly because my life was under threat that's what the ability to defend yourself with force is all about and every single individual has that right inherently nobody grants you that right you have that right if violence is being done to you or the violation of your natural law rights is being done to you you do possess whether you exercise it or not is up to you but you do possess the right meaning you are within your natural law right to put down that attack against your natural law rights okay by what the amount of force necessary to put the attack down now again you don't have to exercise that you can say I'm not going to to caused that harm to that person even though I now have that right to do that because of what they've done you can choose to turn the other cheek that's also within your right but I want to make it real clear you have absolutely every right to put down that violent attack by the by whatever amount of force is required to do it okay so on the other side of this break let's take a look at the dynamic of what is an accident violation under natural law okay and let's talk about the dynamic of people who think they have rights that they don't have and and therefore they're actually doing acts of violence that they don't have a right to do and think they do have that right [Music] [Music] okay folks we're back this is what on earth is happening let's jump right back into the difference between force and violence which is the topic for today's show once again force is our capacity to actually create change in the world and we have a right to actually exercise voluntary action that doesn't violate others natural law rights once the initiation of natural law rights has occurred it falls within that individuals choice whether they want to use their capacity to create change and exercise force if they want to use that and put it into practice in the world and they would have the right to do it now understand brainwashed people out there don't think that that's a human right there are people who would not think that that would be within someone's rights people who don't understand their rights think that someone would not have the right to put down an attacker when they have violated their rights when they have come for something that doesn't belong to them regardless of what import you might place on the possession that's irrelevant you are violating my body you're threatening me with violence and possibly death because you want something that doesn't belong to you maybe you just consider terror the territory you live in you know the neighborhood I might have crossed into a neighborhood where a drug dealer looks at this is this is my block or my corner and I just want to pass to get safely to my home and therefore they're gonna come at me and do violence it's the same situation folks they're threatening somebody and they're threatening their natural law rights to threatening their well-being and they're taking that which they don't have a right to take and you need to get down to the fundamental the very simple baseline dynamic wrong is being committed but more than that raw is being started initiated there's the key to keep in mind it is all about who starts it okay you ever hear this street saying don't start none won't be none have you ever heard that phrase that's that's it that means don't violate another beings natural law rights period because you don't have a right to if you don't want somebody somebody else reacting to the violation of their rights with force to put down that attack don't start the problem to begin with don't violate another person's natural law rights it's real simple understand what you do own and what you don't own and I what I mean that by that is understand you own your own thoughts your own emotions and your own actions once you get into the territory of trying to stop other people from exercising their natural law rights you've crossed into the territory of violence you don't have that right nobody can grant you that right so this is what I want to talk about with another example that I'm going to couple more examples I'm gonna give and then we'll go to the phones of understanding when a violation of natural law right has taken place so that you can understand what rights do exist what rights don't exist and so therefore you can understand that rights that don't exist cannot be granted cannot be granted the only thing that ever grants someone the right to do something that they originally don't have the right to start doing is when they have already been violated when their rights have already been violated someone attempting to rape a woman the woman has a right to physically beat back that attack with whatever amount of force is required to do it okay sure she has been violated her rights have been violated her ability to express her sexuality with who she voluntarily chooses has been violated that's an act of violence which no one has the right to take okay that's what rape is therefore if she wants to take out a Beretta and put two slugs into someone's head that that raped her she has the right to do that the the point I'm trying to make here is we need to understand when we're allowed to use force there is the right to use force against someone else physically physically and this is something I know that the New Age movement has brainwashed people about that there's you can never take a forceful action against another person's body wrong absolutely you can you are within your right to do that I don't care how controversial that sounds too little emasculated little boys out there okay that's the truth that's the truth folks you need to know what your rights are so that you can step up and defend them when they're being violated and people need to know what their rights are not so they don't just start magically dreaming up that they have rights that they never will possess and here's one of them taxation taxation is a right that doesn't exist never has existed never will exist and yet people think that this is so moral that that's right as a matter of fact they have reversed it completely around it thinking that it's immoral to resist being taxed being stolen from the right the right to keep the product of your Labor's if you don't want to give that up to be then used for more immoral purposes people think you're immoral for not wanting to do that this is how ass-backwards and completely brainwashed this society is so let's give an example taxation let's take it back to one other person in the world okay you take your mind back to that space it's just me and one other living being do I have a right to say that at all they're living being listen there's we're living on a let's say we were living on a small planet someplace it's really small it's like you know a hundredth the size of the moon gravity's real low but it grows lush lush you know vegetation and plant there's food me and one other person are living on that world okay do I have a right to say to this person listen anything you do here to make or create I'm taking an arbitrary amount of it that I decide whether you like it or not if you don't comply I'm gonna do some form of violence against you or I may just you know tie you up to that tree shove food in your mouth to keep you alive whenever I feel like it but I'm not gonna let you move from that spot what I have a right to say that to that person or do those things absolutely not it's theft that person would be exercising their labor under their volition to create whatever they created from the fruits of their labor okay to use their ability to do work which is force okay - maybe harvest food or plant crops or whatever they were going to do in that natural situation I don't have a right ever to come along with violence and with coercion with compelling threats to say you're gonna do this or else there's gonna be physical repercussions that's called violence that's the definition of violence now if that person resisted me and said nonsense I'm not going to give you anything that I make unless I make a voluntary agreement to do that because we talked about it we agreed on what we're going to exchange and that person said you try to come at me with any form of violence and I'm gonna put down that act of aggression this is the aggression principle or the aggression ideology is a better way of saying it okay I'm gonna put down your aggressive ideology in whatever way I need to put it down if you try to come at me with violence and that person would be well within their rights in that scenario and it doesn't make a difference the people who are going to go and say well with seven billion people in the world there's a big difference no there's no difference all natural law rights are inherent man did not invent them ladies and gentlemen we didn't make up natural law they are here in the creation inherently the Creator put them there that's who instilled rights and the wrongs and we need to know which is which and we start understanding it fast because of the direction we're headed as a people we'll be right back and give some more examples eyes [Music] back everyone I want to talk about another dynamic associated with this this idea of force versus violence and knowing the difference so we're going to talk about taxation but before we do that I just gave the example of taxation as one individual claiming that they have a right to tax another individual okay because again to get back to whether something is actually based in morality or not we use the example of the visualization visualizing that there are only two people present if you have the right to do it in that situation it exists as a right if it would be wrong if there were only two people present which I just gave in the last example and I think anyone that has any inkling of conscience or morality within them recognizes inherently the wrongness of what someone would be doing demanding that that other individual basically act as their slave you're gonna do this for me I'm just gonna take it I'm gonna come and take what you've made they can claim all they want it's for the greater good and it's going to be used for all wonderful purposes it is irrelevant what it's going to be used for if you are taking it based on coercion based on the removal of choice telling someone you don't have a choice in the matter your free will is being usurped by me and if you choose try to choose to just keep what you have I'm gonna do violence to you does this sound familiar ladies and gentlemen because it should this is the Society we have and we live in and people actually think it's right that's how brainwashed they are that they actually believe that that is right or is a right exists as a right no one individual owns that right no one possesses that right you can't find me one purse all out of the seven billion people living on this planet that in that situation has the right where in any situation has the right to take what they say they could just say they're allowed to take from another living human being it that right doesn't exist folks period the end it doesn't exist no one can prove that that right exists because it does not okay nothing you ever say or try to justify will ever make that a an existing right so rights that do not exist for an individual because they cause harm or defraud another individual that's the definition of what wrong is that's what a violation of natural law is we're talking about the concepts on slide number six here now okay the violation of another person an act of violence is the result is that individual has been harmed or defrauded that's what violence is you have taken that which you don't have a right to take from them whether it be their safety their property or their rights so if that is not a right to do that meaning it's a wrong okay meaning you don't have a right to do that action if that right does not exist for an individual no individual living has that right then that invariably logically even follows no individual can ever say to another individual you suddenly have this right it can't be granted through any mechanism through any means ever to another living human being do I have a right to arbitrarily walk up to someone with a hammer and crack their skull that right doesn't exist I can write it down on paper I get a whole bunch of people to agree that this right exists and write it down and put an official seal on it and stamp it and put it in a law books on place and that rights never gonna exist ladies and gentlemen because it's always based in violence and that's what taxation is see the next slide number seven has to really phrases that really hit the nail on the head about what taxation is it's theft it is the fundamental fundamental violation of natural law rights it is the fundamental transgression against natural law theft the one we boiled it all down to the one wrongdoing that all other wrongdoings are based on it also says taxation is slavery because if you can take that which someone else has produced by an act of theft okay and you're claiming that that person doesn't have a right to actually rebelled against that theft and claim that they have the right to keep what they have made with their the sweat of their brow and the labor of their own hands they're a slave that's the definition of slavery that's what slavery is people that don't have a right to keep what they've made that's what slavery is at its core at its essence but more profound and fundamental than this about these two things are indeed what slavery is it is theft and it is I'm sorry taxation is it is theft and it is slavery taxation is both of those things but even more fundamental fundamental than that taxation is violence put an equal sign between those two words folks because that's what it is taxation and violence are the exact same thing it's just calling one thing another you are using force which you do not have a right to use to take which that does not belong take that which does not belong to you and that is the very definition of violence that we gave in the previous slide it can't get any more clearer cut the people who don't understand this are not raised they are not raised in consciousness they are not raised in compassion they are not raised in the understanding of natural law and they certainly aren't raised in conscience in the knowing between right and wrong which is which rights you actions you have a right to take or do not have a right to take I know that I don't have a right to go and take something that doesn't belong to me I don't care what good I'm going to do with it believe me I could do a lot of good in the world teaching this information if I had more money but that doesn't give me the right to go and say you need to give me money to do this somebody has to make the decision to help someone else you can't coerce good deeds you can't coerce good deeds out of somebody else by saying you must do it because it's right or I'm gonna hurt you that's saying you're gonna do a wrong thing to get somebody else to do a right thing I'm gonna use violence to create something good yeah that'll work sure and people who say it's hypocritical to say that when I've just told you you have a right to defend yourself against violence you don't you still don't understand what your rights are you have a right to use force to protect your physical vessel which you are in ownership while you are inhabiting it you are the steward of this vessel while you're alive in this three-dimensional form your body in other words you own your body while you're alive here while you're in this physical incarnation and I have that means I have a right to protect it and if someone comes at me with violence and I know I have harmed none and I do have a right to remain safe in my body I have a right to defend myself with force against that being coming at me with violence eternally I have that right we need to get this straight ladies and gentlemen and stop being just brainwashed over it I mean that's the only way of putting it people just are completely under a hypnotic trance because they think that people have the right to do actions that they never will have the right to do and they think people don't have the right to defend themselves against these violent acts and they're they're simply wrong there is no other way to put it you're just wrong about that if that's what you think so let's look at another example okay that's taxation let's take a look at another example and then we'll go to the phones in the last segment how about people who are saying that if other people tell them that this group of people no longer has the right to assemble or speak I'm gonna go over and I'm gonna attempt to take away their right to assemble and speak and this one will get me I'm gonna really endeavor to try to stay calm about this one because this is one of the things that is the I guess you could say nearest and dearest to my heart speech is one of the most fundamental natural law rights ladies and gentlemen that's why it was enshrined in that capacity in the bill of rights to the Constitution okay now I don't believe in man's law I'm just saying that was the was the attempt that was the intention of what they attempted to do to enshrine that as the ultimate right it's the first thing the principle means first thing they attempted to encode that principle that truth into the very first thing in the Bill of Rights which is a restraint against government on what it may never do it's all negative statements Congress shall not shall not and they said it won't that shall not make any law that abridges the freedom of speech and yet in this very state when the g20 came to Pittsburgh Pennsylvania that's what a whole bunch of people thought that they magically were granted the right to do suppress free speech thomas a.org [Music] okay last segment of what on earth is happening for today want to talk about people who think that they have magically acquired the right to put down freedom of speech and assembly [Music] and that's exactly what we saw right here in the state where I live on the opposite side of this state in Pittsburgh a couple of years ago during the g20 protests which you could just look up on YouTube and find out how much violence was done and not only that just the outright violation by the city of saying you don't have a right to come out and assemble and protest and speak your mind imagine the nerve the unmitigated gall I mean I have no respect for this city after this nun I'm no respect for the people of that city for putting up with that and not being so enraged about your city just told you you don't have the the rights that are supposed to be guaranteed and protected under the First Amendment that's what they told the whole city of Pittsburgh Pennsylvania and you know what the people or the mass bulk of the people of that city did I don't want to say a blanket statement and say this applies to everyone in that city but as a generalization that city rolled over and took it they rolled over and just accepted it and that made me lose a whole lot of respect because I thought that was a city of people who you know weren't gonna take anything like that and who were gonna stand up for their rights and their beliefs and what they know to be right but boy was I proven wrong you know the the protesters who did stand up to those individuals are courageous and moral individuals unfortunately they're up against the stacked deck with militarized police with military weaponry and so there's a lot of fear and you know they really didn't have the ability to do much about their situation but if you look at it at a fundamental level did they have the right to put down that act of aggression if the crowd chose to do so they absolutely had every right to use whatever amount of force would have been required to put down that act of vie because that's what those cops were engaged in and they were breaking natural law and those cops should not be free people today as a result of that they shouldn't be free they're criminals let's let's be real specific about that word that's what those cops are not some of them all of them now I am making a blanket statement okay every single one of those cops who participated in that act of violence against people's natural law rights are criminals and don't belong to be walking in civilization free because of what they done they have done personally I don't think they even should be rotting in a jail someplace I think they should be ostracized from society I think anybody that keeps company with an individual like that is slime themselves and I don't care what anybody thinks for me of me saying that I could care less what you think of me saying that I'm not here like I've said many times in the past ladies and gentlemen and yeah I get fired up over this you know I experienced a full range of human emotions because I'm truly human okay I've said this many times in the past okay I do I lost my train of thought there because I'm I get so so nuts about this in particular which I said I wasn't gonna do but you know when I think about people trying to take people's speech see because that's the thing that makes us the closest to the to the creative essence is the ability to speak that's the thing that makes us closest takes us closest to the creator vibratory energy the communication of ideas and knowledge how dare anyone try to say that they're going to cut off that right and assembly with other people who you can share knowledge with this is a fundamental human right that no one has a right to violate that's why the people who founded this country tried to enshrine that above everything else and they said if this is what's being violated you know do you have the most seer of problems in your midst and you need to act quickly to reverse that condition and correct that problem another place that violence has always been going on is in the military okay of course it's entirely built on violence okay but in particular I want to talk about regimes who have started violence and attempted to take things that they don't have a right to take like lands or people's rights or resources and this is basically what the military does regardless of what country they're from so I've deliberately in slide number nine here put something that I want to be seen as offensive by people to shake them up and make them realize there's no difference between the left side of that image and the right side of that image the modern military that is waging Wars of imperialism and aggression to take those resources of other sovereign peoples that they don't have a right to take are no different than then Nazi Germany no different than the Nazis who marched across borders into other countries and raped other people's rights and murdered countless millions and you know and other countries regimes that have done this as well well to their own people even like like Stalin's regime or mouthes regime it's no different we need to lose respect for the people who haven't earned any of our respect because they haven't even shown themselves any respect they don't have self-respect how are they gonna earn the respect of somebody else there are hired mercenaries who are willing to go and take a paycheck to do something that's completely immoral and I don't care how strong people think my words are about that that's true that's the truth that's what's going on that's what our military is about to summarize everything we've been talking about about natural law you really just have to understand that unless we harmonize with natural law principles there's no way we're ever going to achieve true freedom peace prosperity survival and evolutionary progress moreover no evolutionary progress in consciousness will ever truly be made it's like a chicken and an egg scenario you need an evolutionary progress in consciousness to understand natural law at all but without that understanding forget about peace forget about prosperity forget freedom and ultimately forget survival because humanity's going the way of the dodo goodbye extinction if we don't really turn our mind around and grasp an understanding of natural law real fast when we want to live in opposition in natural law good luck staring down a freight train folks because that's what we're really doing and that's what these police are doing who want to violate other people's natural law rights to speak that's what the military is doing who want to go and violate other people's natural law rights to exist free to exist peaceably in their country that's what that's what people who want to collect taxation are doing and there's a million other violations of natural law going on all around us that we could talk about until we're blue in the face but ultimately I want to wrap up the discussion today and take a couple of quick phone calls by saying by quoting Francis Bacon who was the head of the Rosicrucian order at a time I believe in the late 1500s or early 1600s I could be wrong about those dates might be a later than that but he said it might be a late 16 in the early 1700s he said nature to be commanded must first be obeyed natural law is not really an option see if some sense at some level the free will we think we have is illusory at the level of natural law there's only nature is the grandest dictator you can look at it like that folks but it's not dictation for our enslavement it's dictation for our survival for our growth we need to understand how nature's laws work work because that is the living system that we exist within that we are embedded within and if we don't understand that body in which we exist okay we're altum Utley destroying ourselves so if we want peace and prosperity and true freedom and we want to be able to command the forces of nature we first have to understand nature's laws and live in harmony with them the end that is just how it works and the only way we're going to ever understand that and accept that is to get out of the ego-mind and start to learn natural law so let's go to the phones with the last few minutes that we have Larry in excuse me here we go Larry in Louisiana you're live on what on earth is happening you can take us out yeah where it says all persons born or naturalized and subject to the laws and subject to the laws is an act of violence there's no man or group of men have the right to subjugate all people thank you so much for that Larry and those are great words to go out on we'll see you here next week on what on earth is happening folks stick around Chris ever our is up next here on Oracle broadcasting [Music] you [Music]

What On Earth Is Happening Show #082

Topics: Natural Law Call-In Show

freedom mat that's what it's all about [Music] [Music] welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Mark Pascoe welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening right here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio today is Sunday October 23rd 2011 the show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. Eastern that's 4 to 6 p.m. Central Time and it is all about the critical moment of choice that humanity is rapidly racing headlong toward and that moment of choice is definitely a moment of truth we have to make up our mind about which side of that equation we each as individuals are on so today on the show we're going to be doing something a little bit different it's going to be a an all call-in show once again I'm going to be taking calls on natural law because over the last many shows I haven't really had much time to get into taking calls because quite frankly I really wanted to focus on getting this all-important information on natural law out to the public in as unadulterated of a fashion as I possibly could so I definitely have neglected our callers over the last several shows probably for about the last nine shows actually I mean I took a few calls here and there when I could but again I wanted the information to be frontmost so today I'm gonna make up for that imbalance by doing an all call-in show and the topic for discussion is natural law anything that has been covered over the past nine weeks on natural law and its principles and it's it's a manifestations in our world can be is fair game for discussion today so the calling number for the show is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five all show nothing but Collins and questions any questions that you may have anything that you may need clarified on the topic of natural law any scenarios that you want to pose last week I know we covered some rather controversial material actually the last couple of weeks on force versus violence and the distinct differences between those two things in our world I'd like to take some calls on that with any scenarios that people may want to present to ask about what is or is not within the boundaries of natural law so that's coming up on what on earth is happening I do have one quick event announcement next this Wednesday coming up Wednesday October 26th 2011 at 7:15 p.m. at media Bureau Studios 725 North fourth Street here in Philadelphia truth freedom prosperity presents its free monthly documentary screening and discussion night this month we are showing the film defense against the psychopath what is psychopathy what are the personality traits and behavioral characteristics of a psychopath and most importantly what are the best defensive strategies in dealing with psychopaths in our everyday world this Wednesday October 26th 7 p.m. at media Bureau studios here in Philadelphia we'll be right back folks [Music] I was born a shot garden behind the girl I'll make my day [Music] and that's why we do everything that we do here on what on earth is happening so that the stand does not need to be made from behind a gun so it can be made through the force of truth and the power of truth that is why this show exists that is why I put this information out into the world nobody wants to see it come to anything like that if it must it must but we need to get this done through consciousness that's the only way that the effect will ever be lasting understand that ladies and gentlemen so again the topics for discussion I want to basically you know lay the framework for what we're going to do today because again usually I say in most shows I say and any topic is on the table it's no taboo topics talk about anything you want for the show today we are taking calls on natural law on anything that has been covered as part of the overarching solution to the problems in human consciousness dealing with natural law and its principles that is the topic for discussion and questions here today so you could call in and talk about the principles of natural law that we covered several weeks ago you could talk about natural law expressions or how natural law functions to bring us our experience in this a three-dimensional domain okay you could talk about morality and the difference between right and wrong we covered the great essay by Aquinas and the commentary on that by David Lynn F on lucid streams you could talk about what our rights are and what they are not you can discuss apophysis the negative pathway to truth affirmation through negation okay you could talk about the non-violence or non-aggression principle you could talk about the transgressions against natural law what harmful actions actually are and try to get a better handle on that what our rights are not because these actions cause harm okay you could about the dynamic of force versus violence the understanding of the non transference of natural law writes that our rights are simply inherent and can't be transferred to other people oh they can be abdicated by us most certainly but you can't give a non-existent right a right that doesn't exist because it's based on violence to someone else and then give them moral license to go and conduct that activity and we can talk about what living in harmony with natural law leads to or with what living in opposition to natural law leads to any questions about natural law anything that you want me to clear up over what was covered over the last nine weeks any scenarios that you want to bring up or have questions about that's what's on the table for today so we are somewhat limiting to discussion please if you're going to call in keep it on topic we're trying to be focused here about natural law because this is so important in helping to gain an understanding of what the real solutions what the real causal fundamental causal dynamics of the problem are and getting to the understanding of natural law is one of the fundamental solutions to that problem okay to our problems in consciousness so the calling number once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five eight six six eight four one one zero six five your calls the whole show coming up on what on earth is happening here today let's go to the phones right away we have a few callers in queue already here we go Tim in Virginia you are live on what on earth is happening what do you have for us today hey how you doing mark great to hear you first-time caller big big fan though I always listen to you though you got you putting it off you had it wrote down I wanted to talk about that show exactly two weeks ago the force and violence was a remarkable show I mean it was it's what you covered there everybody needs to go back and listen to that one and for sure that one that you did on the piece how that happens that this is a function and so that's you know I what I was a force and violence is that is that you know America goes into like Libya who wants to try to show force but all it's actually did is display because the world is just nothing but violence and just look at what it's now that's right that's pretty much how they the elite have just turned everything upside down you know black is white kind of thing we don't want to work I we don't want to lead by moral example in this country and actually setting a good example for other countries to follow because our citizens and government really do understand the principles of natural law and attempt to embody them within ourselves you know if we really did that we wouldn't need these controls of government you know like people insist that we do we would be able to shake those chains off and live as natural law beings truly free and set that example for the rest of the world but instead we wage wars of imperialism which is all based in violence it's saying this is how we think everyone else should live and we're going to make people live that way under threat of harm or actual do physical harm to them to make them obey how we want them to live and that sets no example at all all that shows people is that you're the bully of the world and ultimately they're not going to want to really accept any of your philosophies whether they be true or not because they're going to see you as a total imperialist aggressor which is what this country really is and that's what our troops really need to understand that's the force that they're serving they're not serving the force of truth and goodness when they join up for the military in this country they're serving the force of violence they're serving the dynamic of violence now it's not not the force of violence at all it's it's the illusion that you can actually make any positive changes in consciousness come about through violence it can never be done that way yeah that's you just summed it up right there you just powered in about a half hours worth of reading through a book on violence and fleurs in just a couple minutes there so yeah that's you got it right I mean that's what you do is cause problems but um yeah just that's what I wanted to bring out this is the force and violence thing that you that shows everybody they didn't listen to that one she'd go back and listen to it again and I appreciate that that is on podcast number 81 if people want to go back and check that information out Tim thanks so much for the call let's go on and go on to the next caller Richard in Washington State you're live on what on earth is happening welcome yeah thank thanks for taking my call I wanted to call in the last week or the week before whichever the show was for forcing violence yes and I was listening to Melody's show about Clint Richardson and corporation nation I don't know if you're familiar with I am the individual okay his kind of presentation was the the Constitution had really was just another legal document and had provisions in it to take away the rights of people I agree and I tried right well okay I tried to to present the thing that what it was significant about was the acknowledged and documented the provision of natural law and gave the individuals under God's sovereignty and and so I you know since you agreed I'd like to just hear your feet on those well I think there are there is a dichotomy within the Constitution while it does attempt to set the people up as sovereigns and respect natural law principles in some regards in other sections and another enumeration of pattern in the enumeration of powers it actually subverts those principles it subverts those principles by doing something by granting powers to the government which no individual possesses and that's namely the power to tax the power to lay and collect taxes that's an important understanding within the Constitution that those areas which grant those powers pay are subversion of natural law principles no one no individual has that power so those powers can never actually be granted to any group of individuals calling themself a government we'll pick this up on the other side stay on the line with us Richard you're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcast and we'll be right back [Music] we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening comment to go up there there are some images that go along with today's show they're basically images that we've already covered in the past but they form a nice summary of the natural law principles that we've covered over the last nine weeks here on this show so there's I believe 11 images up on the the radio show page if you go to what on earth is happening calm and you click the radio show tab you'll be taken to the show the page with the player right under the player it says images for today's show and you could take a look at those slides which are basically a review of the concepts we've covered again over the last several weeks on what on earth is happening we were on the line with Richard in Washington State and I was he was asking what my take was on the Constitution and how it what kind of a job it did either in enshrining natural law or in basically subverting it and setting up the pathway for this country to come in and subvert people's natural law rights and I said it does both actually which is why it is in my estimation and ambiguous document at best I think we did much much better in helping to convey natural law principles to people in the Declaration of Independence I think that's where we really should have stopped and I think that's where we need to get back to are those principles that were enshrined in 1776 which is why that is an extremely mystical date in this country's history and for many other reasons we talked about that when we looked at the gematria the occult numerology in the Great Seal of the United States and that symbology but my answer was basically that while it does set the people in this country up as a as sovereigns as people who are not subjects who are not slaves it then basically reverts to lower minded principles when it sets up a system of Taxation because if no one individual or any individual for that matter how as the right to lane collect taxes on another individual that power that right can never that non-existent right okay that wrong I should say can never be granted or conferred to another group of people so I covered this on the slide that says no the law meaning no natural law not man's law that rights that dude quote unquote rights that do not exist for an individual cannot be granted or conferred by man's law to any other individual or to any group of individuals this is the non transference the non transfer ability of non-existent rights okay so wrongs can never be granted to another person if something is wrong it is always wrong to do because it is always based in harm or fraud so it is always based on a natural law transgression and you can't do that natural law transgression there's only one instance that a natural law transgression is no longer a natural law transgression and that's when your physical being is being threatened or your rights are being threatened so someone else is coming at you with violence you have a right to defend your property or your rights with force in the physical domain if that is necessary to stop that attack from that that incoming attack of violence that's the only time when that is allowed to occur under natural law you reserve the rights to protect your body to protect your rights and to protect your property so let me go back to Richard and Washington State Richard does that answer your question and if so do you have any other raw questions or comments on natural law well you brought up taxation my understanding of the original document the original framework of the document was that there was no taxation it was all duties and levies on Commerce and it was until the corporate United States was created starting after Jackson and in 1871 and that's fragile an institution of a corporate government that the the product the aspect of taxation was brought in do you see a difference between the original framework that our founders guaranteed us and the the fraudulent presentation that the the corporate document started to bring in after it was was changed as significant or it's it's significant in that there was a devolution there as well and it went further against natural law principles and in addition the sixteenth amendment also goes further against natural law principles even though the Supreme Court says that that didn't fundamentally change any of the powers of the government it is it is still the fundamental nature of taxation on its face prima facie is violence it is saying regardless of whether you're granting it to be done to a corporate entity or a cartel or anything on its face the action of Taxation no matter who you're taking it from or who you're giving that money to or for what purpose it's for is based in violence it is saying you don't have free will in this matter you that's it I fully agree with that but that's my idea is that the original framework the framers were trying to get away from taxation by the king and they created the individual sovereignty who could not be taxed it wasn't until that was overturned by like I said the the fraudulent presentation of a new government that that prospect was created right you're talking about the u dot s dot the United States corporation exactly right and when it's with that in mind are you familiar with American freedom a conversation in the all capital letters United States and you support the the information that was provided in that work well I understand about UCC and Admiralty law and I think it's all fraudulent it's all based on getting someone to identify with a smaller concept of who they really are and not really understanding their sovereignty and not understanding themselves higher s case higher capital S self not understanding who you really are what yourself truly is that's the way that they get you to capitulate to Authority in human form and basically identify again with yourself as something that you are not which namely in this instance is a corporate entity or something that is subjugated to the rules of another being so yeah I'm familiar with with all of that and I think it's all just needs to be rejected on its face as a complete deception and something that is done only because these people know the spiritual nature of this dimension and they know that they don't have any rights under natural law to do what they are doing so they have to trick someone into giving up their rights by getting them to identify with something that they are not exactly well that that's my understanding of the Constitution that it provided you know acknowledgment and documentation that made the individual sovereign under God and because of that we then had the status of kings or sovereigns and without that what is going to give us any ability to utilize our natural law rights within the context of the present civilization well how I would respond to that is that the Constitution didn't give us that sovereignty it may have stated that it was already present but the sovereignty is inherent the creator granted us our sovereignty not the Constitution so what we need to do is simply to understand that meaning stand under that principle and not be willing to abdicate the responsibility that comes with that understanding and that means standing up knowing first of all knowing what our rights truly are and what they are not and secondly being willing to stand up for those rights and defend them if they come under attack unfortunately the problem isn't in the language of the Constitution the problem is in the fact that that understanding was not accurately enough conveyed to the people at large in a wider sense that educational process was not done for the people that were here in this country during its founding and therefore that that depth of knowledge never really took full root and grew into a powerful force in this world specifically in this country that's the main nature of the problem the failure in the education of the people at large on the principles of natural law the great great questions in great call Richard I want to thank you so much we're going to be continuing with people's calls on natural law natural law principles the manifestations of natural law in our world and anything else that we've covered over the past nine weeks here on what on earth is happening on the other side of this break don't go anywhere folks you don't want to miss this one we'll be right back after these messages [Music] welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show all calls your calls on natural law and natural law principles and any questions that you may have regarding what we've covered on natural law over the past several weeks here on what on earth is happening the calling number for the show is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five we do have a caller in queue so there's plenty of spaces for more people to call in feel free to call in and I'll get to your call as soon as possible call her that is in queue just hold on the line I'll get to you in a moment I just want to wrap up a couple of thoughts about the Constitution which was asked by Richard in the last segment and clarify some some more things on that and the aspect I want to talk about on that when it comes to natural law is language okay and how important language and the role of language plays in the the conference of the understanding of natural law see if you can't understand something deeply enough to write it down okay you certainly don't understand it deeply enough to speak it verbally and this is what this is what we lacked to the extent that it was present in large quantities in society during the time of the founding of this country we needed more people who deeply understood these principles so much that they could speak it with clarity to other people and transfer that knowledge in a in a big way okay in a very powerful way to other living beings unfortunately the way I see it is that we did not have those numbers just like we don't have them today okay we have probably more people as far as flat numbers go I wouldn't say percentage-wise but yeah there's probably more living people alive in the world that understand these principles now then even did back then but percentage-wise I don't think it's changed very much and what what the founders attempted to do and I'm not saying this was a bad thing this was a good thing so I'm not attacking the Constitution as a whole I'm saying they attempted to enshrine this knowledge to the extent that they understood it in frozen language in written word now that's that's a step down in charge it's a step down in energy from living spoken language this is why the most powerful occult knowledge the traditions of high-level ocultism hidden knowledge that is the most powerful knowledge there is to know has always traditionally been handed down by word of mouth from lip to ear in the spoken living language of vibratory energy speech that is the way that the creator gifted us to be like the Creator okay through the power of the word again in the beginning was the word the first words spoken by the Creator in this allegorical story of the creation epic brought the universe into being through the force of vibration the power of vibratory energy by the phrase let there be light okay so this is very powerful and important to understand the power of the spoken word this is why I prefer to teach through speaking through radio and the speaking and listening is the most powerful dynamic of teaching and listening it isn't reading is extremely important don't get me wrong I I'm on here harping on people on the power of books the importance of books and how that goes hand-in-hand with human freedom but you know once you have taken in knowledge through books it becomes your responsibility based on what you now know to speak it into existence the universe is spoken into existence this is how natural law is conferred this is how the understanding of natural law is conferred from one being to another this is how now law is is taught from parent to child and from from master to teacher okay or I'm sorry teacher to student not master but you know what I mean from from someone who has a very deep grasp of it to someone who doesn't has an incomplete or a very little grasp of it okay so from a teacher to a student the power of the word cannot be underestimated so that's more important than writing anything down yet writing it down preserves it but it also kind of freezes it that's why you have to be so ultra specific about the language when you're speaking something you can flesh things out you can give examples you can hash out the fine details okay over a period of time writing something down is much more ambiguous because it leaves things open to different interpretations about what was actually being said versus being able to ask somebody something which is why I'm doing the show today to give people the opportunity to continue to ask questions and then clarify things so let's go back to the calls and continue that process here we go Dave in Montana you're live on what on earth is happening welcome greetings Mike thanks sure I think wanted in my observations that monitor problems of natural law is one of the self-evident truth that you know what is stated in a declaration that all men are created equal I guess in a PC world that would say all people are created equal and a lot of people in America don't believe that that's what I find but they go right to the the mental or the strength right well that's right they don't go they don't go to the natural borders yeah they don't even see that yes they go right to the physical stuff right away no we're not equal right no we're you know and and I'm saying no we are we are we're all entitled to certain things but then then they go right to the well the great equalizer was the 45 you know where this quote 45 I mean you have a great understanding of this and you have a great understanding of where people's understanding is failing they go to the Darwinian aspect of it that's where they want to think about the that all men are created equal and again this means all humanity is created equal is what it means it means we're created equal in our rights it doesn't mean that inherent capabilities are equal in every human being it doesn't mean that qualities are necessarily completely equal in every human being or our talents are equal or our gifts or capabilities are equal it means that we all are equal under the natural law under our rights okay we're all equal in in morality we're all equal right then that's where we gotta separate the human from the animal because then they could then they go right to the world in the natural law the lion eats the little baby male lion right you know and they justify that too to take advantage of people or of lesser economic thats right the ID try to take it to the idea of survival of the fittest which even wasn't one of Darwin's tenets he believed in natural selection but this survival of the finished fittest aspect actually comes from the pseudoscience of eugenics and you're making really great points here about the misunderstanding the preconceived notions that people have of what that people it's their spiritual side or they don't think that there is a spiritual side they seem like they want to go to the animal right I think as humans we we have something special week we know that there is something more greater than than than this what's in front of us this right this the greed system that were and we got and but they don't want it that's too simple for them it seems like and they would rather go ahead and try to rip each other's throats out over a stupid dog they've let me expand on that point about animal versus human what if it's a little bit more located than that what if the fact is that maybe people who come into incarnation on this planet aren't necessarily immediately born with what we consider a human soul what if what if were born with a rough animalistic type consciousness underneath and what the goal of life is is in raising that up to become human what if the goal was to to bear into existence a human soul to create it through what we learn and through the process of growth another ocean here to to kill yeah exactly like the pottery the puck you have to survive to kill right and the life is kill to kill I guess you know and a lot of people are cracking right now maybe hope that they could survive the fire maybe were were born to create a human soul and that's the purpose for us here that then we don't automatically are handed that but that's something that we have to make for ourselves through the work that we do upon ourselves but while we're alive here so David phenomenal points phenomena things right it's been wanted a basic screed of our nation that is being lost and they turn it into the dream of the American Dream which is like a house or a car but no the dream is that you hold certain truths to be self-evident that all men are created either by their creator with certain that's exactly right that that is what our dream and our goals indeed should be in this country and throughout the world for that matter phenomenal ball thanks so much for probably you can take care and we'll continue with your calls on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening folks don't go anywhere we'll be right back after these messages [Music] welcome back of you under this is what alert tap [Music] my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show your calls you're making the show here today we're talking about natural law natural law principles what our rights are under natural law we could talk about the transgressions against natural law the violation of our natural law rights that are taking place we could talk about the dichotomy or dynamic of force versus violence we can talk about specific examples of natural law and what would fall under the boundaries of natural law or what would what would violate those are those principles we could talk about how this does this dynamic goes out into the world and creates the reality in which we live by the vast majority of the people either living in harmony with natural law or living in opposition to natural law so all of these things are on the table here today and you can call in with your questions or comments over the the topic of natural law that we've been covering over the past nine weeks here on what on earth is happening the calling number for the show eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five I want to say a little bit more about a living language actually this is like a topic that I think those hand-in-hand with natural law I just recently watched a movie about a dystopian future imagine that where could anybody get such an idea of a horrible nightmarish future than might be coming our way I can't imagine myself but nonetheless yes there was a movie on a dystopian future it was called Zenith this movie I definitely recommend checking it out it was pretty bizarre and out there but I think it made a lot of important points about language okay about words and the power of words and had a pretty decent twist ending to it that I found it very interesting the movies Zenith okay is about a future where everyone in the future has genetically modified not to experience any negative emotions okay this is what we talk about all the time here that our emotions are our our guidance system this is the compass for our moral direction in life and if that is numbed out of existence we are a ship on waters without a navigational system not understanding where we're going or even where we've come from and that's what this movie is ultimately about what happens when you kill the goddess what happens when you kill true care what happens when you kill the ability to feel something deeply what happens in the movie without giving away too much of the plot is people become obsessed with attempting to experience pain they want to bring the experience of pain into their life by some means or another so drugs are sold on the black market that enable a negative experience within the body since these people have no capacity to feel anything negative anymore and people take drugs for the express purpose of feeling something bad and they pay top dollar to do that and the underlying theme in the movie of the main character is that he understand the importance of words and still has a tremendously large vocabulary and knows what all of these words mean but words in addition to emotions have also been largely sanitized from the human population in the distant future okay it's not too distant it's like middle of the 21st century actually so the the human vocabulary has shrunk to an alarmingly small level and people can't even communicate certain ideas anymore they have an extrude extraordinarily limited set of words that they can use to even communicate ideas to each other very very similar to the concept put forward in George Orwell's novel 1984 where new speak is limit limiting words year after year after year to make the language smaller and smaller so that ideas cannot even be communicated any more that the state doesn't want able to be communicated so really powerful concepts in that movie about the power of language and that has everything to do with natural law ladies and gentlemen because if we can't communicate effectively these principles and ideas and concepts too and philosophies to other people it's very difficult for any sort of a real deep understanding or learning process to activate within another human being and within their their souls so to speak so language is extremely important and keeping the understanding of the power of words and language and again going down to their etymological roots and and and meanings is so important when understanding how this world is controlled by people through words so with that having been said let's go back and take another call here we go Richard from Washington calling in with another flesh did you have another question or did I not disconnect this call yeah one last final question and this piggybacks on what the last caller the ideal points that keeps sure which were great points it seems like the ideal situation would be you form communities or as the biblical model churches of like-minded people that are practicing natural law but if you're an individual and not in such an ideal what is the individual's response is it the passive resistance of a Gandhi or is it meeting violence against you with with hopefully greater violence to repel that violence what is your take and I know this is just your own opinion on how you should respond sure I would say you don't want to respond to violence with violence you could respond with force if your natural law rights are being oppressed with the necessary force to put down that act of aggression which is violence but uh you know violence is never right in any circumstances what I would say and I still have you on the line there's just a little bit of noise coming through on your line so I've just muted the call and I'll bring you back up to respond to any of this but I would say that yes passive resistance what you're not willing to do to support this immoral system is of utmost importance I always say that the negative is always actually more powerful than the positive what you what you can do by stopping doing things is much more powerful than what you could do by starting new things and I know a lot there's a lot of people out there that will take umbrage with that and will say oh that's not within the law of attraction that that's this new-age notion of that it always has to be something positive and that you can never state that something is morally wrong because you're you're drawing an attraction to that negative energy it's not the way the law of attraction works ladies and gentlemen this is a bastardization of the true law of attraction the true law of attraction as I talked about is really the dynamics of how natural law function is in this world the natural law expressions that's why I subtitled that show the true law of attraction it's so important to understand the apophatic pathway to truth and freedom through the negation through understanding what the wrongs are and then de system from performing any of those tasks or functions that's how this satanic mindset is is is is flourishing that's how this satanic force in the world flourishes and grows and strength and power by continuing to have people who are willing to accept doing wrong things in the guise of right in the guise that they're that they're actually doing something that is right in the long term but yet in the moment they're actually doing things that are completely against natural law that are complete transgressions against other people's natural law rights the most powerful way that any individual can combat this dark New World Order satanic totalitarian a totalitarian system that is coming into our world in full swing is to desist from from fueling it from giving you any of their personal power or free will and that amounts to pulling back from anything that supports this negative system and stopping taking any of the actions which hold this system up support it and allow it to continue to grow so that's how I would respond to that Richard your thoughts on that well then if that's the case I would assume you were supporting like groups such as Karen tostado and secondarily donut as it seems to be somewhat corrupted are you talking about united we strike yes yes absolutely I I couldn't agree more it's about refusing to cooperate with this system exactly and so then how do you put the strike on Wall Street crowd do you think that's a step or do you think that's a totally corrupted version of oh I personally think the audience I personally think it's a corrupted version because I've gone down there to try to take in the dynamic myself and there's a very low consciousness regarding the role of government and there's low consciousness regarding the use of violence it is it seems like they want to trade one set of chains for another because they want to be the people in hold up the the gun they want it they want to have a gun in their hand so to speak as opposed to a being in someone else's hands and I know that's kind of a harsh way of looking at it but I'm just telling you what I've seen from my dynamic of being down there for over about 20 hours and talking to people on the street they don't understand the causal fundamental causal factors that's what they need to gain more knowledge of world's first and only [Music] [Music] welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today's Sunday October 23rd 2011 and the whole show is a call-in show today on natural law natural law principles natural law expressions and dynamics and anything else that you want to talk about regarding natural law morality the non-aggression principle human rights and anything that goes hand-in-hand with those things as far as the dynamic of human freedom is concerned before last break we were talking with Richard in Washington State and he was asking a question about the Occupy Wall Street protests and what my take was on that and you know I really did approach this with an open mind and tried to ascertain whether this was a well guided grassroots concerned protest and yes it may have started out as that but I see a lot of co-opting taking place I see a lot of people with political agendas inserting their influence and their force as far as it goes within this movement I see these unions coming in who have very little understanding of the dynamic the causal underlying dynamic and consciousness I see a lot of people who advocate the aggression principle there and I what I mean by that is setting up the apparatus of government of the state as the nanny system in order to take from the rich and give to the poor in order to protect our natural law rights which is the fundamental flaw that started this problem to begin with that that those rights cannot be transferred or conferred to another living person they have to be reserved all rights reserved is what the concept we need to understand that I don't advocate any of my fundamental natural law rights to another living being whether it is the rights that I actively have a right to do or to protect okay by you using whatever force may be required to protect those rights and that means I don't give those rights over to government in order to say this is now my fundamental father figure and protector because I fear the chaos that might happen if that daddy figure were not there and this is what the people who are members of this movement I have to say almost universally okay they believe in this principle of handing over natural law rights to a subset of human beings and giving them that power over violence giving them violence putting violence into their hands they're just upset that those reigns are in the hands of other people and not them they want to take those reigns and what that would be doing societally is just trading one set of chains for another set of change it would not be moving toward more freedom no matter whose hand the government is in if it's pointed at the head of the people the people are always enslaved we need to understand that that that principle that violence it's not a principle it's an ideology that ideology of violence is what needs to be laid down you know these people are talking taxation again which is fundamentally violence is what we talked about in the force versus violence show fundamental violence is what taxation ultimately is based upon and until we're willing to let go of that concept that no one has that right and that right can't be given to any group of people no matter who thinks it's a good idea okay we're never really going to be free I want to again draw people's attention I believe it was show number 80 or 79 or 80 I'm not quite sure you can go and check the podcast archive I posted a PDF document of the true political spectrum okay and this is a graph that shows the political spectrum as a function of consciousness this is where the fake political spectrum that is taught in school and is taught in different sociology classes and different politics classes is is as fundamentally is fundamentally flawed they have this flat line graph goes from left to right and it ignores consciousness in clays it doesn't clot the graph of government against anything it just draws a flat line and that's not exactly true we need to understand that that these forms of government need to be plotted against consciousness level and I'll post this image that I came up with with this podcast as well institution like the back of your hand [Music] welcome back this is what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I apologize in the last segment I ran through the break a little bit I wasn't paying attention to the clock that was the short segment it kind of got me there I got to be more wary of that but before that break caught me off I was talking about the political spectrum graph that I have come up with and posted to the site that I I'm trying to get people to understand the type of government that we have is a direct correlation to the type of consciousness that is raining in the people as a whole it's that simple as consciousness is low government becomes total as consciousness rises up okay and goes to higher levels of awareness there is more freedom this is a fundamental truth this is a fundamental law of nature this is how natural law works this graph really needs to be looked at in conjunction with natural law which is why posted it at this time in the show and it is podcast 80 but I'm going to post it with this podcast as well 82 I'll repost that PDF document it's really well worth everyone checking out because again this is the dynamic that is left out of the political spectrum when other people try to convey it or or communicate this spectrum of government to other people they're leaving out something fundamental that it isn't about left centrist and right it's about it's about total government versus freedom and that relationship to consciousness that's what the political spectrum is actually about and of course consciousness is always left out of the equation when it comes to politics and a mainstream quote/unquote education and science so with that having been said let's move on and take a couple of new calls here we go Selene in Washington you're live on what on earth is happening how are you hello mark hey Harry yes I can good I've been listening to you the last several weeks I really like a show I listen to it at work thank you and pre-shredded so some of the PDS end of all evil and the stellar man I like those two now agree I work that I'm in a pretty precarious scenario that would probably be worth you analyzing and getting your feedback I work in at the prison tower i watch a yard and i have deadly force capabilities and you know there's a fine line that I walk and I'm trying to find out what your take is on stopping violence that's happening to other people you know interviewing on balance between other people right what is your take on that well I'm not a fan of any prison systems at all I've said on the show in the past something that people would consider extraordinarily extremist okay my take on the prison system what I think should be done with all prisoners is that they should be immediately released from their prison cages that the door should be open they should be immediately released and they should be allowed to flood right back into the communities that they came out of where they grew up in because that's what created these individuals the conditions of the community in which they were not raised okay led to them becoming hardened criminals and the critten developing the criminal mindset and that is the responsibility of all of those communities and I know that's harsh and I know people will say well there's not that much education in certain communities and that's why this happens yeah that is why this happens that's the problem what needs to happen is there needs to be more and more and more suffering brought into those communities until they recognize they cannot ignore natural law they cannot ignore education you can never be free and ignorant simultaneously that condition does not exist the only way to freedom is through the education of the self is to wanting knowledge considering knowledge important considering truth important if you went back into the communities where these people grew up and you handed people a piece of paper and said write on that piece of paper the three things that you value the most in human life and it could be anything I will guarantee you ladies and gentlemen guaranteed without knowing any of those people I don't need to know them personally I will guarantee you the word truth will not be found on one of those pieces of paper it will not be found and that is the dynamic that is causing that's the causal relationship to why people like that exist in our communities and then what we want to do is abdicate our responsibility to learn ourselves and then to teach our young ourselves through an act of our own will okay and our own persistence to truly raise our young in consciousness and in conscience we want to abdicate that responsibility okay to another subset of people to say well you take care of that for us and if this person grows up to be a monster or an animal then you come in and clean up our neighborhood and you clean up our situation you take them away from this area and you put them into into isolated cages that is completely away from where we're at and there's a matter of fact we don't want that here by the way we don't even want that in our backyard by the way let's get it as far away from us as possible and we just ignore that this imbalance that created this dynamic to begin with doesn't even exist let's just pretend it doesn't even exist then what we'll do is we'll create a huge black Hall of funding that we constantly pour our effort and resources in to pay all the people that it takes to keep this prison industrial complex running and this big black hole machine keeps eating all of our resources and we keep hiring more and more people to fund this big black hole and putting more and more resources into it that we could be putting into our communities to properly morally educate our young that's that's at work you're so you're totally right mark you're totally onto it and I've you know I've been taking a beating from you listening to your show the last you know several weeks but you know I really I'm trying to integrate this you know I'm trying to you know I believe that you're I'm the person that you're trying to convey that information to I'm trying to integrate this integrate natural law and you know I'm trying to it's great these principles into what I do my co-workers do and I don't the world a group that isn't easily penetrated like you've wrapped about you know there's people that are hanging out with each other and you're right you know sir no let me say this it's it's it's not a personal thing it's not a personal vendetta it's simply tough love that's what it is this is not put out there in any way of hatred or derision it is put out there because I am trying to help people to understand the causal dynamics of what's going on in their world so that they can make the decision to change themselves and only in doing that will this dynamic ever be changed for the better that's why I do also so that you know don't take it as I'm beating up on you take it as just the tough love lesson it's simply I have understood these dynamics and have studied them for my life this is all I've really done you know for since I was really old enough to read believe it or not okay it took me a long time I rejected it believe me I rejected it sir much more than you probably ever did if you understood what I was like when I was young you would not have even wanted to start a conversation with me how much into eugenics I was how much into totalitarian forms of government I was how much into the dark occult how deep down in that world of darkness and hatred I went see that that pine site that that hindsight is often 20/20 sometimes the people who have reached the depths of darkness really have the ability to turn around and ascend to the greatest heights because without that darkness and hindsight they can never really akanda that that the height of knowledge that they have arrived at either so it's a blessing more shafting radio network [Music] ok folks were back this is what on earth is happening on marc-patty oh my website what on earth is happening calm what a great show this has been so far we've had some phenomenal callers and we have a caller in from Washington caller are you still with us yet they're great I wanted to address your question about you know that you're out there and you are armed and you have the the authorized or sanctioned use of deadly force at your disposal with the people that you're you are charged to guard so one of the fundamental questions that I think needs to be asked in this dynamic is number one what is Right Livelihood to begin with this is a Buddhist concept but it's a concept that applies very much with natural law we need to understand that if we do accept that natural law exists okay and it does exist but it's a matter of whether we have made that recognition and acceptance in our own consciousness as to its existence and as to whether the most important dynamic that we could ever possibly do good through do good work through is the understanding of natural law the living in harmony with it and the attempt to convey that information to other people to help them to understand how these laws of nature work around us to bring us the effects that we witness and must experience in our life so with that knowledge comes the question what then becomes a proper way of earning one's daily bread and that is a question that only an individual can ask to themselves and they have to be able to answer it honestly to themselves part of the first hermetic acts of initiation okay when you're going into a deep order of with with vows of initiation to transform one's consciousness okay and this has been since time immemorial since these mystery traditions and schools had existed one of the very very very first tenets and the first trial they actually kind of refer to them as is one must no longer lie to oneself that is the first tenet of initiatory treinta traditions the the D system in telling oneself what one wants to hear what the self the the lowercase s self wants to hear what the ego wants to hear to justify the actions that it is currently engaged in and that is the whole that is the process of introspection that needs to be done to determine Right Livelihood so that's how I would respond to that the fundamental question that needs to be asked is is what you are being asked to do equivalent or worth the taking of another human beings life okay now okay maybe they are violent individuals maybe they have performed violent beads maybe some of them have not performed violent deeds the state puts all kinds of people into cages people who have not done violent deeds in their lives who may not want to be there okay so that's this is another dynamic that needs to be taken into account so it's a very complex question and the only person that can answer that is you precarious scenario how about you know someone's escaping you know they haven't committed violence but they're you know they're they may go commit violence do you know whether there's a maybe they've never committed violence see they could write in that situation and never have committed violence you know there's voluntary transactions that lead you into a jail cell in the modern day that are arbitrary rules that are arbitrary regulations imposed by statist s-- that you know look back in the 1920s alcohol was illegal you know if you would have bought or sold alcohol back then it could have landed you in a cage and if you tried to escape you might have been shot now today you could drink alcohol liberally and it's not illegal so the same very act neither act involved violence but one would have landed you in a cage and possibly gotten you for trying to get out of that cage so yeah we have to understand how arbitrary man's law is and how non arbitrary natural law is see that's the dichotomy that's the difference that needs to be appreciated and deeply understood that's why next week on the show all show I'm going to be talking about is the difference between man's law and natural law why man has created his law thinking that he's allowed to write down laws at all to make laws this is the creator's domain this isn't man's right to write down laws we only believe that this is our right to do this okay it's all based in fundamental mind control all right and most of all it's based in people wanting to abdicate their free will and their responsibility to other people to protect them no one else protects me no one with a gun protects me no one with a badge protects me no one who writes any laws down protects me no judge protects me no jury protects me no government protects me only the adherence to natural law principles ever creates any protection for me in my life ever ever and this is true since the dawn of civilization to the end of the universe this is true but it's it there's so much built-up conditioning that has led us into the acceptance of all these fundamentally flawed axioms and has and has made us attach to them to think that there eternally necessary so you know and I I have to try not to be so harsh and judgmental against other people for falling into those traps because it's a powerful form of mind control and repetition that gets that engrained into the consciousness I bought it myself I I am no I'm not immune to this I was not immune to this I am now but I was at one point not immune to this I fell for it all of it too I fell for it in a way that's that's not even arguably that's definitively much worse than the way as many people fall for fall for it and I come on the air and readily and openly admit that to people out in the open because I was just as as fundamentally flawed in my beliefs as people are in now in hindsight when I when I look at it I can't say I was never there I was there yeah that's okay hey I you know I was totally immersed in you know the darkness and now this man-made hell before I knew anything about natural law and and now in the last year I've come to you know the realizations of the nature of you know circumstances and you know it's really I'm living on two different levels here and it's it's tough so I'm walking the line still and I could totally just throw it all and and go and and totally revamp everything but I think I'm I'm doing the Lord from within well I'm gonna want to leave you with this and you know maybe maybe you'll take this as I'm you know throwing another punch I hope you won't take it that way but here's what I'm gonna leave you with check out the allegorical movie they live if you haven't already seen it it's one of the best science fiction telugu 'yes well watch it again okay watch the part specifically where the two heroes so to speak in the movie Piper who plays the role of nada and the the african-american gentleman I can't remember his name in the movie but watch them talking about the society in which they live okay two scenes one were there in the construction lot like when they're eating lunch and Piper's talking to the the african-american guy and saying you know well I want to know what was going on there and he tells him leave it alone don't get involved in anything else he's like I don't get involved in stuff that's none of my business because I'm always walking the line I'm always careful to be on that center line not too far to one extreme or another and Piper responds the character that Piper plays responds by saying the white line is in the middle of the road that's the worst place to be driving okay what he means by that is when a condition of imbalance and a condition of injustice has already been created in our world we cannot choose the place of walking the line or not taking a polarity not polarizing our self to either the side of the extreme level of injustice or the extreme level of truth and combating that injustice this is what Jesus in the New Testament meant when he said that he thinks that the people in the best places are the the very cold and the very hot but the lukewarm are the damned that's what he meant when he said that it's it's basic natural law principles that when an extreme form of imbalance has been created in our environment the the best place to be is at a place of extreme polarization took radio [Music] okay folks were back this is what on earth is happening I got caught off by that last break again I apologize for that once again but we have this great call going on with a prison guard in Washington he was asking the question about whether you know in the the line of his duties for his job you know he would have the right to exert deadly force and I said you know we need to understand that we have to ask ourself the question what is Right Livelihood to begin with and should our actions be used to do this is that really causing any fundamental good in society at the really at the level of causality because that's the thing we can continue to try to put bandages on self-inflicted wounds the wound is being created by not enough understanding within ourselves of natural law and moral principles and not conveying that through the educational process our educational process our quote-unquote educational processes leaving out those principles all together and not teaching them at all okay so I'd like to read a small quote in the stellar man the book the stellar man it says according to the Kabbalah on the undesirable okay the undesirable element is slain by changing its polarity illness and death can only be converted to help health by changing its polarity through the power of the mind which polarizes at the extreme opposite of what it is trying to overcome okay logically it is only possible to transmute opposites of the same thing as it would not be possible in any way to transmute a pair into a peach but it would be possible to transform a green pair into a ripe pear what he means by this is when there is a condition of imbalance only through rising okay through the law capital L through natural law to a place of polarization do we rise ourselves up enough to overcome that imbalance if we stay within the imbalance that's staying in the middle the point it's not where the pendulum swing is swing is act okay it's not a point of polarity okay the point of polarity would be one extreme or the other and again this is reflected in the New Testament by the idea that the cold and the hot are in the places where they need to be but the lukewarm is the worst place to be okay another quote in the stellar man is about how this dynamic works in the realm of cause and effect which we've talked about over the last few weeks he says the lower world of effects is the physical plane this is where we're trying to solve the problem at and what I'm asking in this to answer this question is is that where you're most effective in solving this problem it doesn't matter that you're doing this for your day'll your weekly paycheck or whatever okay there are other methods of earning a living to get money to eat or to put money on you know to put food on your family's table what I'm asking is the only reason we should ever be doing anything is because we think we're doing good as a result of doing that thing you know too many people justify what they're doing by saying I only am doing this because I'm getting paid and I need money to live that's not a reason for doing anything the nazis said that that's why they were doing what they were doing it's just my job this is how I survive that's not good enough ever it's never a good enough answer for anybody whether they're in a job that is not doing any level of harm or any physical violence to anybody or not we should be doing things because we want to do them because we recognize that it's doing something good for people so he says the lower world of effects is the physical plane the superior world of causes is the plane of the emanation of life the her medicine in order to accomplish a process of transmutation meaning true change into a higher form rises to the world of his superior eye and he means the higher self the concept that I call the higher self and polarize himself through his mind in the pole opposite to the vibration he wishes to destroy or eliminate think about that you polarize yourself through your mind through your understanding through knowledge okay and toward the pole to the vibration okay that opposite to the pole of the vibration that you wish to eliminate so if you wish to eliminate the dichotomy of violence and the dichotomy of ignorance which leads to the conditions of people doing these tasks that land them in prison these these are actions that land them in a prison so you you need to rise in the mind to the opposite polarity and polarize yourself there to a place of true intelligence holistic intelligence higher level knowledge of causal dynamics of causality okay and in the polarization toward those truths and that knowledge that's where we can do the most good we can never do the most good by being one of the people who provides the bandages for the self-inflicted wounds and I'll leave that call it that because I think I've said enough on it and I don't want to hammer too much I want to leave food for thought and let the gentleman make his own decision because ultimately no one can ever make that decision for us it's ultimately hours and only hours I know I know what I have chosen and I can only put the word out there I can't make anyone change so let's move on to a couple more callers here we go all right private caller you're live on what on earth is happening how are you and what do you have for us today caller are you there I am I on yes you are your life my honor you are can you hear me oh yes I can hear you great okay hi mark its Dre hey sorry how are you ladies and gentlemen sorry Thomas one of the organizers of the freer mine conference that did a lot of great work organizing for the conference and actually acted as a ticket taker at the door so everyone has this young lady to thank for helping to put on one of the best conferences ever on the East Coast sir a welcome to the show thanks mark I love your show I do listen till I have to catch up during podcast and everything because sometimes I'm not home on Sundays my mom actually had a question with like natural law and the whole Occupy Wall Street type thing sure like um so in order for people the government to get people to go along with the program as you were saying they have to convince them that or trick them out of their natural law right into following taxation and everything like that yes and what I had read about the Occupy Wall Street thing was that it's basically Illuminati funded like they had George Soros up there as one of the funders and a couple of other people and also what was really interesting is the fact that people were like Obama where your army like some of the younger people and a crowd we're processing we're saying this trend it's like wait a minute now the government and everything is the reason why we're in this mess and especially with Obama he's easily Burzynski's protege I agree and it's like Cyrus just wondering what you thought of the whole thing in because I don't think this sat upon he made yo people up there like won't see Brooklyn Bridge up in New York arrested the whole lot was like gathering out in the street track them interrupted a lot of people are talking about this and this does come down to the dynamic of natural law and and polarity and and balance etc because what I feel this is ultimately leading to is a huge polarization effect but not for the good it's a polarization effect for a Hegelian dynamic okay the Hegelian dialectic 'el response this is the Republican right wing the response to the Republican right wing Tea Party dynamic that was co-opted by the Republican Party this is being co-opted by the left-wing liberalist mindset and the socialist mindset that is out there that is very prevalent in the Democratic Party and there to make this they're trying to coop this Occupy Wall Street thing into making it their tea party so to speak okay some people have even gone so far as to say that the Tea Party has become like the mainstream Republicans once were and they're really the the kind of a ruling dynamic in the Republican wing and that's what they want to make the Occupy Wall Street dynamic as in the Democratic wing and it's quite possible that that's what's happening as for who's funding it I can't say specifically there has been names thrown about and possibly Soros is one of them I don't know that I have that definitive knowledge about that but it's certainly possible because there's a lot of money being spent to keep these people where they're at and that doesn't just happen you know and not was certainly without attending attending daily jobs and taking money in in order to keep those resources flowing so it's being funded by someone certainly it's something that is beyond a grassroots thing I think it may have began as a grassroots thing but things like that that have numbers to them get quickly co-opted and steered in a particular direction the dynamic that I've been trying to address regarding this always comes back to natural law and the non-aggression principle they can't be advocating the same forms of violence that the government that got us into this mess I've been in acting okay that's what they're doing they seem again to want to take the gun out of the hands of the government to put it in their own hands the other thing that you can never create real change with only two out of the three dynamics necessary for change without without knowledge it doesn't matter how much you care or how much you're willing to act the result is ultimately doomed to failure because you don't have broad and depth enough field of knowledge to really understand the causal dynamics of work and that's all about how natural law functions in our world you know sir a substitution like the [Music] welcome back everyone last segment today for what on earth is happening and it's been a great show we've had a lot of phenomenal callers we are still on the line with sarey from Philadelphia who was one of the organizers of the freer mine conference we were talking about Occupy Wall Street I was saying that you know without adequate depth and breadth of knowledge of the causal fundamental dynamics that have led us into this situation any effort no matter how much care may be behind it or no matter how much will to act may be present is always going to be able to be led astray or misguided sarey what do you think about that well I mean I think that's absolutely true because like a lot of people up there didn't seem to be doing a research on a government who's causing all this stuff they're looking at Wall Street well why is it called Occupy Wall Street why not occupied the damn White House he's my friend or the Federal Reserve and then from what I was hearing like Obama is planning on shutting down the banks anyway like they're saying you better take all your money out of Bank of America that's going like down under because everybody's doing what he wants cause he's playing on B regularizing the banks and making it just pure government control so and the the federalization of all of those institutions is definitely something I think they have had planned for a long time anyway I agree that government is the main crux of the problem but that problem lies in consciousness and this is a word that no one's really talking about there I mean they're talking about the redistribution of wealth and resources through through violence you know it's the non-aggression principle isn't really being discussed there consciousness is something you very rarely even hear being spoken down there and I was out there for two whole days and I think I talked with a lot of people and tried to get as widespread of a of a feel for the vibe down there for the vibrational energy that is present there and I I you know I'm not trying to be overtly nasty or harsh I'm just trying to Acula accurately portray to people what I honest in his in his realistic of a way as I can convey it in words and what I see is people that do not have enough fundamental knowledge of the causal factors and the causal factors lie in consciousness and lie in the dynamic of understanding natural law or not understanding it and what I would say you have there are people who much more so then then do do not understand natural law the very the overwhelming majority of people there have no concept of how natural law functions and as such they can have no concept of how what the true dynamic that led us into this situation is I say it's like the movie The Matrix the second part of the allegory is the most powerful than the second movie Matrix Reloaded people should go back and watch that one you know I know I'm bringing up yet another movie allegory but these are powerful allegories it's not about a science fiction movie it's about what's being said through the science fiction to try to inject it into the mass consciousness of people who don't read books anymore but go out to Holly watch Hollywood movies and what's being said in that metal scene in that they're all important scene in the middle of the second Matrix movie when the heroes are looking for the key-maker you know the dynamic that unlocks all of the locks on their prison cell doors to get out of the matrix of control they that key maker is being held hostage by the Merovingian he represents the ancient bloodlines that control the ancient knowledge of the occult that's who the Merovingian represents in the movie it's it's a representation okay that character and what he tells these three quote-unquote heroes in the movie is that they have come without the quat the answer to the question why they don't know why they're there meaning they don't know the fundamental causal dynamics to what led them into that situation in which they are embedded right now and because they have come to him without any power without why he says they come to them with him without any power see they have come without causality come trying to address the world of effects not rising up to the plane of causality and addressing the problem from there and in doing so in coming without why they have come without power so he says that he sees no reason why he should relinquish the dynamic relinquished the real power to them relinquish the key-maker to them which represents the algorithm that will actually unlock other people's minds okay so he sees no reason he should relinquish his power and I'm in full agreement with that these the people who are in the real ruling positions of power are never going to relinquish their control to people who are only recognizing the symptoms at the level of the world of effects it never works like that there is no power there there is no power there because there is no recognition of causality there until we rise up to a higher level of consciousness and address the problem at the level of causality we are powerless very very very powerful allegory in the second Matrix movie so the right sir I want to thank you for your call thanks for your support of the show and the work that you do and you have a great one I'm gonna move on and take one more caller here today on this all call in social so sir 8 sorry thank you very much thank mark you got it you have a good one take care ok ok here we go let's take one more call before we go out for this edition let's go to Mike in New York Mike in New York welcome your live on what on earth is happening hello Mike are you there hi mukti I mean hey Mike there you are great look yes I hear you oh yeah thanks for taking my call great so I was giving you a I want to talk about how you guys really brought it up at the end on what I was trying to get in and talk about is we're so you know once we we sort of figure out that something's going on you know first thing we do is we try and get you know information that's the first word the second and then we realized we come to a conclusion that we all this information has brought us to a point that we realized that we need now wisdom and that we're lacking it so once we once we come do more work maybe read more do more internal work we come to a reflective point where we realize that this is a ongoing thing and that natural law really inhabits what the major problem is on this planet and that if if really you know over 50% of this planet figures out you know there would be there would be no question you know it would be taught in school it would be it would be as you know as natural as what goes up must come down it's wrong with gravity and once we approach you know what everybody approaches the problem with a different solution so some we find out work some some we find out what worked better than others but really what I would I what I see is that a polarity on this planet where everybody's trying to go a million different ways where you know it's almost like some are most are banging the head against the walls am I really trying to make change some are some are really good at it but I feel that you know as as far apart as we are dividing there's going to be something that you know what goes eventually goes so far apart must come back together and unify and you know and vice versa so I really feel that that there's something out there that's really gonna you know drive home the point where we become unified or if we don't we fall into tyranny I absolutely agree and that's a great analysis of what the dynamic here really is and what needs to happen because if we could get a majority of people to understand the dynamics of natural law and how they really work to bring us our experiences and how we're creating that dynamic through our choices and our actions it would be game over in a very ordered order of time this is why college is the most occulted this is why it's the most held back from people and why it isn't it is not going to be discussed or brought out there by the people in the positions of power who want to maintain that earthly temporal power that's why we need to do this work to bring this information out to as wide of an audience as it is possible to do that's why I'm doing what I'm doing and that's why so many other people are doing the work that they're doing and we have to not only continue that but we need to expand and get more people involved in that work and constantly be building on this work of spreading this light of truth out into the world absolutely one other thing I want to mention is we need to really deeply deeply understand the concept that until we get to the level of consciousness that we understand that if one other individual is suffering okay if there is suffering or inequality or injustice happening to any one individual it is happening to everyone that's why you're only as strong as our weakest exactly that that is the dynamic fit we need to integrate our only thoughts our own emotions and our own actions through the process that you mentioned of bringing together information into understanding and then converting it into wisdom by acting in the right way Mike phenomenal call all our dog casting radio network

What On Earth Is Happening Show #083

Topics: Natural Law vs. the law of man, Responsibility vs. Abdication, Free Will, Respect, Consciousness, Solutions

welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm the networks website of course Oracle broadcasting calm today is Sunday October 30th 2011 this show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. Eastern Time and we have a great show lined up here for you today that is going to meet the absolutely information-packed ok it's going to be very ambitious we have a lot to cover with that aim in mind I'd like to suggest that everyone go up to what on earth is happening calm and take a look on the radio show page if you're listening buy podcast it will be podcast number 83 this is the 83rd what on earth is happening show but you will see underneath the player on the radio show or posted with the podcast images for the show as links as numbered links okay and these links will bring up images that show you visually some of the concepts and ideas that we're going to be talking about here on the show today today's show is going to be all about the the difference the dichotomy between natural law which is something that we've been covering over the last like ten weeks here on the show and man's law how these two things completely contrast with each other and absolutely actually have very little to do with each other and for new listeners I'm going to suggest that this isn't a topic that you want to introduce yourself to this show or to my work through because if you don't have the prerequisite information meaning all of the 82 previous podcasts that I've done the to the 82 previous shows this information may sound shocking or extreme without that prerequisite knowledge again prerequisite just means required beforehand so this show is built upon earlier knowledge that I have laid out in the previous shows so if you're new to the show my recommendation as always is to start at the beginning and go back to podcast number one it's all archived on my site what on earth is happening calm on the podcast section and begin from there I also have a couple of quick announcements not about events today but about things going on with myself in this radio show I was recently interviewed this is just posted to the news section of the web site by Chris geo and sharee of truth frequency radio another show here on Oracle broadcasting you can now hear that interview it's posted to my news section it's also posted the truth frequency radio com so did a great show with them about a week and a half ago and that is now available and I also did a show on down the rabbit hole with Popeye of federal Jack calm and that interview is now available that interview is really taking off and hitting a lot of other places including we are change.org it was just posted to the home page if we are change we'll be right back after these messages folks don't go anywhere welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening under host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm before the break I was talking about some interviews I had recently done on some other radio shows truth frequency that's posted to the news section as well as a new interview I did with Popeye of Federal Jack comm on his show down the rabbit hole and that I as I said just was posted to we are change.org it's actually right up on the homepage of what we are changed we are change his main site so I was happy to see that and hopefully people will get the information and and do further research on their own as a result a couple other good good announcements that I have for for people this Wednesday November 2nd I'm going to be interviewed by Bob Tuscan on the Bob Hoskins show right here on Oracle broadcasting Bob's a good friend does a great show puts out a lot of great information and it's always a pleasure to go on his show live so this Wednesday in the middle of the week November 2nd I'll be on the Bob Tuscon show and a really great announcement I'm extremely excited to be able to make this announcement on the air this week in as a wrap-up for our discussion of natural law and that's you know assuming that I get through the material that I want to get through today but as like a crescendo to all of this I'm going to be bringing on a very special guest next week just confirmed with me to be on on the November 6th edition of what on earth is happening to talk about natural law Larkin rose one of the speakers from the freer mind conference and one of my influences because his information completely overlaps with mine everyone can learn a whole lot from Larkin and the information that he puts forward he's also a great writer has put out some many books and be talking with him about that as well so you could check out Larkins website at Larkin rose.com to get familiar with him in his material and you can listen to a full to our interview with Larkin rose right here next week on what on earth is happening so that being said I say let's jump right into the material again the images I'm going to be talking about are posted to what on earth is happening on the radio show if your list radio show page if you're listening live today or with the podcast which would be number 83 so here we go today's show is about the difference between natural law and man's law now over the past ten weeks or so all we've been talking about is natural law as the ultimate solution as what we need to deeply understand if we are going to make any evolutionary progress forward as a species and get out of the mess that we are in right now in consciousness ok we need to understand the workings of nature and how we are creating the experiences that we must experience through our thoughts our emotions and our actions and our own free will choices between the two basic polarities that are in this universe which is the force of love and the force of fear love expands consciousness and opens us up to understanding and fear shuts consciousness down and makes us ignore exist in a state of ignorance of natural law so you can go back to all the previous shows on natural law and get caught up with that material to understand that natural law is ultimately the one main solution the hidden knowledge that which has been occulted from human eyes for so long that we need to have a firm grasp on that we need to know how it works how it operates and then we need to live in harmony with it if we're going to prosper or have any level of prosperity as far as the human species is concerned in the conditions that we live in if we do not wish to experience self-imposed suffering which is what we're going through right now the force that stands in complete antithesis and opposition to the understanding and harmonization with natural law and its principles is man's law the laws of man are set up in direct contravention to the understanding of natural law and I'll explain that as we go forward the first thing we need to have a firm grasp on is what are the differences between law meaning natural law or law with a capital L and man's law lowercase L the imposter - natural law that the control systems of this planet want us to accept and believe in as the same thing in place of the real thing okay obfuscation as we talked about in the past as the first method of mind control so looking at slide number one I'm just stating that it is important to know the difference between natural law which I put in all capital letters all uppercase tell people to understand this is the critical and real thing that needs to be understood versus man's law which I deliberately placed there in all lowercase letters tell people to understand that this is the impostor this is the thing that they're trying to put in place of the real thing on slide number two I'm building a basic chart here to help people to understand the differences between natural law and man's law natural law as we have seen over the past many weeks and throughout this radio show is based upon principles first things that's what principles means we looked at the principles that natural law was based upon okay we called it the principles of natural law the governing principles the foundational principles there were seven of them and we went through them on a past show you can get that in the podcast archive okay principles are things which are foundational this is what we have to build upon and the foundation has to be true it has to be firm it has to be strong it has to be based in truth that's what a principle ultimately is something that is based in truth that if you build upon that foundation can do no harm in the future as you build upon that firm solid true foundation that's what a principle is okay man's law on the other hand is not grounded or based in principles it is grounded and based in something called dogma Alma is unchallenged belief in something that someone has been told is true this is why we have religious dogma okay a religion tells somebody this is the way that it is that this is true and then expects people who adhere to that religion to unquestioningly accept and comply to that tenets of that religion that's what Dogma is is unchallenged unquestioned belief in something that has been told not something that someone knows the direct experience of the thing but through secondhand information that has been communicated to them often for an ulterior motive we'll pick this up on the other side of the break you're listening to what on earth is happening you're on oracle broadcasting don't go anywhere we'll be right back okay everyone we're back on what on earth is happening I'm going to jump right back into the information the difference between natural law and man's law which is the main discussion point for today's show a little bit later we're going to be getting into the difference between true responsibility and the abdication of responsibility and how this totally connects in with our free will to bring a positive future into manifestation for humanity or to ultimately have humanity keep going down this path that will inevitably lead to nothing but more and more suffering and finally Humanity's extinction in one form or another so we looked at law natural law capital L law as being based in principles true things fundamental axioms that are not just beliefs but are actually based in truth and knowledge that can do no harm because they are true simply the way things actually are which we've talked about over the past ten weeks or so man's law on the other hand is based in Dogma or unchallenged belief not necessarily knowledge or truth but just a belief system now you can believe in things that are also happened to be true but if your approach is belief not determining whether something is actually the case or not if you just readily accept something as true and believe it that's basically dogmatic that means that you are willing to go along with what someone else feels to be true you didn't actually check into it for yourself you see the true harmonization with natural law is not about accepting anything it's about discovery as we've said that's what it's all Tamiya in the first section that I talked about natural law it is about discovery of something that exists the only reason people think it's about acceptance is because they're so stuck in these dogmatic ways of thinking that want to tell you that it isn't about natural law or that maybe even natural law doesn't exist and that dogmatic system has to be rejected so that natural law can be accepted but it doesn't matter whether we accept natural law or not again as I've said many times it is always working it is always in effect regardless of whether it is accepted or not it is about discovering its principles and then harmonizing with those principles and the harmonization with it is often about unlearning what we think we know from it is about freeing our minds from dogmatic belief systems that are keeping us from the recognition from the discovery from the understanding of natural law and therefore the solution can never be implemented natural law is always voluntarily harmonized with voluntarily harmonized with by way of knowledge and understanding I'll say that one more time natural law is always voluntarily harmonized with by way of knowledge and understanding that is the way we come to living in harmony with natural law we have to make a discovery that is based in truth through that we acquire knowledge and then understanding is the acceptance of that knowledge and and knowing how it all fits together and works understanding would be about truly recognizing the way the expressions of natural law worked which we talked about in past weeks the real law of attraction the real law of cause and effect or karmic principles when we understand that that's how we come into harmony with natural law it's a process of acquiring knowledge converting knowledge into understanding then ultimately acting upon that knowledge and understanding and that's what wisdom actually is so that's how we harmonize with natural law man's law on the other on the other hand is not harmonized with C its since it is based in violence since it is based on coercion okay it is only in voluntarily complied with people only do ever come into compliance with the laws of man because they fear the consequences of not doing so so it is complied with only due to fear of punishment one of the lowest levels of consciousness that one can ever operate at fear of punishment is based in fear the force that shuts consciousness down it shuts understanding down you can never grasp how natural law works if you're in fear and that's what man's law is there to do to obfuscate the understanding of natural law by keeping people in fear of the punishment that will result if we don't comply with the laws of men which as we've already talked about may or may not be in compliance with natural law principles and we're going to talk about what that means for natural law coming up on this show what that means for man's law excuse me if man's law can is just arbitrary and could be just dictated by the people in control at any given time it's temporarily based it's based in moral relativism as we've talked about and sometimes it complies with natural law harmonizes with natural law and other times it does not what does that mean for man's law it's gonna be a big part of what we talk about here today the third aspect of natural law that we need to understand is is that as we've said in part one on our discussions of natural law it is immutable meaning that cannot be changed that's what immutable means mu T mu teri means to change so immutable means unchangeable it exists for as long as the universe exists because natural laws are self existing man did not place them into creation the universe itself creation itself placed them into existence and if you're comfortable using the word God you go right ahead and use that word I have no problem with the word God put these natural laws here I have no problem with that at all some people have a problem with that concept and you know want to think there is no higher power than man well good luck with that but the point here is a higher power put the laws of nature into effect you want to look at it as nature itself I call it the underlying intelligence that is responsible for all matter whether you want to call that God that's your choice but it is the inherent underlying intelligence to all things the prime mover if you will the force that exists and holds everything together and in movement the giver of movement and measure as it was called in the ancient meso american systems it's been called a million different things but that means that man didn't put it there and therefore man is not in the power to change natural law we're not going to erase natural laws presence from creation that's not within our power to do so so this force of natural law will exist for as long as the universe exists these principles are inherent to creation and again that is something that basically either people recognize through discovery and accept on their own or they struggle forever against them against that knowledge they don't want it to be true because they think that means it makes them a prisoner in this domain and as we've talked about that is the dark ocultist view of natural law that's why they want to reign in what they see as a prison not a construct in which anything is possible and anything we want to be created a veritable paradise if only we understand natural law and harmonize with it we'll pick this up on the other side don't go anywhere this is what on earth is happening welcome back everyone honor this African art approach to walk past them today on the show we're talking about the difference between natural law and the laws of man we're looking at image number two on the section of 30 slides that I've posted with the radio show for today on what on earth is happening calm on the radio show page or if you're listening to the podcast these images will be posted with the podcast so slide number two this chart that breaks down the differences the major differences between natural law and man's law we were at the bottom row where we were talking about that natural law is immutable and exists for as long as the universe exists and it is about our discovery of those principles and then putting them into operation in our lives that actually keeps us from experiencing self inflicted suffering law on the other hand meaning man's law lowercase L law changes on the whim of legislators okay and we'll get into what that means if something can change dependent on time okay light as an example alcohol was illegal in the 1920s and it's legal today okay on place okay there are certain things you can do in England that you can't do in Iraq there are certain things that you can do in the Netherlands that you can't do in America so how could this possibly be how could this be the case if law is supposed to be based upon a system of morals about determining right from wrong the difference between right and wrong which was another whole show where we talked about the difference what the actual definition be and differences between right and wrong is if man's law can waver so wildly when it comes to what is right or wrong depending on time and place and other variables the preferences and the likes or dislikes of the legislators who are may taking it up again I'm using that term very deliberately making it up then how could it possibly based in a in a truth in any form of truth truth is unwavering it exists it is not subject to the whims of an interpreter an arbiter it's what is okay it doesn't make a difference whether we like it or don't like it and that's what natural law is based in now if man's law is not based in truth and it is based only on the whims of the legislators then it cannot be a true reflection of morality it cannot be a true reflection of any sort of moral understanding of the true understanding of the difference between right and wrong therefore it must be based in moral relativism must this is only this only logically follows because if it was not based in moral relativism all the laws of the world would be exactly the same everywhere now that necessarily might mean that they might all be incorrect and based on not non truths but the point here being is if you have certain things that are able to be done in certain places with no repercussions no consequences and in other places they would get you thrown into a cage there can these these arbitrary dictates cannot possibly be based in truths because truth is not open to interpretation truth is eternal it is based in the laws of nature and vice versa the laws of nature are based in truth knowing that the laws of man must be based in some form of moral relativism we talked about the dynamic that moral relativism leads to and moral relativism only ever leads to more in society and for those who didn't hear those shows you want to go back and listen to the shows I did about the on liberty essay by Aquinas and the breakdown of the concepts that were contained in there which so eloquently help people get to the understanding that if a society bases itself in any form of moral relativism it can never create true good or true order or anything that resembles true freedom it is not possible so this is the big differences these are the big differences between natural law and man's law and why man's law is so dangerous it's not the thing that's creating any kind of good or order true order or any protection for us in society as a matter of fact when you understand what it's there to do it is there to eternally attempt to keep us away from the true recognition and understanding of natural law and its principles that's why it's so sinister man's law is one of the most sinister forces on the earth because it comes in the semblance of good in the guise of good again obfuscation go back and listen to that section in the previous podcast the first technique of mind control we covered evil never comes showing you its teeth showing you its horns okay it always comes showing you a beautiful ornate lovely presence and lovely figure saying this this is what you really want this is going to get you to where you really want to go and it always takes you in exactly the other direction from that it has to come in the guise of good disguised as good evils never gonna walk up sidle right on up to you and tell you I'm evil come down this path because you'll tell it to get lost but if it comes and says I'll show you everything that you've ever wanted and everything that you want to make happen and give you that capability and this is all going to create real true order then of course you'll follow it see people would say well then how do you know that's not what this is all about trying to take people down the path of evil they'll always make that argument and that's where discernment comes into play that's where doing the homework yourself comes into play that's where it's not about dogmatic belief I told people from day one the worst thing you could ever do is believe me you need to understand this for yourself and the more savvy among us would recognize in that middle row there on this chart when I talked about harmonization with natural law okay this is all about the process of how to know anything and how that has been occulted as much as natural law has been occult 'add by the dark Oh cultists and dominators of this world because anybody that's even the slightest bit savvy that heard the words that I used knowledge understanding and then ultimately putting those into practice which is wisdom will recognize those as the three steps of the Trivium which is what we're going to talk about next on what on earth is happening because this is the process for how do we get to the true understanding of anything how do we acquire real knowledge how do we get to truth so that we can then put it into practice and as a result truly do good truly do no harm truly create order it isn't about believing in those things or just thinking that oh we can do it this way it's about knowing how that process works and you can't truly ultimately have any knowledge and know that it's not going to do any kind of harm in how you're using it how you're putting it into practice without a process in place that shows you this is actually how you come to the awareness that this is based in truth that this is based in principle and that when you put this into practice it can do no and that process was something that people were taught in the ancient world and it's been removed we're gonna talk about that a lot about what that process is that's coming up next again as I've said on what on earth is happening we'll have people who have studied this in depth hopefully we'll bring them on and interview them again I'm bringing you on Larkin Rose next week because I feel this is one of the gentlemen that has one of the most profound and firm grasps on natural law than anyone I've ever heard talk about this topic there are many others too but he's local to my area I've seen him speak personally many times and read one of his books and I just think he has a very firm handle on this so you know that was the first person whose name popped into my head the interview on this topic so maybe we'll bring people on like Yan Irvin to talk about the Trivium when we get into that deeply or Bob husk and I know has done a lot of work with the Trivium like to bring him on the show as well so we'll have some people who have delved into this process and know how it works and know how it's been occulted which is the most that's one of the most important things to understand more than that know why it has been occult 'add okay so in the next three slides you could just look at they correspond to the three rows that natural laws based in principle and not dogma it is harmonized with not complied with due to fear and it is immutable or unchanging not subject to the whims of people in the next three slides we'll be right back don't go any more all right everyone we're back this is what on earth is happening the topic for discussion today is natural law versus man's law [Music] we went over the chart about the differences between these two things that was slide number two on the radio show page were posted with the podcast images three four and five as I said before the break are illustrations of these concepts three shows Gandhi and then a stack of law books and a judges gavel okay which illustrate the difference between principles a man of principle who was attempting to put the truth into practice in life which is what this life is actually all about versus Dogma which is all about just the acceptance of what somebody else has told you is the way things are and going along to get along slide four shows the difference between true harmonization with knowledge harmonization with natural law through knowledge and understanding and again I'm going to talk about the word knowledge a little bit more because this concept when it comes to natural law and when it comes to the understanding of the difference between natural law and man is all about knowledge and there will be solid cysts out there who will say nothing can truly be known that will always be brought up when it comes to this when I talked about the Trivium process you know that will always elicit this notion that the truth cannot actually really be known and we cannot know what the laws of nature actually are then somehow the universe is an eternal torture device that were placed into it we can never actually not actually know how it operates and functions and this is bunk bunk there is such a thing as knowledge it exists and it is knowable the end that's the truth because the biggest lie is just that the knowledge cannot be known now I'm not I've never said we're going to come to know the totality of the mind of God that's not what I'm talking about when I talk about knowledge I'm talking about how effects come into being through causality that is what I'm talking about when it comes to knowledge and how things work how things are manifested how they look the interaction between cause and effect works in the real world I'm not talking about getting into the mind of God and how the universe was actually created and why it exists etc so forth yeah maybe there are some things we will never get to a full understanding of but natural law can be understood we have to understand what natural law is again it is the method through which we create the experiences that we must undergo that's what natural law actually is how it expresses in our life can be understood can be harmonized with well you know what it's called work it's called doing work to get to that understanding it doesn't just magically pop on in our brains there is work required and a process of internal transformation required to get to that understanding an oh yes it can be known so this image on the left here is the is an image that represents knowledge true understanding and then harmonizing with those natural laws to put them into effect and that's called wisdom that's what the image on the left and slide four represents slide four on the right hand side represents the person in a perpetual state of fear this is what the image in mind of going against the laws of man is all about I'm worried that I'll end up here I'm worried I'll end up in a cage I'm fearful going back to knowledge for a moment to understand the difference between these two states of mind is that the being on the left is going to do the right thing regardless of what happens in the physical domain he's going to do it because he knows not because he thinks or believes or imagines because he knows definitively that it is right I'm raising my voice deliberately because sometimes these things have to be hammered into people hammered in because there's so under mind control and so reluctant and I'm not saying that raising my voice will do that but I'm doing it for effect this is the way that it actually is and if you want to say you don't know every single in and out of it will guess what not one person does know the totality of it that's not what it's about you know what it's about it's about understanding it well enough to put it into practice such that you do no harm in the world there is such a thing there is such a concept you should look into I like how Terence Mckenna actually worded this in some of his lectures and presentations he said there is such a concept called true enough true enough that if you get bogged down in trying to understand every single solitary little tiny tiny minutia of something you lose sight of the forest for the trees you're studying the vein in the leaf and you're not understanding the connection of that wonderful tree to the forest around it to the living planet that made it possible and to life itself you're not seeing the totality of the picture the big picture by getting focused down in my new show and talking about nothing but conceptual ideas and never bringing that knowledge down to the ground to work with it here on the earth in the plane of manifestation understanding how things manifest on the plane of effects through the knowledge of how causal factors work and that knowledge is knowable ladies and gentlemen it is so slide number five shows the difference between eternal truth and something that is inherent to creation the man did not make but man can come to understand can come to know and put into practice in his life through a connection with that oneness through a connection with that divinity within himself through a connection with the all spirit and again the word all spirit is natural net tear all the word itself contains the concept everything comes from that spirit or divine source and if we make a one-to-one connection with that we can come to understand how that totality operates enough that we can do no harm in the world and create true order in our lives the right hand side of this image shows the arbitrary dictates of a Dominator / controller that thinks he's God thinks that he has authority over other people and they're their Dominator mindset and dictates is what creates the moral relativism that is inherent in man's law system so moving on to what does this actually mean well we know what natural law is about slide 6 reiterates two very important concepts if we are to know unambiguously well natural law is and what how it affects things in our lives one is that a living being must be hard or defrauded in all for a violation of natural law rights to have it in place must be a living being not an artificial entity a contrived entity a construct that exists in the mind an actual flesh and bone living being must be harmed in order for a violation of natural law rights to have been to have occurred therefore if there is no harm against another living being and there is no proof of harm no natural law violation has taken place and this is the another difference between man's law and natural law there must be an actual victim or a person a being who has been harmed in order for a natural law violation to have taken place and for anybody to be able to do anything to that being who's being accused of that harm man's law on the other hand can lock people up who have never actually harmed another living being you could be thrown into a cage because you did something that has no victim but that the state claims that's not moral to do and it's only a claim and then people believe in that claim and act upon it because of the quote semblance of good they're being told this is the right thing to do told and then they accept them and that's called dogma and the word Dogma is also very telling because again the people that they get to follow their arbitrary dictates and lock people up in cages these are call is called their dogs we'll pick this up is what on earth is happening welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm we're into the second hour so I want to give the call in number I'm not gonna make any promises but I'm gonna try to get to the phones in the later part of the show once again a lot of material to cover here today but if there's time that time allows we will get to a couple of calls so the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five be patient I will attempt to get to some calls in the last couple of segments so going back to the slides on the radio show page what well we were looking at the two concepts that need to be kept in mind about natural law that in order for a natural law violation to have taken place a living being must be harmed or defrauded a flesh-and-blood living being the second concept here is that rights to that do not exist for any individual can never be granted by man's law to any other individual or to any group of individuals so wrongs are not transferable nobody can give somebody the right to do a wrong is what's being said here so I can't take what somebody else earns I can't give that right to any body of people to any other individual or to any body of people no one can be given a moral wrong and say you're allowed to exercise this moral wrong that doesn't exist I don't care if they if they want it to happen or not it is still immoral even if you agree I'm giving you this right that doesn't make it right I'm allowing you to do this wrong that never converts the wrong into a right even if everybody agreed see this is this whole concept what if people actually agree with and want this condition that doesn't make it right you're still abdicating personal responsibility to know who the truth and live within natural laws parameters which is what we're going to be talking about what is responsibility and what is the abdication of responsibility that's totally connected with these notions so what does all of this mean for man's law what when it comes down to it if we truly deeply understand natural law and make it our goal to harmonize with it well what does that mean for the laws of man all of these written scribbles and law books throughout the world what does this all mean the chart in image number 8 sets forward what it really ultimately means and again there will be many people who will be upset with this think that this is all so extreme because they don't have a wide enough view they don't have a high enough view in consciousness they haven't taken in the totality of the picture of the big picture when it comes to what's really going on here on earth and how natural law is continuously being eroded and obfuscated by these quote laws put into place by man so the table here this chart set up very simply puts forward an if-then statement if it is true that man's law is in harmony with nature's law let's say man writes down the law okay and that's totally in harmony with natural law meaning it it does no harm it is based in moral principles and truth well then it follows that it logically follows that it is a redundancy it is stating what is already pre-existing and self-evident or what I should say should be self-evident now in the modern day natural law is certainly not self-evident to the majority of the ignorant people in this world we need to make it self-evident by continuously speaking it and putting it out there for people it follows then that man's law is therefore unnecessary because it is a redundancy it states what is already pre-existing and self-evident we'll get back into this chart on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening don't go anywhere ok we're back this is what on earth is happening [Music] we're looking at slide number eight which shows the an if-then statement about what it means what man's law ultimately means in light of natural law so if we understand that man's law is in harmony with natural law it is simply a redundancy or stating what is already pre-existing not made by man and self-evident like gravity man doesn't have the power to change the law of gravity being in operation it's a natural law we are bound by it we might invent some form of technology to temporarily counter the effect but that doesn't mean that the law isn't still there okay that force is still present even if the technology can temporarily allow us to countermand it for a time okay so gravity is self-evident in on the earth something that is thrown up is going to come down period you let go of something it falls down toward the center of mass of the earth that does not fall up it's self-evident you don't really need to continuously state that gravity is in operation for people to know if you drop a glass release a glass out of your hand it's gonna fall to the ground and break that's self-evident unless somebody is like you know slow or something meaning mentally truly mentally challenged or retarded then they're not really going to get it and that's how I often think of this race of beings called humanity they're really broken in some form or another because of their reluctance to see that natural law is in effect it governs human behavior they're powerless to change it all they need to do is accept the law of one and understand that as one suffers all suffer the Golden Rule do unto others as you would have done to you period the end it's that simple and yet people will challenge that from now until the end of time because they think they're God they think they know better than God they think they're going to counter man the laws of the creator and get away with it they think they are the arbiters of truth and that's what a solid system Utley is an arbiter of truth oh no i'll make the determination as to whether anything is preexisting in the world other than my likes or preferences or dictates see that's what man wants to do that's what this is all ultimately about ladies and gentlemen if you haven't gotten that yet that man thinks he is going to be God and he's gonna get to determine what natural law is and if it exists or not and he's going to do whatever he wants to do the lowercase W will you're gonna counter man forever the capital W will of creation itself that's why we're in a prison that's why this is a prison planet that's what we're here to learn we're not God we're not going to counteract the laws of creation just because we don't like them being in effect and that's exactly what the dark occult this mindset is so if that's how you think you are in the same mindset of the occultists who actually are your owners and again you can go back to that Carlos Castaneda quote where he talks about the predator the predatory system where the the truest the greatest trick of the dominators of the Predators of this planet was to give us their way of thinking I've read that on the show in the past you know and part of what I want people to understand is that it doesn't matter what we currently think about these things what's going on in our mind has nothing to do with whether natural laws in creation is in effect or not we have to recognize that ultimately ultimately yes we have free will but the free will decision is only whether we are going to come to the realization that we are living in a holistic system that is based upon law capital L and whether we are going to harmonize with those principles by which this entire creation operates if we're not gonna do that we're gonna suffer eternally eternally eternally okay and this is exactly how Buckminster Fuller put it he said we're living in a Dark Ages prison that has no steel bars chains or locks instead it is locked by misorientation and built upon misinformation caught up in a plethora of conditioned reflexes and driven by the human ego both warden and prisoner attempt meagerly to compete with God or our intractably skeptical of what they do not understand we are powerfully imprisoned in these dark ages simply by the terms in which we have been conditioned to think it is all about mind control we need to break that program that's the solution so going back to this chart which many people who are under mind control will refuse to understand and take into themselves and understand that it's true if natural law is in harm if man's law is in harmony with natural law it is redundant and therefore unnecessary it is there is no reason to state what is already pre-existing and self-evident but again the problem is it's not self-evident we need to make it self-evident it needs to become common sense which is conscience con sense conscience con science knowledge together knowing together is what common sense means okay knowing together not believing not thinking knowing if man's law is in opposition to natural law it follows that it is both false and immoral that's what natural law is it's based in truth and morale good so if it's in opposition if man's law is written down and it is in opposition to natural law it follows immediately it is not true it is false and it is not good it is immoral so if it's based in violence if you set down anything that is taking freewill away from somebody else what they hear let's look at the example putting the substance into your body that someone has deemed off-limits for human consumption and experimentation with that's somebody else saying I own your body I own your mind because if you want to experiment with consciousness no that's not okay this is a law based on violence saying you're taking a voluntary action that you're not coercing anybody else into doing this you're voluntarily doing it and I'm telling you no you may not do it or I'm going to physically harm you or put you away in a box someplace unless you agree to stop continuing to do it you have a right to put what you want into your body right it's not a privilege it's a right that's self-existing that needs to be understood that right needs to be understood and it needs to be known that it is totally self-evident that this right exists anybody that doesn't understand that you are the owner of your body and you can make the argument all you want the god owns everything I get all of that hey I'm talking about while you're in incarnation you are the steward of the vehicle that you call your body you have a right to put you one into what you want into that body as long as you're not harming anyone by doing that act [Music] so this is what a law that is false and immoral is and if it's based in those conditions no one can be bound by it we'll finish this part up on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening we're back this is what on earth is happening jumping right back into the material for today we were talking about what if man's law is in opposition to natural law it completely kept contravenes morality well then it is both false and immoral and therefore it cannot be binding upon anyone no one can force somebody to go along with something that they know to be false and immoral that itself is against natural law so in light of this information that whether man's law is in harmony with natural law or it is not in harmony with natural law one way or another it ends up being unnecessary and ultimately irrelevant as I've written on slide number nine man's law has nothing to do with anything that's truly really going on only natural law does we need to come to the knowledge and understanding of natural law that's the ultimate solution this is why this is part one of my solutions section this whole past ten weeks or so without this understanding Humanity is done period that's it that's what we have to learn that's part of the lesson we don't understand what natural law is how it operates and how we can harmonize with it the species is done understand that know it know it okay so why do we have all of these conceptions of man's law as being something that are actually good and the can lead to order that can lead to the elimination of suffering when we know through the deep comprehension and understanding of natural law that it can never do any of those things that only the understand a chiral law can lead to anything that is good orderly or beneficial to humanity well the main reason that we still believe in all of these things is something called government which is on slide number 10 it is derived from the Latin verb the word government the meaning is contained in the word itself and people that say oh you can't judge what a word means today by its derivation through its etymology you don't understand the power of words and I'll just leave it at that that this is how all the forms of control are put into place verbally through words words are vibratory energy and they have power inherently the creator is said to have spoken the universe into creation through the power of the word in the beginning was the word and this concept is at the beginning of all creation epics not just in biblical creation epic it's about vibratory energy that where everything is made of therefore that sound is going out reaching somewhere being processed by their brain and then becoming part of their mind if they take it into themselves truly so what is spoken we have a responsibility when we speak to attempt as much as when it is within our capability to verify that that information we are speaking is the truth put it out there so that it can do no harm to help to enlighten people and help them to understand that natural law exists and harmonization with it is of the utmost importance if we're going to evolve as a species so the word government literally Dean's mine control it is derived from the Latin verb governo and the infinitive form of governo is govern RA to control and the Latin noun mens mentis which is the end part of it meant men's mentis means mind so literally the word government means to control the mind it is mind control so people who know what I talked about would think well then you don't believe there should be any government and that's true but it's also false I believe there must be government but not externally imposed government imposed through coercion and violence there needs to be internal government meaning one must learn to control one's own mind and harmonize with the principles of natural law I M my own government I control my own mind therefore I am a monarchy and no one else owns me or rules me I am sovereign I know how to control my own mind I know how to control my own actions I am the steward of those things while I am in this body I am the owner of those things no one else owns my mind and that cannot be said for every other person because the because of what people believe and are willing to act on it literally means that someone else is in control of their mind they are they are living a program a program digs istant that has been programmed into them and you know what the perfect form of programming is the perfect programming that someone will never get out of if this is how perfectly they've been possessed they've been owned by someone else is the Ballou if they believe that there is no such thing as truth and there is no way to actually know the truth that is salep season go back to show number one when I talk about this and know that is the perfectly programmed mind that's what it is that's where they want you and that's satanic one of the satanic sins as we talked about a solid season for them for these this elite controlling psychopathic class they don't want they don't believe in Sol abscissa may know there's a truth they know natural law exists believe me they know it I worked with these people and they know natural law exists they're just raging against it and trying to get other people not to understand it to the extent that they can enslave themselves and they can be Kings within a prison system what they consider a prison system they can be the rulers better to rule in Hell than serve in heaven is their motto that's why they don't want natural law understood and that's why they continue to attempt to externally control other people's mind all of the minions of government are under mind control they don't own themselves they don't own who they are they don't own their own thoughts they have accepted dogmatic belief system which has turned them into a dog a lap dog for these psychopathic controllers to do their bidding in their will against the will of creation I know I'm hammering it hard today folks but there's very little time left and it's not an illusion that we have an infinite that we don't have an infinite amount of time to get this done to get this transformation and consciousness achieved that's not an illusion we are very limited a very limited amount of time left to accomplish that if we're going to accomplish it if not this system is going to clean its plate clean its plate that's what nature is gonna do it only tolerates this level of complete rejection of truth for so long and then the destroyer arrives in some form or another always and that will continue to happen eternally until people get out of this programmed mindset but it's your choice it's all about free will which is what we're going to talk about next responsibility and the responsibility to exercise one's free will choices versus the decision to abdicate those free will choices to other people and say you represent my best interest here do this for me do this work for me because they're too ignorant apathetic and lazy to do the work for themselves because they don't want to do the work to acquire real knowledge and to seek truth and to change themselves in an internal process of transformation they want no part of that the bulk of humanity and without that process taking place you're going to eternally suffer eternally it's something you'll be right back to get deeper into responsibility on the other side back talking about responsibility versus ad vacations slide number 11 I introduced this and how we see responsibility is as the foundational basis for the understanding of natural law wanting to know because we want to be better we want to learn we want to grow we want to improve we want to evolve evolution is driven through desire to evolve ultimately we are going to again be wiped clean if we decide collectively we don't want to evolve it's a choice if we say no we don't want to evolve then destruction ultimately results chaos and destruction and death result and then we're given another chance to do it right and that process keeps going and going and going and going until we finally say yes to creation and we say no to the dark force of opposition the thing that wants to shut consciousness down and prevent the evolution of any species which is fear I mean I mean this is so simple it's like to have to say it over and over and over and over but that's what it's all about as we'll see it's all about speech it's all about the power of words ladies and gentlemen all about the power of words responsibility whenever we as a people hand over our natural law right to use force to create change okay to another individual group or entity again force not being violence being the ability to create change to create anything really force is required a force is required okay whenever we hand that out away because we don't want to take that responsibility we don't want to do that work we don't want to learn that information or that process undergo that process whenever we hand it away to any other individual group or entity we have abdicated our own personal responsibility and responsibility is the foundational basis for the discovery and understanding of natural law so natural law cannot be grasped it cannot be discovered it cannot be understood if we abdicate personal responsibility which means if we do not reserve all of our rights keep all of our rights with us say no I am NOT handing over a right and giving it to you and saying you can use that right in my name no I'm not going to do that if if we decide yes I'm going to do that I'm gonna advocate this right you can have it I don't need it I don't want to use it I don't want that responsibility that's abdication now let's look for a moment at the word abdication and I think things will become clear AB is a Latin prefix which means away from or negation the negation of nots okay and the second part of it is AB dict abdicate D I see this comes from Victo dict RA and that means to speak so to abdicate is to stop speaking it is to go away from speaking it is to not speak think about it we're talking about the power of words as I've been getting into over the last couple of weeks actually this was a prominent theme last week because this is completely connected with nature's laws these are the laws of vibratory energy the laws of the word when we decide we are not going to use our voice to speak what we have discovered to be true or not do that work at all such that we can't speak on what's true or not that is the abdication of personal responsibility and that responsibility means quite literally in the word the ability to respond to any given situation that happens to come up on our personal journey of growth meaning our evolutionary progression if we do not speak these truths into creation we lose our ability to respond because we have abdicated it we have given it up we have thrown it away we have cast it aside so ultimately through that process of personal of abdication of personal responsibility we are enslaving ourselves and responsibility does not mean I can make enough money to buy this or have this or take care of this other person that's not what real responsibility is real responsibility is having the desire to seek and come to know the truth the laws of nature and the difference between true difference between right and wrong that's what responsibility is here and that's what that's what responsibility is ladies and gentlemen that's what we're here to learn and the universe will keep just wiping this place out and giving us another chance in small pockets to get it right it's happened many many many times already because we keep refusing and saying no we don't want that responsibility well guess what nature's law isn't allowing us the chance to refuse learning what responsibility is all about you have to take it your that's the in that sense that's where you don't really have free will your free will decision is only in how long are you going to refuse it for and continue to suffer or will you finally accept this learn and grow from the experience and then you can move on and do something else and then anything's possible then you can make out of this construct that we call the material realm whatever you want because it's all based upon the spiritual and actually they're really the same thing they're one in the same as goes the knowledge of spirit or the all spirit the natural laws so goes the physical domain one is just the realm of manifestation and effects and one is the plane of causality but they're eternally connected and ultimately one at the bay at the highest fundamental level of consciousness see and that's part of duality itself is thinking that these things are separate and you know we have to completely reject one in order to know anything about the other and that's not the case that's the whole that's what the process of that's what the force of fear wants people to believe and accept that these things aren't integrated the spiritual and the material realms because it's all about freewill whether we will accept personal responsibility to learn and know the truth and then put it into practice in our lives or whether we're going to continue to reject that and the people who have rejected it the most and again this is something people don't want to hear they want to be apologists for people who lay down their personal responsibility and hand it to another and tell another person that you own me now yeah you own me I'm owned by you I do your bidding I follow orders I follow commands the people in slide number 14 the police and military the people who are responsible for all of the human atrocities that have ever happened in the three-dimensional world that we call the earth may suffering and mass executions and mass graves and all kinds of other human atrocities you follow it throughout history just do the work get a long view of history by studying and you'll see every single place where any complete human tragedy in terms of mass murder has ever taken place it has always been done by military and police yet these people think that they're the people who are doing good they think that they can do good by advocating persons by other people advocating personal responsibility to them this is why this dynamic always occurs for the very reason that responsibility is being abdicated that's why nature's handing us this scenario in situation of police states throughout time we as a people don't want to step up and take personal responsibility to protect ourselves and you know how you do that you teach natural law that's how you do that you teach morality to the people who think that they're doing any good by being in the military or being in the police I have this to say directly to you you will never ever ever do anything that is good or orderly for society until you stop doing what you are doing and start doing what I am through I'd say that I'm going to try to power through the last half of these slides which are largely quotes from people who have something to say on the topic of natural law throughout history before we do that I want to talk about one other concept that is in correlation direct correlation to responsibility and that is respect when you look at the last slide that we're on slide 15 and you see a human atrocity like this do you think anybody that could have ever done this any group of people that could have ever done this to another group of living sentient beings had any respect for themselves absolutely not because again you have to go to the word what does respect mean re in Latin means again and SPECT Oh SPECT re means to take a look at so respect means to take another look at and what you need to take another look at is yourself if you are the believer in human authority and if you are the believer that control over other people through coercion and violence can ever lead to anything that is truly good or orderly in society there is something that you do not like about yourself and that is imbalanced within yourself that you do not want to deal with if you think those things and in order to correct them you have to be willing to take another look at your perspective to change your perspective in life take another look at your worldview that's what respect is actually all about regarding this creeping police state through the belief that control was ever going to bring anybody safety Ben Franklin one of the founding fathers of this country said those who would give up Essential Liberty to purchase a little temporary safety deserves neither and will lose both if that's how you think you don't deserve liberty and Safety because you have not understood anything about how natural law functions and ultimately if you persist in that state of ignorance you're going to lose both Liberty and safety and slide 15 will show you what that will look like Gerald Massey the Egyptologist said that they must find it difficult those who have taken authority as truth rather than the truth as Authority the truth is the only authority human Authority there is no truth in that we have to take truth as our authority and that is getting to the understanding of how natural law functions I can't continue to say that enough the great researcher David Icke this is one of his less known quotations in one of his earlier books but it's brilliant he says accept responsibility for yourself and your actions thoughts and words you alone make choices you alone are answerable to the consequences of your behavior the feeble excuse that your boss required it the establishment expected it holds no truth or justification what is the point of even having principles if you allow others to dictate your behavior that's abdication of personal responsibility at the end of the day you will judge your performance and the contribution that you made to creation it will not based on what another expected of you or what you did because you felt trapped this is a big justification I had no other choice oh I had to do it for the money oh I had to provide for my family oh I needed the education on on and on and on and on endless justifications for immorality for immoral behavior for following the dictates of psychopathic madmen Gandhi perhaps put it even in a more enlightening way you assist an evil system most effectively by obeying its orders and decrees an evil system never deserves such Allegiance allegiance to it means partaking of the evil a good person will resist an evil system with his or her whole soul let it sink in slide number 20 let it sink in read it over and over and over again if you have to that's enlightenment that's enlightenment he understood it's more about what you are what what it's more about what you need to stop doing what you need to stop doing the negative the negation that's what it's more about it's more about pulling back and refusing to comply refusing to obey orders and decrees of the system that is there for enslavement it's so much less about new things we need to do we need to stop doing things we're already doing that are immoral that are unethical that are that are false that are not true that are not based in principle that's something that this great man understood more than almost everybody because through the abdication of free will and personal responsibility that's how this evil system of domination that is the in slides 21 22 and 23 is going to ultimately create their dark new world order which is a prison planet which is a prison Society only through abdication of free will and personal responsibility can that ever happen and think about what that means ladies and gentlemen that means all of their power is coming from the people who they enslave they are granting it to these could psychopathic controllers through abdicating their free will and that abdication only leads to one place and you can see that symbolically in image number 23 that has been locked by the Masters as we stated last week in the week before ultimately living in harmony with natural law and its principles leads only to peace freedom prosperity survival and evolutionary progress while living in opposition to natural law only ever leads to control enslavement poverty war evolutionary stagnation and consciousness and ultimately extinction of a species and that is the bottom line those statements are true eternally and are never going to work any other way that's how natural law functions in a nutshell those two slides that's it that's what you need to know you want progress you want prosperity you want to survive you want to grow you want to evolve you have to understand and live in harmony with natural law period the end you want to ignore that and think you're gonna prosper you the joke's on you the joke's on you because living in opposition to all of those principles only leads to one place and that's death and this can be symbolically seen this dichotomy can be symbolically seen in the painting by Alex gray on slide number 26 which is called Gaia the spirit of the earth what's ultimately happening here it's a choice it's a choice between understanding the laws of nature or continuing to go along with man's insanity and control-freak system and I think it's very clear which side of the tree depicts which mental condition Francis Bacon former grand master of the order of the Rose qua the Rose cross otherwise known as the Rosicrucian order in the early 1600s said that nature to be commanded must first be obeyed we have to know what nature's laws are and willingly choose to operate in compliance with them in harmony with them otherwise nothing but suffering is ever going to be created and we're certainly not going to be able to command any of nature's functions max Heindel another Rosicrucian philosopher said that the best way to learn the secrets of nature is not by inventing instruments but by improving the investigator himself David Icke said at its foundation any guide to freedom needs a thorough knowledge of why and how that freedom has been removed in the first place without that there can be no answers and I would say without that knowledge of why and how were in this situation through our abdication of personal responsibility in free will there can be no solutions finally alfred alder said there is a law that man should love his neighbor as himself in a few hundred years it should be as natural to mankind as breathing for the upright game but if he does not learn it he must perish the golden rule is the ultimate law we'll see you next week on what on earth is happening take care folks a very very special guest mr larkin rose of larkanrose.com i'm going to read for you his short bio and then we'll jump right into it with lark and rose larkin rose is a self-professed quote enemy of the state end quote and the author of four books two of which he wrote while being held as a political prisoner for a year by the gang that calls itself the united states government he has also written countless articles and done dozens of radio interviews advocating the concepts of self-ownership and a voluntary society for the sake of full disclosure mr rose confesses that he is a former member of the cult of statism and for years along with everyone else he knew devoutly prayed at the altar of the mythical deity known as government having eventually escaped the clutches of that cult he now devotes much of his time trying to deprogram as many others as he can so that they too may claim may reclaim ownership of themselves ladies and gentlemen please welcome to what on earth is happening mr lark and rose larkin it's a pleasure to have you here today it's a pleasure to be here mark great so i figured we could start off by uh uh having you uh tell the audience a little bit about your background and what uh basically guided you to some of these concepts and topics that you speak about now well i was raised uh basically sort of libertarian leaning conservative republican-ish not just my parents but most of the town i grew up in and i i can't really point to one source that that nudged me in the direction i am now um my wife tessa and i sort of corrupted each other along the way until we both ended up here but for me it was really a matter of getting rid of inconsistencies in my own position like i'd love to argue and i love to debate and and i like to win because it's no fun debating and losing and when i notice problems in my own argument i have to back up and say okay something's wrong there that that didn't make sense like i'm arguing for constitutional government or limited government or whatever and i get stuck where my own argument sounds stupid to me and i back up and say all right that didn't that didn't work there's something wrong what do i have to change not not just about the argument but about what i actually think because if what i think is inconsistent with itself it's wrong you can't be inconsistent with yourself and still be right you can be consistently wrong but you can't be inconsistently right so basically i whittled down more and more about the uh the religion known as government and statism and found you know i started from the position while it should only have a military it should only do the police it should only protect us and yeah it has to do taxes for those necessary things you know some a position that millions of people still believe and still are in but when it came down to thinking about the the underlying principles i would come across wait a minute if i'm if i want this thing to protect us how does that jive with assuming it has the right to extort people and tell them you have to pay for our quote-unquote protection and so i started saying well taxation should be voluntary and i realized well it's voluntary it's not taxation and so just bit by bit the whole illusion of authority and government sort of fell apart and this was in you know this was having debates with people on online and in person and reading things and a lot of it was just having discussions with my wife tessa like i said and we sort of we each corrupted the other one into giving up statism not sure who won the race but we both sort of talked about things back and forth until we both ended up realizing there can't be legitimate government there can't be a ruling class that has the right to be there and unlike most um anarchists or voluntarists or whatever term is less scary for people i didn't come to the conclusion that that we could either have government or we could have no government and no government would be better like on a practical basis i know a lot of people do i got there by realizing there can't be government there can't be legitimate authority there can't be a right to rule no political ritual or document or any of the rest of that can make one person have the right to rule somebody else and if it's impossible if it can't exist arguing about whether we should have it makes as much sense as arguing about whether we should have christmas with santa claus or without santa claus when you realize there isn't one that question is sort of well duh there isn't one the only question after that is do you want to live your life based on a lie imagining something that isn't there or do you want people to people's perceptions and behaviors to be based on reality and really that's all i advocate is that people act you know view the world and act accordingly based on reality not based on the mythology we were all taught having to do with authority and government and law and crime and all the terms that basically imply that we need a ruling class and that there can be a ruling class that's legitimate and that if if we don't all bow to this this superhuman thing that keeps us civilized it would be chaos and mayhem so basically i got that's one of people's most uh overarching fears of the the reason that they give for the necessity for government is that if there wasn't any this there would be chaos and the the the underlying emotion that drives that position is fear absolutely absolutely and i like to point out that that that fear which yeah oh and i had it for years and years and i know we can't have none we have to have some it actually it shows that the belief in government is a blind faith issue it's not about rational thought and figuring out how to how to make things work because just i mean the logic of it just on its face is really bizarre the logic goes like this now people don't say it this way but this is what they mean human beings are so unpredictable and sometimes immoral sometimes negligent sometimes nasty that we have to take some of those nasty negligent vicious human beings and give them the power to control the rest of us by violence as if that's a rational solution whether we're all nice or all nasty or something in between but the the only reason anybody would ever suggest such a thing and i often make a make a comparison that if you're getting attacked by a swarm of killer bees the solution is not to try to create an authoritarian hierarchy among the bees to have some of them tell the other ones not to sting you however nasty we are however nice we are taking some of us and giving them permission to dominate everybody else is a really bad idea and the only reason that isn't obvious to everybody is people are taught to view government as a super human entity one which we voluntarily choose to abdicate our personal responsibility to larkin hold it right there this is absolutely great we'll continue right on the other side of this break don't go anywhere ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting constitution like [Music] we're back folks mark and rose today on what on earth is happening let's jump right back into it with larkin martin was explaining to us that he had arrived at his current position that all statism the belief in authority is a cultish belief system because he stripped away all of those veils that uh stand between our perception and the truth and he was able to do something that few people are able to do seem to be able to do he was able to set his own ego aside and reevaluate his belief structure and to to be able to say i was wrong and then change your mind is one of the most powerful internal works that anyone can ever perform upon themselves so larkin go back to uh what you had been talking about before about the idea of handing over authority to people who are basically you know fundamentally not perfect in that their own right and don't really have any kind of a perfected morality is a flawed idea to begin with right right the notion that you know mankind is so unpredictable and nasty and and dangerous that we need a government the trouble is what's the government made of well some of those dangerous nasty people in fact not the best of them but the worst of them and most people agree yeah politicians are mostly liars and crooks but they still fall for the notion that for us imperfect human beings and we are for us imperfect human beings to get along we have to find some of the most imperfect and give them permission to violently dominate the rest of us as if that's going to improve things they're some of the lowest consciousness in consciousness among us i would say it goes so far as to the fact that they really are psychopathic and they gravitate they are naturally drawn and gravitate to that position because of their psychopathic nature or psychopathic tendencies yeah absolutely i mean if you run a ad in the newspaper saying help wanted come dominate your fellow man and tell him what to do and hurt him if he disobeys who do you think is going to call for the job it isn't going to be all the nice people it's going to be the people who are narcissistic and love to dominate others which is about as evil as you can get and that's the nature of the job the the idea and for ages i i fell for the notion that well government can be good we got to watch out for the corruption and bad people getting into power but it can be good and no it can't it can't ever be good because all it does is threaten people with violence that's all the law is and they have all the the flowery rhetoric and and and propaganda that were taught to try to make it look like something else but everybody knows that when they you know when the control freaks issue a law they're saying you have to do this or you're not allowed to do this and if you disobey we hurt you i mean everybody knows that's the underlying reality of what happens but people don't talk about it like that because if they did it would sound basically if they just stated reality bluntly statism sounds as insane as it is saying we need some people to have the right to initiate violence against innocent people otherwise some bad people might initiate violence against innocent people and this is what has been called the semblance of good which is something that i wanted you to touch upon people who think this is the right idea be only because they fear the scenario that might might not definitely will but in their mind might come about if this artificial control structure were not in place and thus they think that this is choosing the lesser of evils or choosing what they in their perception believe to be good some philosophers have termed this the semblance of good and almost invariably it leads us down a primrose path that leads to nothing but chaos can you touch upon that idea yeah absolutely and that's see there's i see good news and bad news here to me statism is a superstition that people are programmed into but their own moral code at least basically is usually pretty good they don't run around murdering people on their own they don't run around robbing people on their own but they have been taught to believe that if you do certain pseudo-religious political rituals of elections and and constitutions and legislation and all these official things in their big grandiose buildings that what comes out the other side isn't bound by human morality like they're allowed to steal and because it's called taxation and it's the law and people really and truly not only believe that that's somehow becomes justified even though they know if they did it themselves they'd recognize it as evil immediately not only do they think it somehow becomes good when it's done by way of legislation and all these rituals but then they imagine any victims who resist it as being nasty and bad so it really their indoctrination into authoritarianism turns their perception of right and wrong completely upside down completely inside out so that literally they view good as bad and bad is good and they will just vehemently cheer as quote-unquote criminals who haven't harmed anybody are crushed and thrown in a cage or shot or some other nasty thing because yeah even though in their day-to-day lives they they pretty much get the basic morality of you know don't start a fight don't be nasty to other people when it comes to politics they have totally been tricked into thinking that evil is good and good is evil because by way of the political process they think human morality there's an exemption you're allowed to steal if you do it this way you're allowed to commit mass murder if you call it national defense and you do it this way you're allowed to boss people around and violently intrude into their lives if you do it by way of legislation and democracy and all the all the fun rituals that go around the the belief in statism but the entire the good news i say is that in their individual lives most people already get all you need to get to coexist peacefully which is don't steal from people and don't attack people and don't murder people it's pretty dang simple you know there are always little gray areas that we can work out but if we get that much we're doing okay but it all really comes down to understanding the real difference between right and wrong knowing what moral behavior really is knowing what the transgressions against another's natural law rights really are which is what you basically just stated don't kill don't uh steal from people don't you know uh to take their property don't um trespass against their uh their um you know lair uh you know murder rape theft trespass these are the four basic natural law transgressions and if we only really respected the self-ownership and the natural law rights of others we wouldn't have to worry about creating these ridiculous authoritarian structures based on erroneous beliefs because things would organically fall into place if we just respected that basic concept of self-ownership right and the reason the the reason i refer to the belief in authority is the most dangerous superstition is not only like people look to government to protect us from the imperfections of humanity what they don't get is the only thing they're adding the only thing that happens as a result of the state is more of those four bad things because that's all the state ever does it doesn't come along and make nice helpful suggestions it makes commands and it hurts those who disobey and so the the idea that you can make civilization by way of doing things that are exactly opposite to civilization is insane but it's what we were all taught what i was taught and i believed it for years and years and years that we need government this giant powerful violent control freak mechanism to make us good and can't you can't be amazing moral behavior moral behavior cannot be commanded it can only actually really be taught by those who have developed it themselves and then accepted by others who want to learn it we'll pick this up on the other side don't go anywhere folks you're listening to lark and rose right here on what on earth is happening we'll be back after these words [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com we're talking today with larkin rose of larkinrose.com that's l-a-r-k-e-n-r-o-s-e dot com and uh larkin i'd like to uh shift the focus of discussion a bit we can return to some of the philosophy but of course that'll be contained in what we talk about i want to shift focus to some of the forms of media that you have put out there for people to uh take in that express these ideas and uh let's start with some of your uh videos that you've put out there one of my favorites was the video called i'm allowed to rob you which anyone can watch up on youtube and i'll also uh link these with the podcast for today's show when it goes up on the website as a podcast um there's also something out there called you're not the boss of me which i highly recommend for people to check out and uh one of your more recent ones was called the tiny dot so if you want to pick one of those and uh explain what your intentions were for those or what some of these uh videos contain go right ahead yeah the the the first little youtube thing i did was i'm allowed to rob you um and i thought i'll just make this short little silly thing and basically i did the equivalent of what the constitution did which is pretend to give someone the right to rob other people it calls it taxation it says congress shall have the power to land collect taxes blah blah blah so i basically just did a silly little video of me doing the same thing but giving myself the right to rob you the viewer and it gets started with just a scribbled version and then it gets more and more complicated more official looking and and just to sort of demonstrate how silly it is to think that any amount of scribbles on paper and rituals and and declarations can actually make it okay for somebody to rob somebody else and i found it it was funny because i found that just a simple little video like that got a lot more attention than you know when i write some big in-depth philosophical explanation of something you know how many people are going to read that um but just that short little video got 60 of 70 000 views by now which is still sort of a drop in the bucket for the population but that's pretty many people just sending it around because it just makes people go yeah that is sort of weird like if if i can just take little pieces of the belief and statism and just give a little taste of why it doesn't make sense you know it doesn't explain everything explains almost nothing in fact but it just shows one little tidbit of why statism which we were all raised in is literally insane it doesn't make any sense it doesn't match reality uh the tiny dot was like that too it just very simple animation showing the statistical difference between the number of people that claim the right to quote unquote tax everyone in the country on what they earn and the number of people who are handing over their money because this tiny little speck says you have to give us your money and just showing the difference in size you know it immediately jumps out at you why the heck are these people going along with it and why do they pathetically beg that stupid little dot you can hardly see to let them keep more of their money and just to show things in these you know just again little pieces of the puzzle that just make people scratch their heads and go what that's weird like the tiny dot is over a hundred thousand views now i love the idea in um i'm allowed to rob you that that is it is actually the truth it's not just an idea that uh a wrong cannot be transferred to another person and magically become a right you can't uh give someone a non-existent right you know that you don't have a right to do this to any other living being as an individual so no amount of people coming together and claiming this right can ever make it moral it's it's not a right it's a wrong you can't claim that you're allowed to commit a wrong get a bunch of people to agree with you sign it into something called legislation and then magically uh uh automatically have inherently this ability to do something wrong that you wouldn't be able to do as an individual i think this video makes that so clear in such a very uh concise way that that's what i found so powerful in watching it and what i why i think more people should watch it to try to understand that particular point yeah and because it it really comes down to just you know the things that people instinctively know about right and wrong when it comes to their own life they just they don't get that their their whole belief in government turns it all upside down like the they they would never consider going to their neighbor's house and robbing them at gunpoint to help pay for their school their kids education but they would wouldn't bat an eye before voting for somebody who's going to do the exact same thing and yeah the the video demonstrates because because one of the one of the versions of me trying to give myself the right to to rob the viewer is well i got some of my friends to sign this one and they all said i have the right to rob you as if and anybody watching it immediately sees well that's silly your friends can't give you the right to rob me but it's so obvious it's so simple that it's almost stupid but then you then you realize well wait then how does the constitution do it how does democracy do it how does government none of it makes any sense it just shows you how much of a stranglehold this cult and that's exactly what it is has on the minds of people and the things that they have gotten them to believe in that have absolutely no fundamental basis in reality or morality right and that in so many of these instances the truth is so painfully simple and the lie is this huge complex convoluted you know mental gymnastics trying to make the insane sound real like well we they represent us and that like the end of the tiny dot the tiny dot try gives this explanation of why this is okay that there's this tiny little dot robbing all these people and why they're obligated to do it and the mythology were taught which i memorized and i sprouted back and i got good grades it's utterly insane okay there's this group of people they rob us but they're representing us when they rob us and acting on our behalf and so they somehow have our consent when they rob us and all these things are blatantly obviously untrue but we were all taught to repeat to memorize and repeat them because if you memorize and repeat something blatantly untrue enough times you start to imagine that it makes sense and the challenge here is just just to get people to look at some really obvious simple truths like you can't delegate a right you don't have you know it's just another way to say what you were just saying and two people can't delegate a right that neither of them have and just everybody instinctively knows that in their day-to-day lives but then you say okay well then how did congress get any right to do anything that i can't do myself and then they go into their their their sort of mental retreat where they they start to spout the uh the bizarre nonsensical excuses that they were taught growing up why it's okay for that group to rob somebody else and why it's not really robbery and why it's really with our consent like yeah why do they have all the guns in prisons if it's with our consent but they spout back the the completely nonsensical garbage because but but you can see it you can see that it hits them in the head and they know yeah this doesn't make sense and they they freak out and go into literally psychological denial they don't want to see something that simple that contradicts you know a fundamental premise of the way they look at the world and so many people are willing to go along with this system to uh sit on a jury in judgment of other people who have actually committed no actual violent wrongdoing against another living being and say that they are willing to agree to have them be put in a cage taken away from their family i mean as a personal little anecdote here a situation just came up within my family where my cousin's husband uh was just sent away to prison for an interaction between adults that involved substances and um uh you know he took a plea bargain so as to avoid a jury trial which he thought would have gotten him more time because people you know um uh would probably find him guilty based on man's law when no other living being was hurt by this voluntary exchange that took place you know yeah and their their perception the perception of the jurors and most pen most observers is completely twisted inside out because if you said hey here's my gun guy over there he's uh smoking pot go kick his door down drag him away and lock him in your basement for ten years they would say what are you crazy i would never do that okay well then why would you vote for somebody else to do the exact same thing why would you sit on a jury and say yep i approve of putting that guy in a cage for having a substance or something exactly larkin we're going to pick this up on the other side of the break ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening my special guest today mr larkin rose we'll be back where we'll talk about some of larkin's uh books that he has written and we'll tell you how world's first and only swiss [Music] gold we're back folks you're listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio and today my special guest is larkin rose of larkanrose.com before this last break we were talking about um the difference between man's law and moral law how widely different the laws that people put into effect in society through legislation are than actual morality because for there to really be a crime committed for there to really be a natural law transgression committee committed there has to be a harmed individual there has to be a harmed being and so many offenses that people go away to prison for and people are all too ready to put them there for doing just because they believe in the claim of the state they have actually harmed no one in doing that they have not actually committed a transgression against someone else's natural law rights so um these are some of the things that larkin puts forward in some of his videos so larkin you want to pick it up from there sure that not only do people you know they they'll sit on a jury and say hey the law says you're not allowed to have that substance they they don't even know what they're said they literally don't know what they're saying when they say the law if you ask them well what are you talking about where it come from well government okay what the heck is government like where does what's the origin of this scribble that you think makes it okay to put someone in a cage for having a substance or doing any other committing any other victimless quote-unquote crime and eventually they realize well it's stuff politicians make up but they don't talk like that they talk as if it's you know some holy thing descending from on high the law like who are you and and you can see it in terminology they use on a daily basis you know they brag about being a law abiding taxpayer and they say you think you're above the law and i say absolutely i'm above the law everybody's above the law it's almost impossible to be below the law if by law you mean the politician scribbles because the politician scribbles legitimize way more violence and theft than the vast majority of things that they declare to be crimes and so the sad part is when there's a jury that says yeah we'll say guilty because he got caught with pot or he got caught you know driving without a piece of paper that says he's allowed to or whatever whatever victimless quote unquote crime what they don't understand is they're the ones helping the crime the real crime you know when you're talking about natural law you just put a guy in a cage that's violence exactly but they have their their view is so backwards that and i got a front row seat of this i got 12 complete state worshipping buffoons to say i should be in a cage for telling them that they were being defrauded by their what it really comes down to larkin is they're not even saying you're above the laws if you're as if they're trying to say to you you think that you can do immoral things they're saying i as a slave and and talking to the other slaves saying how dare you think that you're not a slave that's what they're really saying they're saying you think you're above slavery which is the arbitrary dictates of a psychopath telling other people how they should or should not behave if they're not hurting anybody else so that's what that person is really saying they they're not they're not openly saying it like you say they dance around it but what they're really saying to you is i'm a happy little slave on the plantation and i'm saying to another slave who doesn't want to be a slave how dare you not want to be a slave absolutely that's absolutely exactly what it is one of the things i read inside was the autobiography of frederick douglass who was a the open obvious kind of slave that we all call slavery and he described how a lot of the fellow slaves had that mentality they believed they were supposed to be slaves and they viewed a runaway slave as a thief for trying to steal himself from his master and they would really view them with contempt wow and that's that's i mean that's actually america today that's about as deep into the mindset of slavery as anybody could possibly get that's amazing and it's it was really creepy to read but it then it dawned on me well of course like you know we would like to think of them as you know the slaves is all thinking this is horrible and bad and wrong and first chance they're going to run away but if they thought that they would have because you know they even with all the the quote unquote law enforcers making slavery continue they still outnumbered then they could still outrun them the problem was they were enslaved inside their own heads just as much or more so than enslaved in body and if you actually believe that you're supposed to be a slave and you do if you take pride in being a law-abiding taxpayer because what that means is i do what the politicians tell me and i give them my money if you take pride in that you are taking pride in being the property of politicians and as long as you have that mentality you're a slave forever and you you won't be able to understand why anybody else wouldn't be that and you can see it i sought my own jury they couldn't fathom how another human being you know never mind the legal reasons would ever not want to pay homage to the master and say yes master here's a bunch of what i earned and you know here's the fruits of my labor here's a piece of my life and they literally couldn't imagine how any human being who is good wouldn't bow the way they do so they said guilty and i get to be in a cage for a year like you said it's a complete twisting on onto its head of true morality true morality is actually standing up for your own rights and respecting the boundaries of other people's rights and what they're saying is you're immoral if you don't want to have your rights transgressed upon by others right and in my case what was really frustrating and i admit i had a a hard time not being bitter and angry about it is what i did i didn't get like caught doing something i set out to have the trial i was there to tell those 12 people you are being defrauded by your own government and so i was there telling them you're being victimized by an actual crime like with a victim you and their response because they've been so indoctrinated into authoritarianism was well you're bad like you're bad for pointing out to us that somebody's robbing us and for not and for trying to not get robbed yourself i mean it's it's just like again in in their daily lives people aren't this insane it's only when it comes to the politics and government because like if i if i came out and said oh somebody or you know somebody stole my car last week nobody would think it would be rational for the for me to then go around to other people and say i hate you they didn't steal your car like exactly not irrational response it's it's that's what americans think of quote unquote he's not being beaten on as badly as i'm being beaten on so i need to hate the person who's not being beaten on not the person who's actually doing the oppression exactly why don't you complain about the guy who stole your car and instead of complaining about the guy who didn't get his car stolen but with statist mentality that's what it does they literally you look at what people think of like tax evaders like take a real case of tax evasion which mine wasn't where somebody they just think you know it's my money i earned it they didn't i'm gonna hide this over here and sort of lie about that which is the exact same thing is how do i you know i'm driving through a neighborhood i know there are carjackers here how do i outsmart them like there's nothing wrong with that it's perfectly moral and virtuous but most of the country does the equivalent of how dare you do things to try to make the carjacker not steal your car and they really think that that is the sin tax evasion is the sin of trying to not get robbed that's so bad that if you try to not get robbed you should be put in a cage and then robbed it's the idea that you're not actually allowed to stand up for rights that you know that you inherently have if you're not willing to abdicate your rights that somehow makes you a bad or a moral person not the fact that standing up for and refusing to abdicate things that you know are inherent rights actually makes you a more virtuous human being right right but you can see you know because the belief in government is a religious belief you can easily see that in most people's minds right and wrong is outranked by the will of the politicians because what they wouldn't do in their in their personal lives they will do in political you know the political realm that's right hold it right there lark and what we're really talking about here at the deepest level is mind control getting people to accept these erroneous notions and believe in them within extreme stubbornness so we'll pick this up on the other side and i'm going to tell people about a real special treat that we have coming up in the second hour we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com this show is live every sunday from 5 to 7 p.m east coast time that's 4 to 6 p.m central time today on the show we're speaking with larkin rose of larkinrose.com a freedom activist a author and we're going to get into his books later in the show because larkin is a phenomenal writer and particularly a phenomenal writer of allegorical fiction which i recently learned after reading his book the iron web we'll get into that later uh this is a short segment larkin so i figured i'd ask you about some of your recent travels and uh the recent uh speaking engagements that you've done uh you were recently at libertopia out in san diego on the west coast and you took a a a kind of a tour all the way out to the west coast and back you want to tell the listeners a little bit about that yeah um there's a it was the second ever libertopia it happens down in san diego and i lived just outside philadelphia um so it seemed pretty unlikely to me that it was going to work but i said i would do it and with the help of very generous people on my email list donating to make it happen i used as an excuse to drive my family my my wife tested our daughter alyssa across the country seeing lots of cool places on the way to san diego it actually if the trip ended up being over ten thousand miles so it was very indirect um but down in yeah down libertopia was the main thing i i spoke at although there were some littler meetings and talks along the way and it was interesting to be at a at a thing which was almost exclusively anarchist slash voluntarist slash whatever you want to call it um rather than you know often you get freedom events that are a mixture of people saying we have to get back to the constitution and some people saying we need a bigger military but a smaller welfare state and some people saying no we need none at all and livertopia was very consistently self-ownership voluntary society the stage is illegitimate all that fun stuff i was there stefan molyneux mark stevens bill bupert whoever i list i'm going to forget somebody and feel bad about it later but butler schaefer a bunch of people doing different presentations and talks and just trying to get people to to grasp the idea that you know as much as we were taught that government is necessary and noble and righteous and all that and without it there'd be chaos than mayhem it's it's a lie humanity the only moral choice is non-violent coexistence peaceful coexistence and that rules out the state entirely it totally rules out government and it was fun to be in a place with two or three hundred people i didn't i don't know what the exact count was um it's pretty good since it's only the second time it had happened um at this nice resort down in san diego and talking about these ideas where it's just it's weird and fun to be the norm to have the people who don't want a parasitic ruling class for that to be what everyone there believes that's very encouraging more people are coming online to a lot of those ideas and opening up their mind to them and uh kind of uh propagating that idea and whole conferences are being based around uh that uh philosophy right right and it's you know i remember when i i thought i was the only one or like one of 10 or something that that i knew and now it's in the thousands of people who are saying yes morality we got to do away with the state because it's incompatible fantastic larkin stay with us everyone don't go anywhere you're not going to want to miss the next couple segments we're going to have a very special treat with another special guest that's going to come on and interact with mark and right after these words [Music] [Music] all right folks we're back and as i promised we have a very special surprise guest for the next two segments it's going to be joining me and larkin and really what i'm going to do is kind of just step back uh you know into the background and let these two gentlemen uh kind of uh interplay some ideas and bound some philosophy off of each other but welcome to what on earth is happening mr freeman fly who's been in philadelphia this weekend and we've been hanging out we went to occupy philly and we've been having some great discussions and freeman brought me on this show last night he actually did the show right from the what on earth is happening studios so welcome freeman fly great to have you on and uh you can bring up what you've been listening in on the show and you could bring up what uh your your thoughts are about uh what larkin's been saying and you guys can uh have at it right on well thank you mark and hello larkin howdy you know you you make it obvious you show the the simple questions that that throw everybody off on their answers and this is something that i've often like to do you know i i ask people well you know what masonic lodge was it that the sons of liberty came out of to throw the tea in the water at the boston tea party do you know what the word or where the name america even comes from or how about who designed your stars and stripes and when you start to go down that road and you find yourself looking at people like the professor and the inner lodges of freemasonry all of a sudden you're like what cult am i a part of right right but you want to know who gets people to pay their income taxes it's donald duck right yep yep good old good old dog and it's it's disney on the front lines that came out with their wartime propaganda got donald duck out there offering to give up his money uh on march 15th make sure you have enough in your account cause the robbers are coming right and they make it glorious they put out films like uh how to create a nazi education of death and these things were then put into the mental programming and they admitted that donald duck caused more people to pay their income taxes than any propaganda technique they had tried and in the the film the uh disney on the war front they literally state boldly and proudly that the nazi propagandist joseph goebbels adopted walt disney's techniques and started making cartoons of his own yeah yeah but i think i'm pretty sure that that you can still find donald back on youtube and i i it was only a few years ago when i first saw that and it was just it just amazed me how blatant the propaganda was well it's the same thing if you look at old you know war propaganda posters it's sort of like they they weren't all that good at it yet but then people didn't think very much so they seemed to have a pretty easy job and now it seems a little more polished um but just the the blatant obvious intentional mind control involved is so you know now basically when you get deprogrammed it looks so transparent you sort of think how would anybody ever fall for that but before you get out of the programming it seems to make perfect sense and it's so persuasive and it's so yeah of course i'm proud to pay my share for the troops who are over there yada yada and donald duck says so so it must be right to interject just a moment one of the films that you can check out that i know is definitely out there on youtube or google video is called spirit of 43. if people want to check that out you can see the entire uh propaganda of the income tax coming on strong uh and uh how they put it out there in that uh in that little animated movie uh featuring donald duck it it's uh it's a good one to check out spirit of 43 maybe i'll post a link with the podcast as well yeah yeah and there's there was actually a few years ago some some high-level irs bureaucrat released a letter and a memo that said you know be i forget the exact wording but it was basically just scaring people doesn't nearly get as much compliance as convincing people that they are obligated to hand over their money and that's just that's it in a nutshell that if tomorrow i said i'm gonna go try to rob 100 million people by threatening them it would never work on the million years but if you can come out and convince the people that they have a moral obligation basically to surrender their freedom to you and they can feel good about it when they do then you know they're you got a nice collection of slaves for the rest of their lives well do you think it was beyonce's artistic expression that drove her to bring riot squads up on the stage with her that could barely dance to her music and all of that gear uh thankfully i didn't see that i i think it included a full blood ritual from lady gaga while pink was raised up into the air in full initiate garb from the free masonic lodge and this is our video music awards right right that's that's quote unquote entertainment yeah and it's so it's so creepy and sometimes it's so creepy and weird how obvious it gets like how obviously weird and you know as deep as you want to get as demonic or anything else and people just sort of oh well like how obvious does it have to be before people start going wait this is a little bit weird well let me throw in an anecdote then i was at a john harris talk in london and i'd been brought there to meet john and you know i'm freeman right so uh prior to the freeman on the land movement by the way i i'm not a sponsor of that i think that's a false paradigm that you're trying to engage with so why engage with it so uh you know freeman i've been that long before the freeman on the land existed just like that clear but i was at this john harris talk and this is just an anecdote to show the mentality that keeps this thing in operation i had taken numerous trains and buses and whatnot to get downtown to get to where i was at and by that time i was starving so i had my friends bring me some uh asian food from down the street and along with it came some uh oyster crisps right so i'm sitting in the back of john harris all the way against the wall just trying to quietly munch on these crisps well lo and behold at this sovereignty talk where john harris is up there telling you about the sovereignty of your own being a man stands up in the audience and demands of the authority which at this point was john harris being on stage to tell me to please sit down with my crisps and quit disturbing the show yeah but yeah that that that mindset that there's there's somebody in charge and have them it's just it's everywhere and people don't you know it's one of those things that people believe it but they don't recognize it as a belief because it's just everywhere it's sort of like air you don't believe in air it's just there and the the viewing the world inside the you know through authoritarian colored glasses is just everywhere you know school obviously there you know most parenting it's obviously there governments obviously it's it's what people expect it's what you know that the quote unquote education system trains them to expect and so they you know when they get out of school they think well now i'm just in a bigger school who do i cry to to get to what i want you know who's who's the big guy i ask to hit the kid i don't like and it just it goes on and they they never even recognize that there is that paradigm in their head they just think that's how things are [Music] it's the idea that the sins of the father are visited upon the children or visited on the suns the idea that we propagate our erroneous belief systems to our children and that's how it keeps going on down the line we'll be right back after these messages folks we'll have more interaction between freeman fly and larkin rose don't go [Music] anywhere [Music] today on the show we're talking with the mark and votes i have a special in-studio guest freeman before we get back to them i want to give the call-in number because in the last half hour of the show we will be taking calls there are a couple of callers already in queue to speak with uh larkin rose but um be patient we will get to your call the call-in number for the show is 866-841-1065 once again one 866 zero six five um you um give a call in and uh please be patient uh again there's a couple of callers in queue we'll try to get to all your calls in the last half hour of the show so let's go back to larkin and freeman and i want to kind of uh steer you guys in a particular direction here uh let's uh get your both of your take on the occupy movement that should be very interesting so who wants to start you can go first yeah sure i'll jump in on that one uh well first of all you know we see victim mentality we see the programming that you are the lesser and they are the greater i call this the hannah montana effect where you are the secret star or you have a split personality or there is one that's above you and one that's lesser there's you know the hannah montana and then the lowly miley cyrus so once again disney programming always getting in these divisions into the mindset so here are these people out there suffering in the cold and they're tense without a single bit of media attention really to what they're doing and and most of them you know have different explanations as to what they're doing me personally you know i see that they are scheduling a program to chaos and that this is exactly the reaction that they wanted out of people that they engineered the society through the hollywood productions of dark heroes bringing about this violent justice and so now they've given them an oppressor and they've given them an opposer and now they're ready to stand up against it with your sword and shield just as it was in the movies and so i i believe that this occupation is exactly what is desired of the programmers of civilization so that they can of course further their draconian tactics i i would totally agree that that's that's the intention of some people i sort of think that the people involved a lot of them they sort of see something wrong i think they're totally misguided in thinking that going and petitioning the powers that be is ever the solution to anything because they're yeah they're they're they're giving them power by pretending that that you know we're going to demand this and demand that and what you mean is you're going to pitifully beg for something from the master and he can decide whether to do it or not but to try to be a little bit optimistic i do think there are are traces of of um actual coherent thought in various pieces of the occupy movement mixed in with sort of just a general anger that something's wrong we don't know what so we're just sort of complaining about it and complaining about it to the ruling class which you know just confirms that it's up to the ruling class that you know what's going to happen so i think it's you know it's sort of a like the tea party it's a big mixture of a bunch of different people who sort of get lumped together under a term and they don't even they muslim don't even know what they think they don't know which let each other think but i do think there may be ingredients in there however orchestrated the the some of the events might be that does spell some serious trouble for the control freaks although i think usually that isn't so much it doesn't so much come out in the the official demonstration things but the fact that they say you know we we have no leader and we intentionally have no leader um is sort of a good sign even though it does look orchestrated at times how do you try to imagine something positive in there how do you feel about the non-compliance movement or the idea that people just you know unplug from the entire system altogether i think i think that's good i think the main thing is that is people's perception if they stop imagining um the control freaks to be legitimate like i i have a tiny little complaint with sort of the gandhi method if we're going to come up to you in authority and we're going to disobey and you're going to beat us up or whatever because even that sort of acknowledges the the rulers and the control freaks i prefer people non-comply quietly and out of the way when possible because if tomorrow people just didn't play the irs's game or didn't play the fed's game didn't use their bogus currency it falls apart you don't have to like go out and make a statement i'm all for disobeying the control freaks when you can get away with it like when it's when the benefits outweigh the costs but i think so much of it has to do with mentality that even a lot of people who protest and do sit-ins and do non-compliance still their goal is to get permission of their masters to be free and as long as that's somebody's goal they're kind of doomed because they're they're not even free inside their own heads yet i totally agree i think it's all really about taking responsibility first and foremost and taking responsibility to learn what the causal factors of any given problem are so you can treat the problem from the level of causality as opposed to uh keep attempting to put bandages on the uh the already created effects which never really works and never solves anything and only creates more of the the same uh dynamic right and it's sort of like a bunch of you know kindergarteners whining to the teacher that we don't like this you have to make something change right well that's still it keeps the structure the same it keeps the authoritarian paradigm the same when i was out at occupy yesterday uh to engage some people in some philosophical discussions a gentleman a very nice gentleman came up to me with a petition to try to stop fracking if anybody isn't familiar this is basically drilling down into the earth and cracking the substrate of the uh the crust of the earth to release natural gases so that it could be harnessed uh for energy usage but what it does is it uses different uh types of chemicals and that gets into the water supply and it really creates a very toxic situation you could look at the movie gas land the documentary gas land to learn more about this uh it's it's absolutely horrible and i think it's completely immoral because it damages the living earth on which we depend for life and it poisons people's environments and water supplies so of course this is an immoral thing but will i sign a petition to ask government to make this illegal i'm not interested in government making anything legal or illegal i'm interested in reaching people at a moral level in their own mind like what larkin is saying we have to get down to people's fundamental belief systems and have them change what they think in their own mind in their own heart and from there that's where change is going to happen so what i told this gentleman who is well intentioned is what we really need to be doing is having much much much more in the way of discussions regarding the morality of this type of behavior just just for the extraction of resources and money even if it is to meet energy needs it's not moral and that's the problem is the people aren't truly raised in a sense of of moral sensibilities to know that this is an activity they should be engaged in or have any part of because it's ultimately immoral and i told them that's where i want to fight this war at at that level not at the level of begging big daddy to pass legislation to make something illegal that's just more of the same problem it's a further abdication of one's own personal responsibility to create change within oneself and to influence that change in others yeah and to to you know to play that to play the game is basically people acting as if reality isn't their responsibility like it's crying to somebody else to fix this like and yeah i couldn't agree more i think that's exactly what it is and that that goes down to a problem an imbalance that needs to be addressed in these individual psyches somewhere well that's a good place to to break it freeman thanks so much for joining us for these two segments always a pleasure to hear from you and um when we come back on the other side of this break your calls coming up with lark and rose don't go anywhere folks this is what on earth is happening [Music] welcome back ladies and gentlemen november 6 2011. special guest today is mark and rose clark what do you think you want to go to the phones right now and take some calls sure great okay here we go kevin from philadelphia you're live on what on earth is happening [Music] welcome kevin from philadelphia area code 267 you're live on what on earth is happening can you hear me hey guys can you hear me okay there you go kevin how are you um i just wanted to say how much i i i'm honored to actually be on a a call to actually even be able to speak with you larkin thank you very much for for having me on uh mark sure it's um you guys are like have been very inspiring to me and uh my wife and i had a really great conversation about like a lot of really deep stuff after just listening to like the tiny dot and and um the uh the one about the constitution as well so uh i'm allowed to rob you i i thought that was they were just brilliant so thank you very much for for putting those out there um in the same vein that you guys are speaking about all of this um supposed morality of uh government and and i agree with you completely i i also would like to challenge you both uh like mark's actually done this with me in a lot of ways as well because he mentioned this at the um and the fed rally uh last year but when it comes to money being this same sort of belief system and this same sort of kind of forced social contract that we're all um forced to engage in i i'm kind of curious as to what your thoughts are on that and when it comes to the idea of say abolishing money all together because we no longer need it because we actually the technical know-how as a species to be able to create everything that we need to be able to survive such as say hydroponic farms and such and like vertical farming inside of cities so that people can be just simply fed and this way we don't have to concern ourselves with the ideas of needing money anymore at all okay same type of beliefs that we want to ask you about larkin why don't you uh talk about your take on the idea that money is simply a construct that exists in the mind and that also can be done away with just like government well here's here's the one problem i have with that um it sounds like you might be talking about the the venus project which i think actually misses a fundamental aspect of human nature um first of all fiat currency the made-up government money that just goes poof out of thin air i think is is bogus the concept of money i don't think is um and if you take it down to the the simplest level if i you know if we're bartering and i grow something and and somebody else um grow something and we want to trade and we might say well we both we both recognize that silver for example has value everybody seems to think it has value so we're going to trade in that there's nothing immoral about that i actually think as we get richer like if we have a free society and we get to a point where we're so dang rich that we almost don't care like we each of us has so much to spare i think it can get to a point where it basically we almost don't bother with money but i think the only way to get to that point is with an unflinching loyalty to the concept of private property which seems like a little bit of a contradiction but basically the like the utopia that i think you know marx and socialists describe the best way to get the closest to that as you possibly can is have a completely strict concept of private property and then get to the point we're all so rich where we don't really care we say yeah you can have this and we can have this and we can you know it it ceases to matter nearly as much as it does now but i think whenever you know if there ever isn't a measure of of sort of production and trade it just sort of it turns into confusing socialism where people just sort of and if you get so dang rich that there's more stuff than everybody in the world wants combined then that might actually happen until then i think we can get to a point where we care hardly anything about money but while we still you know we still understand that self-ownership the extension of self-ownership is ownership of what you produce and that you know that still requires the concept of property and and trade and and mediums of trade i yeah i don't i don't i don't see money as the root of all evil i'm sure a good vehicle well i don't like him but without having like if you if it kind of like everyone is forced into using money if everyone else is also doing it it's the same sort of thing like government well am i wrong that you right it doesn't money in general doesn't have to be that way it can just be we use this as a medium of exchange because bartering doesn't always work yeah right now you're forced into it you can't not you have to accept it and it's fiat garbage which sort of you know it gets called money and then it's sort of um it there's a guilt-by-association thing between things that are perfectly moral and not for forced and voluntary of if we decide to trade with silver or whatever else we'd decide to so i just think there's a distinction there that that the distinction that you're making is whether the actual uh uh exchange is voluntary or is whether it is forced by some entity that is saying this is the only actual legal mechanism for exchange right because that yeah that's always bogus if somebody say you have to trade in this no we don't we trading anything we want or nothing at all so i think it's volume i think that gives you larkin's take there i mean people who have listened to my show know that i do think money can be done away with but only by reaching a higher form of consciousness than we currently are uh taking ownership of uh at this stage of our evolutionary development here on the earth so kevin i'd like to thank you for the call let's take another call larkin okay here we go area code 609 i believe that's in new jersey you're live on what on earth is happening what do you have for us hey what's going on um i myself 34 years old i feel like i've grown up as a anarchist and not by my parents not by their impression their mind control just like everyone else but i seem to have always been the type of person who realized what was going on and only in my adult life really realized you know what i uh how i grew up and everything but uh i guess what i'm calling for is to get larkin's um perspective knowing that he's a father of a daughter myself being the father of a four-year-old his perspective on the approach we should have with our children and uh you know should we be easy on them should we let them know how evil the world really is from the door i mean i have my own plan in my own system that i've been uh going through trying to keep my children safe i'd like to hear his perspective on uh what he thinks the approach we should have with our children great question yeah i think my main answer would actually be a negative which is don't view your children as your property which i doubt you do anyway um but the entire sort of the thing of you know how long do you they shelter them and and how how soon do you let them see the nasty things in the world and how soon do you sort of let them out on the long enough leash that they're capable of doing things that harm themselves and so many of those things there's sort of there's an authoritarian version and a non-authoritarian version and i use the example you know if i had if i if i had a relative or something who was so severely retarded that they they didn't know what was going on they'd walk out into the street i would stop them i wouldn't feel obliged to reason with them if that didn't work i would physically stop them from walking into the street and when you have kids that's my view is there are things you have to do because they don't have the information they don't have the understanding to run their own lives but it's not because i'm the parent nom authority and and you're the the kid in your property um it's just because they're not quite ready you know if you gave them the reigns they'd crash because they don't know enough yet um so i think the biggest thing is just that perception if the person if the parent thinks he's in charge and has the right to rule he's already in trouble and he's going to pass on that mythology to his children if he doesn't and i won't pretend you know for a second that i know all what to do or that i've done everything right or any of that but if he treats the children like little people instead of like property instead of like pets instead of like subjects they're just little people they don't know very much they can't do very much until they get older but if you just view the relationship that way i think most of the problems of society would go away because the notion of blind obedience wouldn't get passed out and i i joke that we have one rule in our [Music] household welcome back folks this is the last segment for this edition of what on earth is happening with my special guest mark and rose clark and let's take one more quick call and then after that i want you to tell people about your books and how they can get a hold of them and then the floor will be yours to take us out so here we go area code 519 you're live on what on earth is happening with larkin rose what do you have for us greetings greetings am i coming through okay yes you are yep awesome awesome yeah i just uh actually just had a quick question i won't take up much time um just wondering like could it be that the you know the real sort of lowest common denominator is that we're all claiming ownership of the name that we've been told is us like from the day we were born like the legal fiction is what i guess i'm getting at and like maybe ownership itself is the problem like maybe we should all just learn to use things in sort of a like a use of fracturing capacity and stop i mean really when none of us are taking things with us anyway when we go so could it be that ownership is sort of a bit of the problem well to me that i mean the term ownership just means basically who gets to decide what's done with that thing right now you know it's sort of a shorthand for that and like the the problem with for example communism the notion that everybody owns everything is if two people both want to use the same care or eat the same sandwich or whatever instantly there's a conflict and if there is if there is no way to resolve it other than well let's duke it out or or whatever it doesn't work well um and so ownership to me is just sort of a way of of you know first and saying you own yourself i admit it's a little bit schizophrenic it's it's it's really more a matter of i'm i'm a sentient being i can't be you know i make my choices basically i make my choices rules out authority um but what i do getting out of the practicality yeah sorry go ahead what was that i just like the practicality of all this because like say i you know we get into trouble interfacing with uh you know all these supposed authority figures and we get dragged into uh their you know de facto courts by men with guns uh they're gonna ask for a name the first thing they call is a name and the first thing we're trying to do is say yeah that's me well i mean factually speaking i don't have any evidence that i it's possible for me to be a name so yeah i guess okay i was getting at it as a local okay yeah i i i i think that's there's some validity to that i don't i don't think i've ever met a law enforcer who would have the foggiest idea what you were talking about if you said that um so i think sort of on a practical level although sometimes they're they the control freaks do sort of seem to have some trouble being as big a pain in the neck to people who won't even tell them their names um but on other occasions they seem to lock them up until they you know say what your name is like put a label to yourself um so i'm not sure on a practical level that does much of anything and mostly i think you know the people who view themselves as agents of the beast of authority they have no idea about these things i think they just have no way to even process the concepts all they know is when they tell you to do something if you don't bow there's something wrong with you it almost seems as if not only have they abdicated their responsibility to think but in many cases they may have never had that capability that's how ignorant these people seem at times yes as harsh as that may be to say yeah yeah well yeah and they i mean they talk that way they say you know they say things like well i don't make the law i just enforce it which means i'm not responsible for what i'm doing well right it's like the biggest lie in the world of course you're responsible for what you're doing that's all they don't want that responsibility that's right and that's all this is ultimately about uh responsibility that's what we need to have in order to have any modicum of freedom at all if there is such a thing as a price for freedom that's it personal responsibility and the abdication of responsibility is what's going to ultimately lead us into deeper chains and deeper forms of tyranny so uh larkin we have about five minutes left on the show i'd like to get into your writing because you're a phenomenal author and uh what i am so impressed about is your your allegorical fiction writing you've written a brilliant allegory i want you to tell people about all your books but particularly the one i have been very impressed by uh was the iron web which was an allegorical fiction about the concepts of self-ownership and true freedom and uh when i read it i just experienced it as such a fast page turner and i'm not you know contrary to what people may think the fastest of readers i power through books through an act of will but i would like to even increase my speed at which i read but i devoured this thing in like two days and i just thought it was uh one of the easiest reads that i've ever read because your writing style is so clear and concise and coherent and uh it actually almost took me a back that you were that great of a an allegorical fiction writer well thanks what i wanted to do i mean there's a zillion examples of how philosophical ideas can be delivered by way of quote-unquote entertainment usually those ideas are bow and do as you're told but my goal was basically to write a story which in and of itself people found interesting and apparently lots of people do um because it got a bunch of of good reviews while at the same time sneaking in substance there to make people think i basically did the trick of it it follows three characters that almost you know normal people can relate to because these characters don't believe they don't start out believing what like you and i believe park which is obviously outside of the mainstream and it basically follows them through a story where they're sort of stuck having to reconsider the way they view the world and and uh yeah i've been i've been happy with how many people said they they like the story and i think um there have actually been a number of people who they wouldn't read other stuff i wrote they don't care about the philosophy thing and they sort of think they already know it or they they're not interested but will read a story because it's you know it's entertainment but then they accidentally start thinking about things along the way and then they say well what about this and so i think it's it seems to be working as a way to sneak ideas into people right to spur them into having discussions about the philosophical aspects of it absolutely right right so tell them about your other books the non-fiction ones um yeah the first one i wrote was actually it's it's called uh how to be a successful tyrant which is just what it sounds like it's it's telling the and a wannabe tyrant how to do it successfully of course it's not because i want more of them it's because i want their victims to get how they do what they do so that their potential victims stop falling for all the tricks they've been using for 10 000 years or whatever it's been you could kind of look at it as like a field manual for the psychopath in training right right it's actually the the the subtitle is the megalomaniac manifesto so it's it's exactly that and it's sort of flipping and there's some you know it's it's it's meant to be sort of like easy funny reading um but if i'm not mistaken there's also a video of you doing a talk uh that's called the same thing how to become a successful tyrant out there uh maybe i'll link to that as well i know i came across that at one point on the web yeah yeah i i forgot somebody had videotaped that and posted it but yeah that's sort of a very short version of of the same general idea okay um and then the most the most recent book uh the most important thing i've ever written um is my the book the most dangerous superstition which i actually started putting together in 1996 but i intentionally dragged my feet to make sure i i thought i could do as good a job as i could instead of jumping the gun but that's not very long it's only like 200 pages it's a little book but it really digs to the heart of what i think is the biggest threat to humanity by a huge margin and it's nothing but just a stupid idea we've been taught to memorize and believe that doesn't make any sense um and so many people look at the world and think well we're too greedy and we're too power happy and we're too sort of packed mentality and we're to this and to that and while there are definite shortcomings i think this one superstition you fix this if people just got that this little thing is a lie 90 some percent of injustice and suffering in the world would just be gone larkin how can people get a hold of your books let them know your website and then you can take us out with whatever final closing comments you have sure you can get all these at larkinrose.com a bunch of free articles and the books and all that l-a-r-k-e-n-r-o-s-e com um what i would tell people especially people into freedom and into wanting society to be it should be it's easy to look for an outside enemy and point at washington or point this out or the other group or party or whatever i'm saying one of the bad guys they're the problem if only something changes about them the world will get better and i would challenge people to consider the possibility that your own beliefs may be a contributing factor to what you see wrong in the world larkin a brilliant way to take us out thanks so much for being here it was a pleasure and you're welcome back anytime ladies and gentlemen lark and rose that's all the time we have this edition we'll see you next sunday on what on earth is happening good night everyone broadcasting radio freedom man that's what it's all about [Music] you've got to groove on freedom like the good book says [Music] welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches its critical moment of choice and now here is your host mark pascio welcome ladies and gentlemen you are listening to what on earth is happening right here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is dot com the show is live every sunday from 5 to 7 p.m east coast time today is sunday november 13 2011. we have a great show lined up for you here today we are going to be continuing with our solutions based approaches toward reversing the direction and the tide that humanity has been going along with for such a long time and attempting to come into the flow of creation to acquire knowledge about who we truly are and to ultimately get back to a place where we understand true freedom and live it in our day-to-day lives so that's what this show is ultimately all about as the song at the very beginning says freedom is what this is all about and we need to understand the causal factors that got us here so that we can understand how to get out of this condition that we're currently in today as part of our solutions based approach we are going to begin an introduction to the trivium the classical methodology for how to learn that's what we're going to be discussing here on the show today the trivium and we'll be getting into what the trivium is how it works and how we can employ it in our lives before i do that i have a few event announcements i want to read for events coming up in the philadelphia area i have three of them to present today and the first is the end the fed rally for philadelphia will be taking place saturday november 19 2011 at 11 a.m at the federal reserve bank at 6th and arch streets here in philadelphia the theme is sound money for america it is the seventh and the fed rally here in philadelphia saturday november 19th 2011 11 o'clock am and the fed right here in philadelphia they'll be starting at the federal reserve bank and then marching down towards city hall and there'll be a lot of public outreach and and leafleting going on to the public so if you're in the philly area come on out to one of the biggest and the fed rallies in the nation for more information on that you want to check out truthfreedomprosperity.org second announcement tesla and the type 1 road show this is going to be a short presentation that i'll be giving with the tesla science foundation on sunday november 20th at 1 pm at the free library of philadelphia maine branch 1901 vine street on the fourth floor the skyline room i will be giving a short presentation about an event coming up at the end of 2012 called the type 1 road show which the tesla science foundation has agreed to take an active role in and i'll tell you a little bit more about this great project on the other side of this break you're not going to want to miss the info coming up about the type 1 road show so we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere you're listening to what on earth is happening [Music] welcome back everyone you are listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com [Music] before the break i was reading a couple of event announcements i'll continue with that i was telling people about the type one roadshow that's coming up toward the end of 2012 and that is an event that is organized by freeman fly freighter x and many others it's called the type one road show and it's going to take the form of a traveling conference and interactive festival based on the concept of helping to move humanity toward a type 1 civilization if you're not familiar with that concept you can type into a search engine civilization types or type one civilization and read about what a type one civilization is actually all about and what the hallmarks of such a civilization are and that's what uh friends of freeman and other groups uh who have come together are basically going out on a traveling road show to promote these uh ideas and tesla technology is a huge part of this because as we all know uh what the controllers of this world ultimately seek to control is energy and uh if we don't actually take the reins of the ability to use the abundant energy that nature provides then uh we're basically living in a state of slavery anyway so tesla technology is a huge part of um reclaiming our individual sovereignty it's a huge part of getting out of the control-based slavery system in which humanity is living right now and as such the tesla science foundation here in philadelphia is going to be taking an active role in the type 1 road show so uh we're having a a meeting on sunday november 20th 2011 at 1 pm at the free library of philadelphia main branch which is at 19th and vine here in philly and again i'll be giving a short presentation about the type 1 roadshow and then what we're going to be doing is having an interactive discussion about these ideas and finding out who in the tesla science foundation resonates with this uh opportunity who resonates with this event coming up at the end of 2012 and wants to take an active role in participating in that event uh the key thing here is that you do not have to be a member of the tesla science foundation to come out to this meet up or to even want to take a role in this event so it is open to the public and people are welcome to come out and check out the presentation and get involved in the discussion that's again sunday november 20th at 1pm at the free library main branch 19th and vine in the fourth floor on the fourth floor which is the skyline room the last event announcement i have for you today is the free monthly documentary screening and discussion night that truth freedom prosperity hosts uh every month will be happening this uh will be happening the last wednesday of the month as it always does november 30th 2011 at 7 15 pm at media bureau studios media bureau is at the corner of 4th and brown 725 north 4th street the exact address here in philadelphia and this month we will be screening the film ungrip ungrip is a movie about individual sovereignty and actually getting off the grid and becoming truly self-sustainable so it should be a really uh great night with lots of uh active and healthy discussion going on with the concepts that the great documentary on grip uh brings to the forefront so that is once again november 30th wednesday november 30th at 7 15 p.m at media bureau studios for more information of course check out truthfreedomprosperity.org so let's get into our main topic for tonight before we do that i want to give the call-in number for the show people are should feel free to call in at any time i'll probably be taking some calls in the second hour of the show so the call-in number is 866-841-1065 once again the call-in number 866-841-1065 i want to direct everyone's attention up to my website which is what on earth is happening.com there as uh is usually the case you will find a series of images that go along with the concepts that will be presented on the show here today you want to go to the radio show tab of the site and listed under the player today there are 12 images if you're following along with the podcast uh this will be podcast number 85 and uh you can go to the podcast page for the images so 12 images there and the first image shows what we're really trying to change okay this is an image of a movie theater with a movie playing on the screen okay and the movie that's on the screen shows the condition of the world it shows sorcerer a sorcerer behind an immense pyramidal structure and the sorcerer is looking through the eye at the capstone of this pyramid similar to the pyramid on the back of the one dollar bill and he's behind it hidden well veiled and he's pulling the strings of all of the people below in this structure okay and all of the energy that this world has is flowing to the sorcerer and he is actually breathing in that energy he is consuming it by breathing it into himself this is essentially a real quick allegory allegory or meta metaphor for what this world actually is it has become a farm of sorts you could say it has become humanity has become slaves and feed for this subclass of people if you even want to call them that that have basically manipulated us into giving away our energy to them and there are now at this time in history in which we live many people who are beginning to recognize that this is the case they really humanity you could say falls into three basic groups and again this is a generalization for the purposes of explaining a concept humanity falls into three groups okay the people who are willing to sit in the chairs and let this continue unabated let this continue unchallenged okay who don't have the will or the courage to do anything about it or who don't believe in themselves enough to think that they can do anything about it so they're sitting there passively accepting the situation in passive acceptance okay and again this is all about solutions that's why i'm starting with this the ba we we've already looked at the basic problem we're looking at how to how do we enact a solution that will actually work and the trivium is a big part of this three groups of people one remains sitting in the chairs okay doesn't think they have the power to do anything and so they don't try the second group is the group of people that is represented by the image in this figure who recognizes the problem and they are screaming and they are pounding they're pounding their fists up against the movie screen itself okay they think that they're going to affect change by rearranging the physical things and events keeping the actual overall structure the way it is not addressing anything at the causal level okay but trying to rearrange things putting bandages on things staying within the same structure that got you there to begin with and thinking it'll magically change i'll tell you what the third group of people is all about on the other side of this break we'll be right back welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio i'm going to be getting into the trivium today on what on earth is happening as a prelude to that we were looking at some images posted to the what on earth is happening dot com radio show page underneath the player on the page image number one showing an angry man standing up in the middle of a movie theater shouting and cursing and you know uh angry at the movie that is being projected onto the screen and as i said we have three kinds of people the people who may recognize the problem and sit passively by and allow it to continue unchallenged they don't think that they have the ability to do anything about it this is for the people who are even in in the theater seeing what's going on you know so there's you could say that there's a fourth group that doesn't even recognize any part of it and are completely unconscious but for the people who do recognize it you have people who are willing to sit there remain passive and ultimately do nothing the second group wants to shout and complain and try to rearrange things at the level of the movie okay they they think that they're going to affect change just by physically restructuring things within the present existing system and that's magically going to change the movie that they're witnessing take take place the actual manifestation of events they think they can solve the problem at the level of effects at the level of manifestation which is it's too late it has already manifested the third group of people recognize the law of cause and effect and understand that if you're ever going to change the manifested result you have to rise in consciousness to gain access to the plane of causality the causal nature of the problem needs to be recognized and accepted then you can apply that knowledge of the causes of that effect to the solution only then can you act actually create a solution that will have any true effect in the plane of manifestation the people who don't understand the causal factors are the people who are banging on the movie screen the people who want to get to the causal factors address those problems from that level of awareness and then truly change the things that created the problem not the manifesting of the problem but the things that actually caused the imbalances to begin with are the people who are smart enough to realize that the only way you're ever going to change that movie is to get up walk to a deeper level which is where the projection room is okay climb up to a deeper level of awareness which is the projection room and then actually change what is being projected from the source onto the screen which is the manifested result i have brought a quote back from show one show number one of what on earth is happening i put this quote up there for people's consideration it was from the book of um it was from the book known as transformation of america by kathy o'brien and mark phillips the book is essentially about trauma-based mind control and the occult rulership of this country and in fact the world but some of the most interesting information in the book doesn't even come from kathy o'brien the main writer it comes from her co-author mark phillips and this is a great quote from phillips who wrote the first section of the book he said for every problem there exists a solution the formula for problem solving rests firmly on the quality of the supporting research information concerning the nature of the problem so he's recognizing that you can't treat the symptoms you have to go to the causal factors you have to understand enough about the nature of the problem the causal factors and you come to that understanding by gathering information by coming into knowledge of the nature of the problem then you can understand how things got that way and in that understanding you are actually obtaining a very very powerful force that is the answer to the question why if you don't have the why behind anything you have no power to affect change so i would invite people in in image number three now i am putting an image up from the movie the matrix the allegorical trilogy the matrix and this is my favorite character in this allegorical trilogy not because he's the villain one of the villains i should say okay and he's set against our the hero of the heroes of the movie okay you know i'm not in the habit of rooting for the villains that's not why i like this guy i like this guy because he tells people the truth he is telling people in the second matrix movie okay which i posted this scene back in podcast number 82 okay with the podcast you can go on the podcast archive and watch the scene where neo meets this character in the matrix two matrix reloaded and that scene is so telling okay because this guy represents the controlling bloodlines he represents the controlling occultists of the world and he has one of the people who the heroes need but they don't understand why they need him they've just been told this is who you need go get him and this guy has him the merovingian again allegorical merovingian has to do with the ancient merovingian bloodline however when they meet with him he tells them because they don't really understand why they have come to this situation they don't understand why they need this character called the key maker they don't understand what the causal factors of their current situation are that they have come to him with no power and therefore he sees no reason why he should cooperate with them he does tell them one small lie however he tells them that we are forever victims to causality that's his poison pill in the enormous truth that he gives them and that is not necessarily the case we do not have to be victims of causality in the understanding of how the law of cause and effect works we can come to a level of mastery of ourselves and in our free will decisions which is what i wholeheartedly agree with morpheus in this scene he says everything begins with choice the merovingian tries to convince him that that's not the case but that is the case morpheus is correct in that ladies and gentlemen see that's what the occultists wants people to think is that your choices that they're you don't have free will about how you will conduct yourself and how things will actually then play out as a result of how you conduct yourself what you don't have free will to do is completely act in total violation of natural law and expect no consequences that free will does not exist but we do have free will to the extent that if we understand the law of cause and effect and how we have a choice whether to operate within the parameters of moral law or to whether or whether to completely ignore those laws which creation itself has put into effect and which we are bound by we will severely hinder the quality of our experience here if we flaunt those laws okay and therefore we will create self-inflicted suffering but ultimately ultimately that is a decision that is based in choice in free will so what does the trivium have to do with this we'll talk about that on the other side this is what on earth has happened we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com [Music] so to understand how the trivium fits in with the law of cause and effect and getting to the underlying causality the causal factors the nature of the problem so that we can reverse it from there what we have to understand is essentially what the trivium is the trivium is a pathway to truth it is the methodology for knowing how to learn or know anything how to determine the veracity of information how to weed through falsehoods and eliminate those impurities so we don't take them in as mental food that's essentially what the trivium is then based on that accurate information we can come to understand meaning in things we can answer the question why and then in answering that question why we become empowered to act to actually create true positive and lasting change in our lives this is the way that we can improve ourselves and ultimately it has to do with the improvement of the mind the trivium is intricately and inextricably interwoven with the human psyche and our ability to improve the quality of our mental psychological and spiritual well-being so let's first of course look at the word okay because everything starts with that vibratory energy of the word why is this the word for this methodology and there's a very deep reason it's named what it is called trivium trivium comes from the latin language and before before we do this let's just um talk about the origin of the trivium okay people will trace its origin back to medieval times they'll trace it back further to ancient rome even further to ancient greece some people will go so far as to trace it back to ancient egypt the trivium comes out of some of the most ancient mystery school traditions in human antiquity i would say it goes it predates ancient egypt in small pockets humanity has known and used this technique this methodology for discovering truth about anything since time immemorial so i would say its origin is actually lost to antiquity we don't know how old the trivium method actually is although some people will claim it's from different periods in human history and that's fine i would be of the opinion that it is actually much older than anything that anyone has stated on record and it goes right back to the dawn of civilization on this planet so the word trivium we're looking at slide number four on the what on earth is happening radio show page now the word trivium comes from the latin language okay its english equivalency is derived from latin the latin word tres or tria okay means three the number three okay and you can see that root in so many different things trinary the word three itself is derived from tres tria okay and then the second part of trivium is via okay via vi in latin via in latin means away a path or a road okay so we also use the term way to describe a method that's the way to do something okay it also means you start at one location and then you travel to a destination that's what a path is for it connects to places so what we want to connect is where we're at now in the human condition and we want to actually travel to the truth we want to get to the underlying causes the true underlying causes of our current condition so that we can become empowered to change it so what trivium really means is the three paths the three roads or the three ways you could look at it as the three methods okay i've named it here the three-fold path to the truth on this image the three-fold path to truth as we've seen three is a sacred number in just about every ancient mystical tradition thought emotion and action as we saw is the real trinity within us in many ancient religions up into the modern day we see this um thread throughout time of a trinity representing something deeper you know whether it's called the father the son and the spirit whether it's the sun the moon and the stars and planets or whether it's thought emotion and action this concept of three fold we have three brains the reptile the mammal and the human the triune brain which we've talked about so much the concept of the three in one okay the one overarching methodology that is capable of helping us to learn how to know anything to weed through falsehoods to come to truth it's ultimately three methods which all bring us to the same place at the center which represents the truth okay so the trivium itself is actually part of a larger three-fold method or a three-fold path and i put that on image number five slide number five the trivium works in conjunction with something known as the quadrivium the quadrivium which means four methods or four paths four roads okay these ultimately form the sacred number seven as you could see readily three plus four is seven another sacred number seven gods of the ancient world the seven chakras okay the seven steps on the ladder to god the tree of life levels on that path on that symbol so the quadrivium or the four-fold path is the quantification methods that are used in conjunction with the trivium these are the the sciences of a measurement numbers play a huge role in the quadrivium and we'll be talking more about the quadrivium next week that'll be the topic for discussion next week we'll look into the quadrivium okay we're also going to have some guests coming up that are going to talk about the trivium and quadrivium and i'll be mentioning that probably next week on the show awaiting confirmation so the trivium and the quadrivium work in conjunction they both work in conjunction with our five senses okay the five senses are the bridge between these two sciences these two methodologies ancient methodologies these are the two methods that help our five senses come into harmony with truth that's what needs to be understood we are using these as methodologies to bring our awareness through our senses to bring our awareness into harmony with truth so perception is not reality it can waver widely off from what reality actually is from what the truth is the truth is just that which is and again this brings us to the point where i have to talk about the id the concept of what i mean by the word truth and people argue constantly about this you have this solipsistic thread that people are still hooked on solipsism and i said from day one this show would not be for everyone and many people will reject it out of hand from just show one it would not even go any further than that and there are people to this day who still email me and talk about the concepts i brought up in early shows about solipsism and are in complete disagreement oh there is no actual such thing as truth we can't actually know what the truth is well that's where you you set foot off the journey from the very beginning you were never on the path because if you don't believe that there is any such thing as truth you will never discover it you have to believe that you can learn the truth first and foremost you have to have that hunger that desire within you we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone [Music] you're listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio [Music] jumping right back into the trivia how it connects with our five senses and how it is a three-fold pathway to truth and the idea that people don't believe that there is any such thing as actual truth that we cannot come to know what truth is and nobody is talking about here knowing the totality of the mind of god that's not what i'm talking about when i use the word truth i'm talking about events which have actually occurred learning about what is taking place which is why i call the show call the show what on earth is happening to know about what is happening what is taking place in our reality in the realm in which we exist and operate you you want to get into other dimensions of existence and you know new age ideas like that fine i'm not talking about any of that stuff i'm not talking about knowing the totality of every dimension and every timeline and every planet that exists in in the universe i'm talking about the here and now being here and being in the present moment and knowing what's going on around you that truth that truth and it's knowable it is knowable through the study of the past it is knowable through taking in information and properly gathering and processing and using it that is possible so if you're a solipsist the show was not for you on day one and certainly at this point will not be for you that is something that i call the biggest lie and if people buy into that one they'll buy into any lie that's what the dark force wants people thinking at all times i talked about it as two satanists it is the biggest sin because they want to propagate solipsism to everybody but them so therefore they can get everyone else to believe that there is no truth but they know what the truth is see to them for them solipsism is a sin that's something that a dark occultist should not engage in should frown upon but it is something that he should attempt to sell to the dead as they call people who believe in this concept of solipsism this ideology once again we're talking about perception as not being reality but it could come into harmony with reality we're not perceiving at all times what the actual reality is we have filters on okay that veil us from an accurate perception of reality the idea of the trivium is to attempt to it's a methodology for removing those filters to be able to see the truth as it actually is readily accept it and then do something about it do something with it get involved step into the slipstream of active co-creation so when we look at what the trivium is and we take a look at how it has i guess you could say evolved or how it has been interpreted through time there are three general interpretations or overall ways of looking at what the trivium is okay and i've called these in slide number six the classical interpretation the esoteric interpretation and the modern interpretation of the trivium methodology okay because again this information on how to acquire knowledge understand it and then do something with it has been with us again since time immemorial so there have been different ways of looking at this system the classical method is probably the one that most people are from most familiar with in the words that are used to describe this three-fold process or method and again the order of the steps are all important they matter that's why put numbers here on this chart you can't take them out of order you take them out of order you destroy the entire methodology and it will not work for you or anyone else and that's why some dark occultists have attempted to reverse this process to take some of them out of order and exchange interchange them and that you can't do that okay that's like you know trying to eat your sandwich before you make it you have to make the sandwich first then you could eat it okay so the first step in the classical interpretation of the trivium is known as grammar and we'll get to what these represent in a moment the second step is logic and the third is rhetoric so in the classical interpretation you will hear the trivium referred to as grammar logic and rhetoric in that order okay in the esoteric interpretation which is the one i generally um i i don't even want to use the word use i mean that you're using the same method regardless of how you look at it i look at the trivium as this form as knowledge understanding and wisdom knowledge corresponding to the first step or grammar in the classical tradition understanding corresponding to logic or the second step the intermediary step and then wisdom corresponding to rhetoric the third and final step there is also a modern interpretation of the trivia method and this is the one i'm probably going to spend the most time explaining because you can use a very um accurate metaphor for it in real world terms that people will readily understand we're going to look a little bit into the esoteric uh modality i guess you could call it but i'm going to focus on explaining the trivium today through the modern interpretation and this is input processing and output input corresponding to grammar or knowledge processing corresponding to step two or logic and understanding okay and output is the third and final step corresponding to rhetoric or what has been called wisdom in the esoteric sense and this as you will see all has to do with information the input of information the processing of information and then the subsequent output of information in that order so these are the three ways that the trivium could be looked at can be interpreted you know can be um seen as modalities or methodologies okay i want to show people how this knowledge is quite ancient because we've looked at the esoteric tradition of the kabbalah in the past on this show we did several shows on kabala and we saw that its main symbol which i've already alluded to today was the tree of life with its seven levels it's 22 paths it's 10 uh cepherot or emanations and we've broken these down in the past to help people understand the correspondences what we have to understand is that at just about the highest level of the kabbalistic tree of life as this symbol is known we have the three methods of the trivium corresponding to the trivium see when you when you climb this tree or this ladder to god as it is known in the kabbalistic tradition as we've already looked into on past shows you follow this path that i've outlined here in red on image number seven we're looking at image number seven now and this path okay follows up from the bottom from malcuth which is which is um cephera number 10 okay up through yes sod to hode to net saw so if you look at the numbers we're going backwards from 10 to nine to eight to seven okay then through tiffaret in the middle to six and then uh gebura at five and then we're back to the right side at four okay the sphere of has said okay now from that point we are going to pass through three other spheres okay one of them is not considered an actual sephirah or an emanation it is considered i guess you could call it the source you could call it the thing from which the tree of life springs from which it grows it is known as okay is knowledge the hidden emanation okay and this is the first step of the trivia method we then ascend to binah which is understanding the second step esoterically and finally to hokma wisdom we'll pick this up on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone we're into the second hour already of this edition of what on earth is happening i'm going to give the call and number again because i'm gonna try to wrap up in this segment the esoteric aspect of the trivium as cor as it corresponds to the kabbalistic tree of life and um then uh i'll be looking in this hour at the modern interpretation of the trivium and explaining the method of information input processing and output which is essentially what the trivium is so the call-in number after that we'll take calls for the remainder of the show so uh the call-in number is 866-841-1065 once again the call-in number 866-841-1065 have a couple of callers lined up in the queue so feel free to call in and get in the queue yourself if you have any questions comments or anything else that you want to bring up on the show here today uh and we we are limiting this uh to the trivium we want to talk about the trivium today again we have a specific topic for today we're talking about the trivium so callers in the queue let's uh keep it on on topic and uh on focus so here we go we were looking at before this last break the esoteric interpretation of the trivium as knowledge understanding and wisdom okay so knowledge we've seen is this the sphere of dot that lies behind the tree of life from which the tree of life grows okay um the idea that uh this word is connected in uh the it's actual sound with the english word dot is not insignificant okay uh a dot is a point a singularity it's one thing okay from which everything springs okay it is a period and this word is per yod para yod okay through the yod the yod character in hebrew as we've already seen represents means hand and it represents fire the fire of creation the hand of god the hand of the creator which fashions everything from which everything springs so this isn't an insignificant word play coincidence i would suggest that it's not even a coincidence okay but as we're going to the highest wrong we're ascending to the highest rung on the tree of life okay the one that uh lies just underneath ketter the crown unity consciousness we are passing through okay from the sphere of mercy has said through dot knowledge okay two understanding which is sphere number three sephirah three which is binah which means understanding then to the one that is closest to the crown to qatar which is wisdom hokma again these three paths themselves you'll notice that there is one um sphere on each of the path paths of the kabbalistic tree we start out at the middle one then go to uh which is the the path of mildness or will then we go to the path of the left hand path which is the path of severity and then over to the right hand path the path of mercy which then gets us up to that uh very top sephirah which represents unity consciousness or uh non-duality and this is the path that can get us there from knowledge to understanding to wisdom in that order and i can't stress that enough order plays a role in this it is what leads ultimately to order is following this order or this path this three-fold path known as the trivia which is represented so beautifully here in the kabbalistic tree and i would suggest that this tradition probably predates the trivia and that's where the trivium has grown out of so we'll continue with this on the other side stay with us folks you're listening to what on earth is happening in silence facing it alone gotta keep my cool make em think i'm made of stone it's a game [Music] you'll never be able to stop a group of people who actually possess the answer to the question why that is what the trivium can actually help us gain because without why there is no power and things will remain just as they are and probably even spiral into a worse condition until we identify the real causal factors that's where the problem solving ability lies so we were looking at the esoteric aspects of the trivium and where this tradition may have derived from again this is ancient kabbalistic knowledge this is the ancient knowledge of all esoteric mystery school traditions you can see that in freemasonry the trivium and quadrivium are made referenced to quite extensively in any good masonic works and if their true esoteric works of freemasonry they will not be taken out of order as well which you will often see this horrendous mistake being made in certain free masonic uh schools if it is not a deliberate deception to do so the um the other thing is you have to understand that the trivium also represents just like the kabbalistic tree here we're showing the uh three steps of it represented in the three spheres that you arrive at on the path upward uh up the tree before you arrive at unity consciousness represented by ketter nonduality the total unification of one's thoughts emotions and actions this this corresponds directly to the free masonic pillars that are depicted in the first degree tracing board as well okay so coming up out of the dark of the dark pillar is coming into knowledge okay then um understanding okay bridging knowledge and action before you're taking actual action using the male principle you have to fill yourself up the desire has to be there of the lunar pillar and you're filling yourself with information then you're processing it you're coming to awareness represented by the middle pillar the all-seeing eye then you're putting it into action you're actually ascending upward and that's the the stepwise process of the ladder starts at the right uh pillar moves to the left in that tracing board and you can go back onto the freemasonry shows and take a look at that and see how that correspondence fits in perfectly with the trivia method as well knowledge understanding and wisdom the first three degrees of free masonry are all about this ladies and gentlemen the entered apprentice degree of freemasonry is about taking off your blinders and the fact that you have to be led to knowledge with an open mind okay you you have to be practically dragged to it because you've been resistant to it and you've been hoodwinked but now they're the blinders are coming off and you're letting some light in the degree the rituals of the first degree entered apprentice so this is coming into knowledge the second degree is about the spiral staircase going into the temple of knowledge itself processing information actual learning taking place and it's a spiral staircase that you have to follow you don't know what the actual outcome is yet you have to get to the top for that vista to open up and the whole picture be revealed on the way up you don't actually see it you're still doing that upward ascension that is often looks like it's a a circle or a spiral spiraling process but you're actually spiraling upward and then you've arrived at the top of that spiral staircase which means you have understanding in hand you understand causal factors you have the answer to the question why now you're empowered and the third degree or master mason is mastery over oneself coming into unison between your thoughts and emotions and your actions such that your actions don't betray what you know and how you feel and then its symbol is the trowel this degree and you're using it to actually spread what you have come into possession of which is actual wisdom that's what the act of wisdom is all about putting it out there so that others may partake of the same thing you have knowledge and understanding are not yours exclusively they don't belong to you these are states you may have reached but then you have a responsibility to put that into action which is the rhetoric stage we're going to get to this in detail i'm going to go through again that's all i really want to say about how the correspondences with esoteric traditions fit in with the trivium you can clearly see it if you've been able to follow what i just went through as far as kabbalah and freemasonry is concerned but what i really want to do in this hour is talk about the modern method of the trivium the modern interpretation which is information input processing and output and this one again the modern student can readily understand these terms because we use them all the time every day and most people out there listening are probably using some form of a computer a device which does just this and regardless of how much people want to ignore this or make pretend that it isn't true essentially that's what everything is here folks it's a big computer we're in a we're in a hollow holodeck we're in a holographic simulation of sorts so that consciousness can have experience this is all a huge computer program at the highest level at the most unified fundamental level that's what consciousness is it's something that creates scenarios that we can feel as and perceive as real enough such that we can acquire experience because again in the absence of something which the pure consciousness is not it can never know itself it can never come to know anything so this illusory realm has to be created in order to acquire experience and knowledge of itself of the the all itself and that's why we're in this holodeck to have an experience in the physical domain so this is like a computer it operates like a computer we operate like a computer essentially i qualifying this with the term essentially it doesn't mean we are a computer doesn't mean that there's no part of us other than the computing aspect of us i'm saying essentially we operate like a computer okay we take in information based on our perceptions based in things other people have told us based on direct experiences we then process that information to develop it into a world view or an understanding of how things actually work and then we act our behaviors are based upon that input of information and that processing of information so we're going to look at this closely on the other side and we'll talk about examples of what if the input is bad what if gathering process has been what if the processing itself is bad what happens to the output pick this up on the other side this is what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting network [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio let's jump right back into our of the trivia and how it can actually help us to uncover the hidden truths of our world so that we can actually start taking action once we understand the causal factors that got us to this dark place that we are collectively at so in image number eight on the radio show page of what on earth is happening dot com or with this podcast you'll see that i put the modern interpretation you could call it of the trivium process or method and listed it as input processing and output which we're going to continue to talk about and underneath that i put what this is all all equates to what it's all actually about the trivium is ultimately about the input processing and output of information which is ultimately what everything is everything is a form of information and energy what if we look at the word information okay it's the word form is the root of this word form okay and in order to form a different reality a different way that things actually manifest themselves this is the method that we have to employ proper information input proper information processing and proper information output and ultimately where that is all done is within ourselves that's why it's in formation if we break it down further we can say in form at i on or in other words to turn and this is again green language people will doubt and dismiss this even though there's hundreds of examples throughout the english language where words just by breaking them apart into their phonetic not their um actual necessary meaning but into their phonetic components we can understand what a word is actually saying to us the actual vibratory energy of the word is a language unto itself that often encodes deeper meaning we've looked at the term um money in this respect being the one i okay which they want to sell to people as an illusion of the uh the real thing as a um a proxy for the real one eye inside of us and information is saying in form at i on meaning to turn the one eye on okay to actually turn on the all-seeing eye within us we have to inwardly form ourself through this process we are creating ourselves we are creating the essence of who we are by what kind of information we take in by how we process it accurately or inaccurately and then by what we actually do based upon those two previous parts of this triune method the output is ultimately what is really defining who we are because the input and processing is determining our world view and then the output is determining our behavior and how we treat other people and how we act toward others the way that we are in this world how we exist our being in the world is ultimately a function of the output so and that is a function of how accurately we gathered and processed the information that is all around us some people do it very effectively and therefore their output can be toward higher levels of order and greater success and prosperity and a lack of suffering in their lives and some people when they fail at this entire process they go into deeper and deeper and deeper chains and more and more suffering and that's what the place that we've come to as a society through our inability to follow this methodology because this methodology has been occulted the occultists of this world do not want people to understand the trivium it's one of the last things they ever want you looking into they want to keep this information deeply hidden or occulted because if you truly learn how to think excuse me and come to accurate analysis of the information that is around us you are then empowered to change it and that's the last thing they want happening because they want to stay in the position of power that they have gained through this differential in knowledge by keeping the method for learning from their slaves that's why the trivium is a completely uh it's a topic that has been essentially removed from human consumption for the most part most people have never heard the word they don't understand what the trivium is at all they have never heard it and they know nothing about it just try to find out just do an experiment and ask people around you if they know what the trivium is and can explain it to you hardly anyone can and there's a reason for that so let's look at the trivium the modern uh interpretation of it as information input processing and output and we will recognize this as the three steps that any computer performs okay because essentially the brain acts like a human computer a biological computer image nine shows an image of a computer system okay and we can see that it has input devices pro a processing device and an output device and output devices okay so the input device or devices i should say shown here by the light blue arrows okay is the keyboard and mouse these are known as input devices go on any computer store and you'll find mice and keyboards under input devices okay another type of input device might be a scanner an externally connected hard drive used for storage the internet itself is a form of an input device in the modern world because that's some place we can take information into the computer through our internet connection okay so these are ways of inputting information into a computer the hard drive stores it okay that's like the memory capacity of the brain all right then it is processed and that's what determines how good a computer basically is this all important step two you know to put information into a computer is one thing but the all important step is the third part at the second part and the third part but the second part is critical critically important because if your computer doesn't have processing power you can't do anything with any information it doesn't matter how much you gather and if it can't accurately process the information it'll just spit garbage in the output phase your computer is only as good as its processor and the processor's ability to accurately handle the information you are throwing at it so this is the problem with the people of this planet they basically have damaged internal processing units central processing units the cpu of the computer is often called the brain of the computer so this is what we are using our brain to do input information process it in the brain and then output it which actually determines our behavior and as you know with any computer if junk goes in through the input okay only junk can come through the output [Music] junk in junk out good stuff in good stuff it's a simple equation too bad more people haven't simply thought about it on these terms they try to over complicate things we'll keep looking at the modern method of trivial input processing and output when we come back don't go anywhere [Music] folks [Music] we're back everyone looking at the trivium from the modern interpretation from the modern viewpoint on this edition of what on earth is happening image nine showed an image of a generic computer system um this is not my particular computer system uh it's just an image i found of a computer system online and um it shows the input devices the processing unit and then the output devices being the screen and the printer these are ways of sharing information looking at the data on screen you could share it with someone else you could print it out on your printer okay the internet is also an output device because you could take information that you have processed and then send it back up to the internet so the internet acts as both an input and an output device in the modern world and that's why it is so useful for really coming to uh this knowledge and understanding so let's look at what ultimately the trivium is step by step in image number 10 we see the three steps of the trivium again in the modern format input processing and output in that order listed as steps one two and three i put the other names in the classical and esoteric systems underneath them so input is also grammar or knowledge okay it's the building blocks of data that we're working with okay so we are gathering these building blocks gathering the raw data from an eclectic array of sources eclectic means widely varied okay you have to take it all in as much as you can anyway and do this without prejudging the information so this could be considered the right-brained modality within the trivium it's having that open-mindedness that receptiveness that is so powerful in the right brain okay because we need to have an open mind and take in data without judging it with the analytical mind first and foremost that's the first step toward acquiring knowledge and understanding the input once we have acquired it will help us to answer the questions who what when and where this is our raw data set okay so this is fairly easy to follow this is what we do with the computer and this is ultimately what we do with our brain okay the input gathering data from an eclectic array of sources without prejudging it in order to answer the questions who what when and where the raw data we're taking in the raw data without judging it okay step number two is the processing and this is all important now before we get to step two let me say why people never usually make it to step two most people on the earth don't make it to step two in any form of in any way that resembles any accurate information process processing at all it's because there is so much of the building blocks the grammar the words the raw data set the knowledge itself we are drowning in a sea of knowledge in a sea of grammar in a sea of these building blocks of information there is so much in the world because there are so many people and so much has been created and written and and uh put out there in different forms of media most people are so daunted by the task of even doing the input at all because it takes work and time and they're even more daunted by the first sub step of part two which we're going to get to in a moment the filtration system of the weeding out process of information which isn't viable or isn't necessary or is just patently false and you know is put out there as distraction or disinformation or actually has nothing to do with the solving of the problem that we really want to solve by even taking data in it's irrelevant data there's so much trash data in the system okay useless files so to speak on the computer that people don't want to weed through it to go to like a needle in a haystack to get down to what they really need so most people don't even go through step one because they say oh it the truth is such a needle in a haystack we'll never find it some people believe there is no such thing as truth which we've already talked about this dangerous and false ideology of solipsism so part two processing which is also logic okay in the classical interpretation and understanding in the esoteric sense processing is comprised of three sub steps and i've identified these as filtration correlation and analysis of data so first the data has to be filtered so now this is what the processor of the computer is doing once the information has been gathered which is step one data gathering then we can filter it and say this is irrelevant data this does not have to do with what we are trying to get to it's maybe a distraction a form of disinformation we could apply different techniques to do that okay fallacy uh understanding techniques to understand logical fallacies okay so this filtration system you could look at as the antivirus or the malware protector that is installed in a computer to make sure in the gathering process in the pro in the part where it uh comes into the computer through input that viruses don't get in to the mix okay so that would be filtration and that's a huge task in the modern world because there is so much false information out there so we have to have our virus guards installed properly within ourselves so that information which will make us sick doesn't get taken in as mental food okay the second part of the processing is correlation this is how to group information and see the connections between seemingly disparate sources of information or chunks of information it is data assembly okay that's what this part of the processing aspect of the trivium is all about finally there is analysis that is actually going through the data to understand how it is of relevance and how it does connect with the thing that we are trying to get to or understand that's what the whole process of understanding is about data analysis accurate data analysis the processor has to be able to compute properly and again this ties in with with health because if the central computer of ourselves is our brain okay it's the thing that helps us to process information we have to be in good health the five senses have to be sharp sight hearing smell taste and touch to be able to accurately bring in data from the external world around us the seemingly external world around us okay so food fits into this in a huge way in being able to do this process okay the form getting out of the forms of mind control that we're under through this process of filtration is a huge part of the process the date the data filter or the virus protection okay so this is where the quadrivium comes in in a big way in the in the processing stage okay because this is the methods that help us to properly quantify our data sets all right these are these four methodologies are arithmetic geometry music and astronomy in that order once again the order is critical to know and to keep in mind and to observe so these are four quantification methods which go hand in hand with the trivium method and the five senses we're going to talk about the quadrivium next week we're going to have guests on that are going to give their understanding of the trivium and how it works to expand on what i've laid out here and we'll be laying out next week so we'll be looking at this topic for several weeks probably four or five weeks okay and we're just coming off natural law which we covered for like 10 weeks or so so the these are two of the biggest parts of the solution the understanding of natural law and the application of the trivia method all right so what does the sep two or processing part of the trivium help us to be able to do simply put it helps us to learn the why behind anything what that character in the matrix talked about as the source of power we have to know why things are the way that they are get down to the causal factors the causal realm is where problems are addressed are identified addressed and ultimately solved from never from the realm of manifestation that is putting bandages on self-inflicted wounds and never addressing the underlying psychological reasons that those wounds are being inflicted in the first place so the question why answers what is the reason the meaning or the purpose of something [Music] i can't encourage people enough to go back and check out that video from podcast number 82 neo meets the marovinjian the why is what we have to get to that is understanding and that is where power lies we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere we'll be right back after these words [Music] okay we are back last segment for this edition of what on earth is happening here today before the time flies time really flies when you're trying to explain some of the most deeply occulted information that has been held back from the people of a planet in order to turn them into slaves i'll tell you that so let's wrap up these last three slides and then go to the phones and i apologize for taking so long to get to the phones i will make it up to you guys i'm going to get to some calls before this segment is out but i'll make it up to you we'll do a whole call-in show about the trivia maybe that's how we'll handle it in the solutions section for every solution we'll do a call a whole call-in show about that particular solution i think that would be a nice uh practice to start okay so uh because i don't want to totally you know ignore callers and uh you know just uh keep putting putting that off so let's see how this segment goes and we'll hopefully get some calls before the end of the show so we looked at input and processing steps one and two step three here on slide number 10 is output which is also rhetoric or wisdom and i have explained this by calling it speech and action that is based upon the knowledge that one has gathered and understands okay speech and action based upon knowledge that one has gathered and also understands so you have the raw data okay and you have an accurate understanding of that data set you have weeded out the impurities and you have come to an understanding of what it means or its purpose therefore you can now speak and act based upon that knowledge and understanding so this all has to do with affecting the world around us through our speech and action okay that's why it's the third step it is related to spreading or helping to propagate knowledge and understanding which is the this is probably as important if not more important than the other two steps because if you don't put it back out there how is anybody else going to come to that awareness and understanding we we have to create sort of a feedback loop of this system where we keep putting information back into the system until it becomes common sense and second nature and readily understandable by people that's where we've gone wrong the world is largely silent when it comes to matters of truth people are too afraid of what people will think of them or how it will inconvenience how it will inconvenience their lives from a selfish point of view so ultimately the output phase is the how behind it all the and how simply means the method by which something is accomplished because that's what we're looking for the method to do something the method to free the mind and that's what the trivium is the trivium is how knowledge and understanding are propagated so that real and positive change can be created this is the third step the output wisdom the the acquisition of wisdom is coming to know how knowledge and understanding can be applied and propagated so that real true positive change can come about or in other words how to create the solution to any given problem than maybe presenting itself that is what we can do with the trivium and why it is one of the most important solutions based approaches that we can take to the current human condition now one thing i want to say before we get to the phones is in slide number 11 i'm talking about direction and how this relates to the trivium because the trivium is three ways three methods or three roads that they converge they converge on the truth and i want to in almost a harsh and caustic way attempt to obliviate a new age concept a new age idea an ideology in the new age movement that and people who consider themselves teachers have said this and i wholeheartedly resoundingly reject it they have said that you should never ever use the words you should to anyone and you know what this is this is utter new age bonk is what it is this is pure right brained imbalance see we talked about the first step right of right brained input being open and receptive the left brain aspect is the processing aspect and then the output method is a holistic brain process in which you can't be too forgiving and you can't be too left-brained and violent with it okay you have to walk a balance to say you should never use the words you should is to deny that you yourself have come to any kind of knowledge or understanding about anything and i think that's lying to yourself if indeed you have come to knowledge and understanding about something see if you know how a person should get from one place to another if they're coming and saying this is where i want to go and i know i'm not there and people you could say oh they don't ask everybody is asking how to really get to the place where they don't suffer because there is not one person that will go up to you and say i want to suffer no one if somebody actually came up and convincingly and i they could get me to a point where i could believe that they genuinely want to suffer then i would say that's on you that's your free will decision and you don't need to know any of this just go right on ahead with what you're doing but no one makes that claim everybody makes the claim i want to be free i want to have the things that i desire i want not to suffer i don't want to be in suffering therefore they're asking how do i get to a place whether they consciously or physically ask it or not that's what the people of this word world are asking even if it's a silent form of a question they're saying do you know how to get there and if the answer is yes i do know how to get there then you should have no qualms about using the words you should no more than if someone came up to you and said how do i get to the intersection of this road and this road and you have been there many times and you know exactly how to get there from where there's standing or from where their car is at and you say yes if it is true that you want to get there you should travel in this direction maybe turn at this intersection travel in this direction some more and then you will arrive at your destination that you stated you want to be at and you're not there right now so this new age idea of that you should never use this phrase you should because you're dancing around other people's ego i wholeheartedly and resoundingly reject it and so should you so i'll end that point on that note and i'll end this whole section on the trivium with saying with a quote from the great teacher terence mckenna who talked about grammar who talked about information that surrounds us and that we inwardly form ourselves with mckenna was a word smith like no other and one of his statements was that the world is made of words and if you know the words that the world is made of you can make of it whatever you wish think about that in relation to the trivium the knowledge the grammar the words taking it in processing it accurately then outputting it in a way that can help us to affect true lasting change and put the solution into practice through wisdom terence mckenna never fails to amaze me let's take it out with a call here we go mike in new york you're live on what on earth is happening hi mark thank you for taking my call uh great show and i'd like to state that um uh what terence mckenna was saying that the world uh the world is made of words uh in the bible it states that god spoke everything into existence um when you when you're saying the people don't get past step two it's usually because they they come to a realization that maybe they have to face the fact that everything that they've learned or everything that they've thought is now obsolete and they would i think that scares them more than anything and turns that away uh by doing that you're denying yourself uh into existence what you're what you're desiring causing chaos within one's life absolutely correct mike uh always a pleasure to bring you on as a caller because you always bring up such uh phenomenal points in a clear and concise way so a great way to end the show that's all we have time for thank you we'll be back next week on what on earth is happening when we'll cover the quadrivium stick around folks chris everard is up next oracle broadcast what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm we're going to be getting into the trivia today on what on earth is happening this is this material goes hand-in-hand with the material that we covered about two weeks ago on the Trivium method so before I jump into the topic for today let's give the call-in number for the show feel free to call in at anytime we're generally discussing the Trivium and quadrivium specifically the quadrivium today but the topic really is open up to all forms of education and learning because that's ultimately what this material is all about this is about how to reclaim and recapture the actual process of learning for oneself learning how to think is what this is ultimately all about how to take in and process information so the calling number for today's show is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five feel free to call me at any time I will be taking calls today hopefully throughout the show so last week we looked at the Trivium actually two weeks ago last week's show again was replay and we saw how it was a process of how to go about acquiring truth from an eclectic varied array of information in other words how to weed through information how to remove inconsistencies with that information and then to arrive at an understanding and then ultimately to do something with that understanding to put it into effect to put it into practice in the world so we saw that it was a combination of what is known as grammar logic and rhetoric and we looked at the classical esoteric and modern forms of the Trivium a couple of weeks ago now you can go up to my website at what on earth is happening calm and go to the radio show page the radio show tab on the site and you'll see under the player images for today's show always with these broadcasts and podcasts you'll see that I often have images posted that go along with the concepts and today is no different there are I believe eight images up on the website on the radio show page underneath the player so you can follow along with that images to see the the information that we're looking at today and some charts and graphs that go along with it so image number one is a bit of a review from last week when we were talking about the Trivium from the last show so we saw the classical method of looking at the Trivium was grammar logic and rhetoric or in other words information gathering which is grammar this is like the input of information into a computer if you want to look at it like that it's collecting or gathering from a again a varied and eclectic variety of sources you can't just pull from one or two places information you have to be open and not judge the information hastily based on likes or preferences or you know opinions this is taking information in regardless of where it comes from in step two you begin to filter that information okay so this is the step called logic in the classical Trivium method what you're doing here is you're filtering it and then you're beginning a process of correlation seeing how the individual data bits relate to each other then you can undergo analysis and that's where the quadrivium really comes into play because it is ultimately about the quantification of that data set we're going to be talking about the quadrivium in depth today the third process of course is putting the understanding that you have acquired from step two or logic into action and that's called rhetoric in the classical style of the

Trivium rhetoric is equated with wisdom it's what you do with what you know you've come to a level of understanding and then you're going to put that in practice in the real world you're going to put that in practice in your life so that it has an effect in the realm of manifestation okay so the esoteric form of the Trivium we looked at that in conjunction with the Kabbalistic tradition and we touched on that it is also connected with some of the processes involved in Freemasonry so last week we or two weeks ago the previous show we looked at the esoteric aspects of the Trivium and these were it's the same basic steps it's just the way that they're viewed or looked at or the the naming conventions of the steps essentially and in the esoteric tradition they were always referred to these three basic steps as knowledge understanding and wisdom and again we saw that in conjunction with the Kabbalistic Tree of Life that the tree itself grows from the hidden sphere known as dot da a th and that is knowledge and it is it was pointed out to me actually in a discussion with yan in the past that it is perhaps since that is where the tree grows from that perhaps the entire idea of the Tree of Life is that humanity has fallen due to a severance with knowledge okay due to the the the the tree actually being cut down or knocked over because it is no longer actually connected at the trunk okay which is knowledge the sphere of thought which is said to be where the tree grows from in the Kabbalistic tradition so we have to make a reconnection to knowledge there's too much of a de-emphasis on actual knowledge in many different traditions that allegedly claim to be put forward with the intent of advancing the soul and advancing the spirit and without an emphasis on knowledge I'm afraid that really cannot be done it's a pipe dream okay we need to understand what is taking place around us we can't close our eyes to that no matter how negative that may seem otherwise we're going to be led in circles and we're not really going to have an accurate understanding of what is required on our part in order to change the manifestation that we see in the world so knowledge is a gigantic part of this and again it is one of the most important spheres on the Tree of Life it is the sphere of dot the hidden realm the hidden realm of knowledge that leads to the highest rung on the Kabbalistic tree which is understanding and wisdom again vena the the third Saphira and hokhmah which is wisdom the second Sapphira and these are just underneath ket air which is the the crown chakra in other words it is the unity consciousness okay it it is the Ancient of Days as they called it in the Kabbalistic tradition so knowledge understanding and wisdom are the three spheres that you arrive at before you reach unity consciousness in this ancient esoteric tradition of Kabbalah which is totally interwoven and interconnected with the Trivium and quadrivium methods finally in the modern sense we looked at the Trivium as being an expression of something akin to a computer system data input then the data being processed in the central processing unit of the computer namely the human brain that's the analog to the human brain and then outputting that data to an output device of some sort like a screen or a printer or the internet well in other words what you do with the data that you have acquired in process will continue this on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is half go anyway welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on their host mark passio we're doing a short review of the last show that we did on the Trivium and then i'm going to be getting into the quadrivium in a few moments in image number two on the radio show page if you're following along with the slides i've posted for today's show you'll see a chart that lists the Trivium process the Trivium method in the correct order of the steps because order is of utmost importance here you can't take these steps out of order or the process does not work correctly you can't process information before you've gathered it well you could attempt to but you're not really going to come out with an accurate analysis if you do so and certainly attempting to put information into action because before you've come to a proper understanding of it is always going to result in folly and ultimately in chaos so the the the process the linear order of the steps involved in the Trivium method are of extreme significance and it should not ever be taken out of order so the first step is input otherwise known as grammar or knowledge it's gathering data from an eclectic array of sources without prejudging it and this is critical okay you can't take your own assumptions interpretations opinions likes dislikes into this process this has to be done dispassionately it has to be done in an open-minded way not bringing the emotions into play at this step okay this step answers the questions who what when and where the raw data of the situation that needs to be gathered before you can start accurately processing that data okay step two is the processing stage of the Trivium method and this is logic or also known as understanding okay it's comprised of three basic sub steps again we talked to touched on this in the last segment the of the information or the removal of bad data okay the removal of data that is contradictory so you're going through a specific process to weed out contradictions in the data so you can get to the truth of the matter okay so you have to weed out logical inconsistencies then you're going to correlate the data you're going to put it into I guess you could look at it as sub groupings of data this is related to this this is related to this this is related to this all right and you're going to ultimately try to see the entire pattern but that helps by relating like concepts to each other so that's the correlation step sub step of the processing stage then you're going to actually analyze the data and again this is where the quadrivium comes in because the quadrivium is the quantification methodologies for the data that you have acquired in step one the input stage okay or the grammar stage the processing stage overall enables us to learn the answer to the question why it is to help us to understand the reason the meaning or the purpose behind the events that we see playing out in our world so what is the reason for being what is the meaning of this why is this like this you will come to an understanding of those things if you have followed the process through in part to accurately then part three is then what are you going to do with this understanding are you going to sit on it and do nothing are you going to praise yourself for having come to such an accurate understanding of something are you actually going to do something of worthiness and effect with the information that you have accurately arrived at and understood so this is the wisdom stage part three this is the what they call rhetoric in the classical Trivium method the output phase it's what you do with what you know speech and based upon the knowledge that you've gathered and that you now have an accurate understanding of that's what this third step is all about and I would say without that step what's the point of even going through the process of learning the truth because knowledge and understanding are ultimately meaningless unless they're actually put into action in the real world in a way that is in accordance with natural law and the respect of the rights of others that's what we have to do with this knowledge that we've acquired through the Trivium method so ultimately when this is done this is how knowledge and understanding are propagated so that real and positive change can be created in our world that's the purpose the entire purpose of the Trivium methodology is to arrive at an understanding of how can we be of benefit how can we be of assistance to the raising of consciousness of humanity because we understand that's really the only way that anything's ever going to change here so what are the methods of actually doing that of actually reaching people well it's putting this three fold path to truth into action in our lives and then speaking and acting in accordance with it that's what the Trivium method is all about and connected with this is the quadrivium this is a subset you could look at it or a complementary path in relation to the Trivium and of course it's based on the word for as we're going to see when we put them together there's actually a Sevenfold methodology to come to the truth and that's what the Kabbalistic tree is all about that is what the chakra system is all about these are just correspondent systems that symbolically ultimately relate to a method for learning the truth that's what it's all about as we said on day one you have to believe that there is such a thing as truth in order to go and set off in a journey to find it because you don't know what the truth is at that point but if don't believe that there's such a thing is truth that makes you a solipsistic stairs no such thing as truth at all and they never set foot on the path of discovery they never set foot on the path to higher consciousness they never set foot on the path to introspection and discovery of the true self that doesn't happen for a solid cyst okay so this Sevenfold journey is all ultimately about the self and the selfs path toward truth and realization self-realization so let's take a look let's begin taking a look at the Trivium at the quadrivium the quadrivium as I've already said is the quantification methodologies for information processing that is plays a huge role in the step number two of the Trivium okay processing or in the classical system what was known as logic and in the esoteric tradition the understanding phase okay so the word quadrivium it basically breaks down into two atom illogical root words okay and these both are from Latin and the first one is the the word the Latin word quatuor which means four okay quatuor means four where the first part of quadrivium comes from Quadra okay so it means for for what well the second part of it is v MV i um and this is derived from the latin word via VI a via and i'm on slide number three for those who are following along on the radio show page of the website via in latin means way path or road so just as Trivium meant the three paths because trivia tree PRI comes from Trez tria in latin so that means three quatuor means four so instead of three roads the word quadrivium simply means four roads okay pretty simple to understand once we understand the ideological of the etymology of the word through the root words from the ancient Latin language that it comes from ultimately the quadrivium is a fourfold path to truth just as the Trivium was a three-fold path to truth so we're gonna take a look at what the steps of the quadrivium are on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back welcome back everyone listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio today on the show we are talking about the quadrivium as an adjunct to the Trivium method and we see that the name quadrivium very similar to Trivium means four fold path or four roads that's basically what it means just as Trivium meant three roads or three ways so quadrivium could mean four ways these are four ways of processing information basically and this is an ancient system just as the Trivium is an ancient system you could look at this as a component within the Trivium again mainly for the processing stage because this these are the four quantification methodologies that are employed for information processing so slide number four shows you what these four methods for information processing and quantification are they are arithmetic geometry music and astronomy and just like the steps of the Trivium grammar logic and rhetoric or knowledge understanding and wisdom these four methodologies need to be taken in that order because they increase in their complexity as you start from arithmetic and proceed through geometry than music then astronomy so you can't start building a house at the top floor you have to build a firm foundation first and that foundation is arithmetic which is called the mother of all the sciences really mathematics is in general because without math you really can't engage in any of the other sciences because you can't quantify your observations without a knowledge and understanding of mathematics so we'll be looking at what each one of these Sciences entails and how it fits into the Trivium method over the course of this show so before we do that we do have a caller on the line so let's go to the phones if you're calling in please be patient stay on the line I will get to your call I want to take calls today so once again the calling number is eight six six eight four one one zero six five I look at the switchboard usually during breaks because during the the show I'm doing I'm looking at my notes in my slide so be patient stay on the line don't get discouraged I will get to your call so here we go Richard in Washington state you are live on what on earth is happening welcome yeah mark I really enjoy the show and but I am going to make a challenge to you sure over the information that you're giving us yesterday on on Melody's show she had James Madison who has written a presentation called the Declaration of restoration secondarily he mentioned a article that you can get over the Internet emergent from illusion by choice or by ricardo johansson basically I called in about several weeks ago and challenged you on your on your concept of what the Founding Fathers gave us sure those two two examples of information tell us that the founding fathers gave us sovereignty and there are two systems their sovereign system that has been totally falsified and presented to us in a poor form our Constitution as we now have it is a fraudulent document it's not what the founding fathers gave us and and secondarily we are now subject if we choose to be and that's our choice as individuals in a total fraudulent system which is our United States of America's like them so I challenge you to go to Melanie show and everybody also and especially the Oracle hosts to go to that show find out what we're really fighting for so that we can focus on that and then pursue that Avenue of the fact that we want to educate everyone using your methods right to find the truth of our sovereignty and I'm an agreement with you Richard I don't think that though even in the intent of the Constitution there was true human sovereignty put forward just the fact that they thought they could lay and collect taxes is proof of that to me I'm not a constitutionalist I I don't believe in authority whatsoever so uh if that's any consolation I it you're mentioning a document that is not a what the founding fathers gave us right that was replaced in the late or the middle 1800s that is not the sovereignty our founding fathers gave us you need to go back and use the truth and your Trivium and quadrivium seeking of the truth and find out especially by seeking Melanie show and the archives of exactly what the Founding Fathers gave us if you go back learn that truth you'll totally change your perspective about what our founding fathers gave us interesting I I will I will look into that absolutely I want to say thanks for the call I appreciate that thank you much for pursuing the truth absolutely you got it okay great call so absolutely we have to understand that history has been basically rewritten by the people who are in charge right now that's what has taken place so Richard has a great point there that we can't take it on face value that what were the documents that we're being handed in and our reading and assuming is what was the original intent of this land is what was actually in the minds of the people who came here and set up this country to ostensibly escape the tyranny that was happening from from Europe but again yeah also have to look into consideration take into consideration I mentioned this over the last couple of weeks that there were people already living here and living on this land and a bunch of settlers came in here under the assumption that they could just settle here and turn this place into their way of life without you know the slightest bit of consideration from the by the people who were already living here and had already been here for probably hundreds if not thousands of years before people came across the Atlantic Ocean so I think we may be dealing with a whole lot of karmic repercussions for the way that we settled this land as well in addition to the history having been rewritten by the victors as you could call it so great points there Richard and I will look into that information I typed down what you were saying and I will go to those sites and check it out so thank you so once again the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five feel free to call in at any time be patient I will get to your call so let's go back to the quadrivium method and look at the four steps of this method in order to understand these four steps and why they're important we have to understand how this sub set of information processing fits in with the Trivium so on slide number five what I've put forward here is again this three four five right triangle which you will actually see is a big symbol in mystery school traditions and often in the occult as well so this symbol generally represents how the three and four fold processes of the Trivium and the quadrivium come together and work together in a complementary fashion you can't have one without the other essentially okay the the quadrivium would be useless without its place in the quadrivium and the Trivium would fall apart if we did not have the quantification methods of the Trivium for use in the processing stage so the two angles that form the right angle the two lines or sides that form the right angle of the right angle triangle in the 3 4 5 triangle represent the Trivium and the quadrivium once again these form a Sevenfold path okay which seven is a sacred number in just about every ancient or mystical tradition that I can think of okay including Kabbalah including Freemasonry including the the Tarot system including Rosicrucianism you name it if it is of any mystical significance of this it is any tradition that truly and deeply studies the self and attempts to unravel what is really taking place in our world the number seven comes up over and over and over again in Astro theology okay this this is a number that relates to the self because of the seven energy vortices in the body okay the chakra system and bringing these two methods together helps us bridge the five senses and bring them all together in a focused way such that we are truly present and paying attention okay so present moment awareness plays into this hugely because this is how we can truly come into true present moment awareness through this information and information processing system we're going to be talking about in future weeks about activating the body truly on what we should be eating we talked about a lot of the things we shouldn't be eating but we're going to talk about health in a big way how to generate health how to stay healthy food is such a huge important part of our lives that it can't be understated we are what we eat that that old aphorism is absolutely absolutely true okay what we put into ourselves becomes the brain and the other building blocks of the body and that ultimately is playing a huge role in our behaviors and our actions so the Trivium and quadrivium ultimately unite to awaken the five senses and that's why that is the hypotenuse of that three four five right triangle five senses when we put these numbers together another mystical number emerges the number twelve we'll talk about why that is on the other side this is what on earth is happening we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen made of stone we're back folks this is what on earth is happening looking at the quadrivium they on the show we saw that it was comprised of a four fold method for the quantification of data that is amassed in step one of the Trivium the grammar process and then part two which is the logic process or the processing stage is using this method the quadrivium for the quantification and analysis of that data so in slide number four we saw that it was comprised of arithmetic geometry music and astronomy which we're going to look into in a in a few moments and in slide number five we were talking about how these two methods or roads okay actually come together to create a bridge between all of our five senses to activate you could say the entire physical presence of our individual monad our unit of consciousness in the all okay in right here in the physical world how to be here now how to be fully present and active that's what this seven fold system is ultimately about so the Trivium locks in with the quadrivium to activate the physical senses the five senses and that's what this three four five right triangle or 90 degree triangle is all about so that's how the quadrivium fits in with the Trivium this four fold path locks together with this three fold path which we've already discussed to awaken the senses and put us on the path to truth now when we add these numbers together three four and then add five okay we get the number 12 again we've seen the significance of the number twelve when we looked into occult numerology on past shows when we looked into gematria when we add one and two together okay we get three the all-powerful magic number three about the unification of the Trinity thought emotion and action coming together in a state of unison or non duality we saw that the mystical number seven seven seven this important number when it comes to the occult because it is about the activated man or woman I'm talking about the activated being okay that has ignited their thoughts emotions and actions and brought them together as one this number was represented you know the number seven represented a form of completion or activation of these three modes of consciousness thought emotion and action if you didn't have them any of them activated the number six was often used as the number four in completeness or in action okay a falling short failure etc so if you you know we're in the state of consciousness of not having activated thoughts meaning in ignorance of not having activated emotions meaning apathetic and being lazy or cowardly not acting okay that you were said to be in the state of the beast consciousness which is six six six the three six is applied to each one of those modalities of consciousness thought emotion and action conversely if they were awakened in you and an active and all United for the same basic purpose you were the activated being or the being that was in the world but not of it was um embodying the qualities of the divine not claiming to be God but embodying qualities that were godlike that were divinely inspired you could say making it one-to-one connection with that all so and brink tapping its power to bring that power into oneself okay to get out of fear based consciousness and truly activate the higher self that was the 777 and once again you add those together you get 21 which is three once again okay just like you add 12 together you get three it's the same thing when this process is activated in a living being the Trivium quadrivium and five cents is coming together then he is activated in the Trinity within himself or herself okay thought emotion and action come into unison this is a method for doing that okay so again this is all about solutions though all the shows are going to be hearing from here on into the future our solutions oriented approaches we already looked at mind control we already looked at the dominators methodologies now we're looking at how to free ourselves from their methods and these are the methods that are we can employ to actually free ourselves this is why people were forbidden to read they were forbidden to eclectically gather data they were forbidden to hold the same types of books that their masters or owners in a slavery system were allowed to have slaves throughout time were forbidden from reading slaves throughout time were forbidden from using the Trivium method this is a well occulted method and it unfortunately has been removed from the education system and we need to get it back into our education system or we need to get our kids out of the schools that won't teach people this way of learning because this is the method for knowing how to know anything really that's what it is it's learning how to think is what this is ultimately about and that's why they want to take this method and and occult it hide it from people's view so that they can't learn how to think and if you can't you don't know how to think you're going to be willing to buy whatever lies come down the pike because you're not going to be able to apply these methods for removing contradictions and quantifying your data set to come to an accurate under standing of what's taking place around you that's what this is all geared toward doing toward putting those skills into the hands of people so that they cannot be duped anymore so that they can do fact checking and data checking to understand is this accurate is this true so that's how the quadrivium fits into this whole big picture and it's important to understand and it's also important to understand how there are occult connotations to all of this and how through symbol they basically encoded this and again this three four five right triangle you will see it in a lot of different traditions but most of all the number one place you'll see it is often it is depicted in free

Masonic symbolism so let's actually get into now what the Trivium I'm sorry what the quadrivium method actually is all about so the quadrivium once again is arithmetic geometry music and astronomy in that order again this can't be emphasized enough if you take these out of order and you don't look at the mastery of one of these topics first as a prerequisite okay you're trying to eat your sandwich before you make it you're trying to build the top floor of a house before you build the foundation and there's no strength in that okay there's no empowerment in that all right and as a matter of fact it's quite impossible if you think about those things so it's impossible to take these out of order they have to be looked at in the in the order that they're laid down in this four step four method stepwise process arithmetic first geometry second music third astronomy fourth now in this little chart that I've put together in slide number six we're going to look at what each one of these Sciences are and we're going to relate them to esoteric concepts as well because again this is not just about the left brain aspect of things okay the the quadrivium itself does employ the left brain to a very great extent but this is also about the four fold method of uniting our internal elements or the components of ourselves okay and that has to be done for an overarching purpose which is the advancement of spirit which is the all-important fifth element again this three and four come together with the five okay the five is it as a huge symbol the five pointed star we looked at the pent the symbol of the pentagram in its positive aspect as being the spirit ruling over the the four material world elements earth air water and fire we're going to relate these Sciences to the four elements and and help help to understand in an effort to understand how these need to be bridged with and combined with spirit okay these are all for the advancement of spirit ultimately okay so the first method will look at is arithmetic and I hear the great music coming in so we'll leave the analysis of these four or sciences and the quadrivium we'll be getting into them right on the other side of this break more on the quadrivium your calls coming up in the second hour of what on earth is happening you won't want to miss it ladies and gentlemen don't go anywhere we'll be back after these words welcome back everyone this is the second hour on this week's edition of what on earth is happening today is Sunday November 27 2011 I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm the calling number for the show eight six six eight four one one zero six five I hope to be taking some calls this hour so call in and get in the queue and after we break down the quadrivium method we will be taking your calls and let's jump right back into this so here we go the four steps of the quadrivium the first science is arithmetic also known as basic mathematics okay this is referred to as the mother of all sciences because without math you really can't engage in other scientific methods because this is the basic means for quantification of data so what arithmetic simply is is the study of quantity involving the combination of numbers through the operations of addition subtraction multiplication and division this is this also known as basic math everyone knows what arithmetic is what I've put underneath here is that arithmetic or basic mathematics is pure construct okay it is abstraction in itself so it is we're not actually talking about physical things numbers are abstractions basically yes we can say we have an amount of something but that number in and of itself is an abstraction it exists in the mind the construct of the mind so this is about as non-physical as it gets okay we're engaging in abstract concepts we're engaging in constructs that take place really only in the mind that's what number actually is and number theory so it's important to keep in mind that this is probably the most ethereal of all of the methods of the quadrivium and as such I have ascribed the four elements to the four methods of the Trivium okay the of the quadrivium I should say the Trivium again threefold paths grammar logic and rhetoric is about input processing and output of data this quantification method known as the quadrivium we can relate each one of these to one of the four basic elements and as ere is related to the intellect okay the pure realm of abstraction and dealing with constructs err is the most appropriate to ascribe to the step of the quadrivium that is arithmetic that is the basic foundational step okay now you once again you can't go to geometry unless you have an understanding of arithmetic because to deal with geometric concepts you're gonna need to be able to do basic math okay if you need to add angles together okay if you need to add line length source of a polygon together you need math in order to find out any of the correct answers to that those questions so if you're gonna do mathematical operation if you want to do geometry operations that involve finding area or finding volume math is a prerequisite you can't do any of that without mathematics or arithmetic so again this is the foundation upon which all the others are built and as we'll see as we move forward really ultimately the other three methods of the quadrivium are built upon arithmetic and are a form of arithmetic themselves so we'll take deeper look at this on the other side this was a short segment we'll be back right after these words don't go anywhere you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting welcome back you're listening - what on earth is happening today on the show we're talking about the quadrivium methods of quantification in the processing stage of the Trivium method so we're looking at arithmetic science of numbers basically okay it's basic mathematics dealing with the combinations of numbers in order to quantify things and this is the root of science basically if we don't have this we can't really engage in other scientific methodologies because we won't know how to quantify our data set and that's extremely important the question of how much is more important than we realize we need to be able to put a overall measurement of value upon anything and this is not only includes the physical things this includes things that are of esoteric significance what is of value how much value can we ascribe to this to spend our time on it to pay our attention to it and so forth so numbers really when it comes down to it are the basis of everything hand-in-hand with that form is also the basis of everything which brings us to our next method in the quadrivium which is geometry so this is step number two meaning that the prerequisite for it is arithmetic once you have an understanding of how arithmetic works and functions and you could do it and you have mastered it then you can understand geometry this is why we don't get geometry lessons until high school or maybe late grade school okay in any real sort of way of course it's touched on you know but late in grade school you'll start with geometry classes you won't do that until you have an understanding of mathematics and that's addition subtraction multiplication and division because you need all of those operations in order to do geometry this is basic common sense and everybody pretty much knows this so what is geometry again the word is important because it means the measure of Earth okay so again this is related to Earth in an esoteric sense which will we'll get to let's talk about what geometry itself is it's a branch of mathematics that is concerned with shape size relative position and the properties of space okay so we're talking about the quantification of form now which again we can't do without arithmetic so this is understanding forms and form underlies everything as well so we can look at this as the study of the physical because we're moving out away from the area of pure abstraction or just constructional ways of thinking which is basic numbers and we're getting into form which actually forms actually do exist in the physical reality the 3d reality in which we live so this is less of an abstraction geometry now we're actually dealing with measurements of things in the physical world okay you know we can do it purely in an abstraction on paper or in a computer but we could also engage in geometrical constructs methods in the physical reality in which we live they apply to the physical world so again you'll see that it's defined as a branch of mathematics which means it is arithmetic in and of itself but it is applied to something what it is applied to is the measurement of space so it is arithmetic applied to space there were the arithmetic of space as I put there in parentheses on slide number 6 the chart on slide number 6 with Podcast were the radio show earth is what this deals with because that's what geometry actually means the month the the measure of Earth okay again measure is related with the concept of Mott in the Egyptian tradition the Earth Mother okay she is the spirit of justice and truth okay the G in the middle of the compasses and square in Freemasonry is often said to refer to geometry and it is one of the things as we talked about that that she corresponds to and relates to because it is about how we can reshape ourselves in order to come into harmony with that great mother okay the one who brings justice the one who is connected to the source of everything truth itself is what we're trying to align ourselves with that's what the whole esoteric tradition of Freemasonry is about as we saw in past podcasts so geometry means the measure of the earth and in in looking at it in that sense this is most certainly it most certainly corresponds with the element of Earth in the system of earth air water and fire the four material elements that we have to combine under the Spirit or ether the fifth element the quintessence so again the numbers three four and five again playing a huge vital role in the entire trivia method ok the Trivium being the three the quadrivium being the four and then the unification of these coming together in our five senses to activate and awaken them this is what the awakening process is all ultimately about we say people are asleep they need to wake up well this is the method for truly awakening oneself understanding these disciplines and learning how to think we're going to talk about later on the show in the show the science of Hermeticism we looked at the Hermetic tradition when we look into natural law and we're going to look at the five basic steps of that tradition and how this relates to the Trivium and quadrivium to awaken the five senses because that's ultimately what we're trying to do is wake people up take them from being unconscious which is asleep to being conscious which is awake so the third branch of the quadrivium the third quantification methodology is music okay music people will not generally think of as a science but it absolutely is okay and it was of critical importance to teach music especially to children who were still in formative and developmental years and we're still learning and and learning ultimately how to think without music as a balance to a lot of these other more hard and left-brain methods of science the balance becomes lost a music is so important it's played such a huge role in my life I have often attempted to try to find before we get into you know the definition of music and relating it to the esoterica one of the material elements I have often tried to find out what are the commonalities are the common factors that contribute to any given person's awakening and I have always found music to be a common thread very interesting we'll pick this up on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passable you looking at Audra IAM on today's show you're following along on the what on earth is happening radio show page of my website we were looking at slide number six which contains the four steps of the quadrivium and relates them to the esoteric elements of the material realm we already took a look at the first two I'm going to take a look at the second two hopefully in this segment and then we're going to start getting to some of your calls we looked at arithmetic as being the mother of these Sciences without which you couldn't do any of the other methods of the quadrivium because it is the ultimate method for the quantification of any data set is basic math so that is a prerequisite for all of these we looked at geometry as being the study of form and shape and size relative position we called it the arithmetic of space and as we gave arithmetic the characteristics of the quality of air we assigned earth to geometry it can be looked at as the mother of these Sciences and were the Prima Materia in a way you know it is a starting point in understanding form and function so we assigned earth to the science of geometry now we were looking at music and before the break I said that one of the key factors that seems to play a huge role in whether someone is conscious and this isn't to say that everyone who enjoys music is necessarily conscious and highly awake but I did notice in those who were music plays a huge role in their lives and often they have participated in making music in creating music and I find that very very interesting and inspiring because again music has played such a gigantic role in my life and I don't think that I necessarily would have come to the level of consciousness and awareness that I did hadn't it been for the creative outlet that music offered me in my life because ultimately we're here to be co-creators with the divine and music is a big big part of taking part in that process as is art as is creating artwork so these are two huge methods of awakening of helping to spur the process of awakening I should say that I haven't really touched too much on in the show but I think that at least should be said and I would suggest to people to do a social experiment to just find some of the more conscious people that you know and find out what role music played in their lives and I guarantee you will see a significant correlation with the people who are awake and whether they engaged in and actually took a creative role in making music and in general whether music played a significant role in their lives or not so what is music it is an art form which employs vibration rhythm dynamics and the interplay between sound and silence as its mediums for expression so most people don't consider this a science but ultimately if we looked at it every one of these ways that music expresses is a form of time or the the breakdown of time into smaller units into quantities okay because without time there can't be vibration okay without time there can't be rhythm okay you can't have an interplay between sound and silence without interspersing them in time throughout time this what we consider a linear progression of events so that all events don't happen at once okay it is separation in the sense of what we consider past present and future ultimately we understand from a higher consciousness point of view that there is only the present moment that there is only the now okay but music is created in the now okay when you're playing a single note that's happening now and then you move past that individual present moment things progress and then you play another note and then that note that was that vibration that was passes into what we call the past okay and then you keep going along with that flow of creating this dynamic inter interplay between sound and silence and we ultimately call that music that's what tempo is okay the changes in time that we experience through create the creation of music all right dynamics is whether things get loud or soft okay and that changes throughout time every one of these concepts is related to time so as we saw all the concepts in geometry are related to space and form while music could be considered the science of time but specifically it's the quantification of the science of time so that's arithmetic arithmetic is the science of quantification okay so what I've called music here is simply the arithmetic of time okay it is number applied to time whereas number applied to smae to space describes geometry so that could be a heady way of looking at music but indeed that is how the ancients saw the system of music in general and why they placed so much importance on it because they understood the present moment awareness and how music plays a huge part in that if you want to be truly present in the present moment and aware of what's going on around you play and banned and understand how much you go into the zone as they say when you are fully present and you become one with the vibration you've become one with the song and that's what we're all Tamiya all here to do to become one with the one song the universe okay the one change were a vibratory energy that is taking place all around us that we are part of it's to recognize our oneness with that so music helps to come into the present moment okay and understanding music is not really truly possible without first understanding number and form because that's ultimately what we're dealing with that's what music is all about music is all about form through vibration just look at some cymatics videos and you'll understand what I mean that sound is the underlying force behind all form so maybe I'll post a couple of cymatics videos with this podcast cym 80 ICS cymatics a very very interesting study if you haven't looked into it you'll really come to an appreciation of how important vibratory energy is when it comes to what we see through shape and form and color for that matter it's all about frequency and vibration and music and it's understanding and it's study can play a huge role in unlocking those higher minded concepts and helping us to bring them down to the realm of usability in the material realm and one of the as I said one of the biggest components of that is helping us to stay rooted in the present moment because it's all about time it is the arithmetic of time as a matter of fact now let's look at the fourth and final method of the Trivium and then we'll go to some calls and then I'm going to maybe wrap things up today again talking about how this relates in with the Hermetic tradition as we had been talking about in the in the stage one we discussed natural law the fourth and final method is astronomy there's the intro music so we'll pick this up on the other side of the break we'll look into the science of astronomy and how that relates to the quadrivium don't go anywhere folks you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening today we're discussing the triplet quadrivium and we were on the fourth step of the quadrivium before the fourth and final science that the quadrivium entails for the quantification of the data that we have acquired through the first step in the Trivium method grammar and that we wish to process accurately to come to an understanding of so that we can then do something with that knowledge that we have acquired so science number four is astronomy and actually before we look into this I want to just relate one more thing about music and that is that this is the emotional quality this is the what you could call the Sacred Feminine of these four Sciences of the quadrivium and again that's the one that truly brings balance to the equation music would be water ok the higher feminine element and again music is all related with flow just like water ok the flow of time the flow of energy that's what music is all ultimately about it's one of the reasons they want to create so much discord discordance with the kind of energy they're pumping out there through radionics cell phone towers HAARP chemtrails etc these are all things to disrupt the flow of music within us to set our vibration off okay so discord continues both within us and in our interactions with others so moving toward the fourth science of astronomy we understand that what astronomy is is the science that deals with celestial objects okay the science of the gods so to speak the objects out there beyond the earth wanting to understand how the movement of these objects works okay their geometries their music so to speak okay the natural science that deals with the study of celestial objects such as stars planets comets nebulae and galaxies so this has been called the music of the spheres this has been called the science of the gods on this chart here I refer to it as the arithmetic of time and space we're quantifying the movements through time of celestial objects that have positions in space an understanding that they have a rhythm that they have a cycle that they have a music it is a symphony so you need to understand music geometry and arithmetic before you can understand astronomy that's why truly the study of astronomy will be balanced with an understanding of music because music is the feminine to the masculine of astronomy the macrocosmic world the higher realm okay this is alchemical fire that we're talking about the fire that ignites the universe of the Stars okay so I called it the arithmetic of time and space it could be simply referred to as the music of the spheres as it has often been called so this is the fourth and final method of the Trivium and you know I look back on this chart and I realize when I was growing up these were the things that I considered valuable important and in first thing to learn when I was in school and unfortunately one of the biggest parts that plays a huge does not play it I should say does not play a huge role in clay in modern education as it did in classic education is music schools totally cut back their music programs to emphasize more on reading writing arithmetic okay now arithmetic of course is important as it's one of the foundational steps of the Trivium but when we place too much emphasis on the left brain methodologies and take away the one of the all important forms which is music from the educational system we're keeping our children in a left brain prison which is what I'm going to talk about in the last segment is how this entire system works to help balance the brain if it is used correctly and wisely okay the Trivium and quadrivium together is a technique for balancing the brain and I'll explain how that is and I'm also going to relate it a little bit again as I said to the Hermetic tradition of initiation but before that let's take a couple of calls here we go caller from Ohio you are live on what on earth is happening welcome hi how are you yes this is a great call I stumbled across this because I originally don't dove into the free mate Freeman radio with Dean Clifford about the trust law and stuff and then I kind of stumble across truth frequency excellent so this is great information that's totally right in my line because I'm totally familiar well that's why when I was a kid growing up they forced me from being ambidextrous to being just writing with my right hand to force me to be a logical thinker right and the math and the geometry and and stuff like that was was it taught to me in school I received a diploma that says I'm graduated so I totally resonate with all this information sure so yeah the right the reason that they make children right with the right hand or at least used to force that on them is because they want you in the left brain in the education system because um the left brain controls the right side of the body so if you are left-handed you have a more open and receptive right brain modality which puts you into a truly intuitive and creative state that's exactly right sir and I'm naturally left-handed and was always left-handed from you know the time I was extremely young and fortunately for me no one ever forced the right handedness onto me so it's something I've often looked into as well to see who has a more open and receptive right brain which is so critically important and it often makes me wonder why so few people are left-hand that are born left-handed and even though the few that are they look at that as a bad thing and try to condition that out of a child yeah well I'm totally in tune with while getting in tune with the universal consciousness of what's going on I am waking up fast so you know I stumbled across Vedic math which is heart math which is Lee works the feminine and masculine yes sort of the brain and it opens you up so if I go on these calls every Sunday well this probably helped me out and steer me in the direction I need because because I'm just trying to UM to get truth and freedom when it comes to the system that's trying to run my life that's right and get free from like I said you know I recently came it down to this because I they're playing a right brain game on us or whatever kind of logical brain game on ice in the court system and all that so do you speak about a lot of that stuff also yes as a matter of fact I did yeah not specifically trust law but how Admiralty law which is what we have in the United States varies widely from natural law so um you can I know what that is in my news section I've done a few interviews on some other shows we haven't gotten into that on my program too much as of yet I've touched upon it but if you listen to some of the interviews I've done recently in the news section of my website you will find a couple of shows where I talk getting depth on Admiralty law oh yeah I'm familiar with it because the atmosphere or law runs the world that's right I mean it's UCC so I'm in tune with that but it's just I think I'm going to be coming to this call every Sunday this is totally in line with what I need to do because because with Vedic math I need to retrain myself with the math geometry and then the music sacred geometry because that has everything to do with the fight pi codes inside the bus you know sure with opening up the as above so below you know because I am part of the universe we are all one and who knows what that could do for transforming our creative potentials we have the ability to actually rewrite ourselves and make ourselves over again we're not locked into any form or any specific function we can choose to create a different destiny for ourselves and that's one of the methods for doing it oh yeah man you know what I mean I've been well part of my journey you know I I thought I was in the truth when I was in church and stuff but that's been perverted too there is some well sir thanks um great thanks so much for the call I appreciate it and I'm glad you're finding it useful information keep listening and I'll keep that's right thank you take care sir thanks for the great call one more segment coming up folks don't go anywhere we'll be right back what do you look cific with these eyes we see the sunglasses we see the same things we have to be able to see through their illusions folks and the Trivium and quadrivium are methods for doing that I'm gonna wrap up a few concepts and then we're going to finish up with some phone calls and let me direct everybody's attention to the slides again on the website we looked at slide number six - slide 7 I go back to the Trivium and just reiterate that it is about ultimately information and the accurate input processing and output about information just like a computer that is working properly would deal with information if any one of these things is off the computer is basically not doing its job properly and the human brain acts as the central processing unit of the human body computer if you will and if it's not operating in efficiency or in balance we're going to have junk being output which means behaviors that are not conducive to what we really want to see for a peaceful and prosperous existence here on earth so the Trivium can act as a fulcrum point or a method of balance for the human brain and I want to help people to understand how this entire process works in the brain see the the first step of the Trivium process is the input and in order for that to work properly we can't have a non functioning right brain hemisphere so the right brain has to be somewhat receptive this is part of the problem with why people won't take in any of this new information at all once the brain has become so engrossed in certain electrochemical activity it almost hardwires that way that's how mind control works it's trying to hardwire a set of pathways into the brain you know to get the pathways functioning a certain way and calcify it almost turned it into stone symbolically you know not really but in other words when certain neural activity takes place chronically we get it used to that and almost addicted to the way that is and therefore if the right if that process isn't engaging the right brain because we've always been in this left brain prison okay the right brain is not going to be receptive to new information it's going to reject it without non-judgmental collection of that information which is what part one of the Trivium is all about the grammar stage okay the input stage the right brain has to be somewhat receptive and it has to basically allow the ego to step aside with its likes dislikes preferences opinions etc and just take the information in without filtering it that's part one part two is the filtration process that is the the the logic step ok the processing step this is the part that we're really engaging the left brain and as you saw yes the quadrivium is largely a left brain methodology set of methodologies and I would say with the exception of music music is definitely a right brain method because it involves so much creative energy okay that helps us to come to an accurate understanding of things the problem is in the educational system the way it's set up today the right brain is almost excluded from this process entirely and at a very young age they're giving us a data set that is incomplete that has completely walled off certain entire chunks of reality it has firewalled off and what that does is that puts us into a fire walled walled off brain state that only engages the left brain with the information that has been deemed acceptable in by this control system and therefore we're trapped in this endless processing mode without any connection to the right brain modalities see what the goal is of the part one the input stage is to feed the totality of the information we've taken into the left brain so then the processing of that information can begin if we don't understand the steps for processing which is what the quadrivium is ultimately about okay it plays a big role in that we're not going to come out with an accurate analysis which is understanding okay that's why I put quadrivium on this left side it is the processing stage to arrive at understanding is what the purpose of it is only then can we then feed it back to the right brain which answers the question why and what for what purpose and for what reason ultimately is this is this information has it have I come to these conclusions regarding it and then how am I going to allow those conclusions to guide my actions okay this is all right brain material after the processing stage is finished you have to make a reconnection with the right mind again which is where the process began the right brain hemisphere and it doesn't just go totally to the right brain and then leave out all the logic that you understood it combines them at that point it bridges them so that's why the output is holistic in its function the output the rhetoric or the wisdom is what we do with what we know once we have arrived at an accurate understanding and that is a holistic process it is neither left nor right brain if one has truly used this methodology correctly it is holistic functioning reasoning which is what wisdom actually is because that's what is guiding our actions we are now acting on accurate understanding and that is whole brained intelligence not just left brain intellect so with that being said I just want to touch on the five steps of hermetic initiation and how this relates to the Trivium and quadrivium in Hermeticism one of the most ancient mystical traditions okay for awakening a human being through the process of initiation the five steps were stop lying especially to yourself okay that's what understanding what's really going on in the world is about get out of your state of denial okay stop dreaming and this doesn't mean don't think of ways of making the future better it means stop existing in cognitive dissonance of seeing one way that the world actually is right now in thinking that it's some other way or trying to lie to yourself and saying it's some other way that it isn't stop dreaming about what you think the world is or ought to be and accept it for what it is and then do something about it okay the third step is learn how to think which is what the Trivium is all ultimately about right there in the middle of the five-step initiatory method in the ancient wisdom traditions in the ancient mystical traditions was learn how to think that's the the middle of this process if you don't learn how to think you're never going to come to accurate understanding about anything and the

Trivium was employed at this step in the process of initiation you have to stop lying you got to want to know the truth you got to stop dreaming get out of your cognitive dissonance about what you think is going on and then really learn what really is going on so then that's how to think okay using the Trivium and quadrivium methods and ultimately the fourth and fifth steps were truly live in the present moment which is we already referred to today talked about that that's what part of the quadrivium helps us to do and to activate the physical body the importance of food which we're going to be bringing up very soon on this show and have some guests come on to talk about that and how to really generate health and maintain the health of the body and the brain I'll leave it there for today we took in a lot of information let's go to the calls I see we have our good friend Bob Tuscan on the line who's gonna be a guest on next week's show Bob you can take us out what do you have for us today my friend Bob are you there Bob Tuscon okay looks like he hung up let's go to Mike in New York you're live on what on earth is hi I'm mark thanks taking my call sure I just like to go out and say that if you do not do the steps for the cherien you'll never ever reach the steps of the quadrivium you must take in the processing you must do the information and you must do the output doing those steps helps to balance or helps go back and balance be between the left and right hemispheres of the brain and then the quadrivium once if you actually took it back and studied them all it took a lifetime to do it all ancient cultures with all great ancient cultures were all old masters of arithmetic geometry music and astronomy because they realize that those are truly the tools that God used to build anything and everything around us that's right and do the balance and use of all those things we can help correct our own lives and the lives of everyone else around us that's exactly right Mike thanks so much Mike when are you gonna get your own radio show that's what I want to know you could be doing this probably better than me - Thank You Marco I'll take that into consideration I have a big show it's nothing Ellen continuing great stuff you always have an eloquent way with words and I thank so much for you taking us out today that's all we have time for today folks hope you enjoyed the show stick around Chris our art is up next what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening dot com the call-in number for the show i think i neglected to give it out in the last segment is 866-841-1065 once again the call-in number 866-841-1065 we'll be taking your calls in the second hour of the show tonight i'm getting ready to bring on our special guest so here we go jan irvin is the host of the popular gnostic media podcast a show that focuses on utilizing the classical seven liberal arts of the trivium and quadrivium bringing together leading independent and academic researchers to discuss ancient mysteries education politics economics and much more yan's websites are gnosticmedia.com and triviumeducation.com welcome to what on earth is happening mr yan irvin hi mark thanks and uh glad to be here it's a pleasure to have you uh uh you've been a big influence for me and your work with the trivium really stands out amongst uh people who research this important topic so uh why don't we start by having you um tell the listeners a little bit about your background and how you learned about the trivia method and its vital importance uh in a real education well let's see my background a little bit i got into researching all of this i suppose originally i got into it through working with jack hair and the california hemp initiative back in the early 90s and we worked on prop 215 for medical marijuana that helped to you know legalize medical marijuana here in california and now across a third of the country and jack hairs who led me into researching infusions and psychedelics or or psychedelics as they're commonly called and in 2000 december 2005 i published my first book astro theology and shamanism followed up with a dvd the farmer credit inquisition in 2007 and then my book the holy mushroom evidence of mushrooms in judeo-christianity in 2008 i got into researching the trivium because in in october 2008 i launched the gnostic media podcast which was something that was sitting around an idea that i had been working toward for about a year before i actually launched the show and it was at my first year anniversary of the show was when i first had gino denninon who was my or is my mentor in the trivium and brought that information to me and because of my research in my book astro theology and shamanism and all of the recurring sevens that uh that kept coming up in that research the seven ancient planets the seven chakras um the seven stars of the pleiades excuse me all of these sevens kept coming up including the seven liberal arts but i couldn't quite figure out at the time how to approach the topic for that book so uh when when gino denning approached me he had sent me an an email with a long description of what the trivium was and and all of this stuff and sort of baited me with it to see if i would show interest and follow up with him which as soon as i saw his email and started going through it it was one of those epiphany moments of aha this is what i've been looking for and how to connect it all so i immediately emailed gino denning back and said and asked him if he would be able to present this information on my show which of course he replied and said that he would be which is now the famous uh gino dinning trivium quadrivium and kabbalah series on the gnostic media podcast episodes 49 50 and 51. that have really become the backbone of everything that we do at gnostic media and for that matter at the tragedy and hope uh website which is richard andrew groves and he runs the peace revolution podcast which you know we all contribute to so all of these things all of these projects that we've since taken up all incorporate the trivium and quadrillion because it is uh the foundation of of gathering knowledge and understanding information removing the contradictions before you pass that information on to others so obviously this is essential to making sure that we're passing on clear and cogent information to others before or so that we don't infect our downline and we think that that is essential because so much of the media and information being distributed out there is is awash in misinformation and disinformation and just with things that people get on uh ideas that people get on a whim or that they channel without ever fact checking anything and so we're trying to get people back to the core of verifying information before they pass it on to others sort of a a mental antivirus system because bad information when you pass that on it's the same as passing on a virus and you waste everyone's time and your downline from there so we feel that it's essential to help people or empower people with the proper tools so that they can get through all of the nonsense out there in life that's being thrown at them all of the disinformation and be able to sort of uh find their way to through to you know and the trivium being the lighthouse sort of in the darkness there that's a great point john and uh i think one of the most important things to keep in mind is when you talk about uh removing the contradictions from information before passing along that's so important one of the best definitions for truth that i've ever heard anyone give is truth when taken into oneself is that which can do no harm so that's really what you're attempting to do with the trivia method uh get people to basically uh uh boil information down to its core essence so that we can get at what is actually true remove the fallacies from that information and then in passing it along when other people take it into themselves they can do no harm with that information they can only generate order and good with that information exactly and go ahead yes no go ahead oh i was i wasn't sure if you wanted me to add something to that but yeah you're exactly you're exactly right on that uh the trivium logic or grammar logic and rhetoric and in fact if people go to the triviumeducation.com website they can see the trivium logo there which is sort of a triangle with con with truth in them in the middle surrounded by consciousness and what the christians did and if you look at old christian artwork and things like that they'll take the trivium and the three points grammar logic and rhetoric and what they'll do is they'll put god in the middle rather than truth but we think that this really usurps the power of the trivium because rather than looking for truth in and of itself you have to put your dogma uh your religious dogma before truth so by putting truth there we are looking for truth no matter what our predisposed dogmatic beliefs are and uh so which it forces us to or allows us to be able to question the veracity of certain things of religious beliefs and things like that whereas if we put god or deuce in the middle whatever it may be that prevents us from doing so because we think ah okay well i arrived at god and here's this bible that tells me what to think from here so that's the end of my search and by by putting truth in the middle truth becomes the ultimate search rather than some predisposed religious belief i couldn't agree more and i think that's a great point so uh we here's the intro music for the next break stay with us we'll be right back after these words with our special guest john irvin and our topic trivium education don't go anywhere folks you are listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back welcome back everyone i'm mark pacio and this is what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting our special guest today is jan irvin of gnosticmedia.com and triviumeducation.com we're talking today with jan about the trivium as part of our ongoing look into solutions that's what this is all about ladies and gentlemen solutions oriented approaches how do we need to shift our focus when it comes to teaching ourselves when it comes to true learning and a true classical education that is different from the indoctrination system that we've been given as part of the public school system here in the western world and in fact throughout the world for that matter so um jan you were one of the great speakers at the free your mind conference back in april you spoke on sunday the second day of the free your mind conference and you gave a presentation there which absolutely blew a lot of people away it was called the trivium meme i thought it was one of the hardest hitting presentations at the for your mind conference can you tell the listeners a little bit about what that presentation was about well it's it was really excuse me it was really about the trivium itself and just trying to give people an understanding of gathering knowledge and information and understanding how mind control systems work and using the trivium as a method to see through those mind control systems and properly process information we're trying to teach people how to install a system into their own minds that properly protects them from bad information like you mentioned the the logical fallacies being able to spot the fallacies and things like that unfortunately we didn't have the time to go into some of the logical fallacies during that lecture but it was really just you know a foundational uh understanding of the trivium is in as short and quick a time as as we could possibly give it and i apologize for stuttering so much for those of you who have managed to sit through the video on that oh no i think it is a fantastic presentation and i think everybody should definitely check that presentation out if you have not seen it already you can go to freeyourmindconference.com click on john irvine's name under the speaker list and watch the entire uh video for free uh it's uh posted up to youtube as well and all right it's it's also on uh the gnostic media page under videos or under trivium study if uh people can get there quickly as well great all of the videos on the free your mind conference have been posted and are free for uh everyone's uh uh viewing and downloading uh if you haven't checked that site out uh be sure to do so john irving once again one of the great speakers at that conference let's talk a little bit about logical fallacies john yawn i'd like to talk about the word fallacy itself for people who may not know the etymology of the word it derives from a latin word uh follow a verb follow f-a-l-l-o faleri and this word means in latin it the meaning of the word is to deceive so deceiver to lie correct that's right this gives a whole new meaning to the term fall of man you know people think of the fall of man as some sort of a degradation that happened to man's nature quote unquote but uh if we look at it in this way maybe it's a grand deception that has been pulled over his eyes it's the deception of man and well it's interesting that you should say that and and i in fact i heard you in your last week's show mention my comment to you about the uh fall of man with the tree of knowledge so before we get into the fallacies would you like me to read to the audience what i read to you last week absolutely go right ahead all right studying the kabbalah it's interesting that the tree when fallen knowledge first which is the da at position is not seen this is absolutely the state of affairs today logic before grammar understanding before knowledge what can possib what can one possibly understand before they know what they're attempting to understand who what where when equals knowledge logic is understanding it answers why but only after knowledge then we gain clarity and wisdom in our rhetoric the tree of knowledge is the tree of life is the kabbalistic tree and this is coming from page 161 and daniel feldman's book on the kabbalah the sephirah knowledge first is always there but in a fallen state we do not see it and then continuing on from me so if mankind has fallen his position of knowledge first the diot position has fallen to earth therefore it has fallen out of use man has fallen out of knowledge understanding and wisdom therefore he cannot see the quote-unquote kingdom is it not irony oh wait you know and this is something that uh you know that it is said that the kabbalah you don't start studying it in jewish tradition until you're 40 years old and i put in my notes here that is it not irony that i've had the feldman's book for two years before i started studying it now that i'm 40 years old now uh the trivium quadrivium and kabbalah make up a functioning system just as grammar logic and rhetoric make up a functioning system within the trivium and within the quadrivium mathematics geometry music and astronomy make up a system well so it is with the trivium and quadrivium and cabala together making up another level of the functioning system so knowledge has fallen from first it's fallen to the literally the anus position or the foundation foundation position in the kabbalah and on page 101 of feldman's book when the sephirah knowledge first position falls and becomes set for a kingdom it takes the gate bet one with it which thereby can connects the kingdom only to suffer a foundation below end quote and a fallen tree has a trunk in a fallen tree knowledge first falls to the small phase position man has fallen out of the garden to earth he falls from a position of the world of at zeluth in the logic and rhetoric down to the world of the yetzera because he is not thinking by asking who what where when first knowledge first so he loses it and he falls so you know in other words man has the fall just like you pointed out so those who put their logic before their grammar are causing the fall done intentionally to them and they're ignorant at that they have fallen from the tree of knowledge and then uh this gives a whole new take to uh the concept of being expelled from the garden exactly exactly right exactly exactly what i'm getting at here so the trivium and quadrivium and cabala i are a higher level functioning system just as grammar logic and rhetoric make up the trivium and arithmetic geometry music and astronomy make up the quadrivium and uh let's see and then uh what i just a couple of side notes that i put here when i've finished filling out the tree i have gained knowledge understanding of wisdom which should open up the crown gate those who do evil purposely purposefully use the tree to keep people in the lower levels so that they can manipulate them for personal gain but this brings the whole of the world down with them that is the entire role of the occultation of knowledge to begin with the occult in general is about secrecy is about keeping secrets keeping knowledge from people so that they cannot develop it into understanding right and and the irony of that is these people that do that they not only keep those who they wish to control below them but they keep the whole of humanity including themselves from reaching a higher state exactly so exactly right so in their own ignorance and selfishness not only are they hurting the rest of us which is all they and their narrow-minded perception can see but they're hurting themselves and that's the you know the pathetic part is they think that they're one-upping ever you know all of us in their own self-gain but they're literally hurting themselves and everyone else as a whole exactly absolutely i couldn't have said it better myself i mean that is exactly what these dark occultists are doing in their short-sightedness you put it beautifully we're coming up to another break ladies and gentlemen you are listening to john irvin talking about the trivium and its importance in our lives and how we need to employ it if we're going to turn this great ship of the species of humanity around and put it on the right course so we'll be right back after these messages don't go anywhere more with john irvin coming up after these words welcome back ladies and gentlemen you are listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com our special guest today is jan irvin of triviumeducation.com in the last segment we were getting into some of the esoteric meanings of the fall of man and how this relates to man being deceived and falling from a place of knowing a place of having knowledge and that knowledge being occulted and kept hidden from humanity as a whole so uh jan let's get back into what led us into that uh uh that brief aside there when we got into some esoteric concepts and the kabbalah as related with the trivia method we were really uh starting to talk about logical fallacies because we brought up the derivation of the word fallacy so uh why don't you talk a little bit about logical fallacies and how you can apply this technique uh of spotting logical fallacies to actually filter the information that is out there well logical fallacies as we mentioned previously is from the latin folare which is to liar to deceive so there's roughly there's probably about 20 22 main fallacies that uh are known but you can you know there are lists out there that include maybe 90 up to 200 different fallacies but because humans are deceptive creatures there's probably never going to be an end to the new methods of lying to one another that people will come up with so it is important to be able to uh name the fallacies because the having the explicit knowledge of the fallacies enables you to take when somebody's lying to you and having a funny feeling about it to going to having explicit knowledge where you're able to identify the exact type of lie that someone has used against you and you're able to express to someone else that lie and how it was used against you so and and effectively when you are able to name each of the fallacies by name and explain what they are this very act of having them memorized gives you explicit knowledge of of the many different ways that are typically used to lie to you or you know and to other people so in other words the better you get at this explicit knowledge of the fallacies the better you'll be able to protect yourself and others downstream from you and not only that but the fallacies are not just used to catch lies coming in through your five senses from others but it's also used to filter these same lies or fallacies out from your own thoughts before you spread information on to others so it's equally important in two directions and uh so to start off with some of the most common fallacies uh most people have heard of an ad hominem fallacies so like let's say that uh you know i'm talking about the trivium and somebody comes up and and says well john you know anything that he says can't be true because he's just a a neo pinky liberal commie instead of dealing with the information i'm presenting what they'll do is they'll throw a tax at me as a way to divert attention away from the information rather dealing with the specific information presented they'll just use these attacks you know they'll call somebody a homosexual or a republican or because this person is christian they possibly couldn't have anything valid to say or or somebody just mentioned to me that they love your work but because uh you have commercials on your show there's therefore there's nothing that your show could possibly have of value to present uh you know so they're using a cert that would be actually a circumstantial ad hominem against you rather than just going through it and taking out the information that's valid an appeal to authority is a very common fallacy where typically somebody believes someone uh strictly because they have a white coat on like a doctor or a scientist or somebody who sits behind a desk in front of a tv camera and calls themselves a news correspondent or something like that or you know a politician it basically it typically has to do with somebody putting on a funny costume like a code or a hat you know a police uniform whatever it may be and then uh using that as their position of authority rather than dealing with with real facts and information and then you have appeal to belief which is uh if you don't do x uh god is going to come down and and punish you or most people believe that x is true and therefore you should believe it's true because they do that sort of thing um appeal to fear is uh if you don't do this all of these bad things are going to happen if you don't so therefore you have to do it i think larkin rose gives a great example of this fallacy and his presentation you know the uh that he's these people if they don't throw the body into the volcano every year some the volcano god is going to come and get them and i know larkin was on your show a few weeks ago yes and uh he's been on my show as well and he always is an excellent presentation i very highly recommend people get completely familiar with his research and what he's presenting in regards to the myth of government and then of course there's appeal to pity appeal to popularity you know if you do this if you buy this car if you drink this beer you'll have all the pretty girls um appeal to ridicule an appeal to ridicule is a really funny one to use an appeal to ridicule it's it's really you're you you let's say you make a a claim that uh and you present whatever claim in your evidence and i say well mark your claim isn't true because and that's all the evidence that i care to present i just laugh at you so this is known as an appeal to ridicule and it's a very common tactic you'll see uh tv news pundits use this sort of thing all the time a caller will call in with some real information and they'll just you actually think that this or that and that's all the uh the evidence that or the the uh that's all the backing that they'll use to refute the claim which you know these are just tricks and uh begging the question this is a very common one that christians like to use uh let's say uh they're talking about something out of the bible and they say well i know this is fact because it was written by god and you say well how do you know it was written by god and they say well because it says it says so right here in the bible you can't use the same source that you're reading from as proof of the claim that you're making and um there are uh post hoc fallacies uh such as a black cat crossed my path last night and therefore when i tripped over the sidewalk and stubbed my toe today it was because of the black cat that's a post hoc fallacy and uh there are middle misleading vividness uh another favorite that politicians like to use is the red herring fallacy and the red herring fallacy comes from the old days when they would teach a hunting dog how to go after a fox and what they would do is they would while they were training the dog they would take a fish or a herring and they would drag the fish across the trail of the fox and they would try and get the hound to follow the trail of the fish so what you're doing is you're you're laying out an entirely different topic and you're trying to lead that person off the trail of the original topic that they were pursuing onto this completely other unrelated uh topic and uh another similar one in this category is the straw man fallacy and the straw man well a corporation is a straw man for instance but what a straw man is is if i present an argument of something let's say i present argument x y z and somebody will take my argument x y z and they'll tweak it just a little tiny bit to make it look very similar to the undiscerning eye to my argument when in fact what they've done is they've taken key elements of my argument and they've changed them to state their own positions and then they'll attack and debunk those positions that look like mine but aren't and then they'll say haha see i refuted this person with this even though they never refuted the the real argument in the first place uh in other fallacies two wrongs make a right which is a common uh one that people like to use and i also recommend that people get familiar with the latin names of the fallacies as well because having the latin names under your belt can be very helpful in identifying a lot of these types of arguments um it sounds it sounds like overall what all of these um uh appeals to different uh sources of misdirection to try to take people off the course of actually looking at the information what they're all ultimately based upon is fear the same thing that creates all negativity in every aspect of any aspect of fear or emotion in general you know because some of these are like you know an appeal to popularity isn't necessarily appealing to fear you're you know you're saying hey you know if you do this that hot blonde over there is going to come over here and she's going to take care of you that sort of thing so it's not really all of them aren't necessarily working on fear but they are working on different aspects of human emotion and if the and if those aspects of human emotion aren't understood and in fact a an explicit level of understanding placed on top of those emotions regarding the fallacies so that when they come come up you can identify them that's how this is used and so when you lay out the the cabala tree you can see how all of these different possibilities are right there fascinating yon we're going to continue this on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening right here on oracle broadcasting our special guest today john irvin we'll be right back with more from john irvin after these words don't go anywhere folks we'll be right back our special guest today is john irvin of gnosticmedia.com and triviumeducation.com john in the last segment you gave a great breakdown of some of the illogical fallacies that are employed that the trivium helps us to see through to get to the truth of the matter that we're looking at so um i want to talk a little bit about the suppression of this method of uh education of becoming a self-taught individual ultimately is what the goal of the trivia method is and um uh you know this has been deliberately removed from the educational system uh i want you to talk about why you feel that's been done and what the implications are in consciousness and in the sorry of of which part has been done i missed uh trivium has been removed uh completely from the educational system in the modern world and that deliberate suppression i want you to talk about what you feel the implications are of that for human consciousness in general and the direction that humanity is moving in the future uh since we now have outcome-based education system sense the fall out of the garden and down the tree of knowledge sure i mean uh you know the implications of of the loss of the trivium in education and everything are so huge it's it's inestimable really um the the cost of all of this on humanity and all of our well-being and welfare uh right now in the present it it affects everything from the mod the current state of affairs with politics and marketing and our commercial television and radio and it affects uh the law systems and all of these things that these politicians push through to uh manipulate us and control us and it and it affects how people are willing to assign their autonomy over to some criminal politician all for some vote as an allusion to freedom and rather than realizing that it's their vote that gives the consent to these criminals in the first place and i mean the it it affects people at the core level because even uh bachelor's and master's degree students today that graduate from so-called liberal arts educations don't have the true classical trivia quadrivium of the seven liberal arts and they still don't have the traditional means of uh critical thinking so uh hold on just a second please sure yeah it you know it the it it has a method and as far as uh just um it you know it's just breaking down people's ability to think to interact with each other properly to be autonomous self-sustaining individuals and you know take care of ourselves our own lives and not give our our autonomy over to other people as larkin again so poignantly uh points out and it it it uh affects us on a nutritional and dietary level because we believe and buy into whatever they they tell us on the mainstream media and the commercials and things like that when uh this information couldn't be further from the truth you know they want you to believe that that animal fats and cholesterol are bad for you and that everyone should be a vegetarian and meanwhile the brain is made out of cholesterol and if you don't have animal fats you can't reproduce and when you plug in all of these population control and eugenic stuff all of that plays right into this stuff and i know that's going to upset a lot of your listeners significantly so i do recommend people go on my side and listen to the the two recent shows i did with dr glidden and dr wallach just for instance on those topics and uh so there's really no aspect that the trivium and quadrivium don't apply to people's lives and to be able to think clearly and critically with the information coming in via the five senses and quickly determine the proper course of action before leaping to an action without having an understanding of the proper action that you need to take before you make that first step it helps us to engage our responsibility that's ultimately what the trivium does it enables us to be prepared for whatever scenario comes our way so uh great great uh response there i want to ask you about your take on homeschooling and if what steps parents can take to ensure that their children will grow up with the trivium method in hand uh is homeschooling a must for that to happen well homeschooling is not a must it's certainly helpful and in elementary school the most important thing is for children to do mimetic learning in the first place and so you know they're not going to do too much damage to the children at the younger ages it's when they get into junior high in high school that the real damage is done when the kids really get frustrated with uh you know with math and things like that and not having a a firm understanding of of where or why things are being taught and i've heard so many times you know kids say you know mathematics that's taught in high school and the like that they would never have any use for it in real life and what would they ever possibly use it for and this is simply because they don't understand because they're it's not taught in the context of the trivium of being able to walk outside in nature and see how leaves and plants and animals and everything out there is based on the fibonacci sequence and the golden ratio and all of this stuff um so you know as far as uh the education system and everything it's you know it's uh it's well i don't really know how to conclude there i kind of lost my train of thought right there well the the basic question was uh how what role will homeschooling play oh yeah yeah yeah and so you know homeschoolers you know it is and i recommend especially for people that can't handle the workload of it to seek and find out uh homeschool groups so that you're working with other groups of like-minded individuals that are trying to uh teach their children this information but and on top of all of that there isn't really a a good solid book out there right now to teach the trivium to to children there are a couple of uh of christian versions uh harvey bluedorn has a uh a version of the trivium a christian version of the trivium out there uh there's a diane lock here or something like that as a trivium book out there to teach the the children trivia but these uh are very christian slanted and they tell the audience to omit specific researches and the like uh in their teaching the terrible to children which i completely disagree with you don't limit and omit information because obviously by doing that very act shows that you have an agenda to protect but nevertheless these sources out there do have valid information in it and you do not want to kill them the the messengers so what you need to do is when you study these sources you turn on your trivia filter and you just spot those fallacies when they use them in those agendas and navigate around them so that you can get the value uh out of those teachings and you know uh uh harvey blue dorn is probably the leader of publicly speaking right now teaching the trivium to children whereas we focus more on teaching it to to adults which has been omitted uh from the you know from the education system for all of us so there there's a gap out there still that needs to be filled in both and even the like uh the book the trivium by sister miriam joseph that's been around since the 1930s she was a catholic nun in that book is filled with her own agenda and things like that so all of this stuff has to be taken into an account and hopefully you know sometime in the next decade we'll begin to see books coming out that provide the real trivium without any agenda just laying out the facts and the truth without anyone's personal agendas caught up in there and and so far to date as far as i know for the last 2500 years since the trivium was created there hasn't been one interesting so i i do want to get your take on some resources that people can get into to learn more about the trivium we'll talk about that a little bit more in the second hour um what we are going to do uh now is uh get ready to bring bob tuskin onto the show he's going to be coming up in the second hour bob tuskin of course one of the great hosts here on oracle broadcasting his website is bobtuskin.com and we're going to bring him on to join the conversation with ian and myself to continue to talk about the trivium and how we can employ these methods to really regain control over our thoughts as a whole so that we can once again take ourselves onto the right course as an entire species and get out of the mess in consciousness that we have put ourselves into through this fall from a higher level of knowledge you're not going to want to miss that ladies and gentlemen and also coming up in the second hour we'll be taking your calls that's coming up ahead we'll be right back after these messages with bob tusken machine that burns in your hands welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening today is sunday december 4th 2011. i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com the call-in number for the show today is six six 866-841-1065 four one one zero six five call in get in the queue to talk to one of our great guests today john irvin and bob tusken i'm about to bring bob up on the air in this segment bob tuskin is an eternal student of economics science and the arts an organic gardener an activist and an oracle broadcasting radio show host with strong solutions based appro with a strong solutions based approach with the skills of the trivium firmly in hand with bob tusken you can be sure that the truth will be told bob tuskin's website is of course bob tuskin.com he has a great show here on oracle broadcasting every week night from 8 to 10 p.m ladies and gentlemen welcome to the show mr bob tuscan oh thank you what a warm round of applause from the audience i really appreciate that bob i can't imagine anyone who doesn't love you well you know you have to have a sense of humor and some people don't get that john i posted that video about the guy who says he eats toothpaste when i was talking about fluoride in the trivium room because i think part of understanding what's going on is being able to have a sense of humor and take things in context that's an important skill amongst the the many skills brought forth from the trivium is just merely taking something in context you don't know how many times people for whatever reason want to take something out of context i i think i just came up with a new fallacy i'm sure there already is one but it's a taken out of context fallacy yeah what's the name for that what's the last one wouldn't that be a sort of a straw man yeah and i guess in a way it is yeah exactly right uh so you know there's so many different uh takes on on this trivium stuff but i'm sure glad that people are starting to use this as a prerequisite to seeing all the other information that's provided isn't it fascinating to watch it take root in all of the uh quote unquote truth movements i mean uh with armed with the trivium the truth movement could actually become the truth movement exactly right the the true truth movement absolutely so you know it's interesting john how we've seen this uh really start to uh become the prerequisite but we did it backwards we first woke up and i'm doing air quotes here whatever that means and then we started to realize how we have to learn that how we have to learn to learn you know we in other words how we can implement the seven liberal arts to understanding right yeah you know and basically what happened is a few people managed to uh climb up through the kabbalah tree of knowledge and and wake up their crown chakra typically with psychedelics and the like but without having a firm understanding of how to learn of the trivium grammar no uh you know grammar logic and rhetoric and then the quadrivium people become very susceptible to being controlled while they're in that state which is what we saw exactly with the psychedelic movement of the 60s being usurped and in fact you find out later that guys like gordon wassen the so-called discoverer of magic mushrooms who worked for jp morgan bank ended up being you know a chairman to the council on foreign relations and stuff like this so i mean you know today we can look back now with the knowledge of the trivium and see how prior movements were usurped and see how uh the the big bands of the 60s were almost entirely uh the sons and daughters of us intelligence officers and things like this and move forward hopefully this time with a real bearing and a real direction of of where to go and how to deal with this mess well that's the break music and we'll continue this great discussion on the other side ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting with my two special guests jan irvin and bob tusken we'll be right back after these messages don't go anywhere welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening on your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com today we have on the program john irvin of gnosticmedia.com and triviumeducation.com along with bob tuskin who has just joined us bob i want to ask you what um how were you exposed to the trivium and uh you know tell us a little bit about the role that it's played in your life so far well i'm a student of philosophy and as far as the you know the indoctrination camps and public education systems and uh it's never really jived with me that i have to just you know accept the the answers that the teachers want and regurgitate that to them erica goldson gave a talk as valedictorian of her high school which went viral on the internet and i had watched that and it really resonated with me and made me realize that me not doing well in high school and the traditional indoctrination camps had no real reflection on being able to be a good critical thinker and be able to being able to think for myself and not just to assume something as truth so i've always had kind of as a background this notion that it's very important to entertain a thought without accepting it nor negating it okay so listening to coast to coast am at 10 years old i'm a fairly young guy as many of your listeners know mark i was able to entertain you know some of the coops and some of the you know the other stuff um and uh you know the aliens or whatever was i i was able to consider these things and accept it as truth or excuse me accept it as information built build have those building blocks of grammar um and be able to consider it not necessarily accept it as truth but at the same time uh not negate it all together and see where it fits in as a puzzle piece if you will so it's been very important to me to a have an open mind and then b have a critical mind and to be able to see through the lies so after doing my show for a while i ran into yawn and uh jan and i started to talk about the trivium he showed me the the interview at the time that was fairly brand new with gino denning and came on my show bob and i have bob you and i have done a number of i think you and i had already done a number of shows before that point together too hadn't we yeah we had done some shows before that but then we we kicked it into gear and decided that this was something essential to share with my listeners i was lucky enough to get to talk with geno denning and and do a show with him uh and it just it you know it makes sense at the end of the day that yeah we we are awake if you will but what we're awake to we need to be discerning about you know we we need to not just accept something as truth there's so much disinformation out there that unfortunately uh if if you're not alert if you're not equipped with the trivium you're going to be taking advantage of one way or the other so that that's why i started to implement this to make myself a better thinker to bring to to lend more credence to to my shows and and to my guests and the topics we talked about uh but all the while still continue to keep an open mind and that's kind of where i'm at right now is you know i might not agree with all the guests that i have on my show but i'm able to consider that you know if we if we shut our minds if we say if we go into our reality tunnels as uh the the great uh writer from the cosmic trigger and other books robert anton wilson puts it you know if we get if we close off that reality tunnel to any other information and grammar the building blocks the first stage in the trivium uh then we're not able to process it and make any sense of it and then the third stage of course is rhetoric and that's something that i've always done i i've always naturally been an activist in a sense and taken what i found to be truth and be able to act on that and show the wisdom and that's why my show is so solution oriented i feel is because of that third stage you know yes we can become aware of all these different problems but at the end of the day what we can do about it is in my opinion more important and therefore we need to act in this third stage of rhetoric if you will with the proper wisdom to handle all of this you know to put in place uh the things that have checked as truth or not truth after it goes through the process going through the you know building blocks and then the the the logic stage once we get all those things together we have to know what to act on and what not to act on we have to decide well that's a relevant thing to deal with that ranks here therefore we need to put this initiative into action uh does that make any sense absolutely and it really highlights uh your entire process here that you've laid out highlights something that i talked about at the end of last week's show when i showed a picture of the human brain with the left and right hemispheres of the neocortex and explain sort of the process that that we go through when we're engaging in the process of the trivium when we take in the information at first we have to be open-minded that's a right-brained process you have to take the information in from let me let me interrupt you very quickly mark you actually you should be critically not minded not just open-minded because open-minded you can allow yourself to be infected with things but being critically minded you're using the filter of the trivium and blocking the fallacy fallacies and junk from coming in but still allowing the valid information coming in and you're not dismissing things without studying them first sure well what bob was saying is like you know when he would listen to coast he would be able to remain open to some of the possibilities of the of these concepts but then he would apply the logical uh uh reasoning methods to them and then remove fallacies from them to be able to determine what's true and what should be acted upon that's a left i just i just wanted to make a distinction between being just generally a lot of people sell the idea of open-minded of acceptance as accepting everything right right so you know we need to be i think we need to have a distinction and not just say open-minded because open-minded i think of a lot of uh you know people in the new age movement just kind of accept whatever and so we need to be careful of that and we need to remove the stigma away from being critical minded and re-employ critical mindedness as a good thing because you know when somebody says oh you're being critical they usually say that is negative and they also use like you know like logic they think of you know dr spock and that's not a good thing thanks to my friend george clayton johnson that wrote the first episode of star trek right so um you know we we need to keep these things in mind when we're looking at this so that we don't fall down those traps and the same thing has been done to the word trivium itself it's been trivialized and the word liberal of the seven liberal arts has been taken and spun into meaning uh tax and spend communist or something like that so all of these things are terms that have been misused and i think you know we just need to clarify them and be more specific to quote myself from the free your mind conference i stated that an open mind without critical thinking is a programmable mind and if you're tired of being programmed a be an open-minded thinker but with the skill skills critical thinking they you have you have to have both you know one can't work without the other so it is in a sense good to be open-minded and it's an essential part of uh taking that trip down the rabbit hole that so many of mark's listeners have you allow the information you allow the information in and you pay attention to it but with your filter and you know your trivium filter and your fallacy filter turned on right such that you can not necessarily prejudge it but you can judge it as it is coming into your existence there you go exactly right all right so we'll pick this up on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening with my special guests john irvin and bob tuskin stay with us folks we'll be right back after these words welcome back folks listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my special guests today are yon irvin and bob tuskin gentlemen what do you think we take some calls we have lots of callers waiting on the line let's go to the phones what do you think sure okay here we go caller from the 541 area code you are on what on earth is happening what do you have for us today um hi there hi john welcome hello um yeah i just i'm so excited to be on to just be able to talk with you anyway what do i have okay um here's the thing jan i i really want to stay focused with you on this because what an address what you said that i feel critically important here as you just said because with the trivium we can actually make this a truth movement so i want to focus on that very powerful statement and and it's very crucial but what i notice is that the trivium is not being used not even on any show not not and i i don't want to point things listen i love all of you please don't um you know there are about five or six shows out there now that are using it on a regular basis and teaching the audiences so that's right we have to be we have to be so focused okay when we say truth right on this show when we say in the middle of the triangle you're putting truth you have to um define truth you have so so let me define truth okay truth no contradiction okay has no contradiction would you agree on i would agree with would you agree okay you've done your grammar you've gotten all of the available information you you've removed the contradictions you're left with a or b what research either is left or a conclusion yes and that's the truth in the sentence and let me add and also being mindful that you're still keeping your eye on the horizon for any new incoming and for information even though you've dealt with all of the information currently available that's right now young young listen to me now let me show you how on this show right here in this time moment that we have right here how the atrium has been very to our detriment not employed okay and how that is is that um uh okay so so when you're talking about the open mind having an open mind and then bob is saying okay let's just go to you let's just go to this show wanting to screen calls before we came on to make sure bob said oh there might be trolls out there so you wanted to scream no no no no no can i finish my sentence by by blocking information you see using the trivium any information my heart's completely open and with you guys but any information that comes to you you should be able to use to with the trivium and show your audience that even at this caller through using you see we keep abstractly saying the trivium this or driven that but it's not used we would if it was just used on one show we would gain so much more than all this theoretical i mean we can go up we could write on our wall a list of fallacies that would be great we don't need to spend these times in the show of course we need those fallacies and they've been said many times and they could be said many many more times but the is it sounds like she's underwater or there's some digital distortion happening in her life an internet connection she must have called from a magic chat are you still there i uh your line has digital distortion i'm not sure if it's a function of uh you know the volume but um you were breaking up so we didn't really hear what you said there over the last 20 minutes oh well that's really a shame it was crucially important and uh well you know it takes a lot of energy and i think i'm trying for me to sit through a stroke i you know i i think about this right this is i think you bring up some good points i think that uh you know the thing about screening calls it was simply look to look at and to see who had intelligent questions or thought-provoking questions so that we wouldn't waste a lot of time because there's only you know a certain amount of time in the show so we try to make sure that people weren't you know bringing up yeah it didn't have anything to do with the uh but you have to watch too too much of that and you will limit information you will filter out important stuff that we can learn from even this man the idea of screening calls is to filter out the noise and to allow the good calls through so that we're not wasting time i know but it's hard yan you could make a mistake on that judgment call you see if you let everything in and you deal if you let everything in and then you deal it with the trivium not only one we learn the trivium to deal with bullshit as it comes in we get a practical example of you guys putting into your points are good let's uh let's have jan respond to that okay here we go go ahead young i couldn't hear the points i like it here it was way too loud so what was that i'm so sorry she was she was making the point that um even if some people are off point or trying to act as a means of distraction the trivium could be when we get on the phone and we talk to these people you know that's their their opportunity to tell us what they want to talk about and if they're somebody who just wants to call up and say names or whatever the idea is to filter those people out so the people with the message can get through and can be you must not listen to my show yan so uh you know that is that is the whole idea but yeah you do need to be careful and not you know not cut people off before they said what they want to say it as well you have to allow the person to get their message across so uh but that was hold on let me finish and when we watch you on was in between the segments and not during a regular part of the show so anyway oh i don't know what that means but um right so it's very and the reason why i i think i talk loud and irish is i realize there is limited time it's hard to to address these things but but really the the issue is is that we would learn i believe you would learn so much more by doing that little quick filtering you do on air i mean all the things that are bantered back and forth to take a few minutes to actually put the trivium into action with a caller and you're saying that would be uh irrelevant right now right but you're screening off air that the other callers don't get that screen and i'm just saying that's valuable too that's all i'm trying to say right now during the conversation it's it becomes a part of the automatic process let's hear from bob on this i do a show monday through friday as many of your listeners know mark and occasionally we have a caller call up and just want to use the n word and has nothing better to do uh a there's that to it and and also b uh there's the the need to know what they're talking about so that we can integrate it into a program this is a talk show man where the host uses their discretion to cover the things that they find the most interesting or the most relevant to them and their audience it's a learning process and if you want to have that learning process mediated fine if you don't want that learning process mediated by the host go and be an auto did act as i'm sure you already are and learn for yourself as of right now i think you've uh digressed this conversation to a point where i think it would be appropriate for us to move on and if you have any final comments perhaps if mark wants to let you make them now would be a good time well i think she brought up her points and we responded to them so i think we'll move on to uh some other callers because we have a list of them waiting in queue so let's take some other calls on the other side of this break we'll get to that in a few moments for now you're listening to what on earth is happening with my special guests john irvin and bob tusken stick around more of your calls coming up on the other side of this break don't go anywhere folks we'll be right back when he looks at it with his eyes it's what we see when he looks at it with sunglasses he's seeing the same things all the way through the subliminal symbology you couldn't see obey no independent thought don't think for yourself welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening today on the show two special guests john irvin and bob tuskin we are discussing the trivium and we're going to take more of your calls right now here we go richard in washington state who last week brought up a great point about uh some of the founding documents of this country and uh challenged me to take a look at some of that information which i did over this week and i listened to that truth quest show that he referred to uh with james madison uh richard uh what do you have for us here today yeah yawn is always a gust a breeze a strong breeze of fresh fresh air i truly appreciate it my my plus my philosophy of life says you gather information you retain knowledge you discern and promote truth but those are minor things to the final uh thing is you have to display wisdom and so when i called into both mark uh and bob's show that was to promote truth or just discern truth and i was hoping there would be a display of wisdom uh mark just said that he did my accept my challenge so uh along with you yan i would hope you would talk to bob because my belief and all the study the truth is we are carnivores we are hunter gatherers we were at our prime when we were hunter gatherers uh there's a book called primitive mind primitive body that really gets into it by nora right and and i also recommend people get into uh the western a price foundation stuff sally fallon's work her book nourishing traditions her documentary the oiling of america as well as dr peter glenn's book the md emperor has no clothes and dr wallach who's of youngevity and i am not a youngevity member although i am very seriously considering uh joining up with them after having done a lot of grammar on what they do over there they're doing a lot of good work and i i hope that uh bob and uh mark will also consider having those guys on their show as guests because when you when you look at that research and what these guys are doing it's phenomenal well i'm very much interested in the health topics and after richard mentioned to me nora get goddess in her work i listened to a few interviews and read a few of her articles and i decided to have her on about the primitive diet she calls it beyond the paleolithic diet rather and that will be friday's show for the first hour so richard i'm looking forward to that thanks for that recommendation yeah and i'm going to be having uh uh dr william davis on from wheat belly coming up in the next week or two i'm going to be having denise manger from raw food sos on my show she's the one who debunked that uh propaganda film uh forks over knives in the and the china study book put out by dr campbell which is uh got a lot of false information in it and so she'll be coming on my show soon we'll also be having uh dr greg berzinski and dr stanislaw brzezinski on my show in the coming weeks uh from the brzezinski clinic regarding uh their their cure for cancer and uh you know all of these uh efforts to suppress and steal their work and get them put in jail which have failed for the last uh 20 to 30 years very cool richard do you have anything else yeah just just a final comment uh i believe that we should be seventy percent carnivores and and thirty percent gatherers and that's primarily so we can survive occasional famines but the main point is we need to eat our proteins and fats raw and you were talking that between in the break basically that's that's the uh lack of truth we need to eat all food below our body temperature that's why it was designed that's the way it's supposed to be taken in any well i think i i do think that uh dr glidden and dr wallock have shown substantial evidence that there is a need for wood ash in our food which would come from cooking and that's where we would get a lot of the minerals from you're right though in regards to meat should be cooked you know you should eat raw or or medium uh you know medium medium well meat and it shouldn't be cooked more than that and there's been an intentional effort to get people to start using vegetables and get them to stop using lard and bacon fat you know bacon grease and butter and things like this when these are proven historically to be safe and people have been given a lot of fear regarding saturated fats and cholesterol when your brain is 77 percent cholesterol and the pharmaceutical companies are out there promoting these statin drugs that lower your cholesterol on these low fat low cholesterol diets well if your brain is made out of cholesterol what happens if you're on a low cholesterol diet and your doctor is telling you that you need statin drugs like lipitor it just seems like a disaster waiting to happen if it's not already in full swing happening right now and in fact the uh the new generation being raised right now is said to it's going to be the the shortest lived generation ever my suggestion would be to watch a a carnivore a tiger whoever hunt what they do is they take down the animal and they cut out the insides they don't eat the mussel meat they eat the insides which has the stomach and has all the wood ash products from the the digestive vegetation uh if you actually study the truth the trivium of the whole process we would have to be eating entirely different and we couldn't support a population that that is basically a tenth of what we have and that's really what the powers that beer after they want to protect themselves they're doing nothing more than protecting their territory and we're useless eaters because we're eating out the agricultural uh production of their well they well you know and it's it's their it's their fault though see you know it's like that quote up on my website here um let me pull this up real quick if uh if hold on of course right when you want it it takes a second for a few the rulers suffer your people to be ill-educated in their and their manners to be corrupted from their infancy and then punish them for those crimes to which their first education dispose them then what can be concluded from this but that you first make thieves and outlaws and then punish them and that's from thomas moore's book utopia from the uh uh 14 15 16th century so i mean you know first they're they're creating people they're dumbing the people down and then they blame them for taking the actions that they do when it's the elites that are causing the problems from the top down they're the ones that brought in the depression education system they're the ones that sell us these bad products these religions that tell people to to keep breeding like mormonism and catholicism and things like that and to do things that are unsustainable you know more chloride in the water yawn if you look at well and that's part of the problem it's part of the dumbing down process that i'm addressing rather than educating people so that they can think clearly and teach their children to think clearly and know what they all need but you know right now it's it's these factory farms that are poisoning the food and doing all of these things and these are things that the elites have created and it's nothing that you know us and your local farmer and your local rancher and those types of people are doing and so when you you know when we you know here in california 10 minutes from here is the 395 highway and it goes all the way through the middle of california it's hundreds of miles of pristine ranch land that's mostly vacant and hardly you can hardly buy any of the meat in the country that's raised on that land anywhere out here so i don't even think think for sure that it's that it's a problem of of uh the amount of people that we have in the world as we showed in our documentary film uh uh what you've been missing episode one the noble lie what they're doing is they are creating the the discrepancy between feed to population through their own wars and their own stockholding and withholding money to drive the price of food and stuff up so it's them again that's causing that problem and i don't think you know if if we took them out of the scenario i think that there is plenty of food if even if we were eating 70 meat and i think it's probably more 60 that would be the right number but we would still have plenty of food to feed everyone on the planet if you got them out of the scenario you take the one percent out of the scenario and suddenly the rest of the 99 percent can take care of themselves just fine if you're one of those occupy wall street guys john oh no i think occupy wall street is completely misdirected it because they're not paying attention to clint richardson's work which is all of the the cafe material the comprehensive annual financial reports and all of those people need to be out studying everything on thecorporationnation.com all of clint's videos there and getting a firm understanding of how the kafir material is being manipulated because if everybody understood that information they wouldn't be protesting wall street they would be protesting city hall excellent points i i can't uh acknowledge that enough that that's exactly right on my last comment would be for mark that's what the founding fathers gave us they made us all sovereign individually responsible they gave us a form of non-government that was the the uh constitutional republic which was supposed to keep government away from the sovereigns and that's been perverted and if we as individuals as sovereigns we can restore what they gave us rather than keep playing the games that the international bankers the one percent have given us we are back on track and and possibly yawn's uh perspective of how many people we can sustain is is true a great show uh keep up the good work all right let me let me richard thanks so much let me just say to that real quick before you go richard there that uh you know forget what these people give you forget about that you know we're not after what they give us we have a god-given right to autonomy and we need to stop voting for these people and allowing them to you know when we vote for these idiots we're consenting to whatever crap they do to us so that needs to stop we need to stop giving them our autonomy in the first place and stop asking permission for our rights and take them that's that's it i would recommend that you study uh melodies program also because that's exactly what i said the the founding fathers gave us natural law they you know the constitution like the back of your welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com on the show with me today is john irvin of gnosticmedia.com and triviumeducation.com along with bob tuskin one of the hosts here on oracle broadcasting check out his website at bobtuskin.com and check out his radio show every week night at eight to ten pm east coast time here on oracle broadcast you know why mark knows that everyone because he comes on the show all the time and is one of my favorite guests so there you go i appreciate that bob so let's go back to the callers uh we still have a couple of callers on the line here we go caller from the 212 area code you're live on what on earth is happening skype caller go ahead skype caller hello yes you're on hear me yes sure can oh great i'm sorry i didn't recognize the area code i'm on skype no problem um i have i have a new a lot of questions but uh before i begin i just wanted to say uh thank you to all of you for doing what you're doing and uh and don't worry about the first caller because uh true reason um requires you to bypass emotion and get to true reason exactly and uh if the caller obviously wasn't using reason when trying to get information out of you guys by yelling at you so well that's one of the things i wanted to talk about and i wish we had more time to i don't mean to interrupt the caller but at some point we have to understand emotional intelligence along with this you know intellectual intelligence is understanding emotional intelligence good point caller absolutely and you have to emotion is important but you have to bypass that and figure out when it is correct is correct to use it and this is not the time or place to use it then especially when you guys are giving up your free time to give her so what is your question but um i have a lot of them um the first one i had to do was with a mark um regarding the uh feminine and masculine principle um i'm writing a paper right now it has a lot to do with the ancient alchemy and uh your presentations have helped me so much it's unbelievable because you know more about it than they do well i appreciate um yeah man you are really unbelievable you really all are and uh could you um i was wondering if maybe it might be possible for you to email me some of those pictures you did about the right and left uh brain hemisphere we can talk about that later i don't want to waste much time on that but send me an email remind me that you called and we we can talk about that were you still there sounds like you dropped too calm well uh let's see hold on let's try to bring him back up caller are you still there it looks like too bad connection dropped unfortunately caller if you're listening email me and we could talk about that and if you can get back in i'll bring you back up to pose your question to yon and bob let's uh take another call here we go caller from the six 6-0 uh no that's the wrong one hold on caller from the 603 area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome yes can you hear me thank you yes i had a question about the trivium and quadrupling as applied to spiritual truth because the spiritual truth and path is what i see in particular i was listening to mark show last week and he was talking about the quadrivian and i happen to think in a moment of inspiration about the four gospels and wondered how the quadra being the four paths or four ways to truth would apply to the four gospels well i would say it's probably directly related i wouldn't be surprised if if it wasn't in fact the the trivium the quadravium and the cabal are found throughout the uh the biblical teachings and the like so it you know would you agree with that that's a very interesting take and i i would say absolutely it does uh i i likened the quadrivium uh last week to the four elements of earth air water and fire of course right which is exactly if you look up even on the catholic uh website for the saint mark's basilica they have right there that uh matthew mark luke and john are the four elements and you know the four directions and everything so that would be a perfect tie-in right exactly so that's a great uh correspondence that you've made their caller one which i really didn't make last week but i i see that that is a definite correspondence that is in place well thank you very much um i'd like to continue this discussion can i email you any questions i have absolutely if you have any other questions let's close them now because we're going to uh wrap this up and now i'm going to ask propose a final question to our two guests so do you have anything else for us um i do but it goes much deeper than time permits okay no problem well thanks for the call oh thank you all right great so uh i have uh kind of one question that i'm gonna ask to both of you and then you guys could take it respectively the current trends that we're looking at current trends and current events that are taking place right now look like we as a people are heading into very dangerous waters i'm sure you know both of you gentlemen are very aware of the passing of this new defense authorization bill a lot of talk about that going on all circles on the internet right now and the implications that it has for human freedom um i want both of your take on what the implications are and what you think uh about how necessary the rediscovery and application of the trivium is to reverse such a course that we are on now as well i i think it's the uh the only thing that's going to wake people up to uh reverse this is the trivium and in fact uh on july 4th weekend there was a canadian article that came out about the trivium stating that the american revolution and declaration of independence were a direct result of our use of the trivium and so therefore to me uh having with most of the population having lost the trivium on us having to get it back out there right now it seems exactly parallel with the fact that this is the fight that we're in right now having to deal with the loss of the trivium and therefore the loss of our freedoms at the same time because what is the seven liberal arts but you know the seven liberal arts as opposed to the servile arts are what the free man learns right the trivium and the quadrivium make up the seven liberal which comes from latin libra which is book but it also means of or befitting the free that's right and so if you don't have the seven liberal arts if you weren't taught it then you are not free let me make that clear a second time if you do not have the seven liberal arts and you are not taught it if you have not undertaken that study you are not free you are a slave and so in fact i've been working on a whole other project uh to to emphasize this called slaves anonymous and i'm going to be launching another website called slaves anonymous.com my name is bob tuskin and i'm not a slave exactly and i'm not asleep no and i am a slave getting people to take that first step and recognizing that they have a problem so that we can move forward from this through the tradition that is the first step that's an important step and my response uh to your question mark is uh it goes back to natural law something we've talked about many times okay and everyone's talking about this bill as you mentioned there's a lot of hype in sure it's a gross violation of our rights it's even more proof of this draconian state in which we live in but the fact of the matter is we know that for a long time now people have been going beyond natural law okay and the second you go beyond natural law and you introduce government which you've broken down and shown it how it literally means mind control you have a problem okay and if we're going to let the tiny dot as larkin rose i guess that you both have had on and we spoke with us at the free of mind conference says uh and allow them to use this you know imaginary system if you will in a sense okay to go beyond our natural law and get into our lives with this large nanny state police state then we're gonna have a problem so i think we have to go back to basics and in our own lives stick to natural law and uh have your your family prepared i i always go back to that no matter what the question is mark i always go back to to the need for preparedness and for growing a garden and getting yourself off of the dependency as much as possible so that you're not dependent on them dictating what you do and don't do so that you're able to be free unto itself and not have to worry about the powers that shouldn't be bob fantastic points gentlemen uh your final thoughts and uh give your websites once again please walmart and thank you for having me on your show and uh i you know i'll all i can tell people is that the path to your freedom is to study the trivium take the time no shortcuts don't ask for one book to read read them all get in go go to triviumeducation.com and go through everything up there and i've also got a trivium study page on the gnosticmedia.com website as well and get up there study everything learn all that you can about it and get your get your feet in there and you you're you're really giving yourself a treat uh my final comments mark learn how to learn and then do it it's time to take action folks bob tuskin to uskn.com thank you very much mark gentlemen thanks so much ladies and gentlemen john irvin and bob tusk and that's all the time we have for this edition of what on earth is happening i'll see you here next week on oracle broadcasting stick around chris everard is up next take care mark employ to help turn humanity around and set it back in the right direction morally and spiritually so that's coming up on the show today world view healing i want to thank jan irvin and bob tuskin for the uh fantastic show that we did last week with both of those gentlemen we discussed the trivium we uh really got into um logical fallacies a little bit with yon and bob there and richard grove contacted me uh during the week to offer some additional information if you go to the podcast section of what on earth is happening you'll see with last week's podcast show number 87 i posted some related links and documents along with the show that uh richard grove had sent over to me so i want to thank him for doing that and that's it's great information um also there you'll find links to jan welcome back everyone thanks for tuning in today you're listening to what on earth is happening on your host mark pacio again my website is what on earth is happening.com and i'd like to direct everyone's attention up to what on earth is happening.com to the radio show tab again the website was very slightly modified as far as the uh look and feel goes over the last uh week or so because i upgraded the content management system i had announced that last week it went very smoothly the site was only down for about a minute during the transition and um you know uh there's a very slight changes to the user interface namely in the uh in the tabs and slight color changes and there is um new uh audio player on the podcast section people will probably have noticed that uh the site seems to be working just fine i also mentioned last week if anybody sees any problems with it or noticing anything working as it uh should not be please uh uh don't hesitate to send me an email and let me know that having been said on the radio show page of what on earth is happening.com underneath the player you will see images for today's show and then a series of links of numerical links that if you click on it will bring up a slideshow these are the images that are going to go along with the talk today and now you can click on those bring them up and follow along with the images there on the radio show page so what we are going to be talking about today is of course solutions and ongoing on the show this is basically what we will be talking about from here on out because we've really analyzed the problem we've looked at mind control extensively over pretty much uh over a year period we went into the methodologies of mind control so we've really fleshed that out in vivid detail for people to understand what the uh technologies of the mind that are being used against us are the in-depth knowledge of the human psyche that this controller class this occult controlling class has over the human population now we're really we've been talking about how to get out of this mindset how to get out of mind control we looked at natural law as the first and overarching solution the without an understanding of natural law again we are navigating blind we need to understand how moral law functions secondly we started looking into the trivium and quadrivium and that's what we pretty much wrapped up last week with our interview with uh john irvin and bob tusk and we talked about one of the important aspects of the trivia method which is identification of logical fallacies and again this is so critical because it's a way of applying hypothesis we talked about hypothesis and we're going to talk about it again today a little bit when we get into the subject matter that we're going to explore today for world view healing but um apophysis is uh removing the negative so that we get to that which remains as the essence of a thing in order to know it so it's obtaining knowledge by removing that which something is not identification through the negative through looking at the negative the opposite of what something is the things that and qualities that something is not in order to understand that which it is this is the process called apophatic inquiry and we looked at that pretty extensively when we were um uh analyzing natural law its principles and its manifestations so um apophis is going to be revisited here today on this show as well when we start to talk about the tangible grassroots solutions of which worldview healing is the very first so um i call this entire section and in my presentation and talks i generally call this the way out the way out there is a way out of the situation that we're in that the that is called the human condition and we can create a new human condition something that is extremely better than the conditions that we are living in now we simply have to know that that is possible and then take the necessary steps because yes there are requirements for doing that for moving into a more positive future and then we have to actually enact take action based on what we know and based on what we understand is required to make that great change happen so yes there is a way out that's number one and that's the first slide is a picture of a man and woman holding hands and walking through a stargate of sorts a nice symbolic painting there that i used for the slide in my presentation uh in the section called the way out so if we look at slide number two image number two on the radio show page we will see their the grassroots solutions for change as i see them and as i have outlined them of course there can be many others these aren't you know the definitive this isn't a definitive list by any stretch of the imagination but it's a good start 10 very specific and implementable methods for creating change in our lives these are things that can be done they're not pipe dreams they're not impossibilities they are all possible so i'm going to just read the list we're not going to be getting into all of these today the you know probably one show will be dedicated to each one of these if not more than one show so here they are the grassroots solutions for real and positive change in our world healing our world view which is what we're going to talk about on the show today that's number one two a change in the quality of our attention what do we pay attention to who do we listen to what kind of information do we take into ourselves number three developing true present moment awareness we're going to touch on this today but we'll do an entire show about what true present moment awareness is and how to acquire it number four changing our diet getting on to the right nutrients the right foods and the right mental food that's part of changing the quality of our attention it goes hand in hand with the change in diet very much still within our control the dominators are trying to take that modicum of control away from us but right now we still have a lot of control over what we eat okay if we have the necessary information in hand okay number five detachment from the monetary system that's a very difficult one on this list but to a certain extent it is plausible it is doable we are capable of contracting ourselves away from the monetary system and its influence over our lives but most of all the influence that it holds over our minds so we'll be getting into that number six the non-support of dominators one of the most important solutions again also having to do with the way that we see things and the way that we see people's playing certain roles in society and whether we accept that is just the way things are or if we understand certain roles as fundamentally immoral and we speak up about that we'll list the remaining solutions and then start to get into world view healing on the other side of this break don't go anywhere folks you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back [Music] welcome back you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com we were listing the methods for creating real and positive change in our world we were on i believe number six which was the non-support of dominators and we'll be getting into uh this on a future show on how to approach discussing the issues that we've been talking about in regards to morality with people who are in positions that basically are based on violence and immorality to help them decide to get out of that way of being in the world and to start taking up right livelihood as they refer to it in buddhist tradition so number seven is to develop true mindfulness becoming the watcher of our own actions and this is where meditation comes in and contemplation comes in very very handy in understanding what is true mindfulness and how do we develop it number eight the use of entheogens in a conscious context very critical that caveat in a conscious context anthogens are otherwise known as psychedelics this is a traditional methodology of shamanism which we're going to be talking about today a little bit shamanism and um these substances are not toys they're not jokes they're not things to be played around with but if they are used in a conscious context for the purpose of consciousness expansion they can act as guides and they can act as teachers uh to for us to develop a higher state of awareness now number nine is the power of positive thinking and remaining in a positive thought modality and this is one i struggle with the most on this list myself uh this is something i continually have to attempt to practice and not fall into extreme negative thinking um because of the level of darkness that we are currently in sconced in and it's it's not funny it's not a joke it's quite sad as a matter of fact when you see how devastated the consciousness of the people of this planet really really is you know collectively and on an individual level um but this is something i do know that needs to be practiced and i attempt to do this as much as i possibly can and try to um resist the temptation to fall into negative modes of thought because really that's pretty much wasted energy now i do understand that that is what needs to be done do i struggle with it i always struggle with it so that's probably my most difficult one on this list personally the tenth and final one is once we have the picture when once we have acquired the big picture of what is taking place around us and we do understand what the solutions are we have a responsibility to speak that information and carry that information forward so that others may also partake of it so we have a responsibility to assist in the awakening of others and people will say well that's not your responsibility nonsense new agers will sometimes tell you know make that claim it is the responsibility of the awoken to help wake up other people and people will say well sometimes people don't want the information and i've also refuted and disagreed with that they will say that they don't want this information but if you truly understand that this information is the only thing that can alleviate suffering it is that which alleviates suffering in our lives and the the individual you're talking to will say to you will answer the question do you wish to continue to suffer do you wish to continue to live in a world that is going down a path of suffering ever deeper and into more deeper and fuller expressions of suffering that person will inevitably always answer the question absolutely not i do not want to suffer i don't want to experience harm and suffering that very answer implies that they do want this information whether they will consciously tell you that they don't want it or not so in other words they're lying to themselves when they say i don't want to hear that i don't want to understand that i don't want to know about that and we're going to talk about this concept of lying to the self today when we talk about initiation so these are the 10 basic methodologies for creating real lasting and positive change in our lives and in the world at large so the first thing that we're going to talk about today with this show is going to be about his worldview healing and i've depicted this as a tree with rays of light coming through it the tree of life you could call it okay the original tree of knowledge okay this represents life and power and the life-giving essence of the sun which you see the rays coming through and bathing the tree in its brilliance okay so it's a great image for the healing of world view because this is what we have to turn ourselves into a tree of knowledge and a tree of life and what the traditional method of worldview healing has generally been called throughout time is shamanism okay shamans are way seers the word shaman actually means one who sees in the dark i would give an even better definition for what a shaman is than even one who can see in a dark i would say it's one who can see through the darkness to the light and as such he is one who sees in dark times when the rest of the consciousness has gone dark the shaman is still light and he can see through the darkness so that he can help to assist in guiding his people who he recognizes as one with himself out of that place of darkness and to the light so a shaman isn't necessarily tied to a specific set of techniques shamanism is techniques that are used toward worldview healing as a whole that's what the whole branch of healing called shamanism is and those methods could differ depending on time place and circumstance so to say that someone can be a shaman in the modern world and not employ techniques that may have been used in the ancient world by shamans is accurate i mean shamans don't necessarily have to use the techniques that have been used of old what we would call classical shamans okay or maybe a paleo shamans there's a concept called uh a neo-shaman okay which is a shaman of the modern world and i would consider myself a shaman and i don't think that's an egotistical claim to make it's it happens to be that i am able to see through the deceptions and lies of the dominator culture of that is currently ruling this world under the paradigm of beliefs that people hold that that keep it there that keep this domination system in effect i i can see through that darkness and to the light to the truth and i am acting in the capacity to be a way-shower for others so that they can make that shift in consciousness and that shift in paradigm so that they can usher a new and positive world into being so that's all shamanism really is it is methods for worldview healing techniques and a shaman is someone who knows how to employ those techniques he knows what they are and he knows how to use them so you know some people make shamanism into something so much more mystical than it actually really is but the key thing that makes somebody a shaman is they're taking action based on their knowledge just knowing it does not make one a shaman doing it does and assisting others to bring that knowledge into themselves and to start to become a shaman shaman always has stewards who he's training and helping to become as knowledgeable as he is we'll pick this up on the other side of this break we'll be right back folks this is what on earth is happening [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio we're talking about world view healing on the show today as the first grassroots solution for creating real and lasting and positive change in our world and this is very much an internal process something that really needs to be done on a one-to-one basis we have to do this with ourselves it's an inward journey that is made to create worldview healing yes there can be guides like shamans along the way but ultimately this is work that we each one of us does for ourselves so uh slide number four showed a generalized image of a shaman uh as depicted perhaps in the native american culture and i described it as being one who can see through the darkness so that he can lead his people in dark times to the light uh image number five in the slides on the radio show page of what on earth is happening dot com brings up the concept of initiation and this is what world view healing really is it is the very beginning of the journey in consciousness this is the classical methods of initiation as given by some of the most ancient mystery school traditions okay initiation means beginning and as i've said the occultists the dark occultists that i happen to fall in league with and work with in the past had a name for the people that they considered completely unconscious and it was not the lower level uh occultists the lower level dark occultists that used this term they generally referred to people who were unconscious and not doing anything as the dead and i've said that many times on this show before a horrible phrase to call living beings but that is what lower level dark occultists generally refer to the normal population as the dead the higher level occultists do not refer do not usually use that term at least in circles i was in they used a more cryptic term that i didn't understand what it meant for many years after i heard it spoken and was left in a confused state when i heard it they call people the unbegun i've heard this many times in dark occult circles used to represent people who have not even started looking at any information that can get them out of the level of mind control that they are under and that means one who has not started the unbegun one who has not gone through the process of beginning they have not been initiated into a higher level of awareness or consciousness so i understand the term now in hindsight when i when it was said to me at first i was like unbelievable what is he what is this person talking about but now i understand it they're saying they're completely uninitiated they have no idea the esoteric knowledge that we possess and that we're really ruling them through because we're using it as a tactical power differential advantage over people without that knowledge so what is the process of initiation traditionally it involves five basic steps and of course yes this corresponds to the elements and spirit put together the four physical elements and then the spirit the traditional five points of the star so to speak okay here they are in no particular order now some people will label these and give them an order you have to work on all of these simultaneously okay there is no specific order say do this first then do this then do this these are things that you do all at the same time while you're doing others you work on the one specific one okay stop lying stop lying and this is a hard one for most people for me this one hasn't been that difficult because when i encountered information to the contrary of what i previously thought yes it would take me a little bit of time to integrate it and to let go of the old but i was generally able to do that quite smoothly did i have to say over and over again i was wrong i was wrong about that i was wrong about that constantly and i still find things that i'm wrong about and have to admit it when new information comes to light to show me that i'm wrong about something then you have to say you have to be willing to say i no longer think that that is accurate or true i've come into some new information that has disproven this old information and i'm going to go where the truth leads if you continue to hold on to the old information and tell yourself that it's true even in light of that new information you're lying to yourself and that's the key thing here when we say stop lying what it implies most of all is stop lying to yourself especially to yourself and most people can't get past that one they keep telling themselves that things are a way that they are not even when they can see that they're not the way that they claim that they are they don't want to believe the truth they don't want to accept the truth really that's what it really comes down to has nothing to do with belief because truth doesn't need to be believed that needs to be discovered and known the second step of initiation is to stop dreaming and all of these have to do with worldview healing okay these are this is a process an overarching process for the healing of worldview is becoming initiated into knowledge stop dreaming and this doesn't mean stop thinking about positive of positive future that could be if we do certain things it doesn't mean stop believing in yourself it doesn't mean um stop um uh using the imagination do not think it means that that this is not what this is referring to it means stop believing that things are a certain way when there is evidence to support the fact that they are not that way okay cognitive dissonance is what i call this this is what has to be cut out cognitive dissonance is what we really need to stop get out of the psychological condition of cognitive dissonance holding two contradictory thoughts in your mind simultaneously when clearly you can see evidence to the contrary of the original belief system that you're holding that's why you're in a trance or in a dream state as most people are the third step of initiation is learning how to think not what to think but how to arrive at truth how to think critically and we looked at this over the last several weeks about the trivium and quadrupium methods okay this is the process of how to think grammar logic and rhetoric or knowledge understanding and wisdom information input processing and output it's a methodology for how to think how to accurately arrive at information processing and coming to accurate conclusions regarding that information or in other words how to arrive at the truth of any given subject four is live in the present moment and again one of the solutions i proposed in my list of ten grassroots solutions was developing true present moment awareness this is something we're going to get into in future weeks here on the show and then five activate the physical body the body is the temple of the spirit it is the vehicle for the spirit's inhabitation of the material realm so it is not to be neglected it is not to be hated it is not to be uh shunned or not paid attention to or not cared for the body is just as important as the mind they go hand in hand there is a mind body spirit connection and the body plays a critical role in that trinity as we're going to see today so it's not to be neglected it is to be cared for it is to be respected it is a temple a living temple inhabited by the spirit so what we put into the body is of critical import and we're going to be talking about what we should be putting into our body we talked a lot about all the poisons in food that the pharmaceuticals that people put into their body the artificial ingredients in food the pesticides chemical pesticides food additives we talked about you know the depletion and the nutrients of soil the way um factory farming depletes our food of nutrient density in on the shows that we did about food the dangers of what's going on with our food system we're going to get into the positive aspects of this and how we should nourish the body and hand in hand with that goes the nourishment of the mind in which we're going to talk about the change in the quality of attention because activating the physical body most definitively deals with the care for the for the brain and what we put into that [Music] so those are the steps of initiation traditionally in the mystery schools we're going to look specifically now at world view healing on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth okay everyone we're back this is what on earth is happening the show is live every sunday from 5 to 7 p.m east coast time i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com we were talking about initiation in the last segment as a technique for world view healing now we're going to talk about world view healing itself and what this really means what needs to be done to accomplish world view healing what is a sick world view what is a healthy world view we're on slide number six now for those who are following along in the images with the podcast or perhaps um uh if you're following along live on the um images for today's show underneath the player at the radio page of what on earth is happening dot com image number six shows a chart of what worldview healing is all about the middle of this chart is labeled worldview aspect so what a worldview is is just what it says it's the way we view the world it's the way we view ourselves and our relationship to others in the world and it's the way we i i guess you could say it's the axiomatic view that we have of the world an axiom is a fundamental underlying way of seeing something that we build everything else upon is it's a foundational view a foundational vantage point okay that's what you could call an axiom so axiomatically if we hold a very poisoned view of our world and our relationship to the people in it our experience is going to become poisoned because that which is above is like to that which is below the correspondence principle is in effect so if our thoughts are dark if our emotions are dark and poisoned and slanted toward the negative that's going to color our own behaviors and if that is done repeatedly on a quantum level that effect builds up and builds up and builds up and eventually the world is going to be a dark harmful nasty uncomfortable place to live which it is rapidly becoming freedom is going to be taken away there's going to be very little love or joy people are going to just loathe being here at all which already many do because of the world view that is held by so many which is completely dark and poisoned and this is what the dark occultists want because they feed on this negative energy and their masters feed on this negative energy they want people in a sick poisoned worldview that's what is creating the chaos that they manage so that they can come out on top and that we give our energy to them for being the savior and solving these chaotic problems as we talked about with chaos sorcery problem reaction solution dynamics what is a poisoned worldview what is a healthy one well there's three basic aspects of world view and the three aspects of world view are our view of human nature our view of our own value the value of the individual and this isn't just the self it's the value of each individual in the world every living being that dwells here and finally the third aspect of world view is what is our view for what is our view of the possibility for change do we think things can change or do we think it's eternal it eternally must be this way because it has been this way for so long the views that we hold in our mind about these three aspects largely determined determine what happens both in our lives and in the world at large depending on how many people hold a specific belief about these worldview aspects so the first is human nature we've talked about this on past shows a lot of people see human nature as fundamentally damaged or flawed this concept of original sin in religion which is something we're going to be talking a lot about religion later on in the show do we see human nature as fundamentally flawed that people are just inherently evil and that's why what's going on in the world is the way that it is well i would suggest that's an extremely poisoned poisoned way of looking at the world and looking at the people in this world they don't call it the human condition for nothing it has nothing to the world being the way that it is does not have to do with human nature it has to do with the conditions that we have allowed to be built up around us through erroneous beliefs or in other words through religion thoughts that ultimately hold us back beliefs that hold us back because they are just that they are beliefs they are not it's not knowledge that came to us as a result for seeking of seeking truth the desire to seek truth so if our worldview of human nature our view of human nature this one first aspect of world view claims that human nature is just completely flawed and dark and people are just born bad they're bad seeds and they're always going to be like this our behaviors are going to reflect that belief and we're not going to really work to try to make anything better because we're convinced that it is a certain way by nature itself nature did not make man the way that man is right now a newborn baby doesn't come into the world inherently flawed or evil and yes you could talk about genetic psychopathy and we do on this show and that is a a caveat to the discussion of human nature that is a genetic condition of it is a problem within it's a genetic condition within the genome of our species such that a very small amount of people are born with a disconnect between the neocortex and the limbic brain which makes a normal range of human emotions impossible for about one percent maybe slightly more than that of the human population but that is not what is creating our entire human condition that small tiny one percent yes psychopaths grow up and they try to basically influence the world such that they get what they want and they don't care about the result of what they do to other people but the problem is they get people to believe in an erroneous worldview they get them to believe in religions they get them to believe in things that do not exist never have existed and never will exist which we're going to talk about on this show today total illusions that do not exist that people believe in as a religion with their entire being and don't want to let go of they don't want to admit that they were wrong about those things they don't want to stop lying to themselves one of the things we need to stop lying to ourselves about is that all of human nature is just fundamentally flawed and people are just bad and that they need to be controlled in order to be in order to ever act good what we need to do is shed erroneous ways of thinking shed falsities see through logical fallacies and understand what the truth actually is and the truth is that generally human nature is essentially fundamentally good we have to understand that conditions in place influence people much more so than anything they inherently possess and come into the world with somebody who may come in with a you know a small amount of talent who is born into an extremely poor area and and no no money is available forever even uh funding any kind of artistic talent or musical talent might not ever really develop those innate qualities because of the conditions they come into the world embroiled in conditions play a much bigger role than any inherent qualities that we are born with i've said before in the debate between nature and nurture it is largely nurtured largely nurtured which means our goal needs to be on working on changing the conditions that are around us so people can have the opportunity not to be bombarded mentally with all of this poison that surrounds us [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening today on the show we're talking about world view healing as the first grassroots solution for positive change in our world we were looking at image number six on the what on earth is happening.com website on the radio show page and we have here a chart of world view healing show showing the world view aspect and then what a poisoned world view or healed world view looks like we were talking about our view of human nature as the first worldview aspect and i was taking the position that it is largely conditions that determine how people react and behave if we have conditions of manufactured lack and artificial scarcity people are going to be living in an r complex mode behavior because they're going to be on survival mode and that prevents a higher level of awareness and consciousness if however we create an environment of abundance where um there isn't this suppression of advanced technologies that could take care of our energy needs there isn't this uh manufactured lack paradigm based on uh money and differential of haves and have-nots and we realize there is enough we are already living in abundance but these resources are just completely controlled due to the belief in money more than anything else and authority two things two religions we're going to talk about later if we pulled down that entire paradigm of scarcity and manufactured lack and fear and we put in conditions that reflect nature itself which is inherently abundant the human mind and behavior would change in rapid order so that's what we have to understand is much more prevalent and determined deterministic of the the actual manifestations that play out in our world than is any thought about human nature people generally want to get along not bother anybody else and live their lives that's what human nature really is it's not something that's inherently nasty or evil or completely flawed from the the onset like this notion of original sin contends so that's how we have to shift this worldview aspect our view of human nature has to go from god created us inherently flawed to human beings are generally good but conditions are something we really need to understand and have a look at to understand how they affect human behavior the second worldview aspect is our view of the value of the individual and this is extremely important because what everybody seems to think their worth determines how they behave especially toward others the kind of respect that is shown to maybe a psychopathic billionaire versus somebody on the street who may be out of a job not you know able to even have a house and might be an extremely wise person but they might be living you know on the street in tattered clothing and they'll be spit upon by people [Music] when that same person will show incredible respect to someone who is stepping on other people's lives but has tons and mor tons of money in a nice three-piece suit and chauffeured around in a limousine we'll talk a little bit more about the view of the value of the individual and world view healing in general when we come back don't go anywhere folks this is what on earth is happening [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio we were talking about our view of what the value of the individual is as a part of world view healing how does this need to be fundamentally shifted and transformed do we really respect individual rights and sovereignty how do we look at people's worth is it based on how much money he has he or she may have is it based on the size of their bank account the size of their house the quality of their clothes the kind of car they drive the kind of social circles they hang out in all of these are illusory all of these are ephemeral and transitory it has nothing to do with who a person really is inside whether they are a moral being whether they have respect for other people whether they treat people with basic dignities and respect their natural law rights their inherent natural law rights that are god-given rights our view of the value of the individual needs to shift away from seeing them as a number and seeing them as being worth however much money they may have to understand toward the view that understands that the value of the individual is infinite and can have no number placed upon it because that being is here as a result of the dynamic living intelligence of the creator itself and as such no limit can be placed upon that individual's value that is how we heal the worldview aspect of what we consider the value of the individual to be and that's very difficult for most people to do because they've been so conditioned and trained so conditioned and trained to think that money is the only measure of value in this world because it's their religion as we will see money is their religion most of the people of this world worship money that's their god their god isn't the god of creation their god is money and that's what determines their entire belief and value system so the third worldview aspect is to heal our view of the possibility for positive change most people will say yeah i understand that what you're saying is true and i just don't think anything can be done about it there's nothing i can do about it that's just how the world is i hear this all the time that's how the world is powerlessness is in that kind of speech there's no power there that's somebody who's saying it's always been like this it is this way now it's always going to be like this and that's not the case because we already looked at the determining factors of manifestation called natural law the natural law principles and the natural law expressions determine what happens in our lives based upon ultimately our choices but yes there is the law of the laws of cause and effect deter based upon what we choose certain things will manifest and they it works like that flawlessly all the time we choose fear will have a manifestation that is governed by fear we choose love will have a manifestation that is governed by love natural law is always in effect always working flawlessly but that does not mean that we cannot begin to choose different and therefore create a difference in the manifestation it doesn't mean we can't create powerful positive change for the better by changing the quality of our thoughts and our decision-making process therefore we're changing our actions our behaviors and if enough people do that the external manifestation will change for more information on how that works go back and listen to the natural law section of this podcast which we covered for probably a good 10 weeks on this show so that's how we heal our our world view by fundamentally shifting the way we think about these three concepts human nature the value of the individual and the possibility for positive change and yes it is that simple there's not really that much more to it i'd recommend a couple of good movies about this if you're into allegorical fiction okay the our view of the value of human nature i can't recommend any movie more highly and i've said it in the past on this show than the movie trading places that was directed by um or produced i should say by aaron russo who sadly died a few years back is no longer with us but uh he's certainly here in spirit and he lives on through the great documentaries that he made as well as the movie trading places which is one of my favorite movies of all time because it demonstrates exactly what i've been saying people should watch it if they haven't seen it or if you have seen it watch it again with new eyes and understand that this is these these old men in the stock exchange arguing about human nature and they make this bet that they can take what one of them bets that he could take one person and tournament who's who's good and has a great life you know and is a a stock broker and turn him into a criminal and simultaneously take a bum off the street and turn him into a uh you know um a successful businessman and he proves his point you know that conditions largely determine how a person will behave not every person some people are higher more highly polarized toward a a true north in the sense of morality they have an active moral compass and even the conditions that surround them won't make them degenerate into behaving like an animal that's what a stellar man is so um that's a movie i think it highly illuminates this talk of human nature versus nurture and aaron russo knew more than he even let on you could tell this man was initiated by what he understands and puts forward in his movies and in his documentaries regarding the possibility for change i'd recommend the movie a beautiful mind and the value of the individual this is about john nash and his equilibrium theory in mathematics having to do with game theory that there doesn't have to be a winner uh losers to be a winner that everyone can win out that everyone can get what they want and be happy without their having to be this power differential and winners and losers in the equation a beautiful mind is a great movie that illustrates that principle very well we'll be right back folks this is what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting network [Music] [Applause] welcome back everyone [Music] this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com we pretty much just wrapped up the section talking about the methods of worldview healing and what i'm going to get into now deals with world view healing but if people can really understand what i'm about to lay out it's going to be so powerful to understand how the manipulations of the dark occult priest class have been carried out over thousands of years in this world and the deception is three-fold it's always threefold there's a there's a holy trinity and an unholy trinity as we're going to be seeing okay and ultimately the deception that they are carrying out is based upon religion but it's not what people consider religions with an s the world religions okay we talked about world religions in the past as all being having a fundamental astro theological basis while simultaneously containing seeds of truth that most people miss because they're so concerned with the exoterra cover story told about these religions so they have to get past that and understand the esoteric meaning of some of these cover stories so that they can get at the seat of truth that lies within we'll get to that in a moment but what i want to re-emphasize is a slide that i showed back at the very early stages of this radio show and podcast about the body mind spirit connection this is image number seven on the uh uh if you're following along in the slides where i put a basic chart of spirit mind and body in that order as you could see spirit is at the top you could look at this as the highest fundamental aspect of life in general and then body is on the bottom because it's dense it's it's three-dimensional it exists in the physical plane so i labeled body the yang or the masculine aspect of this which reaches up toward the spirit and i labeled spirit the sacred feminine or yin aspect of this which which comes down to meet the body on the pla in the plane of mind which is in the middle it's this middle ground or this middle space every single problem that exists in this world okay now you could you could leave naturally occurring issues out of this earthquakes hurricanes tidal waves some people would argue that's even connected with this because the earth is a consciousness itself and it may be responding to the type of consciousness the people upon it have uh and are put injecting into the earth's morphic uh morphogenetic field okay which can prob maybe arguably create certain conditions uh in the natural world but let's leave natural disasters out of this for a moment okay and talk about man-made problems things that are created by man that cause suffering in the world all start at the level of mind therefore all solutions that are ultimately effective toward eliminating and alleviating suffering must have to do with the change in mind and a change in mind is not really possible unless you know how the mind functions unless you have knowledge of the human psyche and how it works which is essentially knowledge of psychology the psyche the knowledge of the psyche and as i've said many times that's what the occult world is and always has been it is ancient knowledge about how the human psyche functions and if you can amass that and hoard it and keep it sequestered from a number of people you will always have a power differential advantage over them because you know more about how the mind functions and therefore you can easily create deceptions and manipulate people at the level of mind if you just try to rule them out right at the level of body they're going to know that they are slaves and that they are under direct control and eventually in short order rebel against that physical control spirit you're not going to rule anybody at the level of spirit because spirit is is undifferentiated oneness that cannot be controlled and ultimately that's what we are but we have so many blinders on and so many levels of veils and and deceptions and things that we believe in that are completely erroneous and illusory that that spirit that spiritual essence of ourselves is not showing through we have spiritual blind spots everywhere as a species the dominators the dark occultists of this world always have to control the mind of the people and that's why we spent over a year talking about mind control techniques on this show to expose what their techniques are now we're going to talk about how do you shift your world view to understand that you are under mind control and therefore develop a desire to get out of that fundamental mind control most people don't think that they're under mind control most people don't think that they have a religion even if they claim oh i don't have a religion okay i'm not a religious person they have a religion because there are two universal world religions and they are both owned and controlled by the dark occult priest class because what all of the ways that hold this world back and keep it in a vibratory prison of low consciousness and lies and deception is religion and i don't mean the world religions yes they're a small function in that and a waning function in the realm of the world of mind control it still plays a role it's not as powerful as it once was world religion was the direct method of mind control of the old world order now this is not a function that is as favored to control the minds of people because one it's very fractured and there's many world religions and i have a picture in slide number eight of the three big world religions christianity judaism and islam and on the right hand side in image number eight i show that religion comes from the latin word religare and yes it does come from this word i'm so sick of the arguments against this this is where the word religion comes from ladies and gentlemen okay it does not come from leg legere which means to read it's not rel relegan relegion okay that's not what the word religion is it's with an eye it comes from ligeo liguerre ligare i should say which means to tie so religare putting re the prefix re in front of ligare means to tie back because re is back or again religare means to hold back to bind and that is where the word religion comes from the latin word for binding because it is occult magical binding or if you prefer to not use the term magical in place of you know dark magic it's sorcery binding you could call it dark magical binding that is where the word religion comes from it means to thwart or to hold back to tie back to buying so that forward progress is not possible what forward progress the forward progress toward truth toward higher consciousness we'll look at how religion serves that function on the other side of this break we'll be right back don't go anywhere [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone going to continue to power through this information because we only have a couple of segments left i probably won't be able to get to any calls today so let's uh hopefully uh next week i'll be able to take some calls on air religion is what we're talking about we're i'm getting ready to lay out what we really need to pull back from which is all of the world universal religions and i'm not talking about christianity judaism islam hinduism buddhism etc i'm talking about the real universal religions that regardless of what anyone claims is their religion meaning in the exoteric sense what religion do you subscribe to as it's traditionally used overarching belief systems that is based on falsity and things that do not exist never have existed and never will exist that everyone largely in the world believes in and will rather die than stop believing in them easily given the choice they will choose death rather than to abandon the religion of the two things i'm going to explain to you today as the two universal world religions so religion is there to hold us back and what what is it there to hold us back from well slide number nine shows this it's there to hold us back from the truth religion is this outer layer placed around the esoteric traditions and the truth to hold us back from getting into that inner circle where we can then have access toward the methods of understanding for the truth which lies at the very center of the mandala and this is done through exoteric stories intended for exoteric means intended for or likely to be understood by the general public current or popular among the general public relating to the outside world from the greek exoterracos meaning outer or outside it is the outside shell that is erected around the truth as a barrier also around the esoteric traditions because they have access in the inner circle to the truth esoteric means intended for or likely to be understood by only a small number of people with specialized knowledge or interest from the greek esotericos meaning within or into in the new testament it is said according to the words of jesus that the kingdom of god is within we must go within to ourselves change our world view so that we can develop the mindset of the kingdom that is where it lives and breathes and we're not going to get to that by simply accepting exoteric cover stories based on astro theological bases okay we have to get go through the mystical traditions and even past that to get to the the hard core the bull's-eye of truth as i have called it and ultimately what that's all about is the self and religionists will go wild with that statement and say oh it's not about learning about the self that's how you get out of mind control by studying the psyche by understanding how the psyche works and functions and what the all the manifestations of our thoughts are what all of our desires are about what underlies our fundamental behaviors and our motivations etc and that's what the dark occultists know like the back of their hand and most people have never looked into for a fleeting moment in their entire lives and that's why they are under mind control and that's why they're controlled by people who are chess masters in this game and are always going to be the master for as long as people refuse to look at the components and methods that the by which the human psyche works they're always going to have that tactical advantage over us until we go within and learn about the self and that's what the holy trinity is actually all about see the exoteric cover story says that it's about these external deities or entities that aren't part of us in the christian exoteric tradition it's the trinity of the father son and spirit okay naturally the sacred feminine or mother is left out of that equation for a very good reason because it's all about what we care about okay people don't relate this to us because they've been put on to the notion that this is outside of the self the trinity image 10 shows what the real trinity is about we looked at this in practically on day one of this show the mind-body spirit connection our thoughts our emotions and our actions the three aspects of consciousness thoughts originating in the mind the creator of our experience hence the creative principle or the father of what we create our emotions and inward quality that work within us the spirit in which we do things hence the spiritual aspect of ourselves this is the feminine or inward principle it is the mother the sacred feminine the nurturer which we have to develop care and the emotional intelligence and the emotional qualities to have give birth to desire to get out of this mess that we're in in consciousness and finally our actions which is the byproduct of our thoughts and emotions or in other words the child of our thoughts and emotions the father and mother and it's a male child because actions are what we do external to the self we take actions in the world in which we live it's not an inward process it's an outward process so this is the masculine principle or the sacred child who is male or the son now the dark occultists know this and they've done a great job hiding this from people this trinity and hand in hand with hiding this true trinity from us with the exoteric cover story provided by world religions which always have a trinity figure in it holding people back from the real knowledge of what the real trinity is okay we have their methodologies for control which is the unholy trinity as i call it and this is image number eleven and if you really understand this chart something so powerful will be opened in your mind if you really understand the depth of mind control and how much wool has been pulled over our eyes so to speak how much we are hoodwinked that every aspect of our lives is a deception and a lie just about what we are living in this matrix of control there is a father a mother and a child in the unholy trinity as well one is the basis of the old world order one is the mother that is going to give birth to the new world order the basis for the new world order and one is the new world order itself and i don't mean the positive new world order that we're trying to create change toward toward making happen in our lives meaning a world of truth love peace freedom prosperity etc i'm talking about this dark new world order that these dark occultists want to see come into fruition which is a world of tyranny and enslavement all of these things that i'm getting ready to talk about are all mind control and they are all religions all of them are religions meaning things that hold us back from the truth now the first of course is the father the architect of the entire matrix the controller of all of it the puppet master it's the priest class through which the dark occultists work and that is religion they are religious individuals they are they have a religion and as i've told you i've explained what their religion is in the section on satanism i believe that was podcast number 71 if i'm not mistaken if you go back and listen to that that's what their religion is i expose what this religion is what its tenets are what it is all about i gave you books on it i told i gave you articles on it i gave you um applications that they make people fill out with psychological profiling i was a part of that religion and i'm telling you they call it the old religion that is their name for it they don't call it what you do or what i explain it to people as they don't call it uh luciferianism or satanism when you get into the people in the higher up aspects of this they call it the old religion that is their name for their ideological system of beliefs okay because they are the priest class of this religion and this is the old world order direct mind control through religion i'm going to continue this on the other side don't go anywhere folks we'll be right [Music] back [Music] all right folks let's jump right back into this this is the last segment for this edition of what on earth is happening we're talking about this concept that i referred to as the unholy trans trinity it is the basis for all forms of control over consciousness thought control emotional control and bodily control the control of our thoughts emotions and actions we're talking about religion as the father of this trinity it is the basis for thought control and i'm not talking about just world religions i am talking about the concept of religion meaning to hold back to thwart from forward progress to tie back or to bind that is what i'm referring to when i talk about religion here in all capital letters okay it is the basis for mind control for thought control because it is the perpetuation of ignorance keeping people in a state of not knowing the truth that's what it is that's what it's holding us back from in the meaning of the word it holds back from truth okay it is based upon belief or dogmatic belief systems unquestioned beliefs not for the cert on the search for truth that's not what religion is based upon ultimately this father aspect of this trinity is controlled by a dark occult priest class that are satanic that are luciferian okay they are the ultimate deceivers the puppet masters of this world religion which is their invention is the essence of all mind control and it is the basis for their old world order which over thousands of years broke down and that's why they invented a new system probably starting around ten thousand years ago okay because that old world order was based on direct rulership under the divine right of kings of these kings that you know these beings that claim to be given power directly from god to rule over other people and that notion is no longer really accepted by people yet it has been replaced by two universal world religions which are the bride of this father this priest class and then finally the child which is ultimately going to bring in their new world order the antichrist if you will is this child okay money is the mother of this dark priest-class father the religion okay money is the mother it is the feminine aspect it is all about flow and energy as we've already talked about okay it is largely an internal process is largely an internal form of control because it's based again on belief so this is they're getting us to emotionally identify with the accumulation of money and being in fear if we are without it because we believe nothing can be done without this substance because so many other people believe that nothing can be done without it which is all a lie all the deception all untrue money never has been real isn't real now never will be real it's a a stand-in for energy a proxy for energy but it is not energy itself you cannot eat money to get energy okay yeah you can burn the bills with some fire and use it for fuel but the actual construct of money is not energy it is a a uh deception for energy again it is something put in place of energy a proxy food is energy water helps us to to stay alive clothing keeps us warm fuels keep us warm and cook our food etc these are forms of energy money is is a construct that exists only in the mind and they get us focused on it emotionally so it perpetuates apathy about anything that is real anything that is true we're focused on this illusory thing that doesn't exist and i said i have a mistake here i'll correct it i'll correct the slide after the show it should say the new god i accidentally typed an s there but the new god to which human beings now entirely devote their care attention and energy human beings worship money this is their new god this is the new god of the new world order it is the ultimate religion because even people who don't believe in the authority of man believe in money this is a complete belief and it is the ultimate religion to which people will eventually have to say through apophysis this is not true this is not what the truth is i once believed that this was the case and now i am saying no to it that's what apophis means to say no as i said apophis ultimately is the system of pulling back from all of these three things this unholy trinity through which the dark force works in this world through religion money and government all of which are illusions all of which money being the ultimate religion as the new invention of the father the priest class the religionists who are really controlling the game as the puppet masters money is the basis for their new world order government is the child it is the byproduct of these occult priests these occult controller class this occult controller class and their bride which is the financial system that they have everybody emotionally focused upon and putting their attention and care and devotion toward making money the fake money the one eye in proxy of the real one eye which is in the enlightened mind government the child is the enforcer for the occult priest class and their bankers their brides okay it is about bodily control whereas money whereas religion is about thought control and money is about emotional control government controls actions of people it perpetuates cowardice because people don't want to stand up to the entity that has been granted this monopoly on violence which doesn't exist you can't grant somebody the right to do it wrong because it's not a right it's wrong government is based entirely upon the erroneous belief in this concept of authority the authority of man which as we've already seen derives from this original divine right of kings of this occult dark priest class this satanist and luciferian dark priest class that claims that they are our rightful rulers because the gods gave them the right to rule over us and this belief in authority is perpetuated by everybody that believes in the concept of government which as we've already said simply means mind control government is the violent enforcer for the father the dark occultists and the mother the banksters the financialists and it is the implementation of their new world order this is how this system of control works and this is what needs to stop being believed in this is how it fits into world view these things are part of our world view we believe in them as real we identify with them and take part in them as a people and that needs to stop we need to say no we need to employ apophysis and say no to these things why because they are all illusions as you'll see in slide number 13 they're all illusions none of them are real and they never have been and they never will be now in slide 12 i put a slide in there to show you that the dark priest class of this world here we see a group of them at bohemian grove in 1904 as far back showing this very principle in the painting behind them they're artists in more ways than one they're artists okay but look at this train of people this this line of people who represents the people of earth being controlled all the way at the rear end you have bar uh hunter gatherers and then uh agrarians and then you have the the uh uh the the poor and then you have the uh aristocracy above them and then at the very beginning at the beginning on the left-hand side moving toward the left at the very front you have the herald of the dark magician in his dark magician's hat and his coat his robe with tails okay being shielded by his servant with the umbrella and that is the religionist that is religion that is the dark occult priest class behind him is the banker carrying the briefcase full of cash that's the money system which is his bride and then behind them the strong man which insulates and protects them from the rest of the unwashed masses that is the government or the child of that unholy trinity it's right there laid out right before you for all to see by these dark occultists who attend bohemian grove yearly our worldview challenge is to stop believing in their illusion which is the ill us eye on it's what ills turning the third eye on for all of us that's all we have time for broadcasting radio network is on a mission welcome one and all you are listening - what on earth is happening right here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com the network's website of course Oracle broadcasting dot-com today is Sunday December 18 2011 we have an infra Matt information-packed show here for you today on what on earth is happening and this is going to be the last water on earth is happening broadcast for this year for 2011 next Sunday is of course Christmas and the following Sunday is New Year's Day so I'm going to put the show on on replay for those two days because most most folks will be of course spending time with their families during that time and it's a it's actually a good thing because it's a time of that we could use this time for reflection at the end of the year and really focus our attention inward upon ourselves and ask ourselves if we're truly doing what is necessary and required to build a world of true freedom so over the next two weeks I'll play a couple of good replay shows and then we'll come in strong for the year 2012 supposedly a year of awakening as they say as it is prophesied to be some people look at it as a prophecy destruction period but I believe that that is firmly in our hands and that is up to us and that is up to whether we come out of cognitive dissonance as a people and stop lying to ourselves which is really what this show that I'm going to do today is going to be about we're going to continue talking about worldview healing as one of our primary methods of engaging in solutions oriented approaches when it comes to consciousness and we're going to continue to focus on worldview healing specifically the aspect of really looking inward and stop lying to yourself about the great slavery religions as I call them money and authority so that's coming up on the show today I do have one quick event announcement on Wednesday December 28th 2011 right here in Philadelphia at me bureaus Studios 725 North 4th Street that's the corner of 4th and Brown in the Northern Liberties section of the city as part of a group that I work with the truth freedom prosperity a great group of activists in the Philadelphia area I will be screening the documentary movie thrive what on earth will it take this is at 7:15 p.m. at media Bureau Wednesday December 28th 2011 so I'll be talking a little bit about the Thrive documentary today and what my take on it has been because a lot of people are speculating about this movie and trying to discredit it in many ways so as part of the discussion on worldviews I will be getting into what I think of the documentary film thrive today so that's coming up on this edition of what on earth is happening stay with us folks you won't want to miss this one we're going to be continuing to cover the topic of world be healing I'm mark passio this is what on earth is happening we'll be right back after these words ok welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com for those who want to follow along with The Associated images that go along with the concepts and ideas I'm going to be discussing here on the show today go to what on earth is happening dot-com click on the radio show tab and underneath the player for the show you'll see images for today's show I got these up kind of late today so if you don't see them just refresh the page and there are 9 images there that you can click on 9 numbered links that you can click on that will bring up a mini slideshow and you could follow along with the images so I want to give the call in numbers before we get started on the topic for today and you can feel free to call in at any time I will attempt to watch the switchboard and take some calls today we haven't gotten to a lot of calls recently so hopefully some people will call in and on the concept of worldview healing and worldview in general the calling number for the show is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five we're talking today about worldview healing and this is the topic that I introduced last week as the primary practical solution for change in consciousness for positive change in consciousness which I listed ten methods which we're going to tackle in order over the next many weeks here on what on earth is happening so the first we looked into last week as worldview healing and today isn't going to be so much a whole lot of new information as it is going to be a review of what worldview healing is all about and how to really go about making that happen in our lives and it's really the apophatic path i said that at the beginning of last week's show and touched briefly upon it at the end but it can't cannot be overemphasized how much worldview healing is not really about taking a whole lot of new things into oneself as much as it is about letting go of things that do not serve us as a species do not serve us as individuals at all because they are illusory they are based in fear they are primarily flawed fundamental axioms of belief that we need to shed that we need to remove like veils that are obscuring our eyes from the light this is the apophatic method of awakening okay we looked into the concept of what apophysis is that spelled a p o p h ASIS apophysis you can go back into the shows where we covered natural law which is where I introduced this concept of apophysis to understand what apophysis actually is and how we can employ it in our lives it is one of the most powerful methods for awakening ourselves and helping others to awaken because it shows us that again and I've said this countless number of times it is so much more about what we have to stop doing and believing in than it is what we need to actually do and the put into action and to accept anything new we are addicted to erroneous belief systems okay and we're addicted to the concept that things have always simply been this way and there's no choice in the matter that it's just an endless program that is running and it's always going to be this way when that is simply not true that axiom itself is untrue change is possible because we are the ones who are holding this system up through our beliefs in its primary tenets which are money and authority what I call the great religions of universal slavery the great slave religions that's what these are these are two completely illusory erroneous ideas that corrupt their way into the the contract of the human mind and set themselves up as viruses and people continue to go along with these belief systems with these religions which is what they are that's why I'd say religion is the father of all mind control it is the father of all slavery a belief system for which one has no actual evidentiary basis just blindly accepts because it was told to them and and they accept it on just on its face okay prima facie acceptance well that person said that their perceived authority figure and therefore it must be true an acceptance of a claim we're going to talk about that a lot today how these things are claims and then other people simply accept the claim that is made that is erroneous to begin with okay so we looked last week at worldview healing I that's slide number one if you're following along with the slides and we talked about how what this basically is is changing how we perceive ourselves and others in this world our relationships to each other and that's a very difficult thing to do because these are Konqueror ties belief systems in some cases in people and no matter how much they suffer they want to hold on to the way they see the world because it's all they know and that's really gonna bring more and more suffering to them until their ego caves in finally if it does within their current lifetime and they have deemed that they have suffered enough and finally they let go of their preconceived notions and their erroneous beliefs and say I'm ready to change I'm ready to accept truth because I want to now go off on it on a seeking of the truth on a search for truth and the subsequent discovery thereof it's not about believing anything it's about searching for truth and discovering that which is and again this goes back to the idea if you don't believe there's any such thing as truth if you don't think truth exists you're doomed from the beginning because that means you're a solipsistic that it is only perception that governs this reality and nothing could be farther from the truth there are laws that govern this reality and we talked about that in the section on natural law so if you're new to this and these ideas sound like you know they're too difficult for you to grasp just you know based on what I'm saying here today you have to understand that this knowledge is based upon prerequisite information that you can get by going back to the earlier podcast and listening from the beginning when people tell me where should I start with this information I say jumping in at podcast number 80 or you know 85 is probably not going to be the best thing to do for you you need to go back and listen from number one start at the beginning that's the best place to start because these are building blocks and the the top portions of these floors rests upon the foundations that are at the the bottom level so this is a tapestry and it's actually a linear tapestry that's being woven and you know it's not saying you wouldn't get anything valuable from listening you know at this point but you would it would really really bring so much more value and make a whole lot more sense if you had the prerequisite knowledge that is in the former podcasts so I recommend that for listeners that may be new to this show moving on to image number two I break down the word diagnosis and what diagnosis really is which is really what worldview healing is all about it's taking an honest look at ourselves and then making an accurate diagnosis about the fundamental causal nature of the problems that we are experiencing as a people so we'll look at diagnosis on the other side of this break stay with us everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio today on the show we're talking about continuing to talk about worldview healing as one of the primary solutions oriented approaches toward healing and consciousness and effecting true positive change in our world we talked about this concept as being related to shamanism being a form of shamanism one of the techniques of shamanism I guess you could say on the last show and part of this is making an accurate diagnosis about what the actual causal nature's of the problems that we are experiencing are and then how to go about changing them how to go about fixing them so slide number two shows what a diagnosis is and of course we look at the language that is derived from which is Greek but the image there is kind of like a piece of dark humor a snarky image about a doctor taking a look at a patient and saying that he's done a thorough examination and it is safe to say that it there is absolutely no sign of goodness in the patient I came across this searching for some images on diagnosis and thought that it was kind of appropriate in a dark kind of humorous way but I think there is really good in our species that's the whole point of this is to show that you know if our worldview is that we are not really good and that we are fundamentally flawed we talked about this last week we're not going to really be able to see the solution we're going to think that it is just eternally hopeless and the people are just fundamentally flawed from it from the inception and if we hold that view and really believe in that view then we're going to ultimately fall into the next aspect of dark world view which is believing that change is not possible so this is kind of what the dark occultists want how they want us to think that there's no good in others okay that there is that we're fundamentally flawed and in thinking that way we'll abandon hope and we will not actually try to get to the causal factors try to get to an understanding of the causal factor so that we can effect a change from the causal level which is what making a diagnosis is all about more than this it shows that the the real way to affect change is not by ignoring the negative you have to look at the problem most of all in yourself which ties into the thing that I really want to talk about today which is lying to yourself the concept of cognitive dissonance which is the first method of getting out of a dark worldview is stop lying to yourself if you continue to do this you're not really initiating yourself onto the path of truth you're not really initiating yourself onto the path of the stellar man as it is called in the mystery traditions specifically the hermetic mystery tradition and that's really what we're talking about is setting off on a path of spiritual discovery and diagnosis is something that allows us to look at the problem and not flinch in fear because we're using a method of inquiry that is based in knowledge and again the apophatic inquiry is extremely powerful in this because what you're really trying to find out is what should not be there what needs to be removed what is creating the problem where the imbalance and then work on removing that okay if there's a lack of something that does need to be there then you need to put that thing there like in the case of malnutrition if you're not getting enough nutrient density you need to put it there but I don't care how much nutrient density is there if you're continuing to put poisons in and you're not working on removing those poisons you're gonna get sick the same goes with belief systems if you're continuously putting fundamentally poisonous beliefs into the mind the minds going to be sick no matter how much positive information you're exposed to and that's what's going on today we're drowning in a sea of poison worldview so many people are pumping out poisonous and erroneous notions because they think that they're the arbiter of the truth and that they can make up what reality is instead of actually trying to discover what is true they think that they can state that the universe is a certain way and that makes it so we're going to talk about that a little bit later people who think that they're the arbiter of truth okay which is another extremely poisoned worldview and it's as poisonous to accept their claims so part of worldview healing is stopped believing in erroneous claims that have no basis in fact and we can only do that if we understand what is true and what is not true the getting to the idea to getting to the understanding of the difference between truth and fantasy okay and again part of this is a diagnosis of what the problems are and Dia which is the first part of the word diagnosis dia in Greek Delta II Oda alpha means through or by way of okay and then gnosis GN o is in English that's gamma nu Omega Sigma iota Sigma in Greek means knowledge so when we put these two Greek words together dia and gnosis we get through knowledge or by way of knowledge that is how we acquire the solution because we have acquired understanding of what the fundamental nature of the problem is and again on day one I quoted from Mark Phillips who had that great quote in transformation of America that the way to solve problems is by acquiring as much information about the nature of the problem as possible I apologize folks my internet connection seems to have dropped out there I think I'm back online so I was talking about um rising up above the flames of effects of manifestation getting to the level of causes treating the problem from there because of the mind cause is being generated okay and then that's going into manifestation through our actions and creating the world in which we live in we can't ever treat the problem by in the realm of effects we have to get to the plane of causes to fix it we'll be right back okay we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark Pasco I apologize for the technical problem in the last segment hopefully uh the connection will be rock-solid from here on out so we're talking about diagnosis how to make an accurate diagnosis and really this starts with being honest with oneself which is why the very very first method of initiation which I'm going to cover some of those methods recover them again in when we get to slide number three is stop lying to yourself because if you continue to lie to yourself and exist in a state of cognitive dissonance okay existing in a perpetual dreamland within your own mind believing yourself to be the arbiter of truth versus a seeker of truth then you're never going to get to the causal factors that are creating the problems in your life or in the world okay so when we look at the doctor-patient relationship here on slide number two in reference to the word diagnosis we have to understand that we are both of those characters we are the patient and the doctor okay we have to make the diagnosis about what the imbalances within ourself ultimately are and do them in an honest way which is very difficult to do to see the lower case as self objectively we have to make a fundamental shift from seeing ourselves the way we usually see ourselves to seeing ourselves from a higher-level perspective the perspective of the higher self and that's a fundamental shift in worldview in perspective in how we see through the lenses that we see through and ultimately we need to remove the lenses that we see through so that we have a clear line of sight direct with no obscuration in between our eyes and what we are viewing then we will be able to make an accurate diagnosis and that will be done through knowledge once we have accepted truth and we have the building blocks for knowledge that's what the grammar and logic part of the Trivium is all about arrival at understanding will only happen through knowledge and the accurate processing of that knowledge taking the blinders off and seeing things as they actually are versus how we want to perceive them or how we wish they should okay we dropped out again for a few seconds I got back in right away that time but I'm not quite sure why this is occurring and hopefully uh if it's a problem at Oracle's and they're taking a look at it but it may simply be my connection here so that is very unusual usually my connections rock-solid so I apologize for that once again going back to initiation these five steps have generally been observed in every ancient mystery tradition regardless of what they are and they're in no particular order okay they all have to really be done simultaneously and they are stop lying especially to yourself stop dreaming or existing in the state of cognitive dissonance learn how to think meaning employee the methods of the Trivium and quadrivium and other methods of the discovery of truth look at yourself as a truth seeker and learn how to think according to a logical and intuitive processes combined okay and then live in the present moment true present moment awareness something we haven't really gotten to talking much about but we will in future weeks and activating the physical body meaning get the poisons out and get the good stuff in and we're going to be talking about food coming up on the show and hopefully bringing on some guests to talk about nutrition and to talk about what we should be putting into our minds you know who do you pay attention to who do you listen to well of information you take into yourself on a daily basis that's just as important as the food that we eat version of this we talked about what a poisoned version of this looks like and we also talked about what a healed view a healed worldview looks like so I won't be recovering these three things except to basically say that until we address each one of these within ourself and this is all something that is an internal work it's done within ourselves it's not something we really so much do outside in the world as far as our actions go this has to do with getting our mind right and take reclaiming ownership of our own mind as opposed to giving over our thoughts to all of the negative and poisoned influences around us so this is part of work that we must do upon ourself to change how we see things in the world and if that work isn't done all of our actions are going to be colored by the worldview that we hold and therefore they're always going to be geared toward chaos they're never going to be geared to to any what any positive method for creating change that we say we want to experience in our life we're going to continue to experience self-inflicted suffering for as long as we hold those poisoned worldviews when we can abandon those poison worldviews and take on a more positive view of our relationship to others in our world into the world as a whole then through that healing process we're going to be able to create a more positive manifestation in the world and we looked at the two concepts that I call the holy and unholy trinity this is also all about worldview because if we understand that the real sacred Trinity exists within us and is all about consciousness and is all about the aspects of consciousness that are at work within ourselves and we stop X analyzing these things which is what religion world religions and also religion as far as what the two great religions that I talked about of the two religions of slavery are they always want to get us to externalize these things okay and ultimately that is attempting to externalize your personal responsibility for what you create in this world that is ultimately what all religion is attempting to do get people to believe that they can somehow hand over personal responsibility for their thoughts emotions and actions and this cannot be done that is an illusion you cannot hand away those responsibilities for what you think how you feel and how you act you own them whether you like it or not whether you want to or not whether you want to give them away or not you are Sultan responsible for those three aspects of consciousness and you can never be separated from them they can exist in turmoil and confusion and opposition within yourself but they are always yours get over it that's how it is and most people see that as the biggest problem in life they want to abandon these things they do not want to claim personal responsibility or ownership over these three things and that is the the most dangerous problem when it comes to worldview this is what worldview healing is all about is understanding that this is what the Trinity is these three things are what you are actually made of and how you express yourself in the three dimensional reality in which you live which is why this court these three aspects correspond to our three dimensional realm and ultimately you need to know definitively that you can never abandon these things in yourself no matter how much you attempt to it's all folly and illusion to even attempt to do that you own these things they are yours while you were in your your body while you were in this manifestation in this incarnation you need to claim ownership of them and you need to take personal responsibility for these three things then you need to bring them into alignment and remove contradictions between these things as they exist within me that is getting to the state of non-duality no opposition within the self we're going to talk about this a little bit more on the other side you're listening to what on earth is how Oracle don't go after great comeback folks this is what on earth is happening on your host mark Basia we're talking today about worldview healing in the last segment I started to talk about the concepts contained on slide number five on the what on earth is happening website on the radio show page underneath the player a Holy Trinity is that which we carry within ourselves that is not something that is externalized to ourself it is the mind body spirit connection it is our thoughts our emotions and our actions and on this slide you see the correspondences our thoughts associated with the mind arising in the mind and not specifically the brain the mind which is outside of the brain okay it the brain is the physiological antenna or mechanism through which the mind functions but it is not the mind itself this is the creative principle or the father of this Trinity the essence of it everything exists as thought before it manifests this is the first hermetic principle the principle of mentalism which we talked about in the natural law section our emotions the spirit in which we do our actions in which we take action in the world an internal aspect of consciousness that is experienced within this is the feminine principle as such and it is the sacred mother of the Trin that is within us our actions is the byproduct are the byproduct of our thoughts and our emotions taken with the body done with the body is an externalized principle or a masculine one and as such it is the child of our mind our thoughts combined or the father combined with the emotions or the mother aspect to give birth to this child which is male it is a son okay the male child is action this is the real Trinity and that's where a fundamental worldview shift must begin if we don't start the worldview shift with the understanding that these three aspects of consciousness are the Trinity and it exists within us it is not something that is external to ourselves and we need to take ownership and responsibility for these three aspects of our consciousness because if we don't then our consciousness is actually being controlled and therefore we are being controlled through it like a puppet from someone else that we have attempted to hand over that responsibility the responsibility for these three aspects of consciousness - and I say attempted because they can never really be handed over to anyone else we could only say that we want to hand them over and tell someone else that yes you have the the right and and I am giving you the responsibility for these things but that will never make it so and it's it's a cop-out ultimately and it's all about people wanting to stay at a level of spiritual mental and emotional immaturity so the unholy trinity the exact opposite of these three sacred aspects of consciousness within ourself is what we'll all to gladly be willing to act as the receiver of that attempt to give away responsibilities and to take take that you know those aspects and use them for their own gain and benefit and of course it really is an illusion it's not something that can take those things from us it'll claim that it can we will in our rush to give those things away to give the responsibility for our thoughts our emotions and our actions away as a people will claim that yes I can give that I can give these aspects of myself over to these external eyes authorities and people will will believe that continue to believe it but that doesn't make it actually real or how it actually works okay it's still an illusion it's still folly it's still something that you're attempting to do that can't really be done in actuality it can't be done in the realm of actual truth in the fantasy worlds that we've created for ourselves yes we can give away responsibilities all day long but in actual reality we always possess responsibility for our own thoughts emotions and actions and that responsibility can never be given to any other being because we own it whether we like it it MIT it want it to be that way or not irrelevant so we looked at on if you're looking at the slides this is image number six last week we talked about this Trinity also being related or corresponding to this family of father mother and child and ultimately what controls it all was the dominating father figure which is religion and I don't mean the world religions yes that exists as part of this control structure that is in place but I'm not talking about religions with an S okay as far as Christianity Judaism Hinduism Buddhism Islam etc that's not what this word religion Capital all capitals is referring to here this is the concept of religion keeping people back tying them back binding them from truths the concept of getting them to believe in illusions and lies and deceptions in general is religion now will world religions fall into that as a subcategory sure we talked about how they're all actually actual theology in disguise and now the Astro theology is only there to keep people from the real core or seed of truth that is contained within them but has been completely covered over by all of these cover stories wrapped in astro theological metaphors that you need to break past even that esoteric tradition to get down to the the very seed of truth that lies deep deep deep down within them and that's what dominators have to do isn't is veil all of that truth with all of these stories and and deceptions to get people to focus on things that are external to the self so that they never do any real corrective work never make a diagnosis and then never change the worldview and therefore change the manifestation that's how dark occultism works that's how it accomplishes its work as such they have essentially created all of the world religions this is the father this is the Old World Order how they used to control things direct right to rule it given to the kings and rulers by God himself herself itself whatever the Divine Right of Kings this was known as religion as a concept is the ultimate thought control it perpetuates ignorant because it is based upon belief not the search for truth as we've looked at it is ultimately controlled as is this world by a dark occult priest class and I proved this in an image I'm going to put up again which is from Bohemian Grove and show you where their mindset is these dark occultists religions the essence of all mind control and it was the Old World Order direct rulership over subjects simply by a claim of authority and then those subjects subsequently believing in that claim money is the mother of this Trinity it's what the system want of control wants to get us to care about and focus all of our attention and energy upon as such it is the new God it is the God that is given to the subjects to be ruled by the father Dominator occult priests class that is the religion that they have made to Institute their form of control it ultimately supplants and is higher than all of the world's religions with an S the little religions this is one of the slave religion one of the two major slave religions capital our overarching belief systems and fundamental illusions and false flawed fundamental axioms that have nothing whatsoever to do with reality I call money the ultimate religion because more people believe in it than any other religion on earth even authority more people believe in money than believe in Authority less people can see through the illusion of money than can see through the religion of government or authority government is the child and this is the pecking order okay it's in order for a reason religion is the highest level of control money is the intermediate level and government is at the bottom it's ruled by money and then buy the occultist the religionists who rule the entire pecking order government is based on bodily control perpetuates cowardice and is Bullock based on the erroneous belief in authority which is what I'm going to talk about on the other side of this break we'll be right back everyone we're talking about world beauty okay we're back I dropped off again not again not sure why that is occurring it seems to be happening intermittently but we're talking about the govern the two great world religions money and government and these are exist underneath the ultimate control mechanism which is religion which is getting people to subscribe to a belief which has no basis in truth and we were looking at government as the child of the father and mother religion and money and it is based upon this erroneous belief that there is Authority in man that there's Authority in human beings that human beings can set themselves up as the makers of law and as such that they can set themselves up as the arbiters of truth because natural law is not based on what we think or our perception that's based on truth it's based in creation we didn't put it there the terms of morality are not dictated by men they can be discovered by man the laws of morality but they cannot be made by men so a lawmaker sees himself as the arbiter of truth because he thinks he can make something moral by decreeing it or make something immoral by decree it we talked in the natural law section about how ridiculous the concept of the laws of men even is because if a law of man is in harmony with natural law it's completely redundant because it's like stating that something is true yes stating the two plus two is four is true but you wouldn't make a law saying that two plus two is four that's just simply true you can make a law saying two plus two is three all you want it's never going to make it three and people can believe in that law but if it's not in harmony with natural law no one is duty-bound or has any moral obligation to believe in it or obey it therefore whether man's law is in harmony with natural law or not it is irrelevant because ultimately men didn't put natural law into position and he is not the arbiter of truth to decide what is right or what is wrong he is only in a position to make a discovery regarding what is right and what is wrong and those things are not changeable they're not subjective regardless of how many people want to think or claim that they are this is the whole problem with life on earth is that people think that morality is somehow subjective and not objective and is not based on objective reality natural law actual law is based on objective reality and truth it has nothing whatsoever to do with opinions likes dislikes anything of the sort this is what more more relative relativism comes from the idea that we can make up what's right or wrong depending on what we like what we're comfortable are uncomfortable with nonsense so we're going to look at how this is all illusion and how to get out of it on the other side we'll be right back folks this is what on earth is happening on your host Martin Casio by website what on earth is happening com1 approach if halting numbers again anybody wants to call in talk about worldview and worldview healing caller number is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five talking about the illusions of religion and I mean the great religions not the lesser religions I'm talking about the real belief systems that are holding humanity back from evolving in consciousness and ultimately they are money and government or the belief in authority which is ruled ultimately by the belief in money because as we know financial institutions control governments of what are the financial institutions ultimately controlled by and that is a priest class and I proved that last week according to their own worldview not mine their own worldview proving their pecking order and their hierarchy as they have set it up with the image I showed at Bohemian Grove which I'm going to analyze again today a little bit more in depth we have to understand the illusion of these belief systems and get out of that illusion realizing that they're simply fake there's nothing else really to be said here they're false they're based on complete lies deceptions they're based on claims that have no basis have no fundamental routing in any facts whatsoever and as such they need to be abandoned we need to say no to them apophysis means saying no remove all that which is harming us which is acting as a poison getting it out getting rid of it that's it these aren't systems which need reform they're systems which need to be abandoned because they are poison they are based on poisoned worldviews that cannot help us not that they just don't help us they are not capable of doing any good in the world and that's why they're called illusion which is why I want to pause here on slide number seven for a moment to get into the green language of the word illusion and this is a concept many people dismiss completely think that there's no basis for it don't understand the power of words the power of language the living dynamic of language and words and will dismiss the power of the actual ways that we speak a word and the actual vibratory energy that comes out of our mouth when we speak at what we're actually saying and how this works out in English above all other languages that's why English is the ultimate green language or what has been traditionally called in occult schools of thought the language of the birds or the bard because it's an angelic language it's a language that is telling us truth through the vibratory energy of the words that we are speaking if we only quiet our left brain analytical mind enough to see the pattern illusion is the word ill us and ion put together ill is being sick having a sickness us means all of us the collective group of humanity and ion an ion is a charged particle meaning the energy that is within us is sick because of illusion because we are in illusion and ion if we then extrapolate IO n and take the eye okay to mean either I myself the higher self and on which is a word that in the ancient world meant light okay the light within myself within all of us the collective I of all of us is ill due to illusion and again people I understand not everybody thinks that green language is real again that will never make it not real okay because words having insuk vibratory energy and they're telling us something all the time it's just are we receptive enough to hear it so that which ills us at the place of the i-ight on as we saw was a word a green language word used to in reference to the all-seeing eye consciousness the internal aspects of consciousness within us when someone was awakened when someone had the light within themselves turned on they would call that the opening of the third eye the Ozma chakra if you will the balancing of the brain hemispheres coming together to activate the pineal gland and to activate the entire brain holistically and then activated at the prefrontal cortex which is the center of conscience and creativity turning the ion so illusion is that which is making us sick in the third eye and that's exactly what illusion is and it you could see it in the word right in the word all you have to do is write it down on a piece of paper and break it down and then look at the components and we'll see what you have that's called green language this is occult language and scoff it at it all you want scoff at it all you want for those who think that words don't work like this we're constantly being told I'm going to talk about the concept of being told what is going on and continuing to ignore it a powerful experience with that late in this week but let's look at image number eight quickly to show you that these illusions are at the very front forefront of humanity taking people to a place that they have no idea where they're being taken two and it is the dark new world order the brave new world as the occultists liked to call it and look at it okay and how they see themselves in this pecking order this image number eight on the website here is an image from Bohemian Grove in 1904 posted online by I believe a family member whose elder father was an attendee at the Grove at the Bohemian Club attended in the late 1800s and 1900s and then subsequently died these images were found and posted online and they did a service to humanity by doing that because it gives you an insight into the dark occult world view which very few people ever have the experience of having even at this level let alone at the level I experienced that dark worldview at by being a part of it at a very low level but this is how these Psychopaths mind works it is shown in the image behind them taken in this picture at a artists encampment at the Grove in 1904 and the image behind them on that big long banner shows you how they see each other and how they see their control system in place and I hear the intro music so we'll analyze this image on the other side in the next segment to show you to give you a glimpse inside the mob that's what we were looking at before the break I apologize ladies and gentlemen another drop out there but we were looking at the image of the Bohemian Grove okay the this is all about getting out of erroneous belief systems this is all about getting out of religious thinking which is based on belief not facts not truth belief okay we need to abandoned abandon the ideas of of money and government these are the world slavery religions as I call them not based in fact whatsoever based on erroneous beliefs and the dark occultists are all too happy to tell you that they are in total control over these religions they invented them as a matter of fact and the image that we were beginning to look at was from Bohemian Grove and it was slide number eight on the water on earth is happening website in the radio show section and if you look at the banner behind the individuals at the Grove these are cultists that from as early as 1904 you'll see on the right-hand side of the image these are sort of primitive hunter-gatherers or nomadic people's they're living in harmony with the land they're using only what they are able to gather on any particular day the idea of give us this day our daily bread not hoarding form or using what they can on the land but in a state of balance which is really the way that we're pretty much meant to exist in the world in a state of equilibrium with nature not in a state of domination over it and they put them as the most backwards people on the earth there are the people at the very back they need to lead out of their delusional ways when in fact it's the exact opposite way but in front of them you have the farmer you know who's practicing animal husbandry and you know agriculture okay then in front of them you have the masses okay so you have the slovenly lazy people at the very back who don't want to be do anything basically you don't want to be brought forward that's the image of the fat man there okay then you have the extremely poor and destitute going forward you have the middle class and then the aristocracy the cultured people with money but they're like I guess you could say the nouveau riche they're not really you know bloodline rich they're not old money rich but then there's a disconnect and in front of them you have the three religions okay you have the two great religions out in front and then the leader of them all religion itself were the occultist the dark ocultist himself we'll get to that in a moment out in front of that ballerina character there you have the strongman which shows you the pecking order government is just above the the masses of people controlling them as a religion that they believe in and think should be in place but they're telling you this really this institution represented by the strongman who represents the police and military or government in general is only there to institute to insulate the two leaders of this of this train so to speak okay from the rest of the the members on board that train that is being led by the two leaders which is money and the occultist himself out in front of government or the strongman is the man carrying the cash he's the banker he's the financial arm of this control system that represents money in general as the second great world religion so you have these two overarching world religions clearly controlled by the occultist who is the man in the black coat and Tails and the black top-hat okay at the front who is being shielded by his slave with the umbrella and then he is being heralded by the herald out in front who is announcing his coming announcing the birth of his great new world his new world order the dark occult new world order right there in that very image they're telling you the control structure of the world out in the open blatantly hidden in plain sight in a image in a painting telling you through symbol they're becoming increasingly more aggressive that they're almost wanting to come right out and tell you through word they rarely do that but this is one of their primary methods of communication and yet I could show this image to 50 people and hardly anyone will be able to even analyze that image and tell me what it means with very few exceptions there are some who can see it upon looking at it but very few and what I was getting at just beginning to get into before the last break was that these religions are just claims of being true and then it requires people who are willing to give away their ability to think for themselves to accept and believe in this claim so Authority is the best example because it is clearly a false claim nobody is the authority or master of another person unless you believe in slavery you know oh if you believe in slavery I would just suggest that you're just simply a completely wrong and bad human being because you're saying that someone else is allowed to own another living person as property as their property you know that's about as immoral as it gets and that's what all claims of authority are you must obey me otherwise I'm allowed to commit violence which is saying you're my slave I can do violence against you if you disobey let's face it that's the ultimate that's ultimately what Authority is that's what it's about it's saying I'm in charge you're gonna do what I say if you don't I'm gonna do violence against you if you attempt to disobey that's all authority is so this is a claim that is made it's false no one is a ruler of another person no one does have authority over anybody else and it's a claim made by individual who are psychopathic and who actually believe themselves to be arbiters of truth they believe themselves to be lawmakers that they can state something and then it can become true not stating something that's already true and saying yes I've discovered this truth it is in effect in the natural realm but say saying well regardless of whether things are a certain way or not I can speak this and then it becomes true you specifically the concept of illusion the first method of initiation stop lying to yourself we need to get out of the belief that the great slavery religions of money and authority are true that is an illusion they are based on complete fantasy they don't exist in the natural realm and we need to abandon them and we need to understand how these psychopathic the psychopathic ruling class thinks of themselves as arbiters of truth that they can make up reality the reality isn't something there to be discovered truth is not for discovery but it's for them to speak it as the gods of this world but that claim of authority requires a belief in it and that's where worldview healing comes in because for as long as you're willing to stay in the worldview of believing in authority you're always going to be enslaved for as long as you're willing to stay in the worldview of believing in the system of money itself it doesn't matter what form of exchange it is as long as you're willing to believe in the system of a proxy for energy instead of something that is energy itself you're always going to be enslaved by that system because that is the invention of the dark Oh cultists mind they put that system in place they made it they invented it to set themselves up as the gods of this place so as long as you're in that system of belief you're one of the bricks in the wall you have to smash that worldview it has to be abandoned there's no easy way of saying it apophysis is not easy saying no is not easy admitting you are wrong is never easy that's why people continue to stay in the system of enslavement they can't admit that they were duped in that they were wrong and I think two great allegorical movies for people to check out about this entire process of being wrong and having to atone in some form for all of the erroneous ways of your thinking and acting is one the Star Wars trilogy ok specifically if you look at the very last aspect of it Empire Strikes Back and Return of the Jedi gets into the whole concept that the father of this matrix you know is the one who's the the Dark Lord who's following the system of fear and control you know the represented by the Emperor Vader is the father figure okay an occultist a lord of the sith following this spirit of fear the emperor himself and he doesn't he's like he's become psychopathic he wasn't born as a psychopath but he's a secondary psychopath and he never backs off until he realizes that he is murdering his own child that this system itself is murdering its own child his own child and my internet connection dropped again folks home apologize again I'm gonna have to look into this it may be on my end and I'm gonna have to look into my setup here to figure out what's going on but uh moving along was talking about the Star Wars trilogy and Vader being a representation of the father figure of control and you know putting his son into this system of enslavement and finally and he you know won't back off until finally he realized it's going to kill that which you know is flesh and blood to him and that's the moment he develops a conscious and that's you know what I think we're gonna have to go into as a people with this the people who back this control system and believe in authority are gonna have to realize that until they understand that they're putting their children into permanent bondage and enslavement they're probably not going to back off and as I was saying even then they may not because they you know their ego has them to the extent that they can't admit that they were wrong which is what this is ultimately going to require that's what a shift in worldview requires is admitting that you were wrong about your formerly held worldview and being willing to change it another great movie about making the shift is the movie equilibrium with Christian Bale and if you watch equilibrium it shows you a were in a world where emotions have been outlawed the Sacred Feminine is illegal and punishable by death you know one of their one of their enforcers in this enslavement system when he realizes it affected his wife and children finally wakes up in this matrix of control and then has to do what he deems is right and necessary in order to bring this system down and he has to go through the process internally of changing his own worldview in admitting he was wrong so I highly recommend the movie equilibrium in general regarding the myth of authority I would highly recommend the book by Larkin rose the most dangerous superstition that goes through extensively and covers how the entire belief in authority is all illusory so that's uh that's what I wanted to say on authority in general and regarding cognitive dissonance and how difficult it is to get out of it no better image comes to mind than the book 1984 another great piece of allegorical fiction okay in which the people all convinced themselves that the exact opposite of what they really want which is peace freedom and strength or prosperity are the exact opposites so their slogan was war is peace freedom is slavery and ignorant is strength and they actually convinced themselves to hold those contradictory ideas in their mind simultaneously the people of that inseok Society in the book 1984 by George Orwell so listeners of this radio show are probably familiar with it but anyone who isn't should definitely read that book maybe I'll post the PDF - to the website along with maybe some other parts of allegorical fix of allegorical fiction that display these concepts but 1984 is something everybody should read to understand how cognitive dissonance works in a population and if we're ever going to come out of that level of cognitive dissonance we ultimately must stop lying to ourselves we must stop telling ourselves that government is not violence enforced at the point of a gun telling us that the believers in government and the believers people who believe themselves to be lawmakers do not consider themselves as arbiters of truth or in other words as God on earth we can only seek truth and discover it we can never create truth truth is pre-existing it is that which is it is that which has happened we can discover it and we can state it but we cannot make truth be something different be something that we say it is other than something that it already is understand that that is part of worldview healing okay so one other thing I want to talk about before we get to calls in the next segment is another aspect of worldview healing which is getting out of this paranoia based thinking that everything every single thing is bad every single person who is trying to reveal truth in any way is an agent of the system it's himself or herself this is delusional paranoid thinking that is based on unhealthy doubt and unhealthy skepticism doubt and skepticism can be healthy I've always said question everything don't believe anything do your own research discover truth for yourself so you can understand it somebody can tell you what they've discovered but they can't make you understand that when you do your own research then you could really understand it and integrate it into yourself but thinking that everybody is an agent is paranoid thinking and where this comes into play reason I bring this up is because so many people are talking about this movie thrive as if it was something bad or some kind of a putting people off the path and I don't think anything could be further from the truth I think foster gamble did a great job I think there's more he could have went into and told but for what he told he did a great job people talk about the 1i symbolism on the Thrive movie poster and the V in the moon in the Thrive word itself you know forming a chevron shape we've already talked about these symbols and what they really mean the one eye is a symbol for enlightenment and coming on line and awakening the V is a symbol of the Sacred Feminine these are ideas that Gamble is trying to express and put there deliberately in symbolism so that people pay attention to this movie and take in its ideas and then act upon them he did leave out the dark occult I don't think he wanted to scare people off but I think he knows about it he'll be right back for the last segment your calls on the other side welcome back everyone this is the last segment of what on earth is happening for the year 2011 this year flew by 2012 coming up will it be an age of awakening or destruction that is ultimately up to us and whether we can come out of the illusions that we are under as a species the beginning of the year the end of the year I should say you know moving into the beginning of the year is a time traditionally for reflection and to make resolutions and here's where the word the power of words come in again you know we need to get back to a solution which is what a resolution is about will we be resolved to create creating a true change within ourself that will then be reflected in externalized change in the manifested realm in which we live ultimately getting out of illusion is the ultimate solution it is about abandoning preconceived deeply held beliefs that do not serve us that's ultimately what world view healing is all about okay so the last thing I want to say is regarding this unhealthy skepticism this everyone is an agent thinking oh you know which was applied to the movie thrive and foster gamble himself who I think that an overall excellent job you now I would like to see him get into talking about the world of the dark occult and this hidden priest class of being at the top as opposed to just finance ears because they are not at the very top there is an occult class that rules them and guides their actions as well so that is something I'd like to see him get into but barring that the movie was excellent and that's why I'm going to show it at the next truth freedom prosperity documentary night and I think it's a film everybody should see and it's something that is excellent for beginners because of the very high production values and clear methods of explanation that are employed specifically I love the way his wife made her case of how she came to understand this information reluctantly in the film and that can be very powerful to her you know family members and especially toward women who sometimes will struggle with these concepts especially if they're in a family and they don't want to expose their family to how deep the rabbit-hole goes and how dark the nature of this information is I see it and met with members of my family all the time so her role in the movie was particularly exceptional I thought and I definitely recommend the film so that having been said another aspect of worldview healing the people cling on to is the like perpetual infighting in it goes hand in hand with this overly doubtful and skeptical and paranoid thinking and no better example than Alex Jones people constantly try to accuse this man of being an agent while he may not be 100% totally enlightened to you know the entire control mechanism he sees it largely for the most part okay he may still believe money is really me still believe government is real we need limited government I personally may disagree with that but that doesn't mean I can't respect what he has done and all the work he has done and he's woken a lot of people up to the psychopathic nature of this control system specifically this past Friday I'd like to comment on something he said on his show he said that if you really know what the the dark new world order is you really know who controls it and what what it results and it is about death and he's dead on about that what do they really want they want death and I can't overemphasize that it's not just about control they are antithetical to life antithetical to life itself and ultimately they are agents of death that's what these dark Psychopaths who are currently in control one they are an abomination against life itself okay and he got that dead-on and he said to not to not tell people the truth about this system or fight against it would actually require the most insane form of courage that exists and I couldn't agree with that more what what people who are truly exposing this because they've seen the depths of evil inherent in this system they're almost not the most brave people in the world the people with the most crazy form of bravery are the people that may see the system and do nothing to expose it or talk about it and get people to understand what it is because they're actually standing up against the force of creation itself and I wouldn't want to be in that position ladies and gentlemen woe unto those who are in that position and that's something everybody needs to think about and reflect upon what are we individually doing to help reverse this system of enslavement and to get people out of these erroneous ways of thinking what are each one of us doing how are we taking personal responsibility and Alex also said that's why he does what he does just to warn people that this is what is out there you were told you were warned and that resonated very strongly with me this was all I think in the last segment of our number one of his show on Friday the 16th December 16th and when I was listening to it live I went immediately after the show was done back into the archive and downloaded this show because what he said in that segment resonated with my heart so you know somebody doesn't have to have every single aspect of the picture to really get it in general they can be wrong about certain things and still get the big picture about what's going on okay so just attacking somebody because they say one thing you don't like to hear and then calling them an agent or you may not agree with that you know is paranoid delusional thinking and it's one-dimensional thinking and we need to be more mature about that and get out of it and realize everybody's bringing to the table the pieces of the jigsaw puzzle that they happen to have not every single person is going to have every piece of the picture some will have more than others but just because someone doesn't have certain pieces of the picture you may have doesn't mean that they're an agent for the system of control okay so finally let's let's go to the phones so here we go that's really all I wanted to say when we come back in next year we're going to be really getting more into solutions based approaches and we're going to start talking about what we really need to do with the physical body as well because that's just as important as the mental and emotional aspects of this about understanding how to get out of illusion sometimes you know the the physio physiological and Norrell part of this can be as challenging to break and that's what's holding back our development in our thoughts and our emotions as well so what we put into our body is vitally important and it's going to be a big part of what we talked about in the early part of next year so let's go to the phones to wrap things up for this year here we go Mike in New York I couldn't think of a better caller to help take us out in the year 2011 as we look forward to 2012 Mike how are you and what do you have for us I'm doing great thank you Mark for taking my call and I thank you for another year of great dedication and truth well the biggest problem that what these two main religions that you talk about their end goal is the destruction of one's self through through the physical dishes by just by destroying one's self internally externally and through the system the main reason why people get caught up and that is because they usually they have trouble discerning the mind from the soul I think because of that it usually leads to mass confusion within oneself and it usually leads to serving just the body so I'd like everybody to try and balance and find a way and between all three and to master that aspect of oneself because if you know oneself if you know thyself you can you then are enlightened with the power to do the things externally that you never thought possible before that's absolutely correct Mike and part of that that you mentioned is the identification with the lowercase self in the physical body is always gonna hold people in fear of what they have to lose or you know how they may be hurt or you know what what position or status they may not no longer have in in this 3-dimensional reality which they think is so real and is the ultimate reality it's all about making that fundamental shift in worldview and recognizing what is not ultimately the true basis for self the true basis for self is not matter is not the physical aspect of of us that is a part of us but it is not the essence of who we are then worldview the fundamental worldview shift that I'm talking about ultimately comes from getting out of that identification with the lower self and toward the understanding of the higher self which is that we are not the matter we are the spirit that is the animation of this matter that is actually in control of those three aspects of consciousness that we need to take responsibility and ownership of our thoughts our emotions and our actions so Mike that is just a great point do you have do you have any other points that you want to make here well yes I'd like to everybody mention reflection that's a big thing that really helped save my life in a lot of ways you know without spending it a couple months even just reflecting you spend ten minutes but you know I urge everybody to do that brilliant know the self and you will know the universe and the gods ladies and gentlemen it is all about the internal work that we need to do upon ourselves to change our worldview and as a result change our world that's all we have time for folks we'll see you next year stick around Chris Everard is up next on Oracle broadcasting freedom matt that's what it's all about [Music] you've got to groove on freedom like the good book says [Music] welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches its critical moment of choice and now here is your host mark pascio welcome everyone you are listening to what on earth is happening right here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark pascio this show is live every sunday from 5 to 7 p.m east coast time that's four to six p.m central time today is sunday january 8th 2012. we have a great show lined up for you here today we're going to be continuing our ongoing discussion of solutions to the problems that humanity faces in consciousness and as it as it is in regard to the freedom that we experience or do not experience and of course those two things consciousness and freedom are always directly related to each other that's what we talk about here on this program all the time how if we ascend in consciousness we will become more free if we do not ascend in consciousness and if we continue to be unconscious about what is actually taking place around us and within us we're going to go deeper and deeper into bondage and servitude so today on the show we're going to be continuing talking about the way out of the mess that we have gotten ourselves into and we're going to be continuing along the topic of world view healing for one more week and i'm going to take calls in the second hour of the show today and this is because over the holidays okay over the uh christmas and new year's break i wasn't on the last two weeks i played replays since the show fell on both of those holidays um i saw an overarching dynamic when i was around other people during different get-togethers and that dynamic is what we're going to discuss here today and how this is directly related with the way people see themselves and interact with other people in the world so we're going to be talking a lot about the love of self today and how that is directly connected with world view healing and then we're going to get into some other topics and more solutions as the weeks go on here in this new year of 2012 so i hope the holidays were good to everyone and everyone is ready to go for this year of change as it is prophesied this year 2012. so i do have one quick event announcement at the end of this month january 25th the last wednesday truth freedom prosperity is going to be hosting their monthly documentary screening and discussion night here in philadelphia this always takes place the last wednesday of every month this wednesday will be january 25th 2012 at 7 15 p.m at media bureau studios that's at the corner of fourth and brown in the northern liberty section of philadelphia this month this month's film is going to be i am fish head a strange name to be sure but this movie is all about human psychopathy and that's something we really need to understand very deeply if we're going to be aware of what's taking place around us the dynamic of psychopathy critical to understand at a very deep level we'll be right back after these words folks don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com let me give the call-in number because i will be taking calls in the second hour the call-in number for this program is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the call in number eight six six eight four one one zero six five so call in and get in the queue and hopefully we'll have lots of calls for our number two okay so let's get started i was going to lay the topic of world view healing uh to rest and move on to uh different uh grassroots solutions i was going to be starting to talk about the change in the quality of our attention developing true present moment awareness and the change in diet things that are certainly within our control uh most certainly still very much within a modicum of control in our own hands these are things that um we can affect on a day-to-day basis just by applying some willpower so those topics are coming up in future weeks and we'll touch on a few of them here today but um i wanted to continue a little bit with world view healing for specific reasons which i'm going to get into today and we're specifically going to be talking about loving oneself and i don't mean from an egotistical or narcissistic perspective i'm talking about truly developing self-respect and self-love because this is one of the greatest obstacles and barriers to affecting a solution and really creating positive change in this world so many people are caught in a state of self-loathing we're going to talk about that a lot today and we have to look at these dark states of consciousness again so much of the solution is in the apophatic sense meaning to simply say no to the things that aren't contributing to our betterment to say no to the things that are not helping move us forward in consciousness and we need to pull back and away from those things and once we do that a solution will practically organically present itself it's so much more as i've said time and again about what we need to stop doing than it is about what we need to start doing we are trapped in a completely ineffective way of thinking about ourselves and our world and that is leading to completely ineffective actions and behaviors and destructive actions and behaviors that are absolutely holding us back as a species so in the previous weeks we've been talking about this concept of a way out of the world that we have created around us and our forebearers have created all around us through negative ways of thinking feeling and acting through poisoned consciousness and we outlined a few grassroots solutions that we're going to cover in upcoming weeks we've already looked at the first one in depth world view healing and i'm going to briefly review some of the things that we talked about when it came to world view healing and there's nine other grassroots effective solutions that we can employ listed on the website if you go to the what on earth is happening website and click on the radio show page if you're not already there as always there are some images listed underneath the player there are numbered links that you can click that will bring up a slideshow of some of the images that go along with the concepts and topics that i'll be discussing here today on the show so image number one is simply this concept of the way out or our ability to affect a solution in consciousness when it comes to how horribly astray humanity has gone so we talked about world view healing and again slide number two is simply the grassroots solutions that i've outlined that we're going to be covering slide number three simply shows the topic that we've been discussing over the last uh several few shows uh world view healing and slide number four is the the chart that outlines the transition in world view that needs to be made by each one of us we need to move from a poisoned world view to a healed worldview and worldview is really at the center of the solution this can't be stressed enough until we heal the world view we're not in a within ourselves we're not really in a position to help anyone else so we have to understand that human nature in and of itself is not fundamentally flawed and people aren't just out of the womb horrible people like religion wants to teach people now yes again we did talk about this condition of psychopathy that exists within a very tiny fraction of the population as a whole and there is something to be considered there which is why i'm showing the film i am fish head at the next truth freedom prosperity documentary night here in philadelphia because if we don't understand the dynamic of this disease this psychological disease and it's it is a genetic disorder as well psychopathy we're not really going to understand the mindset of the the ruling class that has its stranglehold over the population at the current time so yes that is a tiny fraction of the population but this by no means means that the entire nature of humanity is in some way fundamentally flawed our nature is fundamentally good but it is also largely determined as we live it is very much dependent on the conditions that we surround ourselves with and that does um we do have a modicum of control over what conditions are created it isn't like just things are just simply happening to us we are creating a lot of the conditions that are all around us and through our thoughts we don't want to change we want to hang on to certain ways of thinking okay through these um habits these horrible habits in thought we're just letting these conditions continue and therefore nothing is changing and most people think oh it's just because people are horrible no it's because people are attached to ways of thinking that have absolutely nothing to do with their betterment and can't possibly better them in any way but because it's all they've ever known it's all they've ever been taught and most people don't truly want to think for themselves they want to be lazy and try to give away personal responsibility they think that they can continue on these poisoned ways of thinking about the world and other people uh around them and some and things will just magically change for the better well it doesn't work that way folks we have to change our thinking first we have to change our world view first and then the external surroundings the conditions in which we live will change and we'll be able to thrive once that worldview takes place we'll be continuing talking about this on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening [Music] welcome back everyone your listen to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio before the last break we were discussing world view healing we were looking at the chart on image number four on the what on earth is happening radio show page that shows what a poisoned world view looks like versus what a healed worldview would look like the three worldview aspects that need to be ultimately be changed within ourselves is our view of human nature to get out of this idea that uh people come into the world born of sin born of original sin and we need to uh feel guilty about that we're all deserving of death and horrible things to happen to us you know uh versus the idea that people are born basically good and it's a matter of what conditions they live in that determines whether uh they develop into somebody who becomes a caring individual or becomes a psychopathic or secondarily psychopathic individual and that brings us to our next uh aspect of worldview healing which we need to change is our view of the value of the individual because if we constantly think of um people only in the sense of what can they do for me or how much are they worth how much am i worth as far as physical things a bank account a house a car etc this is all largely again determined people have these views largely because of the conditions that they live or don't live in people don't come into the world having a certain view of what the value of a person is they acquire that view over time through the conditions in which they live if the conditions are improved the mental condition and outlook and world view will also be improved they go hand in hand the physical and mental go hand in hand that's why it's a body mind spirit connection they are tied together inextricably a healed world view which is what we're going to be talking about today when it comes to the value of the individual is one where of true self-respect true self-love and the understanding that we are all of infinite value that each one of us is a unique creation within this dynamic creation and no monetary value or numerical value can be placed upon an individual and that ties together with the concept of the love of self we have to get out of a self loathing world view what we're going to talk about today is changing this aspect of world view the value of the individual but what we're going to really look at is the value of the self in the world view and i don't i'm not talking about the lower case s self not the bodily egoic self the flesh i'm talking about the higher self do we love the essence of who we are or do we have loathing because the lower case s self can't come into the fullness of the higher case s self the true self do we hate ourselves because of our laziness do we hate ourselves because of our lack of will do we hate ourselves because of our cowardice do we not have enough self-love to want to motivate us to change and what can we do about that so the third worldview aspect that needs healing is our view for the possibility of that change to happen in a positive way how possible is it well i would say it's absolutely possible but it depends on how much we want it how much do we care about that change happening so care we're going to talk about a lot today versus its murderer its antithesis which is apathy which if we fall into that and give into that we're essentially lost because again care and i'm talking about care with a capital c okay true care to want to align ourselves with the will of creation to want to align ourselves with the capital w will not egoic desires i'm not talking about that i'm talking about to want to get into the slipstream of the creative dynamic force that is behind all existence where real power lies and step into that slip stream and be a part of it and that's what this year supposedly is all about in all the ancient prophecies of all the different uh civilizations that talked about this time of change and this great convergence are we going to step up to that challenge change our worldview develop true self-love and make that change come into fruition or are we going to fail and go into deeper bondage that than the human race has ever seen because both of those things are distinct possibilities anything can happen it's not set in stone it's up to us if we want to change it for the better for the positive that's possible if we want to sit back do nothing not care give up the power of the generative force which is care ultimately that's what love actually is okay the power to ascend in consciousness and create that positive change if we want to step up to the plate and enact that then the transformative event that has been prophesied about 2012 will happen if we don't care if we give into apathy the entropic nature of the uh uh decay force that is basically the default settings for the universe the way time moves forward is also the way entropy works and as time moves forward things naturally tend to break down and go move toward entropy and chaos we have to employ will through care through self-respect through love of self if we're going to avoid that entropy and that chaos and it it all comes down to how much we care about ourselves so you know religionists who want to talk about oh the love of self is is a sin it's you know that's not what you should be focused on i say bull and bunk to all of that the problem is there isn't enough love of self in this world and i'm not talking about again getting into the ego and being a narcissist that's not what i mean by love of self i'm talking about developing true self respect because if you don't develop true self respect you can't ever have any respect to give to others to see them as also a a dynamic and creative and caring individual that is unique and has a unique creation so you won't have any respect for anyone else if you don't truly respect the self how could you possibly give any love to someone else if you don't truly have it for yourself it has to start with the self before it can ever flow out to anyone else so in looking at world view we also talked about the challenge of initiation beginning see this is where the most effort is required to take the first step on the path to begin this journey in consciousness and in spirit because again another just natural law of the universe is that objects at rest tend to want to stay at rest just like people who haven't begun tend to want to stay in that unbegun state this is inertia [Music] when you want to try to get momentum built up the hardest part is getting it started once it started it's easy to keep it rolling we'll continue to talk about this concept of initiation beginning the journey on the other side we'll be right back folks [Music] welcome back this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio continuing to talk about world view healing specifically as it relates to the dynamic of love of self and how important the love of self actually is if we're going to affect a solution in the problems with humanity's consciousness in the modern world this is largely these are largely problems we have inherited from past generations who have made the world the way that it is through choices because they have been attached to attached to certain modalities of thought and feeling and in those erroneous ways of thinking about themselves and others and the world around them they've essentially erected a prison society that's the conditions that we currently exist in whether you want to accept that or not whether your eyes are open to that or not you want to live in denial about that and pretend that nothing's wrong pretend that you have freedom that you don't have go right on ahead pretending because it all comes down to the very first step of initiation of beginning down the path to truth to love and to freedom that's what the initiatory journey actually is all about and that's why the dark occultists of this world the satanists and the dark luciferians of this world call the majority of people out there the unbegun that's one of their names for you i don't mean the average listener to this show maybe perhaps somebody who's just happening to pick up this podcast happens to wander into the site or the show for the first time they call people out there the unbegun they actually call you the dead their rationale being if you don't really have haven't activated your thoughts emotions and actions then essentially you're unconscious therefore you're dead and they they wash their hands of anything they might do to you that's harmful because they say we're not really doing it to a living person they're the dead they're the unbegun they haven't even be begun living because they are uninitiated they haven't begun down the path of the spiritual journey in consciousness and mainly the first reason the people have not begun that journey is because they continue to lie to themselves they continue to lie to themselves and one of the first things they lie to themselves about is that they're okay that there isn't a problem see part of what i attempt to do with people is to explain to them yes you do need to love yourself okay but you can't be thinking that you're perfect you can't no one is perfect okay wanting to improve upon yourself because you do care about yourself deeply doesn't mean that you think it doesn't mean that you hate yourself but it also doesn't mean that you love yourself so much or like yourself so much i should say that you don't think there's any room for improvement or that you have any where further to go there's always room for improvement there's always things that you can perfect upon because no one is perfect so when i'm talking about self-love i'm talking about developing the desire to want to improve yourself you know you're not perfect you know there's always room for improvement so you want to move toward that state of perfection even if you never get there that's what love of self actually is now the new age movement differs with this greatly because they want to try to teach people in a lot of their teachings and a lot of the teachers what they espouse is that everybody is okay just the way they are this is the opposite end of the imbalance that's not self-loathing that's thinking that nothing is ever could ever be your fault that you're perfect just the way you are and you don't need any improvement and that's also bunk that's the opposite of the original sin garbage that you're just totally flawed and you deserve to suffer until you accept a certain savior which is all about the sun anyway we've talked about that in astro in the astro theology section but again we've also talked about how that astro theological metaphor covers up a deeper inner core tradition related to truth related to the soul related to the light related to the love of self and others related to world view healing and resurrection initiation making the journey in consciousness and truth so the first step is to stop lying to yourself admit what your flaws are don't hate yourself over them don't beat yourself up over them but admit them don't live in denial that's what where most people are at most people not all but most it's true most people live in denial all the time they don't think there's any problem with themselves or the world and there is it isn't all okay people aren't good the way they are it doesn't mean that they weren't born essentially good it doesn't mean that they can become good again but most people are pretty screwed up psychologically bodily spiritually and it's largely because they haven't developed true self-care true self-respect true self-love and i'm going to talk about that dynamic and give specific examples i'm going to give an example that happened over this holiday break in within my own family just to briefly recap the steps of initiation and these are in no particular order you need to enact them simultaneously you need to work on all of these all at the same time it's not a linear process these work in parallel it's a parallel process okay stop lying especially to yourself stop dreaming meaning don't engage in cognitive dissonance thinking that things are really one way when they're exactly the opposite holding contradictory notions in your mind simultaneously well in truth there is no contradiction in natural law there is no contradiction so get out of that state in your own mind the dream state believing that things are a certain way when they're not learn how to think the process of critical thinking we talked about the trivium and quadrivium and how these could be employed to truly learn how to think and to remove logical inconsistencies from sets of data live in the present moment something we haven't gotten in too much depth on but of critical importance and it's one of the actual grassroots solutions that i've outlined that we're going to be discussing in depth later on activate the physical body this has everything to do with care of self self love us really start with the physical aspects of the self if you don't take care of the vessel which your spirit inhabits and travels in how could you possibly say you have any love for self you can't completely ignore the physical egoic self it has to be cared for as well it's your vehicle it's what the consciousness is within inhabiting so what you put into your body and mind has everything to do with how much you care about yourself we talked about the things that are ultimately holding us back in slide number six i called them the unholy trinity they're all religions i use the term religion here not about the world religions like islam or judaism or christianity or hinduism or taoism or buddhism etc that's not the concept i i'm using religion in here i'm talking about religion as a concept of mind control of holding one back from where they really need to go from the latin relegare meaning to tie back to hold back to thwart to hold back from forward progress by binding by tying that's what religare means and that is where the word religion comes from in the positive sense yes true religion could mean to reconnect to tie back to in the negative sense which is how i'm using it in this connotation i'm talking about religion as a whole of holding us back in consciousness and that's what the world is being held back by false belief systems that do not serve us based on things that are not real like money and authority there is no such thing as authority does not exist in a three-dimensional space-time continuum there's no such thing as money it is a construct that only exists in the human mind it does not exist in nature it is an aberration of the mind these things completely holding us back they need to be abandoned [Music] welcome back folks i'm mark pacio and this is what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting network my website is what on earth is happening dot com we're talking about the things that hold us back as a species and how developing true self-love will help us to heal our worldview and stop believing in these fantasies they're phantasms they're things that are not real that do not exist in nature that are only put there to hold us back their ideas their belief systems they are not truth truth and natural law are the only authorities and they are not worldly things authority in man does not exist truth is the authority that's it natural law is the authority you're bound by those things whether you like it or not whether you believe it or not whether you want to understand it or not doesn't matter irrelevant when it comes to truth and natural law the universe does not care what you think get over it i don't know how many times i can continue to say that but that's how it is most people don't want to accept that they want to think that they're the arbiter of truth that it's all relative that there's no objective truth you know they want to think that authority exists in the in the physical domain and that they can impose their will on others and get away with it forever and the joke's on them they're kidding themselves they always have been kidding themselves many of them just don't know it in the incarnation they're living in right now but the idea of authority and government as being one of the members of the trinity this unholy trinity that holds us back it's it's the newest incarnation of these mechanisms to hold us back to a low state of consciousness and evolutionary progress ultimately there's a father and mother of this trinity again these are the the basis the basis for this old world order this direct uh bloodline rulership of kings that had authority given to them by god granted by god or the gods to rule over man and that's where ultimately kingship and um priesthood came out of in the ancient world that i'll be the interface between you and god you can't go direct to speak directly to god you have to go through me and i have the authority that was given to me by god the divine right of kings wonderful concept basically people convincing other people that they have the right to rule them that they were given that right by some supernatural entity and therefore government is divinely appointed it just sounds a lot better than i came over from the next neighboring territory across those mountains and you know set up shop here and i'm gonna rule you now and people buy it they always have bought it just like they've always bought money this other illusion this other thing that doesn't exist in nature that people believe in as a religion it's their one and only god it's the ultimate religion this is the god of this world set up by the old world order to bring in the new as the birth giver of the new world order the divine the unholy mother i should say of this trinity of unholiness so these occultists created this system so that they can get everybody worshiping it everybody believing it as as their religion and i i don't care whether it's fiat money or any other kind of money gold silver it doesn't make a difference it's all a representative construct that does not is not actually the things that do carry energy gold is not food gold is not water you're not going to eat it and get energy from it it is not sunlight okay that's what energy actually is that's what real money is real money is actually something that's within us a power that's within us that's why it's called the one eye it's the power of the soul that's the real money but energy money representing energy is an illusion the only for real forms of energy we need is sunlight water food air etc real resources that enable us to live because they nourish the physical vehicle that we live in while we are in incarnation here on this world and i don't care how much you want those things to to represent those other things that you do actually need for sustenance try and eat some gold and you'll find out just how much it actually is the food or water that you need to subsist it only represents it and it only ever has represented it once you get into that form of thinking that this is that because it represents it oh i'm going to use it as a medium of exchange and that's that will suddenly that will suddenly make it okay and it'll never turn into a form of bondage just as long as we all agree that that's the medium of exchange it doesn't make a difference how voluntary an illusion is it's still an illusion money does not never has and never will exist in nature and by believing in that construct and accepting it as representations for those real-life physical natural things you're always going to go down a path of enslavement always every time and i i'm not a communist or a socialist i stand totally against those other those forms of tyranny and enslavement and control by the state because ultimately we need to get to a point where we recognize there's no authority in man and there is no money those two religions need to be abandoned that's the ultimate solution if you really want to get down to it now how can we do that only by raising our consciousness to the point where we understand that we are all one and that as one suffers all suffer that's why people can't stop abandoning and start abandoning and believing stop believing in those things because they're not at that level of consciousness that's the very reason they're unable to give up these religions because their consciousness has not evolved to a point where they understand that they are one with everything around them that's why they still stay attached to these constructs that some people have authority over other people that we need money to live you hear that one all the time you can't live without money no of course not if you think that's your god if you have no imagination if if the belief in this religion has destroyed your imagination to a point where it is impossible for you to even imagine that it's possible to live without this construct of the mind then of course yeah it's going to be impossible to live without money and you're going to create chaos by not having it around when in fact it's really the thing that's creating chaos in everybody's life and blocking everybody from self-fulfillment and yet people still want it around and still think it's absolutely necessary and as long as they do they're never going to evolve to the point in consciousness that they need to be at to truly truly affect a solution so let's talk about the word solution because we're going to really talk about what one of the ultimate solutions to all of these problems are again it's apathetic it means you have to get rid of something it means you have to abandon self-loathing you have to abandon the things that you don't like about yourself by developing the willpower to improve upon those things that's what development of self love is and that's one of the ultimate solutions as we see on image number seven on the slides the love of self is about the the rise in consciousness is about working upon yourself is about raising the energy and the vibration within yourself and that all starts at the heart that's why this it all centers around the heart chakra there in this image it's about care the dynamic of care when you do that within yourself when you develop that dynamic energy of care within yourself that is what is ultimately going to change the conditions that's what's going to help to change your surroundings we have to do that on an individual level and as that fans out it will express on a world level we'll be right back hey guys it's chris stay asleep when he looks at it with his eyes it's what we see when he looks at it from the sunglasses he's seeing the same things all the way through the subliminal symbolically you couldn't see this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com we're talking about one of the most effective and powerful solutions when it comes to affecting a change in consciousness as truly developing self-respect and self-love and in the apophatic sense this would be abandoning self-loathing as we abandon self-loathing beating up on ourselves hating ourselves not wanting to improve upon ourselves because we think it's too hard or we're too lazy or it's not worth it as we stop doing those things because we're developing care we want to become better we want to move forward we're going to be affecting the solution more and more and more and more and as each one of us contributes to that dynamic we're going to see the world change at an external level but as long as we stay in that condition of self-loathing we don't really ultimately care about ourselves enough to change ourselves to employ the will to go against the natural flow of entropy then we're going to stay exactly where we are and things are going to get worse and worse and worse if we don't employ that effort and that will because that is what love is love and will are essentially the same thing i'm talking about again will with a capital w not your will to impose anything on anyone else i'm talking about will capital w will developing the desire to effect change in accordance with the flow of creation the dynamic evolutionary creative intelligent and caring energy that flows through everything so i'm going to give some specific examples later on and we're going to talk about the word solution itself what that actually means through in occult terms in green language terms let's look at the word solution itself also be taking calls starting with the next segment we have a caller waiting on the line i'll be getting to him in the next segment let me give the call-in number once again so people can call in i'll be taking calls throughout this hour in number is 866-841-1065 once again 866-841-1065 we're talking about the dynamic of the love of self and how this is so important if we're ever going to get out of the situation that we're in in human consciousness so let's look at the word solution briefly if we break down the word solution which is what this is all a part of soul sol when we say that we're saying the word soul s-o-u-l they're they're phonetically identical by sound okay and the soul is the sun the light okay the savior it also means one sol soul solitary so all of these concepts tied together in that root sol okay the light the sun the soul oneness and then the second part u-t-i-o-n phonetically that's saying at iowa about the third eye turning it on coming into the light awakening the soul developing the higher aspect of the self the one eye the all-seeing eye the light or the spark of the divine within each one of us that's what enacting the solution is all about we'll be right back [Music] ladies and gentlemen have you figured out yet write in the word solution it's telling you the light at the third eye the light at the one eye to turn the eye on with the light of the soul it's right in the word the word solution means that at least in green language which again people will just completely dismiss and go right ahead it's fine it's almost a mockery of the people who were sold dead who are asleep at the switch because the word is right before their eyes even though they can't see it with the eye if you take my meaning let's go to the phones caller from new york you are live on what on earth is happening welcome hi mark thanks for taking my call mike how are you excellent thank you so much good to hear from you happy new year to you too and i want to talk about a great show and let me tell you all these past shows from one to now have been absolutely amazing and the way you broken it up broken out could have been better uh i'd i'd love to talk about uh something that has really hit me uh this past year and something as a solution uh within my own life that you know i that didn't didn't hit me until these past couple hours or weeks even i don't know i've been reflecting on a lot and it comes down to what you're talking about you your your emotions your your education the things you take in it all has to do with the word relationship it's your relationship with your higher self your true self your relationship with your creator uh the relationship with the people in your life everything comes down to the actions words uh that that you put out and also that taken that that you taken that are reflected back at you um and i think improving them in every way possible and strengthening them whether it's whether you want to or not or sometimes whether it's it's it's difficult to do and sometimes there are some things you you have to learn to say you're sorry for or some things you have to forgive and you have to let go and uh you know it may take a long time to do that within your own life but i think it starts really releasing yourself from this matrix matrix the solution is the relationships that you build upon in your own life within yourself as well exactly and part of what you said there really resonated with me uh in that forgiveness really has to be enacted from within as well see we think of forgiveness all too much in the sense of forgiving someone else people need to forgive themselves before they can give forgiveness to anyone else just like they need to have self-respect before they can give respect to anyone else be just like they have to have self love before they can give love to anyone else so many people can't forgive themselves for whatever reasons you know they they feel like they're just irreparable that they cannot make themselves whole that they cannot fix themselves with the the problems that they are encountering or what they may have done to themselves they feel like it's too far gone but it's never too far gone you could always pick up in the moment activate yourself in the present moment through present moment awareness and say yes that was all what was going on in the past that's how i was before but i can create myself anew in the moment through an act of my will and that's what forgiveness self-forgiveness is all about and uh that's something that i think people really need to uh take to heart and keep in mind that you can forgive yourself no matter what you have done in the past you can say you know as long as you're willing to make the corrective action to stop doing those things and to start doing the right things you can say i forgive myself and let go of all that negative baggage from the past that was holding you back from moving forward in your life self-forgiveness is a huge part of it that's right and you cannot you can you said you cannot give it away unless you have it that's right it all starts it all starts with there's some relationships that i've even had in my own life where you know i can no longer say i'm sorry to the person whether they're not here on this planet anymore or you know due to the fact that you know there's no contact or anything like that but you know the best thing you can do is you can take the negative from that and say listen i'm gonna i'm gonna live a better life and uh live more responsibly and correct that the actions that i've done in the past and it all comes down to yourself are you will are you so willing to to to forego your conscience and continue on and live in a materialistic and negative self-serving way and that's that's you'll never get out of it unless you forgive yourself and correct your actions and try to repair the relationships in your life and create better ones that's exactly right mike a great way to put it and uh that all really does start with the self it's something that we have the power to make that choice in the present moment no one but ourselves is holding us back from making that choice and that decision so it's a matter of enacting the will and again letting go of the the the attachment that was holding us back in the past and saying i'm gonna just make this change i'm gonna be this change i'm not going to stay attached because i think well i did this for so long it's pointless to try to change now it's never pointless to try to change no matter how late in the game it is so mike as always brilliant points i want to thank you for calling in uh and um is there anything else you want to wrap up with oh thank you mark i encourage more people to start calling in and start voicing their opinion if they keep it inside their head they're only doing one part of the action you have to you have to speak into existence the reality for which you want to create and i urge everybody to start doing that that's right thank you mike always a pleasure to hear from you okay great call so let me give the call and number once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again call-in number is 866-841-1065 i want to briefly talk about uh something that i mentioned uh on a show before and um this came up over the holiday break as well because uh three days after christmas on the wednesday between christmas and new year's we showed the film thrive at the truth freedom prosperity documentary night in december and people keep attacking the gentleman who made this movie uh because it has a high production budget and it's very slickly made and oh where did the money come from who's funding him well obviously the guy has some money himself foster gamble uh he and his wife put a lot of money into this project obviously i thought it was a great film um clearly this guy knows a whole lot about what's going on behind the scenes i don't think that you know his solutions were 100 percent perfect i think he could have talked a little bit more about natural law and certainly could have put more about the occult or something about the occult inn he left it to the you know as the top of the hierarchical food chain of control so to speak as the the international bankers um of course we all know anybody who's paid attention to this show that dark occultists lie behind the monetary system we have proven this time and time again but um i i think that gamble knows these things but he did not want to put that in for fear of uh turning people off to his message for fear of uh that many people would think that's too far out there you know that they're not ready for that you know even though we put some things on uh extraterrestrial intelligence in there so it was an interesting dynamic but i want to mention talk a little bit about people attacking it on the other side we'll be right [Music] was back a shotgun in my hands behind the gun i'll make my finals day welcome back everyone i'm mark pascio this is what on earth is happening before the break we were taking some calls we were continuing to talk about getting out of the destructive habit of self-loathing and developing true self-love and i was starting to talk about thrive the movie thrive a little bit and how many people are attacking it saying oh because this person came from the gamble family of procter and gamble that it has to be a deception or some uh you know uh disinformation campaign and this is nonsense i mean just look at the movie watch it for yourself with an open mind he's talking about just about everything that's really going on in the world if you don't agree with every one of his solutions okay not everybody's going to agree on everything you know and many people aren't a hundred percent awake to every aspect of this uh global takeover of humanity you know he's doing his best he and his wife doing their best to put out what they have discovered and what they do know and they're putting it out there in a format that i think is very exceedingly well done and most people would not be able to do as good of a job is all i have to say and you know that that's what we're dealing with armchair quarterbacks people who haven't lifted a finger who haven't opened their mouth who who think that they're know-it-alls but then you know when it comes to actually putting that information back out there as mike said you know as and like i always say the universe has spoken into existence we have to knowing isn't good enough we have to then put it out there for other people you know i asked these people who were complaining about different things when it comes to what other people put out where's your website with hundreds of hours of audio on it where's your documentary that has hollywood like production values and a phenomenal message you know and you you find out what these people have is a big goose egg that's what they have not you know and they they want to complain about what other people are doing it's it's almost like people who complain about the commercials on this show i don't like commercials anymore than anybody else does but i would never for instance let's just give an example here let's say henrik palmdran of red ice creations a phenomenal website if people don't know about it you should okay an incredible repository of knowledge with just about every guest you could possibly imagine and henrik does a great job um let's just say he wanted to start putting ads in his podcasts like do you think that i would email him and say it's horrible that you've put commercials in your podcast henrik they're his podcasts he can do what he wants if i'm downloading it i should be grateful that i'm getting the information that this gentleman is taking the time to do this and line up all these guests and the other thing i want to say about commercials is i do not sanction or you know these commercials have nothing to do with me it's the net on the network end they're not my um sponsors they don't necessarily agree with what um i'm saying here and i don't necessarily agree with what their products are are what they're attempting to sell you i think most of the things that oracle puts on their site are on their uh you know uh radio are pretty decent products but whatever that is neither here nor there i don't have any control over what ads are being placed on oracle okay so uh that's the network to pay for bandwidth this is a live radio network ladies and gentlemen try finding out how expensive that is to run okay and let me tell you something i i've said before you want to have a live radio show okay and you don't want to um have ads to pay for the bandwidth find out how much money that's going to run out of your own pocket and see if you would be able to do it and if you can wonderful put the network together out of your own on your own dime and get all the great uh radio hosts lined up and i'll come and do a show on your network that's ad free that you pay for out of your own pocket i haven't seen anybody do it yet so when they put their money where their mouth is they'll be an ad free commercial free radio network that's live until then okay if you don't want something that's live do a do a podcast and then you don't need commercials in it this show is a live radio show on a live radio network that's why there's ads in it it helps pay for the bandwidth i understand that business model okay whether you agree with it or don't like the ads who cares tough deal with it i'm tired of hearing i'm tired of getting an email i don't want one more email about this it's a waste of my time to even open it it's a live radio network bandwidth costs money right now in the world we live in the end deal with it people in the ancient past had to die die to get this information sometimes to get this information to other people they gave their lives to protect some of the mystery tradition teachings you can't deal with a few commercials that's the kind of problem that we're really facing in the world is people with that kind of low willpower okay i personally would be able to deal wade through mountains of junk just to get to the one nugget of gold that i need to hear or see it doesn't matter who's delivering the message how convoluted their way of delivering it may be if i want information i'm going to go and listen i'm going to enact my willpower to extract what i need to extract from the person that's giving the message out and i don't let what they look like dissuade me i don't let what the ads on their site or on their podcast dissuade me because that's not what i'm worried about i'll tune that right out if i don't want to deal with it or or hear it you know and it's just it's nonsense it just shows you how little willpower people have out there to really go after information and change themselves they would rather fight among themselves that's what all this infighting is all about too people who don't really love themselves who don't really care about really affecting change that just want to point fingers at other people and i'm personally tired of that and don't want to see it continue but you know people you know are going to do what they're going to do so that's my two cents on people who want to attack other people who have made put great information out into the world and they've you know the person attacking him has done nothing or people who want to talk about commercials and why they won't listen to a particular network or show if it has commercials in it it's it's all nonsense and it's all ultimately a big distraction and it ultimately does nothing to advance the cause of human freedom which is what this is supposed to be about let's go back to the calls here we go we'll continue taking calls and let's see here we go caller you're live on what on earth is happening what do you have for us here today hello mark it's bob from cincinnati bob long time great to hear from you how you doing oh it's so good i'm getting my patio fix here like everybody else so i'm feeling good awesome hey uh in the old days of entertainment uh people would would say don't read what your critics write about you it'll it will affect your performance uh please pay no more heed to the emails bloggers and other fools uh it is a waste of time and you've hit the nail on the head and upset on that uh uh you brought up the name of neil donald walsh about a year or so ago forgiveness of self oh yes what a transformative he he wrote something that was transformative in my life uh because a lot of people can't forgive themselves mark because they reached that that point where i knew better i knew better i i knew i knew better but but neil donald walsh pointed out what uh instead of focusing on that one should ask what was it that drove me that was the driver at the time that i made that poor or horrid mistake or decision in my life and i can tell you in my world uh my mistake was fear i was living in a world of fear and that as you pointed out over the last year and a half uh fear is is not what it's about it's the false polarity perceived polarity of love that you need to be in that's exactly right would you stay with us through the break bob sure great all right folks we'll be right back we'll continue with the call from bob from cincinnati and then we'll be getting into a few more other few other things before uh the end of this edition of what on earth is happening don't go anywhere folks we'll be right back after this commercial break [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening and i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com before the last break we were on the line with bob from cincinnati who was also talking about the dynamic of forgiveness of self bob are you still with us yes sir okay you continue oh okay yeah but but that uh that neil neil donald walsh uh you pointed out uh is an excellent resource for people if you are seeking forgiveness of self uh neil donald walsh uh i believe you said his book was conversations with god yes uh i believe it's a a series of books that are all about these conversations with god this automatic writing that he has experienced uh the sort of like a channeling of of higher consciousness information coming through him and um i read these books a while back the first uh in the trilogy it was a conversations with god books one two and three and they're very uh life transformative uh now again neil donald walsh i don't agree with every single thing that comes through him with his books i don't i think he's somewhat new-agey but i have respect for him i don't need to agree with every single thing he says i can take the things that he has put forward in his material and take the things that i resonate with and that i want to put into practice in my own life and and leave whatever i say oh well i think he might need to go a little bit further in his understanding of that aspect or that aspect and not condemn the guy because i don't agree with everything he says he's not an agent i think he's a guy who's trying to help the world he's putting out what he knows he's putting out what's coming through to him from the universe and i think he's doing a great job you know um not every single person will have every single picture of the puzzle not even me that's what our task is to learn what we can and bring all the pieces of the big jigsaw puzzle to the table so we can get it all assembled collectively help to shift and change our world view so that we can really do this um uh self-healing and self-forgiveness and and develop self-love together and enact a solution for consciousness so that we can all benefit from that that's what the whole name of the game is and i think uh walsh is an excellent resource for people who want to uh look into higher states of consciousness uh self-healing forgiveness as you've said uh yes he is a great resource and and i'm with you mark and the last point um i just want to throw three names out there that you mentioned before but i want to put it put them out there and i thank you sir uh royal raymond rife yes he was the doctor who was hounded and destroyed in the 30s that's right uh who he came up with uh fighting cancer and other diseases through frequency and sound waves which they're just picking up on now and so if if he was able to do that uh they are able to create a disease through sounds as well so we need to be on guard for that uh wilhelm reich and his oregon energy uh he was hounded and finally murdered i believe in prison uh uh wilhelm reich's oregon energy and then the last one our old favorite nikola tesla ether physics and free energy these three men uh use the sacred secret of masonry which mark has has pointed out and that is care the generative principle the g and the compass and the square the unison of thought emotion and action or knowledge understanding and putting it into action which is wisdom you have to act on it and i've learned that kind of the hard way here at the 11th hour marker i'm sorry five past midnight now that this new criminal legislation treasonous legislation ndaa oh outrageous mark ladies and gentlemen there's no time left uh you have to become aware and conscious continue to wake up your friends mark thank you for your voice you are care in action good night sir bob always a pleasure to hear from you thanks so much for the call absolutely uh these uh three uh wizards you could call them these three alchemists using technology for healing purposes using technology for the betterment of humanity all had their very prime understanding of nature based in resonance resonance okay vibration coming into unison as you said bob unison in thought emotion and action but these sound waves these vibratory energies that each one of them worked with it all had to do with resonant frequencies okay and that's what the the dark occultists the the dark controllers the one who's who want to put out all of this poisonous energy and infest the world view of humanity okay they're putting out things to disrupt resonance and to disrupt unity to disrupt unison in our vibratory energy and thought forms because that's what creates disease that's what will continue to keep us in a low state of vibratory consciousness and help to keep us in a state of self-loathing where we won't want to forgive ourselves admit that we were wrong and then simply take the the willful steps to change those actions and behaviors if we really think about it it isn't that difficult it's a shift in perception followed by a shift in action it can be done in any aspect of our lives whether it comes to eating different taking in different forms of media paying attention to different things and people behaving differently you know thinking differently etc holding a a different way of seeing ourselves so let me give a few more examples i really want to give some examples okay people who are attached to the way things are to believing that it has to be this way it has to be the way that it always has been if we let up on this level of control oh there'd be chaos it's all fear-based thinking as bob said that's the thing that ultimately always holds us back is fear that's why we can't forgive ourselves there's something we're afraid of that we don't want to admit to ourselves you know look at in the past i gave the example of a cop who was an african-american cop who said that he would enforce segregation if it was enacted into law tomorrow he would oppress other african-american individuals and step on their rights and make them be segregated from the rest of the population if the law writers if the legislators said this is law now because this isn't a person who ultimately cares about himself he can't possibly how could you possibly make a statement that you care about yourself or even anyone else for that matter when you're willing to take totally immoral action just because someone in a position of perceived authority told you that it was okay it doesn't make a difference what's law what's written down is law by man only makes a difference what's right or wrong this whole belief in authority all ultimately stems from someone who thinks who actually believes in his the base essence of himself that he can ever hand away personal responsibility to another person oh the response i'm just doing my job is the is the tagline that's the mantra of these individuals these self-loathing individuals oh if alcohol segregation came back today and people who had every right to drink a beer today if they told me that was outlawed tomorrow i'd go and bust their head is what that that guy would say well if they told you you were allowed to just go and indiscriminately kill and rape you'd probably do that too wouldn't you if you're being honest and not lying to yourself the answer is probably yes because somebody like that hates themselves so much that they just want to give away their responsibility to think that's the truth ladies and gentlemen no matter how hard you want to rail against it no matter how hard how much you don't want to accept that reality that is the truth that's the condition that a person like that exists in that they hate personal responsibility they hate thinking for themselves because ultimately they hate themselves that's it no one would ever ever act like that if they didn't hate themselves ever okay the people the the people like soldiers who follow orders and going off to foreign lands to wage imperialistic wars of aggression over natural resources they can't possibly really truly love themselves or anyone else they can make a statement that they do they can claim that they love themselves or someone else but that also will never make it true your actions are ultimately betraying how you really feel you can't have any true self respect and still do those actions because you're attempting to give away something that you can't ever give away that's a part of yourself that's your own personal responsibility to think for yourself and to make your own decisions and you can't ever give that away to another person i'm going to give a couple of other examples on the other side i'm going to give a personal example on the other side that happened during this holiday break in a couple of weeks that i was off okay and then after that i want to talk about the allegorical television series seinfeld yes you may have never thought about it that way before but i want to talk about how that's all about not truly forgiving oneself and where that and hey guys chris geo of truth [Music] frequency [Music] welcome back everyone this is the last segment for this edition of what on earth is happening [Music] i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com i want to get into two dynamics before i wrap up the show here today i'm going to give an example of self-love and self-forgiveness really it's the opposite of that unfortunately it's the dynamic of self-loathing and the refusal to forgive oneself and attempt to set things right and do the right thing when you are at a higher level of consciousness and then you're around other members of the family who fail to see what's really taking place fail to really have developed that dynamic of care so that they can truly open their eyes and then change their actions and behaviors um it can be difficult but uh i'll give a personal example without mentioning any names i was at a family member's home who was with a meal that was otherwise fairly decent was drinking aspartame laden diet a diet drink and i said well look at that ingredient it was diet iced tea you know a powdered diet iced tea uh mix made with unfiltered water from the tap as well so we're talking about a sludge of a chemical cocktail let's let's be honest okay um and i said hey you know what that is you know what that's doing and i've made this these individuals aware at many other times these are excitotoxins that you shouldn't be putting them into your body in any quantity because they affect the central nervous system and the brain in extremely horrid ways and i said i'll go and make a fresh pitcher of iced rooibos tea bring it over here right now i'll sweeten it whatever you want natural sweetener that i have raw sugar uh raw agave nectar or um some organic stevia extract whatever you want me to put in it i'll put in it to sweeten it if you like it sweet if you like it unsweet and i'll make it that way and i'll go do that right now and bring it over here all you have to do is toss those glasses that you have poured and tossed that pitcher and i'll bring over you know an or a pitcher of good organic roibos iced tea and they wouldn't do it now you know i don't live far from these individuals uh and i was like well what's holding you back from doing that well what the the three dollars that you paid for the the t mix you know i said i'll go give you the bag of tea that i got of organic tea that i have across you know uh at my home and um you can have the remainder of it to make your own iced tea all i want you to do is toss that because you're hurting yourself wouldn't do it couldn't admit that they were wrong couldn't admit that they're doing something that's harmful that's poisonous and just even if there's an alternative that even tastes better just didn't want to admit it to themselves i said you know i just want to know what that is why can't you admit that what you're doing is harmful and you know what it all comes down to is it's not even just ego that they don't want to admit that they're wrong it's that they don't care enough about themselves they don't really have care of self to want to develop the desire to want not to do that they don't care about what they're putting into their body because they truly don't love themselves and this was so much as admitted when i was pressing the individual to say you know why won't you develop the desire to want to do something that you know is better for yourself and they basically said i just don't care enough i don't care about myself that much they basically said that that was their answer and it was honest at least i i i actually left not feeling bad because at least there was that honesty at least they had gotten out of that very first step of stopping lying to themselves they weren't continuing to lie to themselves about why they were doing it which is what you know i was actually looking at the positive aspect of that even though it's a horrible thing to say i don't even care about myself enough to stop drinking something that i pretty much know to be poisoned you know i'd rather i'd rather have the convenience and and the good taste in the moment and the the the habit that i know rather than you know make that little bit of effort to confront the unknown and try something new and change my habit you know exercise that little bit of will to change the existing habit at least they were honest to say the reason i don't want to do that they they weren't bs'ing me okay they weren't just blowing smoke up the rear end of the person who was uh calling them on it okay they were saying the truth they were saying i really don't care about myself enough to make that change and i thought that was refreshing honesty dark as it may be see that's maybe where it starts maybe it just starts with stop lying to yourself say the truth even if it's dark say the truth even if it means that in the moment in the current conditions you have a long long way to go start from where you're at okay so that's that i'll leave that dynamic of self-loathing and versus self-forgiveness there for now because i just want to briefly talk about seinfeld and why i have an image of the four major characters of the uh former us tv series very popular tv series seinfeld uh on the image number eight on the on the website and this is because this is actually a kabbalistic allegory about what happens when people stop caring about themselves or anyone else see they say that this was the show about nothing but it wasn't really it was actually a very involved allegory about callousness and apathy okay and the individuals who write this show study and practice kabbalah okay um the gentleman who plays cramer i believe it's michael richards is a high-level freemason jerry seinfeld studies kabbalah okay these individuals are attempting to make an allegory that they are putting out there to the american public to show them what path we as a people in this country are on the last episode is the telltale sign after all of the episodes the many seasons where these four individuals notice there are only four not five okay earth air water and fire the material elements the four material world elements but lacking the fifth lacking the spirit or the quintessence or the essence the soul these people are highly worldly obsessed trapped in in ego they are apathetic to the needs and sufferings of their fellow human beings and in the last episode they witness direct suffering they witness somebody being accosted and hijacked and beaten and they just callously disregarded laugh at it when they could have done something to stop it or they could have done something to get the person help they just go about their business they ignore it because they don't care they don't care about themselves or anyone else they don't have any self-respect they don't have any self-love true self-love so what ends up happening is they go to jail under a good samaritan law now i'm not picking up for like the idea of the a court puts them away okay what it's showing you allegorically is that this is humanity these four individuals are representative of humanity and in abandoning their care in abandoning their conscience in giving in to the murderer of conscience and care which is apathy okay not caring they have effectively landed themselves in a prison cell and that's how the television series ended this is an allegory it's a allegory about the mystery traditions of consciousness it's an allegory about natural law and freemasonry and kabbalah and all of the other ancient mystery traditions showing you that if you abandon the generative principle of care you always end up in a prison so the last slide on the page in image number nine is just reflecting that very dynamic that the true opposite of goodness is not really evil it's what leads to evil which is apathy if we do not forgive ourselves and start caring about ourselves and other people the only place we can possibly end up is in a state of enslavement but that is our choice in the moment and that's what we have to reflect upon and make this great prophecy here of 2012 the about that very choice about whether we're going to start truly caring for ourselves and others that's all we have time for folks we'll see you next week on what on earth is happening stick around com the network's website oracle broadcasting.com today is sunday january 15 2012 and we have a great show lined up for you here today going to be continuing our ongoing discussion of solutions oriented approaches solution oriented approaches regarding the problems of human consciousness and today on the show we're going to be discussing our second practical grassroots solution that anyone can employ in their own life today we will be talking about changing the quality of our attention the mental food that we take into our mind which is just as important arguably more important even than the uh physical substances which we take into our body on a daily basis we have to really monitor and know what it is that we are taking into ourselves through information and media so that's coming up on the show in a little bit i'll also be taking calls in the second hour the call in number eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five you can call and get in the queue and we'll be taking calls like i just said in the second hour of the show today i do have a couple of really quick event announcements the first is the free on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio don't go anywhere ladies and gentlemen we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com the topic today as part of our ongoing discussion of solution-oriented approaches or what i have called the way out is going to be changing the quality of our attention and really understanding what that means and what it will take to truly do that so if you'll go to my website on the radio show page of the website underneath the player as usual there are some images for the show today these are slides that i prepare that go along with the concepts and ideas that we'll be discussing there's 13 images up there for today's show you can click them and get a small slideshow presented with a small slideshow with those images so image number one again simply is uh the slide for the the section of this uh radio show presentation that i simply entitled the way out which is all about solutions image number two is a recap of the ten overarching solutions that i have proposed that we actually undertake in order to change consciousness here on the earth so um we'll be talking about these one at a time probably one or more shows dedicated to each one of these i've done three shows on world view healing and today will be the first show on the change of our quality of it of attention the other solutions listed of course developing true present moment awareness which will be coming up very soon changing our diet because what we take into our body physically goes absolutely hand in hand with the mental food that we take in as i've already said these are kind of twin solutions if you will they go hand-in-hand with each other they complement each other you cannot really decide you're just going to change your diet and not really do anything about the type of information that you take in because these are all simply forms of energy and vibration that we are taking into ourselves so chain wanting to make your physical health better is not going to go as far as it will if you also change the quality of your attention and that's why i'm doing changing the quality of your attention first before we even look at changing your diet because really getting your head right is even more important than getting your body right as critical as getting your body right is and how that goes hand in hand with the mind if we don't understand what we should be pay paying attention to again as we talked about on past shows attention is a form of spiritual currency that's why we say pay attention what will we be spending our time looking into this will largely determine our world view it will largely determine how we view ourselves and others and it will also largely determine how we act in the world toward ourselves and each other it will largely determine our behavior based that is based upon what we have taken in as mental food so uh changing diet will be coming up detaching from the monetary system to the extent that it is within our possibility to do so the non-support of those who support the dominator culture okay the non-support of dominators the people who are uh with their very actions with their body that they have sold to the state ushering in the dark new world order and how we can basically combat um the actual view of that as something that is in some way necessary or in some way something that we should be respectful of okay so we'll be looking at how to go about showing people that we should not be supporting these dominators people who think that control is something that uh needs to be in place in the world in any form other than self-control okay so uh we'll also be looking at mindfulness and methodologies of meditation we'll be looking at using enthiogens what is traditionally known as psychedelics in a conscious context the power of positive thinking trying to stay positive through dark times and then we'll be looking at the responsibility that goes hand in hand with knowledge and that's putting that knowledge back out there into the world even though you've taken it in and you may know that's not the end of the journey that's the beginning of it putting it out there into the world for others to help awaken them is part of the responsibility that comes hand in hand with having awoken yourself so with that having been said let's jump into the topic for today which is uh presented here on slide number three changing the quality of our attention and there is sort of a tongue-in-cheek uh image there about where most people in the world happen to be particularly in western society you see the typical couch potato lying back in a recliner with the beer in hand and the television remote control this is unfortunately where the quality of our attention uh as a people as a whole still lies largely and that's a very sad thing but it's something that could be changed it is not something that has to be that way this is a choice this is something that we can change through an act of our personal will will power and care plays a huge role in this aspect of change it plays a huge role in this aspect of the total solution so changing the quality of our attention is one of the mechanisms it is one of the methodologies that can actively be employed by us and we have almost total control over it now we can talk about sources of information and how that could be in some ways limited if you're only paying attention to mainstream media of course but if you broaden your horizons from that you go into other forms of media there is so much information out there from such an eclectic variety of sources that it is almost entirely within your control what and who you pay attention to and before we go any further with that let me just tell you that one of the very first things that is talked about in the occult when you are initiated into a specific occult uh tradition or school one of the very first things that they will get into is where does the information you are going to be paying attention to come from who do you listen to is one of the first things talked about and discussed okay they know this they know that the quality of your attention has everything to do with how you're going to behave what you're actually going to do in life and this is both light and dark schools of occultism it is not limited to just a particular school of the occult or a particular mystery school branch okay this is all forms of occultism even in the dark occult it is one of the things that was talked about and discussed primarily is where is the information you're going to be paying attention to coming from what are the um what is the overall picture that you're going to get as a result of taking that information into yourself as part of your mental diet okay so that's number one who do you pay attention to we'll be talking about some of the poisoned information stream as i like to call it versus getting onto a healthy pure stream of information okay that's coming up we'll be right back after these messages folks don't go facing anywhere alone gotta keep my cool make them think i'm made of stone welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio today on the show we're discussing changing the quality of our attention attention as we've already said is a form of spiritual currency when we pay it we get something in return and what we get in return for the attention that we pay depending on what we are paying it to and to whom we are paying it to we will receive a certain form of change okay so this is these are all monetary terms okay we pay attention we get change in return okay what kind of change that will be will be directly related to what or who we paid attention to and incorporate it into ourselves and thus changed as a result so you could understand how imperative it is that we get our mind out of the muck so to speak that we get our mind away from the poisonous information stream that is out there and it is ever present and ever flowing okay we're going to be talking about how important it is to get off of that poison information stream and on to clean pure quality of information or in other words truth people who are telling us things that we can actually employ in order to change for the better in the ways that we say we want to change for our betterment okay for our prosperity in ways that truly promote harmony and peace and prosperity in our lives and in our world so if you're following along with the slides image number four has all the mainstream media propaganda companies listed on it and uh essentially we looked at in the control over mass media section many many weeks ago months back even we saw that these media corporations have basically been completely owned by only a handful of companies for the past 50 or more years and i think the number was about six companies we looked into who those owners were there's even a document on the on the website in that section previously when we looked at mass media mainstream media that shows you who these uh owner conglomerate corporations are and i'm not even sure if it's even that high now might be five companies own it all but it's it's an ever decreasing number of companies that get to decide what the vast majority of people see and hear on a daily basis and they're ever centralizing their control over the information so if you're getting your information from any of these mainstream corporate owned sources you can bet it is completely biased it says nothing negative about the people who own and control uh them from a financial and monetary perspective okay so you're not going to hear anything bad about the government the military the pharmaceutical companies the oil industries these are the people who actually own mainstream media so they're not going to allow on their networks and in their papers any negative information about that therefore you're getting a skewed perspective you're not getting all of the data that is required to make informed thoughtful decisions that is based on a total picture you're only going to get parts and pieces of the of the picture and even those will be slanted and spun in the ways that the financiers of these media corporations want you to think about it and they the way that they want you to perceive it so when we look into mainstream media we see that not only are they steering perception is it pure perception management but it is also directly related to world view poisoning okay we just came off a three-week uh look into how to heal a damaged or poisoned world view in the world view healing section of the solutions of the way out okay but if you're looking at slide number five now mainstream media always attempts in acting as the gatekeepers for the um the the true wider perspective that we could gain if we go outside of them okay they're always trying to keep us in the box in the box thinking they want us to think of the world as perpetually dangerous stories about death you know the whole idea of if it bleeds it leads are going to be highlighted anything that promotes human nature in a negative way because they are trying to control your worldview they're trying to get you to think negatively and most of all to think fearfully to keep you in a vibratory state of consciousness governed by fear which is the dark force the dark polarity that leads to wanting to control and then ultimately leads to the extermination of freedom and chaos in society which is where we're rapidly headed if we don't change that worldview by getting off of this poison okay they'll always highlight anything that emphasizes how much they say you need the state okay anything that you know if if people are in some sort of chaotic or disorderly form at any given time okay they'll always talk about the role that authority needs to play to make that right they're always teaching poisoned worldview the worship of authority that control is good and necessary okay and this is all ultimately about one overarching way of seeing the world and that is in a state of separation that's the main thing to keep in mind when it comes to the mainstream media they are trying to focus on keeping your world view in a state of poisoned poisoned aspects of looking at ourselves and others but most of all they're trying to keep people in a state of separation constantly battling against each other because in that way they act as a sort of a steering committee they act as sort of a um a sheepdog for the globalist controllers the occult elite okay who are trying to control people they know that unless they constantly spout proper fear-based propaganda at them okay their worldview would change for the better so they have to keep people on this poisonous way of looking at the world okay in a state of separation that's the main thing to keep in mind and if you do that and you stay in that level of fear you're always always going to be easier for a manipulator to manipulate and control because that state of consciousness makes someone conducive to manipulation it makes someone conducive to control through fear alright so image number five shows that that the media is always going to highlight crime stories if it bleeds it leads journalism okay always talking about that you know the state must control people bow down and worship authority okay never question authority the authorities are your friends the quote authorities okay and it's always going to highlight fear fear of the unknown fear of natural disasters you'll see floods fires earthquakes and they'll harp on these stories forever okay to keep people in that panic mode in that fight or flight modality of consciousness so i want to read a brief quote by the artist and philosopher ian williams goddard who i'm going to read another quote from later in the show he said regarding the media the road to human freedom questions authority the road to serfdom obeys authority without question dropping any pretense of independent investigation the major media obey and relay the word of governmental authorities without question the road that the major media would lead us upon is quite clear it is the road to surf them with that we'll be right back after these words don't go anywhere more on the change of quality of attention coming up [Music] welcome back everyone i'm mark pacio and this is what on earth is happening we're talking today about the change in our quality of attention as one of the solution oriented approaches that we can employ actively through an act of our own will in order to create positive empowering change in our world we were looking at image number five on the what on earth is happening radio show page underneath the player images for today's show we were talking about all of the ways that mainstream media negatively influences the human consciousness it paints an incomplete picture which lacks unity this is of course done because they are corporate owned it promotes ego identification through constantly highlighting separation this ultimately creates a scattered schizophrenic world view driven by fear and of course the mainstream media is constantly teaching people to obey authority the externalization of authority never looking at yourself as a sovereign being in control of yourself your own thoughts your own emotions and your own actions okay i read a quote by ian goddard that the road to human freedom questions authority the road to serfdom obeys authority without question dropping any pretense of independent investigation the mainstream media obey and relay the world the word of governmental authorities without question the road the major media would lead us upon is quite clear it is the road to serfdom to enslavement so we have to disconnect from this poison stream because if it's not one that is highlighting all of the fear and all of the separation as we see in slide number six they're going to feed you mindless forms of amusement and entertainment just pure nonsense that is completely unimportant okay if you like sports and you enjoy being an athlete wonderful i'm not completely saying uh that sports are evil in any way okay i'm not i'm also not saying don't enjoy a movie every now and again yes it's a form of art and allegorical movies allegorical fictions can be wonderful ways of looking into the world seeing how art imitates life so um my point here is that they are going to highlight all the trivial aspects of amusement entertainment celebrity sports gossip etc and this is done for a reason it is to keep the mind entertained to keep us amused there's a reason for that we need to really look no further than these words that i've just used you know i constantly talk about the power in language and the meanings of words i mean just look at the word amusement the word amusement if we break it down into its constituent elements and then do an etymology on it it's amazing what you'll find a in latin as a prefix that means away from or the negation of right muse comes from museo which means to think and then men's men mentis meant the mind from where we get the word mental from so it's to take the mind away from thinking that's exactly what the word amusement means the word entertainment the etymology of the word entertainment people would be fascinated to understand that in terror in latin means during or while tane is derived from teneo tenere which means to hold or to keep and then men's mentis again mente mind so it is to hold the mind during or while something is taking place well they're holding your mind that's what entertainment is about they're holding your mind while something else is going on and that something else is not for your betterment i can assure you we need to get our mind away from wanting to constantly be amused and entertained because these are holding it in states of not thinking not critically thinking for ourselves about the events that are taking place all around us or even more fundamentally than that about what's really going on inside of each one of us paying attention to what's taking place within the psyche within the self so if we're going to really heal the quality of our attention fundamentally shift it and change it we have to get out of the uh wanting to be a little baby constantly eating candy you know constantly being entertained and amused it's about growing up it's about emotionally becoming a true emotional adult and wanting to look at the truth developing a desire to know not to have ill formed and opinions but to eclectically take in information from a wide variety of sources filter it analyze it and understand it so that it can be truly employed and used for the betterment of humanity so that's all i'll say about the media focusing on forms of entertainment amusement celebrity worship etc it's all just there to hold the mind enthrall because that's ultimately what this all comes down to as we see in images number seven and eight you know it's about holding the mind in a state of fear and depression of hypnosis okay because that's what the media does it's a bombardment of information to keep you underneath the rubble so to speak okay it's a barrage and you just look at the word hypnosis you know i wasn't really even planning on talking about that derivation but it comes to mind i mean you see these images here are all about basically putting somebody in a trance in a state of thrall in a hypnotic trance so to speak the word hypnosis hip in latin or hypo means under and gnosis is knowledge or information okay so it's burying somebody under information now that could be positive or negative hypnosis is not just something that's that's negative you could do powerful forms of positive hypnosis as well putting someone under under the information that they need for a time you know basically getting them to go under into the subconscious mind and learn the information that is there that's also what hypnosis is but they're using it to influence the mind for the negative to keep people in a state of trance so that's what image seven and eight highlights keep people in fear they're easier to control tell them to buy all the products that are no good for them get them to identify with wanting those things because they're incomplete without them and ultimately it's all about as we see in image eight i blew up the slide there on the bottom left of image seven showing what they're really trying to do is get people to just bow down worship the authorities act like a good sheep that is easily herded by the sheepdog because that is the role that the mainstream media plays and let me tell you something folks if you think these people aren't doing this knowingly some of them yeah they're just you know go along to get along and they just want a paycheck and they just like the lights and glamour of of it and some of them get off on this little mini god complex of we can shape reality in the minds of other people but let me tell you something a lot of these people actively know what's going on they want the perpetuation of all of these wars because somehow they're connected to that money they want a perpetuation of control because they worship the state it's their god authority is their religion and of course money is their ultimate religion and they're doing it in full knowledge of what they're doing licking their master's hand and getting other people to blindly accept what they know to be utter nonsense and bunk but they'll do it anyway because that's their meal ticket that's their gravy train they've gotten used to living a certain lifestyle and some part of them gets off on it they love that they're acting as a form of a controller themselves and as long as they can get that little petty power trip that's the only thing they derive any pleasure or enjoyment from in their lives because ultimately the people who work as part of these major institutions known as the media as we talked about on the show last time have no true self-respect and they have no true self-love ultimately they hate themselves and that's the hard truth that they don't want to accept they look into the mirror and they see something they don't like ultimately that's the only reason anyone would continue to help the mind controllers of this world and do their bidding we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere the oracle [Music] [Applause] [Music] okay everyone we're back this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark casio my website what on earth is happening.com i'm going to be getting to the real meat of the matter of changing the quality of our attention now and why this is so critically important we looked at the first eight slides on the radio show page of what on earth is happening dot com and now really the center piece for this radio show here today is slide number nine i'm gonna focus on this slide for a bit because it's so important to really take this in and understand it the slide is titled how our quality of attention affects our world what i'm ultimately going to be showing people through this slide is how through our choices we are creating a quantum effect upon the manifested reality in which we live okay that's what's this is another expression of the basic law of attraction that how we think and then ultimately what we do is going to manifest the experience that we must collectively share at a macro cosmic level okay this is how the collapse of a wave function works quantum means amount how much of something there is and the very small the mat the microcosmic or quantum level the individuated choices that we make regarding our consciousness and the quality of our attention what we pay attention to what we take into ourselves these tiny choices that that we do every single day every moment of every day ultimately build up and then they create a macro cosmic manifestation which is ultimately the experience that we then must live with so this slide shows you two large information pools or streams and you can look at these as infinitely large there's a there's an infinite amount of positive empowering information based upon truth based upon principles based upon natural law morality etc it's out there believe me and it's practically infinite no one person could take it all in within a lifetime you could get bits of that picture you could take in a good amount of it but you're not going to drink it all in it would take thousands of lifetimes millions probably okay the same could be said for the negative it's just as infinite it's just as deep it's just as widespread and believe me we all know that that's out there every day it never rests it's bombarding us constantly to try to hold our world view back to try to keep us in the box to try to keep us enslaved think okay to try to keep us identified with ego in a state of separation and ego identification so i call these two streams these two pools of information these information reservoirs the positive is the pure information stream that's where we can go to get truth that's where we can go to assemble bits and pieces of the puzzle that is life that has the puzzle that life has become on our planet life doesn't have to be a puzzle but it certainly has become that way here okay so we can go to that pure information stream and drink from it and take into ourselves information and principles that can do no harm when we put them back out into the world that's what that stream represents conversely on the opposite side of the image you see the poisoned information stream the one that promotes this dark negative poisonous world view based in separation and ego and authority and and scarcity and fear you name it anything negative ultimately if we continue to drink from that muddied poisonous water we're going to become sick we're going to develop a poisoned worldview ourselves we're taking that information into ourselves and all information is as i've said many many times is energy we're made of energy we're made of information everything is made of information everything is made of energy so ultimately it's not too difficult to realize that we're all open in some form or another we have valves that open us up because we are a the body is a receiver transmitter of information specifically the brain and the heart really are receiver transmitters of information we're always open to both of these streams we don't have to be open to one or the other we can close one or the other down but it's all of the that information is ultimately available to us if we want it okay it's like a radio right or a television all of the radio frequencies that are available in a certain area are always around us it's not like you know uh for example in philadelphia radio station here is 93.3 fm okay that radio station the waves that that carry the information of that radio frequency are in this room where i'm at right now okay i would need a receiver called a radio and tune it to the dial at that frequency in order to pick up that incoming information but it's always here so you have to be attenuated or attuned to the frequency that certain information is being broadcast to you on in order to receive it to pick it up and to ultimately carry it okay to move that information to other people this is what receptivity is all about in certain occult schools they may call this teachability index or receptivity index how open are you to certain information and believe me ladies and gentlemen there are a lot of people out there who are hardly at all receptive to the message of truth they're trapped in their head not wanting to admit that they've been duped or lied to by people that they consider authorities by people that they consider experts by people that they consider out for their interests by people who they've traditionally considered that they rely upon them they rely that they're being told the truth by them it's a very very very naive and childish outlook of the world it's the world view really of someone who hasn't emotionally grown up because they don't want to accept that the information stream that is called the mainstream media has been poisoned that it has been overtaken that it has been bought and sold they don't want to admit that dark truth see another part of people's not wanting people not wanting to be receptive comes from this idea that the people who are trying to tell them things that are currently taking place that may happen to be unpleasant okay they look at that as negative the whole uh i don't want to hear anything negative or focus on anything that's going on that may be uncomfortable or negative because that's going to bring more negativity no it's not ladies and gentlemen that's not how it works if you think that's how the law of attraction works you yourself have been duped by charlatans awareness is never negative now if you're going to sit there and dwell on the fact that the world currently does happen to be in this condition in this horrific condition all day long 24 hours a day and never do anything about it then it it'll become negative yeah we're not talking about dwelling in it and writhing in the negativity we're talking about admitting it meaning yes taking it in admission okay that's what it's all about admission means you enter you go in okay we have to admit that it's going on and then work to change it because we've become aware of what is actually taking place by looking at the negative i'm going to continue with this metaphor of how our quality of attention affects our world view on the other side we'll be right back it's chris geo of truth frequency rating all right everyone we're back on what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com [Music] talking today about the change in the quality of our attention and what that can do for the world as a whole [Music] we were on slide number nine i'm gonna set that aside just for now this is a short segment so we have a couple of callers on the line let's try to take a call right now and then i'll get back into that slide and break it down some more uh in the next segment so here we go caller from the 214 area code you're live on what on earth is happening what do you have for us today hello caller are you there going once going twice okay looks like they got disconnected or decided not to uh go through with it so let's here's another caller here we go caller hello you're live on what on earth is happening hello can you hear me yes i can uh hi it's uh alex from serbia hey how are you oh i'm good i'm very good i can say luckily how are you doing well yeah you know i'm listing your show very very often and on the archives good good stuff some real real good information that you're bringing and in all of this show you know you have so many information you just have to see for yourself what you can feel what you can see that's working for you you know it's so many information people they think that some other people are yeah cointelpro whatever because they have some information that you don't agree with right i don't agree with a lot of information even what you say but it doesn't matter that's we all have to figure it out what's real and what's not real you know but there is one thing one special thing that i i don't get you know in all of these things everybody's saying how we have to find some some oneness or whatever we have to come with each other and feel this earth and cooperate with earth not destroy it but i i'm a vegetarian for like i'm 32 years old but i'm a vegetarian for like 25 years yes in my life and now when i think in my life the one thing we all want we have to mention the peop the the term we evolve we have to evolve all of us people don't mention that so much but we cannot evolve as long as as we eat animals because eating animals is not only thing of eating hormones antibiotics and all other crap that they are putting in these animals but there is a spiritual level where we eat their souls we eat their pain we eat their aggression we eat everything what they let loose when we kill them for for for what for later shit them out of our asses i'm sorry fame that's okay yeah you know and people don't mention that i really you know uh when i talk to the people the the animal lovers i call them hypocrites and i tell them i don't like animals then they see look at me in my eyes they say oh you don't love animals sure yes i say yeah i hate animals i say when i see a dog or a cat i give them a kick in their asses i say oh no but it's not good say yeah but you love animals you have pink pancats and 10 dogs and a chicken on your plate right you get me sir i'm in total agreement with you as a matter of fact i know that'll be hard for a lot of people to hear but um um i think what you're saying is actually very accurate it's the truth i i feel that what we do to another living being to other or any other living species will ultimately be done to us in turn i think it's part of the suffering we've inflicted upon the animal kingdom is why we're in the situation we're in i appreciate that thank you so much i hear i hear the music today yeah i'll bring you guys stay with us i'll bring you back wait okay thanks we'll be right back [Music] we're back this is what on earth is happening before this last this last break i was on the line with a good caller from serbia alex hi smart how are you yes yes i am can you hear me yes we can you can continue yeah yeah i was just trying to make make a point you know it's all about the evolution how we evolve with this earth that we are living on how we treat animal even insects around us the ants the flies whatever is around us plants and the biggest problem is because it's all about evolution how we treat the earth and nobody's imagine mentioning one important thing because look how we feed up how we how we let our kids grow up we learn our kids to love animals to love the dog to love a cat to love a lion or whatever but at the same time we learn them that it's not bad to eat the chicken on the plate or a piece of pork or a piece of whatever for them that have animal that that that's pain that's that's real pain but we we create some kind of double morality you know we we teach them to love the animals and we teach them that's not bad to kill animals if not i mean if we have to survive you know and you have to kill the animal that's a different thing like the indians did and africans did but but what we're doing is simply madness as long we we think about freedom and we think about against new world order or whatever but as long as we think for the positive but we don't start changing ourselves stop this is the crucial thing of our involvement we cannot evolve if we eat meat that's there's only truth i feel in myself the rest illuminati or whatever pineal glands chakras i don't know about that but this thing i feel real deeply in myself if we as a human species want to evolve we have to stop eating meat and start respecting the animals because there are more spiritual beings that we are we have the mind we can think but they're more connected to the earth as we are and we have to respect that you know what i mean can you understand alex i'm in total agreement with you i want to thank you for bringing up that point and to tell you the truth that is why i became a vegetarian i didn't become a vegetarian for dietary reasons i became a vegetarian because i wanted to respect all consciousness and alleviate the suffering of all beings not just human beings there's a phenomenal movie out there if a phenomenal documentary i've talked about it before on this show if people could have the constitution to make their way through this entire movie i think it will change some of their perspectives on uh what we do to animals it's called earthlings earthlings okay and if you watch that movie i guarantee you you're going to think differently about the entire meat diet and i know that's going to upset a lot of people and that's fine you know just uh you know um i i what alex just said resonates with me you know i i looked back let's say about seven years ago before i became a vegetarian i've been a vegetarian since about two thousand and uh five well 2006 okay so i've been a vegetarian for about six years now yeah about late 2006 i think it was or mid-2006 so about six years okay and before uh when i knew what was really going on in the world okay i started to reach this understanding that alex is talking about that if we're going to alleviate suffering here it can't even just be about human suffering it's got to be about suffering period okay suffering for all beings so i was sitting there thinking about what i knew i happen to know at the time and sitting there thinking how am i in any kind of unity consciousness when i'm eating meat knowing that i'm contributing to the suffering of other beings wanting to be free and i said to myself eventually eventually if if i want to evolve past the state where i'm at and go to a higher realm of understanding and knowledge and go to a higher realm of being able to really truly alleviate suffering and solve these kinds of problems i knew in my being that i would have had to become a vegetarian i was going to have to at least stop eating meat okay and the thought seemed impossible at the time it was like how am i ever going to do that that is that even possible that was my thought it was so over the thought was so overwhelming to me that i was like how am i even having this thought because i i can't even imagine that i could ever possibly do that and you know what happened what once the desire once that seed of desire was planted and i knew why i wanted to do that okay and again i wasn't planning on talking about this it just happens that you know we go with the flow the caller called in that's what he wanted to talk about you know no taboo topics and again as i've said this topic will probably make some people offended or upset you know but whatever i'm going to speak the truth as i understand it when i after i planted that seed of desire in myself to want to do that when i started we i said i'm just gonna i'm just gonna start weaning off of meat we'll start i'll start with red meat then move my way to white meat etc and i'll wean off of it well during that weaning process it seemed like it was so easy i just said well i'm gonna just try not not you know eating it and just doing it just you know being a vegetarian and just not eating meat at all and i just stopped suddenly one day after beginning this slow wean and i never looked back and i've never eaten meat since that day so it was so easy the process was became so easy in the physical body because i had already mentally and psychologically planted that seed of desire that i knew why i wanted to do that i knew that there was a deep seated spiritual reality a deep-seated spiritual underlying reason why that desire was present and that's what made it so easy for me now maybe other people might struggle with it and would have to apply a greater amount of willpower to do that but to me it was one of the easiest things that i've done stopping eating high high volumes of sugar was much more difficult to uh for me to to conquer than uh making the shift from being an omnivore to a vegetarian ever was so a great call i appreciate uh what you've said there so uh we'll take some other calls uh um uh in the next segment i want to go back to the chart and talk about this in the remainder of this segment the beginning of the next of how our quality of attention affects the world at large that we live in so we saw these two information streams one that was pure that had truth within it that had powerful empowering information and the other was poison that was based on separation uh and it was based on uh the inversion of truths uh falsehoods coming through the mainstream media etc what we have to understand first and foremost is that no information is inherently positive or negative it's just information okay we can't label it and say that's that's um negative to look at that okay we have to be aware as i've already said awareness involves admitting information even if it's unpleasant even if we're not comfortable with it we have to employ our will to take it into ourselves and know that it's there that's different than being obsessed with it that's different than revel dwelling on it okay writhing it okay but awareness is what is needed and it's not negative you know if there's a storm coming getting prepared for that storm that you know is coming is not negative it's admitting that which is and then doing something about it we'll pick this up on the other side we'll be right back the constitution like [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com we're talking about the change in the quality of our attention what do we pay attention to [Music] what do we become like as a result of what we pay attention to how does that then affect our behavior and then subsequently affect the world at large well we're looking at image number nine slide number nine on the what on earth is happening radio show page or with the podcast if you're listening via the podcast this would be show number 91. um image number nine shows how our quality of attention affects the world okay these two reservoirs of information the pure untainted information stream and then the poisoned information stream that we get from the mainstream media and other uh negative sources and i when i say negative i don't mean what we've already talked about as negative information as something that's unpleasant i'm talking about people who are deliberately promoting a world view of separation deliberately teaching falsehoods to people as truths okay so we're all like in this image these buckets of of water okay these containers these vessels for information the flow of information is coming into us as receivers for that information vessels containers that we become full with that information and then we outlet that information to the world based on what we have taken in so i've labeled input at the top of the bucket and output at the bottom of the bucket just imagine that there's like a little um valve two little valves or faucets on the bucket just like you would see on a sink okay one if you turned it on and let information from uh one of the reservoirs into that bucket would fill the bucket with pure information or truth if you turn the other valve on it would bring sludge and sewage and pure slime and muck into the bucket from the poisoned information stream now most of us are are a combination of these two forms of information some people have some truth some people buy into some of the nonsense and lies some people have fed themselves a continuous diet of poison mentally from pretty much the day that they were born it's been fed to them and they've then they've continued continued to feed it to themselves even after they had a choice to turn that poison tap off well we are all these individual units of consciousness at work in the world okay the quantum okay the packet the amount the monad of consciousness some traditions call this okay what we then contribute to the world as a result is a direct result of what we have taken into ourselves so the output line shows that this flow of information then goes into the pool that we all share we're all swimming in that one pool that's the world representatively okay and therefore we're all contributing that to that pool of information that is the world that is the manifested reality in which we live that has become that way as a direct result of what we paid attention to and therefore what we output it's just like a computer if you put good programs into it it can do amazing things and when you output something the output will be amazing okay the output will be absolutely breathtaking and stunning okay if you input garbage into it then your output is also going to be garbage so there's no way you can make that swimming pool nice and crystal clear and pure full with pure water if you are maintaining a connection to that poisoned worldview stream of information and that's what the mainstream media is it isn't to say they can never tell you anything that's accurate okay it's like the poison pill phenomenon okay if you want to hand an animal or or some kind of a animal that's um perceived as a pest a piece of poison okay i i don't uh think you should do it but i think you know many people have done this they disguise the poison by wrapping it in something that the animal likes and it's largely the thing that the animal likes because it only requires a very tiny bit of the poison to kill them so it may have 90 even 90 percent truth but they're wrapping the poison around the thing that the animal will take okay and that's what a lot of the disinformation specialists that are out there will do and there are disinformation people out there it isn't like they don't exist i think people are overly paranoid about how many people are in for our disinformation but it does exist so we have to be discerning about what we take in just like we're discerning as to our diet our physical diet as to what foods we take into our body which our body then processes we need to be discerning apply the methods of the trivium rigorously and filter information and basically take in that which is pure and leave the rest behind that's why i tell people don't just automatically agree with and accept every single thing that is said even on this show or any source of information for that matter like alex said in the previous call you have to do your own research you have to do your own homework and find out according to the best of your capabilities what is accurate what is true and what is not but that involves taking in information from all avenues it means to keep an open mind to be eclectic about the sources of information that you take in when it comes to the mainstream media understanding how they're financially connected to these larger corporations and business interests is going to show you that almost universally in any form of mainstream media these people are not going to be giving you the big picture they're going to be steering you in a certain direction for a certain purpose and that's why the mainstream media is so dangerous especially in the modern world because it's it's not about real journalism or telling the truth anymore it's about money it's about their god their universal religion money so let's uh let's take a call real quick here we go caller from the 702 area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome welcome uh yeah this is richard state of washington but i'm on the road and so i'm a little uh uh what absent of of information i'd like to give you but i i'm kind of challenging as i challenge bob uh tuscan's approach to the vegetarianism uh the books to read would probably be the secret life of plants but more important that and and uh bob got nora on the show would be primal body primal mind and what these are telling you though they don't specifically uh enlarge on this is the fact if you study the digestive tract of the human being it is eighty percent designed to be a carnivore it has exactly the digestive tract of a wolf a dog or whatever it does not have the digestive tract of a sheep all vegetarian animals have multiple stomachs or most do if they do any efficient digestion and we only have one and it's based on hydrochloric acid which is for the breakdown of proteins so if you actually go with the biochemistry and you keep what i call the trivium versus the trivium i think it's a tri perspective uh if you keep that intact then you have to go with what the biochemistry of the body tells you and the only way you can do well for your body is to give it the right nutrients and you get those by using the parasympathetic digestive tract to get proteins and fats to rebuild the body in the appropriate way very interesting and alternative perspective there and i uh respect i respect your perspective so um i guess we would say that we would agree to disagree i i will look into vegetarianism on the show on food that's coming up welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com an interesting caller in the last segment i don't dismiss everything that he is saying however i uh from washington state um but uh i am going to get deeper into the choice of vegetarianism on a future show specifically when we talk about solutions regarding food and what we can eat and how we can change our diet all that i will say is yes there are some truths to what the last caller just uh brought up however i still think that it is a choice to move away from the former animal ways in which the body had been built okay toward something that is a higher level in consciousness that will help to evolve the body and mind possibly to make it not require dense food such as meat for any kind of nutrient density i think there are alternatives to this now and i think we can even refine that to a point where we would amaze ourselves we would actually completely surprise and even shock ourselves as to what is possible regarding food intake but i'm going to leave that for another show and i'm going to give my perspective and my take on where we need to go with food in those uh upcoming shows uh when we talk about changing diet i want to get back to changing attention in this show and we still have a couple more callers online i'm going to get to them but i want to talk about that quantum effect once again that we have to keep in mind that we are all individuated units of consciousness taking in information processing it making decisions based upon it as we see in image number nine these individual buckets that are then going to be outlet or poured into this pool okay actually create the reality that we must share that we must collectively experience now imagine there are seven billion of these buckets all connected to these two infinite reservoirs of information what we are choosing to take into ourselves we are then outputting into the waters of the world so to speak into the giant pool in which we all live and dwell and that is determining how healthy that environment is that's why it's so important to make sure we are on a clean information intake a clean mental diet on information we need to be taking in information that is promoting worldview healing and breaking down this idea of separation moving toward unity consciousness moving toward true self-respect moving toward personal responsibility moving toward an understanding of natural law and sovereignty and the alleviation of suffering for all beings based upon the knowledge that as one suffers all suffer it's not an easy task to get the mind to that place in consciousness based on where we're at now and what we're constantly being exposed to through mainstream sources of media one of the ways we can do this is in image number 10 which shows a library shelf of quite old books i was going to take a shot of my library maybe i'll add it in um in the aftermath of this show i didn't really get a chance to take a a good shot of it but um i think i'll take a a shot of my wall of books here in my home and uh show it to people um and it's not the only bookshelf in the house it's it's overflowing you'll see in the picture that there's a stack of books in front of it uh because uh i have so many books in this house that it's become extremely unwieldy to even manage them i have to start weaning my collection a little bit but um my point here is about books in general and people thinking that they only need to take in oh i could just take in information through the internet or through the tv or through uh you know my mp3 player etc ladies and gentlemen books change the nature of the human brain for the better reading is something that we all need to do more of including myself i read an unbelievable amount but i wish i was a faster reader i've said this before on the show i want to improve the speed at which i can read books so i can power through even more of them i'm not happy with my reading speed so there's always even room for improvement but the point is developing the desire and willpower to read books at all most people in our society want instant gratification and that's why books have have such a a downplayed role in our society hopefully that's coming back up with the advent of digital books and digital book readers i don't have a problem with reading books digitally it's the same printed information as long as you're going to take it into yourself through reading it go for it the kindle the ipad the android tablets whatever you want to use just read read books not just pamphlets or articles or um essays i'm talking about books that elaborate that go into detailed breakdowns and explanations it improves the mind okay and then you've got to choose the right books too i mean you got to choose books that do promote the idea of unity and sovereignty etc but you also need to read books about the problems you also need to read books about the alternative viewpoints out there i mean read books about the enemies mindset read books written by some of these twisted psychopathic individuals you're you'll get it into their head a little bit you'll learn about how they think about the world that's also important you can't just read things that you agree with the word book as we've said on the show before many times in latin was liber l-i-b-e-r and that is the same word as the word free in latin liber where we get the word liberty from that's how important books were to the ancient romans that the they had no different word for free and book they were the same word that's how completely unable to be separated the concepts of reading and freedom were in the ancient world so understanding even the etymology of the word liberty helps us to understand how important knowledge and information and reading are to any society that wants to be free the next thing i'll say on this and then we'll take calls in the last segment is the the internet this is one of the most valuable important resources that we should cherish and understand how empowering and important it is and what kind of a world of information it opens up to the minds of human beings and we need to protect it as a resource and make sure garbage like sopa and other bills that are trying to murder the freedom that the internet represents the intellectual and mental freedom that it represents uh you know from from going through and and taking that away from us so people should cherish the internet as a resource as a library a living library of information that is constantly being added to and expanded upon yes there's a lot of junk out there on the internet of course there's lots of things that can distract you on the internet and get you paying attention to trivial nonsense too and just things that are disinformation or just things that aren't true at all but again that's where applying the tools of information input processing and output can come in to play to determine what is true to weed out the negative to weed out the trivial to weed out the inconsistencies and the incoherence uh the um the the the non-um uh uh togetherness okay the things that that don't fit can be separated out and weeded out okay the things that don't make sense the things that aren't based upon true principles things aren't based upon morals and natural law we can identify all that those poisonous elements and filter them out just like we would filter water okay that's what the trivium is there for that's what any critical thinking system is there for it's a filtration system so that poison doesn't get into our mental intake and that our water so to speak is as clean as possible for when we are then going to output it to other people i have a couple of quotes to end to wrap this up on and then we'll take calls in the last segment thomas jefferson once said that if a nation expects to be ignorant and free in a state of civilization it expects what never was and never will be ignorance ignoring what is and freedom do not exist simultaneously they never have and they never will it's a pipe dream if you expect to remain ignorant and suddenly magically be free it doesn't work that way folks we'll be right back i'll read the last quote to wrap up the presentation and then we'll get to your calls [Music] welcome back one and all this is what on earth is happening this is the final segment for this edition today talking about the change in the quality of our attention cover a lot of ground here today i read a quote by thomas jefferson right before the last break i want to wrap things up with a quote from someone i've already quoted earlier today here's a second quote from this is ian williams goddard artist and philosopher of the modern day and he said that a society whose citizens refused to see and investigate the facts who refuse to believe that their government and their media will routinely lie to them and fabricate a reality contrary to verifiable facts is a society that chooses and deserves the police state dictatorship it is going to get and there are many who would feel that those words are harsh and that you know there is a certain amount of uh vitriol contained in them and while i would agree with that i would also wholeheartedly concur with ian goddard on this point moving into a state of slavery as a whole is ultimately our choice because there's not enough people who want this slavery to come in to physically control us they are manipulating and controlling us based on the quality of the attention that we pay or do not pay to the truth about what's really going on and that ladies and gentlemen is a choice we have a choice whether to pay attention to them to these manipulators to these mind controllers okay to these psychopaths who worship greed and money and power illusory worldly power or we have a choice whether we're going to change the quality of our attention and as i said at the very outset of the show this is still largely within our own control and can be affected by an act of our own will to disconnect from the poison stream and get on to the stream of purity and truth so with that having been said let's go to a few calls to take us out mike in salt lake city you're live on what on earth is happening welcome thanks mark i really like your idea of of uh taking different information streams and winnowing them on your food special that's coming up i would like you to read a little bit i i bought some of these books a man named joel salatin he owns a farm called polyface farms now his could you spell his short s-a-l-a-t-i-n okay now what he points out is that for 200 000 years humans have used animal products and in fact have managed the great herds the bison and the elk and the deer and the ibex everywhere and so um the type o blood type which is the ancient blood type really needs high quality protein in order to work the type a uh can handle some heavier grains the type b does really well on vegetarians and the type a b has some particular requirements and these are evolutionary requirements that came about because various populations lived in areas where there was various food sources so your serbian friend is correct and that we need to evolve but it takes a long time and and i could concur with that i would also like to just interject i'm type o positive and i'm a vegetarian who doesn't struggle or wrestle with that at all and i consider myself do you use ovolactin do you use eggs or any of that i do milk that's good that's good that's high quality dairy milk i don't use dairy milk i uh i will occasionally occasionally use it i'll drink almond milk okay i make my own almonds these things well there's no such thing as a raw almond anymore did you know that the fda is required that almonds be processed either through heat or a chemical and they can sell them as raw but there's no such thing as a raw almond anymore once you get off of the tree they're essentially pasteurized with heat yeah yeah well they also pasteurized a little chemical in there too right so there's terrible but i would say this lastly his gist is this um chickens eat pests and poop in the grass and create topsoil vegetables require tillage tillage burns topsoil we need a mix i mean this everything's it's not all vegetarian all meet all the time there is a balance on this planet that we have created and humans have not absent minus in this equation we have been doing this for hundreds of thousands of years if we came to north america before columbus and all the diseases this all the understory was burnt nut trees everywhere the understanding of america is a pristine wilderness is vastly overrated it was not like that and we have always used animals we have to have them they build top soil we can't we can't live without them and if we and if we just gave up on chickens and cows and pigs and everything else i'm afraid we just then you have to create chemical fertilizers perhaps we could keep them on uh the the growing areas but simply not slaughter them and then consume them ourselves i mean they do in india it's political that's absolutely possible so mike uh great points great points that you've brought up i'm gonna move on to a couple other callers and try to get them in but thank you thanks so much for calling in great here we go caller from v251 area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome hey hello hey um yeah mark i love your show i've been listening to all the podcasts during work great thanks uh written really awesome information i really like the you know you're the you're probably one of the only ones out there giving out this kind of occulted information well i appreciate that yeah yeah i wanted to address it yes sure go ahead yeah um have you ever seen the documentary uh ring of power oh absolutely i think that's a pretty good one yeah yeah yeah um not four people the connections there's a lot of i don't even know i've only seen the second one i've been looking up just find the the first one i didn't know there's four parts um i'm not sure i think so but uh i have seen it i i definitely enjoyed it and thought there was a lot of good information in it yeah there's a lot of questions i had with it but it was a really alternative perspective that i liked um another interesting thing i found out when you're talking about um um the dollar um bills and things like that are our silver dollars they were coined at um 0.77 ounces interesting 40 ounces yeah yeah i put that up i thought you'd like the information if you hadn't heard it could be coincidence you know but uh you'd be surprised how much numerology is in things that are all around us that's there deliberately but interesting oh yeah yeah yeah there's just so many coincidences it's just it's beyond coincidence i want to thank you for calling and i have one more caller that i'm going to try to take before we wrap it up thanks so much all right thanks a lot thank you all right last caller for the day from philadelphia you're live on what on earth is happening welcome hey hey marcus mike hey hey mark you know um i'd love to talk about ladies and gentlemen michael kelly a speaker from the free your mind conference mike welcome hey thanks mark you take this out by the way um yeah you know i have one question i'd love to talk about the nutrition but that would take hours but one of the things i found really great about in your grassroots solutions all this stuff is really positive the problem here though is one small one and it's detached from the monetary system oh yeah the deck is stacked against us so badly um how can we possibly do that when you know you have the tax man breathing down your neck for his cut you know and you have to use federal reserve notes or you have to use the the digital exchange how can we possibly break loose one of them without having difficulty one of the most difficult mike we're going to talk about it on a future show and hey mike we got to get together because we could talk about that a little bit and then maybe bring up some solutions on a show together what do you say that sounds like a plan i'd love to awesome ladies and gentlemen michael kelly from the free your mind conference this guy really this is one of the guys who woke me up folks that's how long he's been in this he's been awake way longer than i've been awake so listen to people like science believes you deserve this hour bob's going to be with us for the entire show today we'll be taking calls probably during the second hour and we're going to be continuing our ongoing discussion with bob on the change in our quality of attention and what type of change inattention is required if we're really going to move forward and solve some of the problems that humanity is beset with at the current moment in history so we're going to be talking a lot about alternative media freedom of speech the encroachments that are coming down upon freedom of speech in our world in the modern day and uh anything else that we might get into with bob that's coming up after the next break so i do have a couple of quick event announcements i just want to go through quickly um at the last wednesday of this month january 25th there's going to be a film screening that's actually this coming wednesday at um media bureau studios which is at 725 north 4th street here in philadelphia this is hosted by truth freedom prosperity an activist group here in philadelphia and every last wednesday of the month they have a documentary screening and discussion night and this month they're going to be showing i am fish head i am fish head is a film about psychopathy human psychopathy something everybody needs to really understand if we're going to know what we're up against so that's coming up this wednesday january 25th at 7 15 p.m at media bureau studios here in philadelphia also i have two radio interviews coming up this week i will be interviewed on red ice creations with henrik palmgren later this week look for highly suggest if you don't already know all about red ice to go over to red eyes creations and check out henrik palmgren's incredible site uh with a wealth of information also i'll be interviewed on the anti-matter zone network on the show called occult empire with bob from cincinnati a frequent caller to the what on earth is happening radio show that'll be taking place this thursday january 26th at 8 o'clock p.m east coast time the topic will be alchemy and the alchemical tradition so look forward to that one i'll post the link on the wall on earth as happening website to remind people about that one here comes the break music we'll be right back after these words ladies and gentlemen with our special guest bob tuskin don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone [Music] we have a special guest here on the show today bob tusken another host on the oracle broadcasting network bob's show is every week night from 8 to 10 p.m eastern time you don't want to miss his show he brings on great guests he talks about all relevant issues about what is taking place in our world and what we can do to improve it solutions oriented approaches are something bob always focuses on ladies and gentlemen welcome to what on earth is happening our special guest bob tuskin hey mark thanks and you're one of my favorite guests that i have on my show and for folks that missed it mark was on wednesday was it yes and that's of course at the archives bob tuscan.com and the intelhub.com my two sites um mark there's a lot of things we can talk about today but why don't we just let the primary talk out of everyone's system okay folks here we go gingrich gingrich romney santorum gingrich and that's enough of that did everyone enjoy that commentary i hope so it seems to be the forefront of what everyone is talking about but we're going to be focused on a little bit something a little bit more abstract the freedom of speech is probably going to be the uh the center piece for the topic today but in general what i've been talking about on the show and the reason that i brought you on and the reason i wanted to talk to you regarding this topic is i've been discussing a solutions oriented approach that i call the change in our quality of attention the kind of change in attention that is required if we're going to solve the problems in consciousness that we're currently experiencing so i want you to speak to that to what you personally did to change your quality of attention in other words you know what did you do that woke you up how did you change your personal attention to get off of the poison stream of media and start to concern yourself with matters and issues that really really affect us the truth in general what was that process like for you and what woke you up sure it's an ongoing process and folks it it's really difficult uh it you know requires baby steps uh a lot of us are born into this world in this climate of just constant mind control and propaganda everywhere you look with you know subliminal messages and whatnot uh and i came from a fairly you know liberal uh secular family that gave me some some moral you know guides uh that gave me a little bit of a moral guide as what i'm trying to say here uh so i had the you know the fundamental morals always in my life i've always considered myself to be somebody who's you know against wrongdoing and uh you know it's not a messiah complex it's a matter of ethics folks you know if somebody violates natural law that has never sat well with me okay and i've always been somebody that doesn't just sit back uh and be apathetic while their neighbor's house is burning down i i'd go and you know help the neighbor uh and even though my parents had taught me this in a sense uh and not just my parents or a product of more than just our nuclear family even though i learned this in my environment i still was around so many people that just didn't get the big picture you know they can apply it in some context they can apply the the ethics in certain contexts but in other contexts they drop the ball uh and i realized it was because they're consumed with information that is vanity filled uh you know job filled money filled consumer filled and that was taking us away from our true self so at a very young age mark i got out of the whole vanity-based lifestyle the whole you know i'm cool i'm popular as a kid you know because as a kid growing up in south florida in a very cutthroat culture that's the thing to do to go for the vanity ego identification yeah and and that ego death was probably the first part of of my journey that i'm on uh and it's a required part to all of this uh and and that's something that i think we should pause on here and look at a little bit deeper other than just my personal story because really it has nothing to do with me and that's what i discovered which led me to be able to consider things with a critical open mind so when you when you put your ego aside and theogens was definitely part of that for me uh when i got a little bit older but even on a more simple level you know just putting aside your ego and putting aside you know changing your your value system opens you up to to learning and to getting beyond the paradigm that the powers that shouldn't be want to keep you in as a useless eater and a consumer and that was probably one of the pivotal parts of my awakening if you will was just letting the ego go and i i know that might sound condescending to some you know everybody has an ego and yet it has its place uh and there's a balance of of course uh but intellectually speaking if if you're a know-it-all if you you're somebody that doesn't uh you know that is told something by the teacher and therefore you accept it because your ego tells you that's an authority figure and that you should accept what they tell you then you're gonna be a a product of the mind control in our world today and if we allow ourselves to question that authority which is something i also didn't just uh you know inherently then we can go beyond the paradigm again that the lame stream wants to put out for us absolutely i think uh understanding the proper role of the ego is so important in that process it isn't that the ego needs to be completely destroyed it needs to be put into its place it needs to serve its proper function of helping us to deal and interact in the physical reality in which we live it isn't about total ego destruction it's about not letting the ego run the house of the human spirit uh it's about using it as a tool which is as it is intended to be used as but not letting it be uh set up as the uh the keeper of the house so to speak right and and it's important that people get that early on if they want to allow themselves to really be able to see what's going on that's the first step and and like i said there there requires uh it requires baby steps because some of us get it faster than others yeah but at the end of the day we are just so uh submersed in in all this propaganda and mind control around us that if we get stuck in our ego of wanting to just be right and be okay and be happy and uh you know just sit there fat and uh you know worship gluttony in these sorts of skills and or not skills but these sorts of qualities then we're going to be a product of the mind control we're going to be a product of of the world we live in exactly we have to be willing to give up attachments to the things that don't serve who we really are as a people and if we're willing to admit that we're wrong and give up those attachments then we can make forward progress so you bring up really great uh really great and relevant points uh there with uh with those aspects of the the shift in attention and the awakening process i want to um ask you about your your pro background uh as how as far as how you got involved in the alternative media community and radio in general so i'll think about that and we'll pick up on that topic on the other side of the break ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening with our special guest bob tuskin another oracle broadcasting host here on the network we'll be right back after these words stay with [Music] in us facing it alone gotta keep my cool make them think i'm made of stone [Music] all right everyone we're back with our special guest bob tuskin bob before this last break i started to ask you about your professional background and how you got involved in the alternative media community can you speak to that mark it started at a young age when i was listening to coast to coast i mean i've been listening to coast to coast for 15 years now almost and i'm only 25. so when i was what 10 11 i was tuning in late nights to arbel uh and i started to gain a passion for talk radio at a very young age a very bizarre passion and at that time of course i was kind of succumbing to the neocons on talk radio and even the howard stern type stuff and at the age of 15 i i did my own talk radio show on an am station in miami which we did weekly and was kind of a prank call type show having nothing to do with what's going on in the world and and then eventually i did a show a talk show with a guy named craig worthing who was one of the longest-running talk show hosts in south florida and at the age 18 i was co-hosting with him on a weekly basis uh with his talk show also in south florida and i i really got out of it to be quite honest mark and at about 19 or so right around there i started to learn about what's going on in the world now granted i always had the backdrop of coast to coast which allowed me to keep an open mind and listen to all sorts of things and entertain all sorts of different thoughts i had the background of the the study of in theojins and my thirst for knowledge when it came to that and at that point i had already witnessed an election being stolen by bush and so many other fraudulent aspects of what was going on in the world that had always been very much against war and that kind of thing so from that anti-war movement eventually came uh you know movies like fahrenheit 911. how many years ago did fahrenheit fahrenheit 911 come out mark uh what was that oh three or four i mean it was shortly after 9 11 if i'm not mistaken like i think it was eight or something 003 yeah yeah so i that was i remember going to the theaters and watching that with my family uh and as we know now fahrenheit 911 is only scratching the surface but from the point in which fahrenheit 911 came out i began my trip down the rabbit hole until i found in plain sight and like so many people listening right now 911 waking up to that was the aha moment in my life which took the passion that i had for talk radio that i was using to just satisfy clear channel on the other conglomerates that are brainwashing people with their controlled media and that includes mitt romney's company that he owns which owns most of clear channel uh you know i realized i said to myself mark wow this is really messed up as a lot of people did i got to do something about this you know this turned on my activism i said this you know in my lifetime and again i don't mean to sound like i have a messiah complex but this in my lifetime i'm not gonna let this go under uh you know go unheard i'm not gonna let this go away i want people to know and at that time nobody really knew so that was the time in which uh we were a lot of us were first starting to wake up and we didn't know if we had other people out there that thought the same thing we did that saw through the lie that was deeply disturbed by this huge ritualistic trauma-based mind control and that was a pretext to killing millions so what i did was what anybody would do i took my passion for talk radio and i took my newfound passion for being an activist and i put the two together and the rest is history and i i've been learning using the talk radio as a platform to learn well bob and in some ways i don't think you give yourself enough credit because it's not something that just anybody would do there are a lot of people out there who know and still stay silent and that's one of the worst places to be i've said over and over again on on my show you uh took the role of a person who really listened to their conscience that's what you did you saw something that you knew wasn't right and you decided you weren't just going to let it go you were going to speak out about it and then you took action based on that conviction so not everybody does do that um i would say you know a small percentage of people actually listen to that clarion call and actually take action based on that knowledge so uh you you definitely stand out in that regard because uh again there's many less people who actually take it into the right way mark what would you do i have not okay it's a it's a lame stream show and i don't have a television i threw my tv out years ago years ago but occasionally i come across something on the web and it catches my attention and this is an abc piece or something like that from the live stream uh and the the basic premise is they set up scenarios where somebody's uh doing something that uh you would think somebody would intervene if they overheard uh and somebody would say something right like in other words people's rights are being infringed or maybe they're being mugged or something like that yeah there's there's the case of the drunk that's about to get in the car would you stop that okay okay you know things like scenarios like that um and i love this show because i end up in tears and i don't know if this is how they presented i'm giving myself away as a softy but i end up in tears and i always end up in tears because i see people not knowingly that they're on camera you know they have no idea it's can camera type situation i and they actually do do something they actually see the kid and say i'm not gonna let him uh be in this situation and they actually do get involved wow and and it touches me to see that there are people out there and i know we feel alone a lot uh but there are people out there that will do something and and i realized mark that these are the same people though that when you ask them about what's going on with 911 or the geo engineering operations taking place in our skies or the massive rings of pedophiles okay that are really behind the scenes in washington uh rest in peace sandusky with your weaponized cancer because i had a feeling you were gonna blow the whistle uh that aside i digress the fact of the matter is on a micro level people will act and then again i contradict myself because on a micro level we've also seen them not act where the case of uh the lady who was being uh raped and there was 20 people around nobody did anything because they all thought somebody else was going to it seems like when they feel that they're they have some level of personal responsibility or maybe they're the only one who can respond to it then they'll jump into action but if they feel oh this could be left to someone else and they could pass the buck along then they're willing to do that that's exactly right so if it's out of sight out of mind who cares it's not in my backyard but these same people when they're when they're put into the actual situation they'll do something about it and they touch me it touches me it really does but those same people mark however as we saw with the milgram experiment will put somebody to death with electric shocks because an authority figure is telling them to do so ah the belief in authority one of the great religions of the world as we've talked about in past weeks on this show it has such a powerful sway over the human mind and people believe in this illusion and they give their they try to give their personal responsibility over to it thinking that they're not responsible for those actions exactly right and i see it time and time again i would say the the number one way in which the powers that shouldn't be lie is through the use of an appeal to authority fallacy uh and it's so prevalent these days it's so common i've seen it in so many different you know parts of my life whether it's dealing with somebody on the phone through telemarketing i mean everybody these days and i could sit here and go through the different scenarios but everyone these days is so quick to accept some something somebody tells them because of a perceived authority because they have fancy letters next to their name because they have a fancy rope or badge on and not by the content of what they're telling them that's why we have to apply the logical fallacies in critical thinking in accordance with the trivium to be able to see through that big lie we'll be right back after these words folks you're listening to what on earth is happening with our special guest bob tusken [Music] stay asleep obey when he looks at it with his eyes it's what we see when he looks at it with sunglasses he's seeing the same things all the way through the subliminal symbolically you couldn't see obey no independent thought welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio today on the show bob tuskin of bobtuskin.com another host here on oracle broadcasting the bob tuscan show is live every week night from 8 to 10 p.m east coast time right here on oracle broadcasting bob uh give us your take on the uh the sopa bill the uh stop online privacy act and uh and pipa the uh protect ip act these two bills that are considered attacks on free speech they're currently making their rounds through congress uh let's get your take on those well where's the outcry about the internet kill switch that obama nasty had uh where's the outcry on the internet two plans that they have perhaps this is the start of internet two but people are genuinely upset about what's going on it's very interesting that i was just reading an article at the intelhub.com that they made a stop sopa app for androids and iphones did you hear about this i have not i know you got an android right mark i do they got the boycott sopa app for android uh it's been a huge help supposedly with the nationwide grassroots efforts against the draconian sopa and pipa bills uh and they reported today in the news that another file sharing site was taken down you were just telling me about this mark uh file sonic yeah and willingly pulled their own services after the uh the raid on mega upload another file sharing service file sonic was not even rated by the feds and yet pulled down their own file sharing services earlier today so the fear is obviously working yeah and it shows you that that's all they need they don't need any fancy legislation uh to push the fear uh and then we see a lot of flip-floppers in congress that said they would support it then they wouldn't support it uh we had uh reverend al franklin franklin was that his name frank franken franklin you know the guy from saturday night live yes anyways uh we had that clown go back and forth and with a little bit of pressure they they say oh well maybe we won't uh the vote's coming up here in just two days and the 18th of course was a day in which a lot of the internet was blacking their sites out including wikipedia and even google which makes you wonder you know that google might as well be called nsa i mean they're working so closely gathering information and gathering data for echelon that's not even funny at this point i see no separation between facebook youtube and google completely co-opted uh the only difference between here in china's internet is that china openly announces that they have an internet censorship campaign taking place operation gold and shield in china was introduced uh what was it 2005 something like that and it was a 70 plus million dollar campaign to censor the internet and to be able to look for key words like falun dafa or falun gong or the dalai lama those kind of things uh and uh it was another sign of of where we're headed here in the east excuse me in the west right and the fact of the matter is is that we we saw them take down the internet in egypt which i believe was a operation that was taking place to to test the waters if you will to see what kind of uh you know a response they will get and then at the same time they take the internet down there in egypt they have suck accounts puppet accounts from intelligence going around causing all sorts of trouble and tweets and all what and all that which they've announced it's because of how powerful and influenced the free flow of information can be when it comes to waking people up and showing them what's going on within their very own society that they would not ordinarily get to see and hear this is why this resource really has to be protected and we have to watch out for all encroachments upon it because right now it is our window to an accurate understanding of our reality so um what do you think could be some solutions that you would propose of what people would need to do to start really trying to go on the offensive even about uh stopping and beating back these egregious attacks on free speech and free assembly in general right one of the ways we can do that is take ourselves off the dependencies to their technologies and i've talked to hackers and people who are a lot more technologically savvy than i am about this and they don't think that it can be done they don't think they can take it down so i don't know that i've wrapped my head around what you can and cannot do i i guess there is talk of and we talked about this on a show i did a couple weeks ago that maybe they could take down the dns directory or whatever it's called again i'm not good with specifics on all this but if you have a list of the ips where you can get around that dns problem sure the domain name system basically routes a name typed in to a a url cert uh address bar to an actual server to an ipv an actual server right yeah and then you know if we have the direct ip then we can get to the sites but here's what i say and this might sound completely radical but i don't believe that we should be dependent on the electrical grid at all we're so vulnerable right now to a major emp taking down the grid and if not an emp something else and the fact of the matter is if we're dependent on electricity then i i think you're in for a rude awakening because the internet is going to be the least of your refrigera concern know refrigeration right uh you know just basics is sanitation everything sanitation yeah all of these things we take for granted um in addition to that i i would suggest ham radio if we're talking about communication and we're talking about you know what we're doing right now getting out the work to to the masses and organizing with people and don't get me wrong why we still have the internet we need to use it for all it's worth we need to melt the heck out of it because it is a brilliant tool of course it's a double-edged sword because it's a vacuum it sucks up all sorts of fluff and junk but if you use it like we use it in a way that takes you down the rabbit hole if you will and brings you to different research like marx or whoever's then it could be an invaluable tool it really is uh and it's expedited my process of learning like you wouldn't believe that's what it's all about it's about changing your attention through these resources while they're at our fingertips while they're available whether you do it with digital uh information whether you do it through listening to lectures whether you do it by reading books we need to change that quality of our attention and then bring that information by word of mouth to other people speak the universe is spoken into existence don't be afraid to speak don't be afraid of what other people will think of you it's about getting out there and getting in other people's face with this information not being timid about it if you know it's the truth speak it to other people attempt to have an influence in their life and help them to change themselves don't be timid about it i totally agree i i've always said that you know there's those people out there that don't want to get a confrontation oh i know i don't want to i don't want to disturb anybody you know forget that and maybe it's appropriate that i i come from uh pushing new yorkers and my family and i'm from south florida which is the sixth borough of new york uh because you know i always felt that so that we we we should not be timid about this we need to be bold we need to get the bull horn out i've had my bullhorn stage where i go out and protest and you know shout on the bullhorn right uh we need to tell the guy drinking out of the water fountain about the fluoride even though that guy wants to kick the crap out of me i think i've told you that story before yes yes i mean he looked at me i was just volunteering i said you know and it was very polite i said very casually oh what do you think about the fluoride you're drinking in the water fountain you know i'm waiting my turn i'm about to dose myself up with it too i forgot my reverse osmosis water and he looks at me like i just said the nastiest thing to him last time i checked if somebody's poisoning me you might want to know you might want to know and i i would say thank you to the guy telling me i said oh okay i'll look into that even if i don't know if he's telling me the truth or not even if i think he's just some crazy guy with a bunch of big hair and a tinfoil hat yeah it's it's great that you mentioned reverse osmosis i mean the quality of water that goes hand in hand so much of us is water ladies and gentlemen you know the cl the cleanliness of water is going to have a lot to do with the the clarity and cleanliness of our mind and our body uh reverse osmosis systems are definitely uh we use one and i i can't recommend them highly enough i mean uh you want to get the the drinking water that you're going to use on a daily basis as clean as you can make it uh because the municipal water supplies they're they're not they're not good for your body and your mind they have and not just your drinking water sediments uh pharmaceuticals fluoride as bob bob has said yeah and not just the drinking water i wanted to interject that what are you showering water right yeah transdermally you're absorbing all the junk uh and you know i gotta i gotta call myself out on this i need to get a good shower filter i have yet to do so so see folks i'm human i'm not perfect i don't have everything figured out but i sure as hell need to get one soon well bob since we got into this topic tangentially maybe i'll post a couple of resources together with the show because i do have some information on on filters like that so cool like something i'll post with the resources attached to this show on the podcast page i like that and especially with babies folks with with their brain you've got the soft spot you don't want them in that kind of water jeez right all right ladies and gentlemen coming up to another break i'm going to give the uh call-in number in the next segment so people get can get in the queue we'll take some calls in the second hour of the show but uh we'll be right back with our special guest podcasting radio net [Music] welcome back everyone i'm mark pacio and this is what on earth is happening my website what on earth is happening.com today on the show we're talking with special guest bob tuskin his website is bobtuskin.com go over and check it out definitely check out bob's show he has a great radio show every weeknight here on oracle broadcasting from 8 to 10 p.m eastern bob i want to uh give the call-in number so we could take some calls in the next hour from listeners i'll do that and then i have a couple more questions i want to direct your way before uh the top of the second hour so uh the call-in number for the show ladies and gentlemen is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the call in number eight six six eight four one one zero six five call in get in the queue we'll be taking your calls in the next hour uh with our special guest bob tusk and anything you want to ask bob is fair game call in and give us a shout so bob i want to talk to you about personal responsibility and the role that this plays in the change in our quality of attention because as we all know it's really still largely up to us the type of mental food that we take into our our makeup as a human being and i want to get your take on personal responsibility and how people who believe in some way that they have the right to to do this quote enforcement of infringing draconian laws against the freedom of speech of other human beings uh how how does that go along with the dynamic of personal responsibility in your mind yeah well they they take it uh unto themselves to violate natural law uh which is something that we've talked about time and time again and i i think it goes together with the idea of personal responsibility uh and taking control of your own situation first and foremost uh and not waiting for a savior to come and help you you know this is what the powers that shouldn't be want uh the uh you know election process to do is to distract you and take it the onus away from yourself and your community and your family and put it into something somebody else uh and especially uh someone who is you know bought and paid for right uh and even the ron paul campaign to a certain extent you know there's a balance that needs to be had there uh i i don't uh put down ron paul i i'm not a huge supporter per se i i know the intel hub and myself cover it quite a bit because i i think it does bring attention to a lot of different issues right but at the end of the day i'm more of a grassroots guy i'd much rather sit here and talk to you about how you are are doing uh you know different things to change the situation that we're in uh talk about growing a garden uh getting off the grid or whatever it may be everybody has their own different you know way of going about this but people are afraid of failure mark they're afraid of failure they're afraid of rejection right so they don't have enough cuspa to get out there and do something okay because they're they're afraid of being put down and put in their place and they don't want to get hurt uh and that's unfortunate because you know if if they would realize that it is up to them uh to uh allow for these scumbags uh to get away with what they get away with right it is up to them uh you know who said it best uh martin luther king day happened just recently there comes a point where your silence becomes complicit that's right the only the old days if not you who if not now when you know we have to realize there's nobody holding us back from forward progress in consciousness and evolutionary development and freedom except ourselves and the longer we sit back and wait and rest on our laurels and don't get involved in this in this war which is what it is i mean let's not mince words it is a war and people can say that strong language or that's divisive language or that's dualistic language but we're in a fight here we're in a fight against the forces of darkness tyranny and enslavement and if we don't get involved in that struggle and make it our personal responsibility and say yes we are responsible for what happens or doesn't happen in this war um then we're going to sit on the sidelines watch life pass us by and watch the uh the default state of tyranny overtake us and ultimately rule over us and it's a lot easier mark at the end of the day to pass the buck right let's pass the buck let's not worry about it let's just pass the buck and that's why so many people result to the appeal to authority fallacy because they say well they pass the buck they don't they're not auto died acts they don't think for themselves they don't look into it for themselves they say well because the doctor told me or because the president told us that that makes it so right this is the exact line of ideology that is dwelling in the minds of these so-called controllers the police and military classes they're attempting to hand away their personal responsibility to others and say oh i can't be held responsible for my own actions i'm actually doing these actions i'm actually creating violence i'm actually putting these people in cages for uh what someone else told me i'm allowed to to do that for even though i have no right to do that because no one has been harmed as a result of their actions but that's what exactly what they want to do pass the responsibility on to someone else even though they're the people taking the actions and then so and we wonder why the nanny state has has gone out of control you know how they regulate just about everything because unfortunately uh the powers that shouldn't be they they buy into the leviathan to thomas hobbes and his work where you know you know human nature is all nasty and we need somebody to control us right because we're inherently bad we're inherently not able to take for ourselves and we're always in the survival of the fittest mentality the poisoned worldview yeah and this social darwinism that's so prevalent and i'm here to tell you folks that it doesn't need to be the case that we as human beings have certain qualities that go beyond the rest of the animal kingdom and in fact if you take a look at darwin's writings he only mentions the survival of the fittest that he's so famous for but a few times in fact he talks about human beings evolving to a place if you will to a uh where we're you know able to love beyond our kinship and love beyond our direct you know surroundings and whatnot and we have all these other qualities these benevolent qualities that exist in humanity that doesn't exist outside of the animal kingdom and rather than realizing that we as human beings have an amazing ability to be the custodians of this earth to care for our children and provide them with an abundance that the earth provides and i don't i don't i hope i'm not sounding too hippy-dippy with this mark i hope you see my point because absolutely i think that if we uh look at the alternative which is the divide and conquer the quarter out of chaos the fact that there's you know and if as long as they keep us in that frame of mind where we believe that we have to be in this state of chaos or in survival of the fittest then they're going to be able to play on our emotions and our fears it's all about a fundamental shift in world view and attention is what's required to get out of that attachment and that way of seeing the world that's been around us since we've been very young we've been conditioned to see the world like that uh basically from the cradle and it's passed down from generation to generation a poisoned world view like that and as you've been eloquent in saying that's really not the case you're here to tell people the good news that that's not true that's really not who we actually are as a people we don't need all of these multi-faceted levels of control in order to live a quality existence on this planet what we need to do is be vigilant about when freedom is being taken from us because we understand natural law rights and we have developed the willpower to be willing to protect those rights when they come under threat that's what's ultimately required bob i want to get your take on another dynamic that we saw during these uh this past uh i know you know we don't really put too much stock in the whole election because it's fraudulent to begin with and it's all ultimately giving away personal responsibility to other people that we think can in some way represent us you know which is insanity thinking to begin with that anybody can actually represent your interest for you but um i don't know if you saw when ron paul advocated that we treat other people as we would like to be treated in one of these uh debates that just passed and the crowd actually booed the golden rule oh my gosh oh my gosh if that's not a sign of the sickness of our world today i mean the golden rule is so fundamental so important uh so basic uh and it goes beyond uh just treating people like you would want to be treated because if you're a if you're a sadistic individual who hates themselves well that doesn't count uh in my opinion so i i approve of the golden rule enhanced in the sense that for those who want to be sadistic fine but that doesn't mean you should treat your neighbors like it either absolutely right we have to get out of this mentality of do unto others before they do unto us this idea of preemptive aggression is insanity and we do need to get back to these core principles of the golden rule which lie at the foundation of all wisdom traditions regardless of time regardless of place in the world great segment bob we'll be back at the top of the hour and hopefully we'll take some calls you're listening to what on earth is happening with our guest chris geo of truth frequency i was born [Music] well hopefully ladies and gentlemen we won't have to make our final stand behind the gun hopefully we can make it behind the philosophy [Music] let's never forget that's what this show is all about that's why i do this show so it doesn't have to come to anything like that that's the number one thing that i have in mind is keeping it from going and escalating to the level of force we don't want it to have to go to that we want to help influence people to understand the philosophy of freedom and live that way and be willing to respect that in for all other people so bob uh this is the short segment and uh we'll go to some calls in the uh in the uh later part of this uh in the next segment but uh you had a project a special project that you're working with some of the gentlemen from the telehall ball that you wanted to tell the listeners about go right ahead and uh yeah i appreciate that mark the intelhub.com of course as you know i work very closely with them and we're working on a new podcast series that takes an in-depth look at some more topical situations if you will uh for instance the strange sounds did you hear about this mark uh yes i did i'm not really too sure what to make of it i mean it seems like in some way this may be connected with the earth's magnetic field i really hope it isn't that isn't the case because that could bring about all kinds of different uh possibilities for uh what may lie in store with us as far as mother nature is concerned but it's something i have looked into and it's kind of disconcerting yeah there i mean there's a million different possibilities with this it could be a viral marketing campaign for a movie uh so anyways the the point of me bringing it up i don't mean to digress uh i did a show on that by the way um what was it friday night oh quit uh yeah check it out it was pretty good we had lucas911 and francis walsh and astronomer and scott all from different backgrounds with the different insights right into what's going on um and back to the intel hub news brief uh it's meant to take something like that and give you about 10-15 minutes you know just to give you that concentrated in-depth look at what's going on you know we do live talk radio and i love live talk radio right we can take calls uh it has a more natural feel to it we don't pre-record any of this stuff folks it's all as it comes and folks you don't realize that that although it's a double-edged sword and may allow for prank calls to get through or whatever it allows us to be genuine and to allow us to be off the cuff which i like but the podcast on the other end also allows us to go in depth into different topics and make it brief we want to make these brief to the point we did one on ron paul and i had michael batten eric former presidential candidate on for a podcast we did a couple weeks ago uh getting his take on the madness and so much more so we're trying to keep these up to date and topical uh releasing two to three every week at the intelhub.com just go to the website the intelhub.com with the banner up there and if you're not familiar with the intel hub.com where the hell have you been you know because uh mark they really do have the best source of alternative news it is a very good site and uh uh these gentlemen also are responsible for hosting the uh for your mind conference videos that we post to the youtube that's right you've been getting a whole lot of hits absolutely not for sale the number two nwo is our official youtube channel i've posted countless videos including my recent chat with freeman fly freeman came into town and of course i talked with him at the freer mind conference where he spoke and yeah the videos are going viral it's a great channel with over 4 million uploads which tells us that people want to hear what's going on uh when we see that our alexa rating surpasses chris matthews three four times it tells me not that we're doing not that i i necessarily am trying to pound myself on the back but that people genuinely want the truth and they're tired of the lame stream media they want something different they want something that's going to show them what's really going on and not lie to them and pander to the establishment at more so than at any time in human history believe it folks more people are ready to hear the truth you're not going to get it from the mainstream you have to go to the alternative media you have to go to books you have to go to podcast to get that so great project bob we'll pick it up on the other side stay with us everyone [Music] welcome back this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio today on the show we're talking to radio talk show host and activist bob tuskin bob we have a special caller on the line you want to take some calls yeah let's do it let's let's uh hear from the people all right on the line with us is freighter rex uh oh what do we this guy is a member of nine nine different uh secret societies okay i prefer esoteric orders esoteric orders all right i like the secret society thing though because it sounds mysterious right how are you doing bob doing well i hear uh you had a good show last night with carolyn goyda yeah yeah it was excellent and greetings as well to mark thank you thanks for calling in well it's been a great show the first hour i've been listening i i was uh really excited to have the opportunity to catch your show live mark i listen to it every week usually in podcasts but today i had the opportunity so right here i am and i want to say i had an excellent uh exchange in the chat line with about 20 of your uh avid listeners there in the chat yeah the chat is pretty lively during the show and people uh are generally pretty uh pretty good in there and you know act civil toward each other uh to you haven't been seen so i'm glad that the chat room is there and acting as a supplement to the show i hope uh people will keep it uh that way definitely i i don't know if you caught it or not but i had a little exchange back and forth with an anonymous listener who uh claimed to be a scottish right mason so i asked him some direct questions and uh he admitted to me right there in your chat that uh basically the scottish rite is superfluous as i've said many times it has become something that is far from its original intent that's for sure yeah so it was really it was a good opportunity i liked being able to talk to him directly like that so thanks for that but anyways i love your topic the topic of freedom the idea of i was thinking right away when you opened the show that you know who who won the revolution in america if not people of you know with freedom in their hearts you know and and it's not it's not lost in my mind that when the revolution was finished they quickly got rid of guys like thomas paine because they needed to bring back their you know elite control of society and they you know had to really extinguish that fire freedom real quick that's right yeah common sense who needs it right well you know we gotta we gotta get these expansive ideas back into check really is what it came down to i mean what we we're talking about politics we all know uh that politics i mean the politicians are there just to give the illusion of the freedom of choice aren't they absolutely oh yeah it's it's it's dialectical mechanics it's just you know a false choice leading people down to the same authoritarian ideology that there should be people who represent our interests that there should be people who are our authorities government mark as you know to me and if you break down the meaning govern to control meant meaning uh mind that's right mind control there you go that's government and as i've said many times it is simply another form of religion it is a the belief in something that is illusory and not attempting to imbue that illusory thing with energy and make it real in our lives such that it has power over us and that's all uh any form of uh religion in the sense of that which holds us back as we've broken down the word many times is there to do simply control hold us back from forward evolutionary progress in consciousness true religion which is based in truth which is based in philosophy the love of wisdom in actions that are grounded in natural law and do no harm and serve our best interests true religion acts as a reconnection to the divine that exists within all of us so that distinction has to be made between religion so-called which is really false religion and what a true religion or a true uh philosophy based upon truth and natural law can actually do for us i absolutely agree with mark yeah i mean you could call it spirituality you could call it mysticism i mean it's it's uh it's a distinction from the religious you know spirit that's held humanity captive for well what john lash calls the uh infiltration of the abrahamic patriarchal religions you know the organic infiltration but you also talked about water and i uh i was i was reminded of the i had a conversation with max egan last month and and you know we spoke about water and the basis of consciousness and how his theory is that when a person dies the water goes back to the ground table you know the water table and basically uploads all the impressions and experiences of the individual back into the main water source very interesting what is what is the substance if it's not calcified in the pineal gland it's water right yeah it's a liquid well i mean even though i've actually heard that it's a crystalline substance it's actually silicate but there could be you know actual crystal in there well that's very interesting it makes it even more fascinating but as far as i know water is connected and then you have the experiments that the japanese scientists did with looking at water pictures of water uh and the different projections that he would put you know he'd put love and and i've seen some skeptics take that on uh and i think it's interesting but at the same time i think when we start to say that simply projecting a thought will bring uh you know something into our lives is a bit naive uh it requires action okay so i don't like the secret i'm a big anti-secret law of attraction guy uh and it's not because okay well hold on hold on before we go down that rabbit hole let me let me just put this in perspective the reason why that's okay i want to hear your opinion there but the reason why i brought it up is because water he who controls the water you know his point when he made it to me was the corporations the global corporations out there as you have pointed out so often bob they're taking control of water and if they get control of the water they put additives in there they change the molecular content of the water they're changing our consciousness through water right yeah a lot of people this is one thing it's a form of thought transports for thought transference in and of itself water if you even look at the pineal gland it has some of the most high volume blood flow of any other uh uh part of the body um and blood is comprised mostly of water as we all are comprised mostly of water so if you can actually control the quality of water as you're talking about freighter wrecks which is what these conglomerate are attempting to do in all areas of the globe you will have a an inroads to be able to affect human consciousness on a grand scale absolutely as a matter of fact one of the whole shows i'm going to do as far as solutions when it comes to food is going to be on water and one of the the most pure forms of water that anybody can take into their body i'm a believer in ro systems i know bob you have one as well but uh more so than that we need to look to the water that is distilled by nature itself and that's why i'm really huge on juicing and if you look into the power of juicing and how high energy that body is you are bringing the energy of the sun you're bringing light into the body by taking the water that's distilled by nature and fresh fruits and vegetables water by itself you know even the reverse osmosis is broken in a sense i've looked at robius the robius plant red tea it's called sometimes on connection with making whole water fascinating a lot of people don't realize real quick here before we go to break uh we went to war with iraq everybody talks about oil but they have the largest freshwater aquifer in the middle east exactly great point bob we'll be right back after these words folks don't go [Music] anywhere welcome back ladies and gentlemen this is what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com today on the show we're talking with fellow oracle broadcasting radio show host bob tuskin bobtuskin.com is his website bob we were talking to fredericks and uh he wanted to get into uh the law of attraction a little bit with you as you were going to uh talk about the uh the law of attraction that's making its way through the new age community and the the quote secret and how that differs from the true law of attraction so uh let's go back to freighter x and get into that with them a little bit and we also have other callers waiting on the line real quick to call in numbers 866-841-1065 call in uh pose some questions for bob tusken and uh here we go fredericks are you still on the line with us cool mark i mean basically i would like to hear what bob had to say about that because i think i uh i'm interested in his uh in his assessment of the secret and the natural law of applications of such good bob well i don't mean to be a party pooper here folks but the the mere fact that you're thinking about something and you know therefore you're going to attract it is complete bs yeah you can think about things and think things through and have critical thinking and learn about something and meditate perhaps and you know ponder on something that's what philosophy and all the things that we've been talking about today on the show is all about uh but this notion that if you think about money or for instance here's here's one example that i see somebody told me the other day that if you think uh it works both ways here either you can think about getting sick and then get sick or you can think that you don't want to get sick and then when you do get sick it's because you're not supposed to put out what you don't want so i've heard both ends of that said and i don't buy either way i don't believe that i believe that with every action there's a reaction and that we need to look at the process and be pragmatic about it uh and again yes there is a sort of thinking and deliberation that takes place before we act uh and and of course if you don't think about uh you know being an activist uh for geoengineering and chemtrails or uh if you don't think about waking up to 911 or whatever it may be or if you don't think about the occult or whatever uh then you're not going to learn about it but if you think about it then you learn about it it's as simple as that that's what the the secret is the secret is is that if we think that we're going to be able to put our intentions out there and that that alone is going to help us it's no different than uh what we were talking about earlier where we we think that somebody's going to save us the savior complex i'm in total agreement i think that uh positive intent can play a role but it can't act for us we have to do the work you know we can put out an intent we can put out a general um uh feeling about how we're going to be receptive and open to information or even healing for that matter you know there is information to suggest there is such a thing as the placebo effect and you know you can believe that you're being healed and then that can change energy fields in the body but i don't think it's going to go out into the world and just magically change the the world for the better if we don't help people to understand what they're doing that they don't have a right to be doing and then stop taking those actions you know it's an act of willpower that ultimately changes the world because ultimately behavior has to change just thought okay alone is not going it's the starting point it's not the ending point the ending point is actually making a willpower decision to change behavior that's where the law of attraction ultimately plays out in the real world in the realm of manifestation so i'm in agreement with you there bob power of intention is one thing but thinking that that's going to get it all done is quite something else and it's a watered down version of the real law of attraction so uh fredericks does that answer your question about where uh bob's take on on the law of attraction that's going around the new age movement uh lies yeah i think it's really clear and i too i i agree with you both and i couldn't have put a better mark than the way you summed it up i mean it is i think very easy to get uh sucked into oversimplified generalizations about things the secret is a clear example of that the movie is an oversimplification of the laws of you know the natural laws that we have all studied closely and you know this is something that that is very you know it's manifest i think throughout our this industry here in truth-seeking and the idea you know you're gonna people are gonna rise up with these over-simplified generalizations and you see the fruit of it it always comes through over time but in the end i think i i completely agree with you guys and you know uh one thing that's was a little bit of an aside i think the flaw of the approach that's laid out in the direct oh just think what you want and it will manifest approach is that you know in sigil magic for example you have uh you create a diversion where you you symbolize your intent in a thing that is usually a mixture of letters of a word or an otherwise directed practice of will and you the reason why i said that mark you brought up a clear uh assessment of is because you discuss the action phase we need to do things to improve our consciousness we need to do things to improve our behavior and this is the only solution is actual dynamic action and if you lay back on the notion that if you just wish a thing into a into an effect or into existence then it's to you know come to you it's like the whole savior concept it's the same same principles you know i think i one other aspect of this that i want to mention in real short real briefly here uh is the fact that somehow you would have the nerve to say that people being slaughtered in a genocide in africa somewhere by machetes uh you know children in a village that somehow they attracted that to themselves and i just don't buy it that doesn't sit well with me that you know you have a case of of a nursery where the kids are just slaughtered you drop bombs on them i i don't think that the law of attraction brought that to them i don't buy it i it doesn't sit well with me uh and i i think we need to go beyond it well it's a whole different pattern of consciousness that would deal with that sort of you know experience yeah it's completely beyond that i completely agree with you but you know the point i raised the only reason i bring up the the example of sigil magic is because the reason why a person would turn to sigil magic as a practice is because the idea of focusing on your intention creates a corruption in the sense that you instead of bringing about the effect you get what you do is you create a groundswell of what you lack you see by wishing for a thing what you're really telling the universe is i don't have this why do you're making that statement frederick's why do you think they use sigils on our money to keep us from the thing that we actually need the most which is the awakening of the one eye interesting that's why that that form that specific form of magic as you're discussing sigil magic is used in that negative aspect on money so phenomenal points really great call fredericks thanks so much for calling in and contributing to the show okay look forward to hearing from you anytime and uh maybe i we have to do an entire show with you as a guest in the future hey no problem give me a call and uh great show guys uh good good job we'll be i'll be listening for the rest and uh thanks again for taking my call fantastic thanks writer take good care all right bob uh i want to quickly uh ask you about your take on chemtrails which is something that people really need to shift their attention and just take a look up in the sky to see that this is going on around us at all times sure they're spraying the heck out of us folks barium aluminum oxide and strontium and just today i was enjoying some exercise playing soccer and i looked up in the sky and there was a plane spraying a fresh aerosol you know fresh trail of aerosols and into the sky and right next to it literally right next to it was another plane with absolutely no condensation trail nor chemtrail from the back of it so it's something that i'm working on we're working on a film and we're working with the epa and our city commission to get the word out here locally to put an end to the geoengineering operation i want to pick this up from this topic up a little bit on the other side before we take some more calls so stay with us ladies and gentlemen we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio talking with bob tusken of the bob tuscan show here on oracle broadcasting today bob we still have a couple callers on the line you want to take some more calls yeah let's do it all right here we go rich from sacramento you're live on what on earth is happening welcome hey mark bob nice to talk to you guys doing well um i felt compelled to call it and i remember mentioning to bob a couple days about the uh the scientists do study and that water stuff anyway i'm not going there i just read a book people figured out for themselves but uh what i didn't want to talk about is uh what i am doing in action uh i work with uh firearms quite a bit so i deal with law enforcement and military all the time and be honest with you i'm probably the last person that you would ever think to be working with firearms i don't really having a fascination with them i kind of just fell into the position and in the times they are i needed the money so i took that position but in light of doing that it made a perfect opportunity for me to talk to our first lines of defense and the sheriff's department lieutenants ex-military military still in or things like that all the time getting their perspectives on what they think is really going on right now yeah very important they are victims and as marquez pointed out in his presentation the powers that shouldn't be think of them as more of uh the the bottom uh feeders than even the us the the normal goyim yeah i would say their take on them their mental attitude toward them is lower than a slave as i've said many times they literally call them their pets sadly i've seen it i've seen i work with a military guy he's fresh back from both iraq and afghanistan and i've seen his perception on the world change dramatically in the last six months probably because he's been working with me for the past six months but uh yeah just the other day shows me an example maureen walks in and in full garbage i'll watch this i'm gonna walk by him and he threw out a call where there's a simple command from the uh drill sergeants and this guy jumped two feet out of his seat turned around and didn't know what hit him just based on commands and talking about all repetitions that he remembers being put through uh it clearly it's a it's a form of mental torture it is bob your take on that um well you know it's pretty clear that uh they should be treated with with respect but the powers that shouldn't be don't treat them with respect because unfortunately they look for the dumbed down people we heard reports that uh police are police agencies are allowed to discriminate in hiring people because of too high of an intelligence score okay so you know it's not only are they actively recruiting people with lower intelligence into these positions they when a court they win a court case that they can discriminate against people who are too intelligent so that combined with the fact that the sheriff's office should be a a buffer for us and protect us and that these oath keepers should be on our side and hopefully not be used against us but another topic i wanted to mention was the chemtrails where i am in location we have extremely clear skies and you can see all the way the horizon with no development uh so it's very easy to see when the sky is marked with 10 20 30 lines gritted out like crazy and every time it's a clear day and i can meet somebody at the door first thing i said interesting skies today huh and get a reaction give a quick profile this individual would take the mention of a chemtrail lightly or not and further progress in a conversation otherwise and what are some of the reactions you've heard from bringing that up um usually if it goes right over their head and they're like yeah it is strange or you know it clearly they they have no forethought of what a chemtrail might be i kind of i kind of sweep it under the rug but if anybody feels any inkling of interest and i've had everything i have plenty of marines i'd say that's interesting and then i'll turn them on to uh what is it what in the world are they spraying right great documentary by george griffith with j edward griffin and in that position i'm in these people are coming back on a regular basis so i'll get follow-up comments from them having seen those videos and things like that and bob on you know bob i know you weren't planning on going much deeper into this topic but it is something i'd like to get your a further take on from you insofar as this connects in with the quality of our attention how do you suppose it could be that we live in a society where people can see something right before their own eyes and still deny its existence and try to pass it off as something which it clearly is not which they call a a persistent contrail condensation trail of water vapor at altitudes by which frozen water vapor could not freeze and form into a contrail and they're seeing these uh sprayed into the skies on a practically daily basis and yet they can completely ignore i mean what does that have to say with where most people's quality of attention lies well it's two things mark real quick here it's two things we we've talked about the fact that something right in front of your face is usually a good place to hide and you know that's one aspect to this but the other aspect to this is that if we were to open ourselves up to the possibility that there is this massive aerosol operation taking place on our skies then if this is true what else is true and then the other thing people do is they say well i'm not sure of the motive and even i'll be honest to tell you that i don't know the motive 100 so therefore i should neglect the fact that we have samples of barium aluminum oxide and strontium and we can show you time and time again that the atmospheric conditions have very little to do with these persistent contrails right it's it's i just find it so amazing that people who don't know what they're actually doing who aren't privy to that highest level of that intent for that action would still go ahead and take the action just because they believe in faith with faith with religious zeal that the people who are directing that agenda have the best interests of the people in mind i can't it's hard for me to even fathom that people can be that naive or completely uncaring and disconnected from morality that they could go up in a plane and spray something that they don't know its actual intent uh onto us a civilian population it's it's unbelievable so if anybody's on the left that wants to get a good uh a good sight of some chemtrails you can visit lake tahoe anytime on any given day in lake tahoe you're about 6 500 feet closer to the sky and the chemtrails just go crazy it is insane it's jaw job well richard it really is i want to thank you for the call bringing up some good points and good questions for bob so let's uh go to another caller here uh doc in florida you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest bob tusk and welcome it's great to be with you guys thanks doc hey is that bob yes it is yeah what's up sheriff bob tuskin oh no it's just uh bob tuskin or bob not so far anyway yeah i spent about 30 minutes with popeye earlier today oh on a show online yeah yeah uh popeye's a good friend of mine he has a show on the uh orion talk radio network correct that's exactly right yeah the same time but check the archives out because you know that's the beauty of this thing is that we can promote each other's shows and not really care about it because you guys have no excuse to not check out uh one show versus the other right i've been on interviewed on popeye's show he has a great show putting the truth out there people should definitely check it out oh you guys got a simulcast one day sure yeah those work out well in my opinion yeah i did one the other day on on you know much smaller network and it worked out fine it was a good opportunity to kill two birds with one stone so and increase each other's listening audiences you know i mean it's not a competition we're all in this for the same reasons precisely you know that that sort of cornering of this truth market if you will uh is not a good thing so i like for people to work with each other and support each other it's important uh you know at the end of the day anybody can contact me i read all of my emails i'm very accessible anybody can email me bob tuscan at the intelhub.com uh and what i'm doing should be no different than anybody else who's out there concerned about the issues we talked about that's right get out there and take action and uh don't be afraid to speak can't be overemphasized enough bob did you want to ask another question or specific question of bob what's that in mind you talking to me yeah yeah what's up yeah yeah i had uh i brought up some pretty newsy items uh on his show and one of them is on uh conspiracy cafe about the shipment of explosives taken to the canary islands which is something everybody certainly needs to know about interesting yeah that would create a tsunami dock that would uh potentially take out the entire east coast mark perhaps when we get back from break here we'll talk a little bit about that absolutely this is something i have not yet heard about so i'm interested in hearing this alrighty all right folks this is what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting network we're right back with our special guest bob tuskin don't go anywhere we'll be right back for the last segment [Music] okay we're back for the last segment of what on earth is happening for this sunday january 22nd 2012 edition with our special guest bob tuskin of the bob tuskin show here on oracle broadcasting we had uh on the line doc in florida doc are you still with us here i am okay we were you had um a question about a source report that you heard uh that you read at uh conspiracy cafe and it was regarding shipments of explosives to uh through the canary islands and bob was about to respond to that okay yeah well tell me a little bit more what what do we know for certain as as far as these uh explosives where were they sent and what's your take because it would be very uh interesting to see a false flag of some sort lead to a major tsunami which they've talked about the canary islands blowing on their own why do they need explosives when it seems the the geology already is fairly uncertain well every false flag or whatever you know big event like japan uh there's always been an exercise there's always been they want to accelerate the process they don't want to wait they're running out of time they're being discovered etc they're running scared are you looking at the same website now no i i don't have the link pulled up here i i can but just tell me in in short what what's the take here well they've offloaded tonnage of explosives there and there's no other reason for it except for that i mean the shipment was originated didn't originate but it stopped in finland and the captain of that ship was arrested because the container shipping containers had cruise missiles uh the latest version and all kinds of explosives and the shipping crates were marked fireworks destination china now china makes fireworks they don't import them interesting bob your take on what this might mean might be a good time to get off the east coast uh with the nuclear facilities in abundance here it's probably a good idea to get away in general i i'm not quick to say that this necessarily means we'll see some sort of false flag attack happen but it wouldn't surprise me so i think it's good that we bring this to the listeners attention and doc i appreciate the call yeah i would say that the time to watch for anything like that as always comes up around uh that season of sacrifice from the beginning of spring to the midpoint of spring i can't emphasize that enough for people to pay attention to that time period the occultists love that and they definitely believe that that is a time to offer blood sacrifice to the earth we have another caller mike in new york you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest bob tusk and welcome hey mike how's it going buddy hey thank you for taking my call thank you i appreciate the great show um i'd like i'd just like to say something i've said it before on air uh the biggest solution anybody can can do in their life is really improving their relationship with themselves and their their creator or their higher self absolutely and also the people in their lives all the guns all the gold all the seeds cannot protect you um when you lay your head down at night to go to sleep if you've done nothing for the people in your lives you don't deserve sleep and uh i just like to throw that out there absolutely we have to be the change that we want to see and the the greatest solution is the work that we perform upon ourselves i'm going to be talking about that a lot this thursday night on uh occult empire with bob from cincinnati because we're going to be talking about the great work of alchemy and that's is exactly what that process is all about bob your take on that yeah and i again i'm a little reluctant to say that we should completely discount uh being pragmatic and prepared for the sake of helping others but yeah we do need to help others we we do need to realize uh at the end of the day that karma is important uh whatever that may mean to you uh and i've seen it in my own life karma at the end of the day does have a mysterious way about it absolutely and uh it is a that is a good point you know you can only prepare yourself but uh at the end of the day but you if you've done nothing for somebody else or not done nothing good for somebody else when somebody was in need that will that will affect your that will affect the change you want to say that'll be the reality in which you find yourself stuck in and collectively if we think about how selfish of a society we become and self-centered focused upon our own gain as opposed to really wanting to uh extend uh the the um uh way that we perceive our rights and how our rights should be respected and protected and extend that to all others and just again it's the golden rule in practice treat others as you would want to be treated allow others to express their individual uniqueness and their rights as you would expect yours to be uh respected and honored uh and if we don't do that for others we can't expect that for ourselves so it's a great point that you're making there mike exactly and i think that's sort of if i want to get a little philosophical for a second i think that's sort of the the conundrum if you want to believe in a creator or soul creator i think he also said that to him in rehearsal that uh you know what kind of a god would i want to be you know and what kind of a person do you want to be on this planet because i think the reflection you put back on this planet is really the reflection of what's going on in the struggle for humanity as a whole within yourself absolutely my great points bob manny responds to that and then i'm going to get your final thoughts mike thanks so much for the call yeah always good to hear from mike uh and you know yeah mark i i think there's been a lot said on this program tonight that i hope resonates with people and i'm sure it does because the people that listen to mark's show are very much interested in learning and using critical thinking i want to refer people to the programs we did on the trivium and you know take a closer look at all the various things that you've pointed out in your great research and i want to thank you mark in the final moments of this show because you've been an inspiration to me uh and i've appreciated having you on the show throughout the years and i appreciate that bob hey everyone should know bob got me into internet talk radio through a mutual friend eric who i met at a tesla art show uh that i had helped to curate uh uh eric put me in touch with bob uh when he was broadcasting on revolution broadcasting and bob got me my start in internet radio helped me get me get a foot in the door to do what i'm doing now so everyone should thank bob uh for that and i i'm eternally grateful to to you for that bob well you know it's it's been a good partnership that we've had mark because we've gotten the word out to more and more people uh and your reach has grown exponentially and then we had such a great uh freer mind conference in philadelphia that you put together and organized uh which was something that i've never been a part of before and i was completely impressed with how that went and i appreciate you making me a part of that i know there's a lot of pressure for a free mind conference uh number two we're going to be talking about it it's uh we're going to talk with some of the organizers and see if we can put it together i'm not promising anything definitively but we're going to be uh discussing that about making that happen later in 2012. well i encourage all of mark's listeners that are familiar with the free of mind conference uh whether or not you are an affiliate saw it live or you caught it on our youtube channel in which we released all of the videos open source which really was a testament to the fact that this was free your mind this was about getting it out there and getting the word out and i i encourage mark's listeners to bug him about it you know okay and and mark's going to kill me for this thanks he's going to kill me for this but you know tell him how much you appreciate it and and that you want to have a similar event because it's good that we could meet face to face with people i mean people came from all over to this event they came from canada uh we met uh some great folks from canada mark uh we had uh one guy dr what was he from ohio he drove all the way in from people came from florida from up up in new england all over this country yeah yeah it really was an awesome experience uh and uh perhaps that's a good segue to remind to you know my final comments here uh wanting to remind people to get face to face with people and even if there's only one or two activists in your area meet up with them and start to get that community because no man is an island i got off the grid and was living in mexico mark as you know in complete abundance with a complete uh water system and food fruit trees and vegetable gardens in the ocean but i was all alone and we need a community at the end of the day we we need to get back to our families and uh i love everyone listening right now i know that sounds a bit pollyannish but that sort of unconditional love needs to be reintroduced so that we can take the power away from the powers that shouldn't be in their scummy ways and what better way by coming together and putting our intentions into action to change the quality of our attention for ourselves and ultimately for our world bob phenomenal show i want to thank you so much for coming on you're welcome back at any time ladies and gentlemen bob tuskin go and check out his site at bobtuskin.com and listen to his show here on oracle at every weeknight at 8 pm eastern bob thanks so much thank you all right folks hope you enjoyed this edition we'll see you here next sunday stick around up next here on oracle broadcasting chris average ag is What On Earth Is Happening Show #093

freedom man that's what it's all about [Music] [Music] welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of the choice and now here is your host Marc Pascoe [Music] welcome one and all you are listening to what on earth is happening right here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening dot-com the network's website of course Oracle broadcasting dot-com today is Sunday January 29th 2012 we have a good show lined up for you here today we're going to be continuing our ongoing solution oriented approaches to the problems that humanity faces in consciousness and today we're going to be getting into one of our great grassroots solutions for real positive and empowering change namely changing our diet for the better something that is within all of our control still and is within reach for each and every one of us if we only apply a little bit of willpower and it's very synchro mystic that today's show would be show number 93 and we're talking about something that does require willpower to do which is to change one's diet change the quality of the food intake that we put into our own body and as a result change the quality of our mind of our thoughts and therefore change the quality of our behaviors our actions toward others in this world so today on what on earth is happening the kind of food that we should be taking into ourselves and the purity that we should be taking in as a result of what we eat because we already went through all of the problems with food we're not going to be dwelling on all of that okay we talked about how dangerous some of the poisonous food that's out there is we talked about artificial sweeteners we got into additives in food we got into chemical pesticides and and things that are used to make soil turnover faster than nature actually allows and therefore depletes the nutrient density of the food we talked about the problems we're going to get into what we should be doing with our diet now the positive approaches so that's coming up on the show I do have a couple of really quick announcements I was interviewed by henrik palm gran of red ice creations this past week on I believe it was Wednesday so Henrik is working on editing the interview he's going to be putting this up on the red ice creations website probably by the middle of this week sometimes so look for that on red ice creations dot-com I did a two-hour interview with Henrik ponderin and that should be posted to the red ice creations website and by the middle of this week either Wednesday or Thursday so keep an eye out for that I want to thank everybody who attended the truth freedom prosperity monthly documentary screening and discussion evening this past

Wednesday we showed the film eye on fish head and it was very successful thanks everyone to coming out the next one will be coming up on the last third the last Wednesday night of February the film hasn't been announced yet but I'll be announcing that when we make the decision as to what thumb will be showed so everyone stick around changing our diet and how that's completely within our power coming up on this edition of what on earth this happened we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com today on the show we're going to be talking about the powerful and positive potential of what we put into our body physically and that means food and water we're gonna be starting with food and then we're going to be getting into water later in the show and how important that is to maintain the optimum purity of the drinking water that we take into our body I'm also going to be getting into juicing a little bit and how that's the water that nature itself distills and how we can tap into that potential now next week I hope to have a special guest on the show who is a water purification expert if he cannot do it next week maybe the week after that and we're going to talk about methodologies for water filtration and purification so that should be a very interesting show coming up but let's begin by let me direct everyone to go to the what on earth is happening website to the radio show page ok if you click on the radio show tab underneath the player you'll see some images for today's show you can follow along with the concepts that I'll be talking about with this little mini slide show they're on the water on earth is happening radio show page there are some things that are not up there right now that I may add and tack on to that image set I do have a document that I'm going to be referring to regarding alkaline forming verses acid forming foods and this chart is very very informative and it's critical for people to know what food forms alkalinity in the body verses what foods form acidity in the body because we want to maintain an alkaline pH that's the key to offsetting disease that's the key to staying in an optimum state of health we want our blood pH to be alkaline we don't want it to fall into the acidity range which is when diseases can art capable of growing and festering within the human body our alkalinity of the human blood should be over 7.3 7.35 to 7.45 is probably a healthful alkalinity that we would want to maintain and it isn't to say you should never eat any acidifying acid forming foods it's you need to maintain a balance that is weighted toward the alkalinity foods the alkaline forming foods we should probably take over 70% of our diet from the alkaline forming foods and the remainder 30% the acidifying foods go easier on those okay for obvious reasons body pH and blood pH has everything to do with health with human health so we're going to talk a lot about a lot of different aspects of food here today food purity is one of them okay alkalinity versus acidity is another one okay how alkalinity not only will ward off disease it will keep inflammation down whereas eating a lot of acidifying foods will create inflammation which is the precursor to disease we're going to look at the effect of food on human behavior and I'm going to suggest some resources for people to check out to get more information about that how this directly affects our neuro chemistry and our bio physiology and so many people have done great work in that field it's almost too huge of a field to even name all of the people it's just you have to go out there start doing your own research on food so many people and the freedom movement ladies and gentlemen are not eating a proper diet they're eating garbage they're still eating GMO foods they're still eating foods that are laden with tons of chemical pesticides additives preservatives artificial sweeteners high-fructose corn syrup they're still drinking water that is from dubious sources and is laden with pharmaceuticals and fluoride and chlorine and chloramine and you name it this is actually the aspect of freedom that came to me the latest and I regret that more than anything else yes I knew all about the control system I knew about Satanism I knew about the dark occult forces and I did not have the consciousness to know about what was going on with our food and that kind of the quality of matter that I was putting into my body that was making me who I was and making me think the way I used to think that the this aspect of the control system was exposed for me after everything else which is almost odd I look back at it and I'm like how could I have eaten the things that I once ate and maintained that type of diet and lifestyle even with all of the other awareness that I had it's unbelievable and this shows how the poison food system is a mind-control technique because it controls the body okay it's actually making the body it go into a denser vibratory energy because that's what the key thing the key aspect of food we have to understand that this is energy that's why we're taking in food because we need energy this is common sense that everyone knows but the vibratory energy that is contained in food okay will either help our consciousness to rise and grow and ascend to higher levels of awareness if it's pure okay and we're going to also talk about density when it comes to food okay that's another critical factor to keep in mind because that has to do with how efficiently our body breaks down the food and takes those nutrients and especially micronutrients into the cells of the body okay so when it when it comes to density it's it's very important that we understand the states of matter and density have to do with the energy flow within the body it has to do with how efficiently we take in our nutrients and that's why juicing plays a vital role and I don't mean drinking bottled the juices that you'll get in the stores I'm talking about fresh organic unpasteurized juice made with a juicer from fresh organic produce fruits and vegetables okay and I it's actually incredibly synchronistic that today Barb and I started a 10-day juice fast we made this decision decision to start it on this day actually Oh probably over a month ago and it happened to fall on the day that I would be covering food on this show synchronistically not planned like that okay and it also happens to fall on show number 93 which I don't believe is a coincidence whatsoever because this has everything what we're gonna be talking about here today has everything to do with willpower willpower okay self respect for the form for the vessel that our consciousness and habits true self love which is what we talked about a couple of shows ago which is such an important dynamic okay and care how much we care about how healthy we are and how our health will affect our behavior and how our health not only will affect our behavior but will help our ability to help others to enlighten themselves and to take care of their body and ultimately take care of each other it's all about care and then ultimately about the will power the knowledge must be present as well which is what we're going to talk about what we should be doing as far as food is concerned but then the willpower to enact this in our lives we'll be right back folks [Music] all right folks were back you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting on your host mark passio [Music] so let's take a look at some of the slides of course the entire section about food and changing our diet and how this could be powerfully transformative in our lives and how can relate to a higher form of consciousness and awareness is all part of the section in my presentation and on this radio show that I refer to as the way out because it's the way out of the horrid mess that we've worked ourselves into as a species and the old adage that you are what you eat could not be any truer what we put into our body physically becomes who we are ok it's literally true just like what we put into our mind we talked we just came off of the section talking about the quality of our attention and last week we rounded up that section with our great guest Bob tusk and I want to thank him for being on the show we talked about mental food and how the purity of that mental food that we take in is so it's so affects the quality of our world of our entire collective situation and food is no different which is why I'm following up the section on quality of attention with the quality of our food intake I'm going to be getting into more abstract and mental and brain balancing techniques about how to change consciousness coming up in on future shows but we'll spend a couple of weeks at least on food and water and hopefully maybe I could have a couple of guests on on this topic but after this I'll be getting into present moment awareness I'll be getting into brain balancing techniques meditation concentration contemplation we'll be looking at what I call mindfulness what many people have referred to as my mindfulness and how to quiet the mind and the chatter of the left brain ok well we'll be looking at all kinds of grassroots solutions coming up on what on earth is happening here from here on out because we're trying to mitigate those mind control techniques we're trying to Olay them and we don't want to stay dwelling on the negative okay it's about empowerment and positive change it's you have to be aware of all those techniques and what's really going on in the world which is what we talked about for over a year and a half we looked at that side okay and now this is how to say no to it and how to say yes to something better and empowering so changing diet is something that is completely within all of our will power potential to do in our own lives it only requires a shift in our habits and you could start with small shifts in your habits in your daily day-to-day habits and then you can build up to larger ones and the thing is this is about momentum the the more you do it okay and the more you build up incremental e the easier it becomes like anything it's difficult to get the process rolling when you're trying to move a large weight maybe it's on wheels and you have to push it and at the very beginning it seems like it's almost impossible but then when you finally get it going momentum takes over and that's that is because you are habituating the energy flow through the body and as you do it more and more it becomes easier and easier okay for some people they may have to work on their willpower they may have addictions to certain kinds of foods or chemicals that there have been putting in their themselves for a long time certain people's taste buds will need to change slowly over time because they're so used to the taste profiles that they're taking in people are constantly eating salt and sweet and they vary between sweet and salt tastes you know we don't really delve into in the Western world and especially in America the astringent tastes or the spicy tastes you know these are so important to developing our taste buds which has to do with what we like to eat you know it's so different what we will like to eat versus what is actually good for us but you know if you can change your taste buds by engaging in different taste profiles as well it becomes easier to take in foods that are healthy and good for you okay I'll tell you what my breakfast was today it was a glass of green juice okay and what was in it was nothing short of the energy of the Sun litter in liquid form okay and I drank that and I literally got III I'm not making this up I literally got chills up and down my spine from drinking this glass of green juice okay the I could feel the energy flow literally tangibly in the body upon drinking that glass of juice and that will hold me for a few hours and then I'm gonna have another one okay I made a huge batch earlier I went out to a local grocery store picked up a whole bunch of organic produce okay and I did juicing before coming on the show today and that was my food for the day and will be my food for the next ten days because I'm I'm on a detox 10-day juice feast along with barb we're doing this to improve our health to improve the clarity of our mind to even further sharpen focus and willpower and that's what drinking in that high-density energy will do and I feel great today okay so I just made a batch of juice consisting of the following spinach kale broccoli romaine lettuce celery cucumbers green grapes parsley cilantro fennel turnips radishes lemons limes beets apples mint and the water of a whole young coconut that's what I put in the juice that I made today and it came out deep deep green the color of balance the color of the energy of the earth the color of the heart chakra the color of love okay and taking that in like it's almost impossible to describe until you've done it okay put that through a juicer because we're gonna talk about juicing we're going to talk about unleashing the waters that are in high water foods and how that energy density is so much higher than even solid food intake juicing should be part of everyone's diet I'm not saying it should be here only food I'm doing we're doing a 10-day juice fast which in which that's the only nutrient taken in I'm not saying go on a liquid diet okay don't confuse it and think that's what I'm saying I'm saying you should be supplementing your diet with juicing green juicing okay and we'll talk about methods of doing that and I I'm going to get into purification of water we'll get into juicing I didn't at the end of the slideshow you'll see a reverse osmosis system similar to the one I have in my home but I didn't I neglected to put a juicer up there I'll probably tack that on in the post-production of the show when I put the podcast up because having a juicer it could it's so important last week I posted some links for ro systems and juice juicers I think shower filters as well I don't think I posted juicers I'll do that today certainly with the podcast but for those who are following along with the slideshows if we we you know slide number one just shows that slide the way out that's what this whole section is about a slide to shows the grassroots solutions that we have been and will be discussion discussing over the many future weeks on what on earth is happening slide number three is this section change our diet showing some good organic produce which should be the bulk of people's diet organic fruits and vegetables moving to slide number four we're going to start to take a look at just how a model like we looked at the quality of our attention this is a basic model of how the quality of our food and water intake will eventually have a trickle-down effect and affect our entire world so when people say why is this so important because it does affect everyone we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere this is what on earth is happening [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark Hasse I'm talking about food today and the vital importance of taking in the proper nutrition and the proper nutrient density into the body to nourish ourselves to create our body and especially our brain such that we can think with greater clarity and ascend to a higher level of consciousness and ultimately this will affect our behavior if you want to look into a great neuroscientist that talks about the connection of food and behavior I would highly recommend the work of dr. Russell Blaylock because he gets into hell if we eat a crappy diet and take in all kinds of chemical poisoning in the foods that we eat our behavior is going to reflect that greatly and we're going to have all kinds of different mental problems clarity and thinking will decrease will have disorders psychological disorders come about and it will ultimately create behavior that is completely the antithesis of natural law behavior of respect for other individuals and their natural ball rights conversely if we eat a high nutrient density diet and you know we could get into the arguments forever about what is organic you know that but the purity of food is what we're talking about you want to move away from the less pure you want to move away from the more highly poisoned okay and if people are completely paranoid and they want to say well nothing's really organic anymore and everything is tainted in some form or another okay you could make the argument they're spraying chemtrails so eventually that's falling down to the ground and getting into the food and water table okay absolutely you could say oh well there's cross-pollination and you know GMO stuff eventually makes its way on the winds and gets into organic fields but let me tell you something you'd make the change between eating conventional produce and eating organic produce and if you tell me you don't feel that change I call you a complete liar to your face because I'm telling you you can tangibly tell the difference and it is not just in the mind it is not a placebo effect okay it is tangibly felt in the body just in the taste alone it can be felt and sensed and in the energy effect that it has on the body how much energy you have you feel when you eat higher purity foods is there any such thing as perfection no you you want perfection you're gonna have to be living off ether itself you're gonna have to be living off of spirit itself and and forget taking in any solid matter okay but until you're that grand angelic being get off the notion that there's any such thing as perfection but I would say also don't go into the realm of total paranoia that there's absolutely no such thing as foods that are better for you than conventionally grown produce with all those additives chemicals fertilizers and pesticides in them that's just not the case okay and it's it's a it's a not only a paranoid way of thinking about food but it's also incorrect because I'm testimony to that I've done this change in my life I know the difference between the conventional and and organically grown food and produce and fruits and vegetables you can taste it it's immeasurable its knowable until you've actually done that okay and made that change for yourself you're not gonna actually know it from a perspective of gnosis of direct experience of having done it so I can speak from that perspective and I'm telling you there is a definitive definitive difference okay that having been said what does any of this have to do with human freedom what does this have to do with what's going on in our world well as we said it affects behavior okay how we eat affects how we act and any parent can tell you that to give a child good healthy organic food see how they behave then start get feeding them chips sugary juices you know the McDonald's meat diet and all other artificial foods that are you know treated with chemicals to maintain shelf life and add you know taste enhancers and MSG and all the things we talked about we talked about poison food and medicine section in the poison food and medicine section and you'll see the radical differences in that child's behavior and this is true for adults as well because these foods are becoming the actual physical substances that go into building the body in the brain it's only it's only common sense as we've said what you put into your body becomes what makes up the brain and a quality brain is only going to be nurse nourished and created by quality nutrients that are physically put into the body this is not rocket science ladies and gentlemen the problem is just like we're addicted to negative ways of perceiving the world too poisonous worldviews that we feed our mind with and tell ourselves are true when they're not and stay attached to those ways of thinking okay we are addicted to poisonous foods and the energies that they contain that negative and harmful energies that they contain and our willpower becomes more and more shocked the more we stay on that poison stream and therefore it affects all of our other actions and behaviors in the world so people who are on just absolutely destructive food aren't gonna want to take the willpower to improve the world and to improve their minds and to help improve other people okay if our bodies are healthy our minds will be healthy they're connected the bind mind/body/spirit system is one whole dynamic living system that you can't separate any of those parts each one affects the other okay so slide number four on the radio show page of what on earth is happening shows how our quality of our food intake ok our quality of food intake affects our world at large and this is very similar or even identical to the flowchart that I made regarding how our quality of attention affects our world one is simply mental food and the other is physical food there's a poisoned stream or a poison reservoir and then there's a pure stream or a pure reservoir both of these could be it could have connections to our individuated cells represented by the buckets there ok we're largely containers or vessels of water ok and what we take into ourselves we have to have exercise willpower over and we have to purify as much as it is within our capability to do so if you want to get hung up on nothings organic there's no such thing or it's this isn't different than conventional produce go right ahead and think that way ok but ultimately you can increase the purity of what you're putting in in an overall sense into your body by making these dietary changes that is possible it is real ok it you've got to look at it like the two intakes on the top of these two buckets representing individuals have little valves ok like little faucets and you could you could open it open it or close it to a certain extent ok you could open the positive pure food and water intake and open it all the way and you could also open the poisonous food and water intake you can open that all the way ok and you're going to be putting different qualities of energy into the vessel now if you want to purify that vessel if you want to make it better if you want to make it higher energy there's only one thing to do you have to open up the pure food and water intake valve on that bucket ok to the greatest extent that you can and you have to shut off the valve that's letting into poisonous food and water intake into the vessel this is simple common-sense understanding it can't I can't even make it any easier than that a first grader could understand that if you want to clarify water that happens to be in a vessel you take in the most pure thing that you could take into it and you shut off the things that are sludgy and dirty and cloudy and poisoning there's there's not much to this the thing that it requires is the willpower to do it and as you do it more and more you'll develop more and more willpower the more and more you're addicted to the poison the more and more it will be more difficult to develop that willpower even to make that change so people who have been eating a poisonous diet for a long long time it's going to be very difficult to shift them that momentum to build that momentum is going to be difficult at the beginning but as it is done in small increments it will become easier and easier and then finally the output that then goes out into the world is how we behave because our nutrition and the quality of our brain and the neuro chemistry of the brain that is built by the nutrient intake will affect our behavioral patterns the more people that get off of the poison stream the more it will improve behavior and ultimately that creates a quantum ripple effect throughout the world as more people purify and detoxify the body so we're going to talk about just how to do that on the other side what are some practical methodologies that's coming up on this edition of what on earth is happening don't go anywhere ladies and gentlemen and be right back therefore these words [Applause] [Music] welcome back you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio talking about in detail how it is so critically important to changing our behavior and increasing our willpower purefoods raise our vibratory rate we are all energy we are made of energy everything is made of energy and while our body requires energy what we want to feed it with is higher vibratory energy and that can be done by attempting as much as as it is within our willpower capability to affect to take in the highest nutrient density food and the lowest the lowest of poison density food the highest purity with the lowest chemical consistency because that's what a lot of foods have been turned into nothing but chemicals they're not even natural anymore at all they're something that the earth never actually gave us all this processing and adding to what nature has already provided as if to say that's not good enough nature didn't do a good enough job and hasn't provided us what we actually need when in fact nature has provided us with everything that we need we only need to accept that gift and stop trying to change it so let's look at what we should be doing to change the the quality of the vibratory energy that we take into ourselves through food because these these high energy foods will help bring on a whole new state of consciousness for us they will help us to feel calm they will help us to think clearer okay they will create less attachment in our lives to things that don't serve who we actually are and as I've already emphasized though over and over again they will help us to increase our willpower to go and make even more empowering changes in our lives and to be an influence and an inspiration for others also attempting to change their lives for the better so if we look at image number five on the slideshow this is this section people should be spending the bulk of their time in when they visit a supermarket or a grocery store fresh organic fruits and vegetables is what we should be filling our carts with in the greatest abundance okay some other foods we could take in and use them more sparingly but this is what we should be this should be the bulk of our diet I I would say this should be upwards of 70% or more 80% of our diet and do I always do that I'm pretty good but I'm not perfect not always and hey sometimes we'll go out and we'll eat out we'll eat the food that is prepared in restaurants I'm not a total extremist when it comes to this I'm not a total raw foodist okay I am a vegetarian a strict vegetarian I don't eat meats I don't eat fish or seafood barb will still engage in seafood from time to time she's they even limited that but fruits and vegetables make up the bulk of my diet okay fresh organic fruits and vegetables and you know I'll eat grains and breads eggs cheese you know I will eat some some dairy products like that beans lentils nuts berries seeds this is what comprises my diet on a daily basis okay now what I'm doing right now again with the juicing is I'm doing a detox and cleanse and this is to step up the absorption of the nutrients in the body okay and also to clarify the mind and to clarify the immune system to dislodge poisons and dislodge things that have been trapped in the intestinal tract and in other parts of the body the kidneys the the blood the entire body the mucous membranes etc so that's what a detox people have called this a reboot in certain circles it's like rebooting the computer the body computer ok just like sometimes a computer starts to slow down we reboot it and it it's like regenerated for a time so that's what this juice fast is about that I'm doing over the next a week and a half so slide 5 here shows you excuse me what should make up the bulk of our diets because these are the foods that are grown from the earth and you could see how much green not only other colors yes there's Reds there's oranges but how much green comprises this image it's the bulk of the image just like the color green represents the the color that the earth produces in the greatest abundance once again this is the the light frequency that is the dead center or middle of the visible spectrum of light because that's what is being presented and is being gifted to us as a present by the earth it is love energy it is the energy of the Sun converted into a usable form by us the way that we can use that nature has provided freely for us to use as such it is a presence or a gift it is of that which can help keep us rooted in the present moment keep us in a state of balance and in feeling love energy embodying love energy that again the color of the the heart chakra is green and has been depicted as green in many different mystical traditions throughout time green is the color of love that's why the earth produces it that's why what we should be taking into us in the greatest abundance on a day-to-day basis is foods or foods that are collard green you open my refrigerator right now Green hits you in the face okay my refrigerator looks similar to those shelves and that's what people's refrigerators should be looking like because you're gonna get the greatest micronutrient density into the cells and you're gonna feel the highest amount of energy when you eat the most green foods and and believe me I know there's alternative theories out there of what we should be eating trust me on this this is how you are going to feel the best as a matter of fact don't trust me actually I shouldn't even say that that's just a figure of speech I I do know that that's how you're gonna feel the best because I've done it for myself but don't trust me on it you should do it yourself and find out okay find out if you are regenerated find out if you have more energy find out if you feel healthier and younger and rejuvenated and restored and if your skin is much better and more youthful looking and if you lose weight all it takes is to do it there's nothing to it but to do it and just try it and see what it does and if you don't like it you could always go back to eating whatever you're eating now but if you tried eating like that I guarantee you you would feel the change in the body the physical tangible change in the body it would start happening weight would drop energy level goes up and the higher the pure purity of those foods that you take in okay if you can grow it yourself even better if you could find them in the wild even better people talk about wild foods a lot and how they're even more powerful than organic foods okay but for most people they're gonna visit their grocery or supermarket choose organic it's it's about biodiversity it's about not over running soils with the same crop and depleting nutrient density okay yeah there's still problems with or even organic farming techniques it's not perfect it's better than the other stuff that's out there it's about making a choice to go from something that is not good to something that is much better if you're look for perfection in this world you're not going to find it here folks there's no such thing in the 3d realm there's no such thing as perfection we have to do things that are better than what we have done it's a stepwise progression okay and so don't get hung up and you know I don't recommend being an extremist about this either moderation and balance is the key you feel hungry eat that's what your body's telling you don't starve yourself either okay if you feel like you can take more on if you wanted to try a detox cleanse or a juice fast go for it okay you have to listen to your body it is speaking the wisdom that you need to hear at all times your body is always telling you what it requires if your ego is if you can exercise enough willpower to get your ego out of the way then you'll hear the wisdom that your body's speaking to you about what it requires and what if you put into it it will then give you in return more clarity more wisdom more willpower so let's talk about what a proper diet should consist of on the other side of the break let's talk about my kind of variant of a food pyramid and I found this on another website but I thought it was highly accurate and it's similar the way that I eat nutrient density I take in is encapsulated in there so we'll look at that on the other side guys it's crystal geo of truth frequency ready [Music] but on most mark Hasse that's what on earth has happened I'm talking about food today your own show how it affects human behavior how it affects our energy levels our vibratory rate and ultimately our consciousness and if we want to improve ourselves we have to improve our diets because so many people are not eating right there's so much poison in the food supply we have to strive toward higher quality higher nutrient density and higher purity foods we also want to take in fresh organic fruits and vegetables in the greatest abundance that should be the staple of our diet particularly green vegetables again that color and the energy level associated with that color cannot be overstated it is the transformed energy of the Sun in physical form that the earth provides and it is the color traditionally associated with love energy and the heart chakra so if we look at image number six on the slide on the slides that go with this show if you're listening by podcast it's of course podcast number 93 as we already talked about the synchronicity involved with that number and its relationship to willpower take a look at the food pyramid here which I loved when I saw it because at its very base was not even food and that's extremely significant the base was water this is something that's left out of almost all food pyramids water really should be something that we take in in great abundance now I drank juice and going along with the juice fast water is also something that you should drink because water is a carrier of energy and information that's what water is that is the role that water plays ladies and gentlemen it carries information from place to place over a distance and water carries the nutrients that we take into our ourselves through eating food through our body and then takes it into the cells therefore if we're dehydrated and we don't have a proper adequate amount of water in us the nutrient density is not going to make its way properly it's not going to propagate effectively through the body and get into the cell membranes and ultimately into the nuclei of the cells where it needs to be needs to be going okay so one of the most critical things which we're going to be getting into is how important the purity of our water is and that's why I hope next week to have a local water purification expert on the show because he can tell you much much better than I can how to go about obtaining pure water and the methods that are out there how effective they are or may happen not to be it's important to know you know you don't want to be hosed by different technologies out there that are claiming that they're doing something good for your water and they really aren't so either the next week or the week after I'm gonna be bringing this gentleman on and he's going to wow you with his knowledge of water purification systems okay so take a look at this food pyramid water is at the bottom it's required to bring any nutrients through the body and into the cell the cells okay then fruits and vegetables make up the next great bulk and this is stuff that should be done daily eaten daily oh lesser than fruits and vegetables grains legumes seasonings and healthy fats and then more sparingly eggs and dairy and that's at the end of things that you might want to take into yourself on a daily basis I personally won't whose eggs and dairy even everything every single thing maybe we have the other day something like that and coop [Music] Oh [Music] welcome back everyone that's what we want we want to get close enough to kiss the sky that's when no one would be able to stop us as said in those lyrics there and taking in high nutrient density foods high energy living and raw foods will help us to get to that goal in consciousness and ultimately to better ourselves as a species increase personal willpower increase personal energy level help us to be an influencer for others to help them to motivate themselves toward real change and ultimately to start caring about and doing something about true freedom in this world so with that having been said let's get back into a further breakdown of this food pyramid on image number 6 on the what on earth is happening radio show page or in the images that accompany the podcast the base of the pyramid as we said was water than fruits and vegetables or at organic or as high quality fruits and vegetables as you can find okay grains are above that some people will limit grains as well because some people might have problems with certain forms of gluten with gluten in general certain forms of grains contain gluten some people will limit it because these are basically carbohydrates and they might want to limit their intake of carbs for various reasons and you know nothing is a hard rule here it's a general outline a general guide moderation is the key as well if you build a diet based with fruits and vegetables at the bottom of that pyramid you're not gonna go wrong okay if that's the the bulk of what you're taking in you won't go go wrong legumes are above that then you have herbs and seasonings and healthy forms of fat you know you see avocados there I think that's a jar of not not butter of some kind then eggs and dairy above I do take these into my diet I try not to go crazy with them I love cheese hey no one can put down a pizza better than me trust me folks you know there if something will tempt me that's it you know so I'll take in greens and and cheese as well but I tried not to go overboard with them okay and I feel better when I don't go overboard with things like that I feel better when fruits and vegetables is the staple of the diet and I'm taking them in in as effective of a form as possible which is why I'm going to talk about juicing in a later segment so above that you have fish and seafood and lean meats we lean meats which I list in the weekly section of this pyramid and I would say that's if you eat them at all I personally don't eat anything from that section of that pyramid and I've already explained ad infinitum and ad nauseam why I've chosen to do that people will disagree with that and that's fine they have the right to disagree with that there is also some scientific research that can be brought forward to say okay even in the Paleolithic diet meat is included some people will try to take the fat content of their diet in through-through meats and raw meats even okay I feel that this aspect is a choice because I don't feel that we have been given dominion over the other living beings of this planet I think we have been given dominion over our own thoughts our own emotions and our own actions and nothing else I think these beings have a right to life just as we do I don't want to contribute to the suffering of the world by ending animal life and then consuming it and consuming that suffering therefore I've made a decision over five years ago now to not consume animal flesh okay yes I'll still use eggs and dairy on a more limited basis and cheese and things like that but again it's not the staple of my diet and who knows maybe I will eventually go up we know of those as well but to directly kill the animal to eat it and I'm not saying that isn't even done with the animals that are used in the other forms of dairy okay because of course we know that it is so I would rather have these animals be present used and in conjunction with the the atmosphere that is used to grow to grow food because animals I believe are needed for the proper production of foods and the proper upkeep of soils if we're going to be doing agriculture animals are necessary okay of course animal fertilizers definitely have been used throughout time in farming methods so I'm not I'm saying I don't think we should kill these animals what you know if we're going to use their presence on a farm to increase the nutrient densities of our soils I just don't feel they should be killed and eaten that's a personal choice on my part it's not even a dietary choice as much as it is a choice regarding life and consciousness and the right of those beings to have their expression of consciousness just as we have a right to have ours that's why I'm a vegetarian and I've explained it before I don't really want to get into that aspect of discussion I want to talk about nutrient density and food I want to talk about the the density of the food itself in the forms of matter that we take it in and now I'm going to get into that in the next slide okay solid forms of food liquid forms of food and then going into forms of food that we don't really take in much because we're really not as a whole even at the level of consciousness overall to even recognize that there's another form of food besides solid and liquid foods we can get into talking about you know living off of the breath or the prana or the life energy itself as many mystics have called it so people will often think that's impossible or doesn't even exist you know someone like Wilhelm Reich talked about Oregon energy and how we can collect that and take that in and in different ways into ourself so or use it in different ways so we could get into talking about things that are actually more abstract and etheric when it comes to tip intake of energy and we will get to that a little bit but I want to just continue to go on with this food pyramid on slide number six the weekly section again that's something that I've removed all together from my diet but I'm not telling anybody definitively to do that I'm telling you why I did that and if you wanted to make that choice you would need to experiment with that dietary choice yourself okay so but in any event I wouldn't say these should be taken in as frequently as the foods listed in the everyday section that's why I drew this line and applied you know weekly to that section because we've made a shift here into another color in the pyramid as you see the everyday foods are our blue collared and then you shift into that yellow Aryan these are things we should use more sparingly the very sparingly the things that should be used very sparingly sparingly or not at all we're talking about you know super saturated fats hydrogenated oils alcohols sweets high sugar refined sugar these are things that we should either be using extremely sparingly or eliminating altogether in the diet that's why it's at the very top of the pyramid representing things you should use the least in the least quantities and the least abundance so when we come back let's take a look at foods relationship to matter and energy as a whole and the states of matter and how this relates to the types of food that we take into our body I also want to look at alkalinity versus acidity and I'm going to post a great document on that aspect to go with this podcast we'll be right back folks here listening to what on earth is happening [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening calm I'm gonna give the calling numbers in this segment I apologize to a couple of callers who seem to have dropped off the line they have been holding on I'll give the calling number now four people want to call in I'll try to take some calls in the last couple of segments so the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the callin number eight six six eight four one one zero six five be patient if you call in I apologize for not getting to those other callers who had held on and looks like they dropped off the line so call in be patient I'll get to your calls probably in the the last segment here we go we're talking about now in this section foods relationship to matter and energy okay and this chart will help people to understand how the body deals with different energy densities when it comes to food and there's three sections of the chart there's density the state of matter and the correspondence to that state of matter and these correspondences are used in many different mystery traditions of consciousness throughout time specifically they are generally attributed to the alchemical tradition and I want to say regarding that that is something I neglected to mention in the announcements section that I was also interviewed by Bob from Cincinnati a frequent caller into the show on his show on the antimatter antimatter zone Network his show is called or a cult Empire occult empire and Bob brought me on during this past week on Thursday night to do a show on alchemy so it was it was an entire two-hour show on the alchemical tradition and that's listed on the front page of what on earth is happening in the recent news you could also check it out in the news section highly recommend people to check out that podcast we covered a lot of ground got into a lot of great information regarding alchemy and it's a very enlightening subject matter and by a bob also does a great show with his show people should check out a cult empire on the antimatter's own network so what is foods relationship to matter and energy okay so this chart shows us the density of food the states of matter and then the alchemical correspondences or the correspondences that have to do with consciousness and who we actually are so this is sort of the mystical or you could even say the esoteric way of looking at food in general as a form of energy but this chart generally holds true at the bottom we have the denser forms of matter which are the solids okay we generally consider the states of matter as solid liquid and gas this is taught in elementary school science people usually leave out plasma which is a form of gas it's ionized gas it's gas that has been somewhat ionized which is electrically charged okay so gas / plasma I put up there as the most rare form and what I mean rare I mean you know it's not as dense it's not it doesn't have as many particles per unit of volume all right so solids are packed tight with matter okay as they are less densely packed we have a more rarefied form of matter which gets us upward in the in the in the density versus rareness scale toward a liquid okay and all liquids are less dense than solids but they're more dense than gases or plasmas now we get into a rarefied form of matter okay so solids what we are eating as far as solid food go I attribute to the earth correspondence and of course it's colored green okay so green foods is what we should be eating if we're eating a lot of solid food matter that's what we should take into ourselves I feel you could take in the nutrient density of the foods what the the nutrition that the food is carrying within it even more effectively if we take that nutrient those nutrients into us in a liquid form and the reason for that is you're getting the solidity the most dense vibratory pattern of energy out of the way and the thing that the nutrients are carried in is the water okay that's the role of water is to carry information and to carry energy from one place to another so if we're we want to get even more nourished by the flow of energy we want to take in the nutrients that we need in the most rare form that is possible so liquid is better than solid okay this is why they tell you chew your food really really really well we should be chewing our food and most people don't do that and I'm bad with that believe me especially when I'm hungry and everybody knows what I'm talking about when I say that you know you're hungry you want to dive into something you know you a couple of bites a couple of chews on it and then it swallow it down you know that's not how we should be chewing our food actually we should be taking our time chewing it until it becomes literally like a liquid in our mouth practically you know as or as liquefied as we can tolerate that process this way the cell walls are being smashed by our teeth that's what the role of our teeth are for to smash the cell walls of food in the solid form so that the energy is more readily absorbed into the lining of the digestive system and then into the bloodstream where it is then used okay so liquid is a more efficient form of taking a nutrient density and that's why it's in the middle of this chart okay it's a higher form of nutrient density flow than even solid matter at the bottom of this chart where we have solid matter the body has to expend the most energy from the system okay in order to break down the food because it's in solid form and ultimately it's going to be used in liquid form in the body okay if we take in the liquids by themselves already in liquid form which is what this juice fast on on right now is about the efficiency goes up that goes through the roof okay and you're taking the might of the micronutrients and the phytonutrients in that plant matter food and getting them into the cells and into the blood much more efficiently and effectively than if you're eating solid matter that's not to say I guess I've already said just try to make your whole diet liquid I personally won't recommend that I would say that you should eat a certain amount of solid food but I would highly supplement the diet of whatever forms of solid foods you're eating with juicing because juicing again is liberating the energies in foods in plant foods that are that are created that are distilled by nature itself that living dynamic process that nature knows how to do okay that is just part of the creative energies of the universe itself and that living dynamic intelligence of the field of energy itself is present in nature and it is actively using that energy to distill the waters in the plant foods that grow abundantly on the earth when we take that water from its housing okay from its carrier okay from its containers the juicing it is one of the one of the most efficient ways of taking nutrients in the body and this technology that has been available to us for many years is one of the reasons technology is here for us to use at this time it's one of the powerful and positive uses of technology to better ourselves as a people and as individuals we'll be right back after these words you're listening - what on earth this happened don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark Pascale let's jump right back into the chart on image number seven on the radio show page but with podcast number 93 titled foods relationship to matter and energy we looked at the solid form of food and the liquid form and as I was saying before the break juicing is so important in this process again I would say definitely you don't want to try to just make your diet liquid that's not the point here it's supplementing your diet of the the solid food that you are eating with juicing and juicing takes those phytonutrients those micronutrients that are in plant foods and takes them into the cell walls takes them into the the the blood so much more efficiently than even eating the actual raw plant material and when you see what goes into making a juice a good green healthy juice that is not pasteurized and is made from good organic produce then you understand you would not be able to eat that amount of matter if you see what's remains the the fibrous material that remains after making you know a big batch of juice and understanding how much even goes into a glass of that juice you would realize nobody's gonna eat that much and so you're you're ramping up the ability of taking in that nutrient density by packing it into a form that is more easily able to be taken in by the body and more readily absorbed by the body so when we go up into a rarer state of matter the gas and plasma States again gas the most rare form of matter and plasma an ionized form of gas I've corresponded these with air and fire of course another word for gas air you know we generally look at them as interchangeable our air that we breathe containing many different types of gases but the ionized form plasma I've related to fire okay now these forms we won't Wilma immediately recognize in some correspondence to food because we generally look at food and water or solid food and liquid food okay there is such a thing as gaseous food ladies and gentlemen and if you don't believe that you want to look into many different cases of individuals who have lived four times on nothing but pranic energy look into prana look into lifeforce energy also look into orgone energy as I've already talked about wilhelm reich a little bit on this show this is a study that needs to be made by the individual to even break down the barrier that there is such a thing as this and that it can be done by the human body that a human being is capable of not living on solid or liquid food at all okay now again very few people are at that level of consciousness but if you want to take a look at one that was actually looked at in a scientific way and they trained cameras upon him and had people observe what he was doing was a boy in I believe it was India named ROM Baum John and he fasted without food or water yes he did not drink water for ten months he did not eat or drink for ten months he used a pranic meditation and breathing technique in conjunction with each other to literally take in the lifeforce energy that is all around us in the air okay that is put here by the radiant energy of the Sun it was almost the form of living off of free energy and he did not actually have to masticate solid food nor did he have to drink anything at all including water and yes it was done okay I do not believe it was a hoax people will say oh that's impossible it was it was all a hoax I personally think this person just came online you know he just he Seve the light if you will and I do accept the literal face of the explanation that this person just desired to meditate and he sat in a tree by his village in India for 10 months without moving practically without moving he moved the bit but if you watch him up close it's a very end maybe I'll post the video there's a documentary about this called the boy with divine powers now do I think these are divine powers no but I think these techniques are knowable I think this is legitimate and can be done he he went to an extreme method and people saw this as some kind of a miraculous thing and then they started trying to profit from it they wouldn't leave him alone they wouldn't leave him to his meditation they had a big circus atmosphere around the village where he was from and all he wanted to be allowed to do was be left alone and meditate and they couldn't even leave this young boy alone to do that I believe he was 15 years old when this all went down but it's an interesting story look it up maybe I'll post a link to the video the documentary you could check out but this is about pranic energy ok which is a gaseous form of energy with the ancients called the breath of life and yes it is possible to eventually get to the level of body mind spirit consciousness where we would be able to take in simply a gaseous form of energy and ultimately we will get to the highest level to live off of light energy alone do I feel that people are there at that level of consciousness now no this is why we still require things like solid food and liquid food so I don't recommend anybody just trying to live on pranic material just off of a whim because you'll probably go into nutrient starvation and die so this individual was aware of where he was at in consciousness and was aware of certain techniques to use in order to do this so an interesting story but I'll leave the the state of matter and correspondence there I just thought I should put this chart up to help people to understand the different forms the densities of food and how the liquid form is a actually a more readily absorbable and efficient way of taking in nutrient density into the body and of course gas and plasma would be even higher efficiency okay so that's just something to look at take in and understand how those states of matter work together and how they they correspond related to energy levels and efficiency levels of taking in nutrients image number eight goes into the importance of water okay and I put an image number nine a water purification system known as a reverse osmosis filtration system okay I'm gonna post some links to reverse osmosis systems we're going to talk a lot about them next week when we or the week after when I have a water filtration and purification expert on the show but it can't be overstated how altom utley water is the thing we're really talking about here because this is the carrier of information and energy and it's what we ultimately have to make sure we take into ourselves in the purest form so purify your water in his best way as you are capable of doing it in whatever way your budget or monetary means at the current time allow you to do it again it's all about making small steps and making the the steps that we are capable of doing in our life and that we are capable of applying in the moment so if you can only do certain forms of filtration that you know a RO system is out of your monetary scale to buy for yourself then do what you can okay it's about getting from a place where we're at to someplace a little bit better than a little bit better than a little bit better that's how this stepwise process of purification and working on perfecting ourself goes it's not doesn't have to be an all at once type thing it's making small moves and small changes that ultimately add up to big ones okay so with that having been said I want to talk about alkalinity versus acidity and then in the last segment I'll wrap that up and take some call but if we are acidic our body becomes wracked with inflammation we have joint pain we feel tired we're lackadaisical we don't have energy and ultimately then disease grows in the body this is ultimately caused by too acidic of a pH of a body pH we need to raise our alkalinity I want to read from a document I'm going to post along with this show an intro to a chart about alkalizing versus acidifying foods and as I've said it isn't about just eating all the things on the alkaline side it's about a mixture and we should probably have about a 70/30 mix from you know 70 toward the alkaline side 30 toward the acidic side so let me read this paragraph human blood pH should be slightly alkaline between seven point three five and seven point four five below or above this range means symptoms and disease a pH of seven point zero is neutral a pH below seven point zero is acidic a pH above seven point zero is alkaline so we should be slightly toward the alkaline side an acidic ph can occur from an acid forming diet emotional stress toxic overload and/or immune reactions or any process that deprives the cells of oxygen and other nutrients the body will try to compensate for an acidic ph by using alkaline minerals if the diet does not contain enough minerals alkaline minerals to compensate a buildup of acids in the cells will occur leading to disease I'm going to continue reading this short introduction to this document that I'm going to post with this podcast on the other side of the break and we'll take your calls to take us out for this edition of one on earth is happening we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen [Music] welcome back everyone with this final segment of today's edition of what on earth is happening on your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm I'm gonna do a whole show coming up soon on nothing but juicing and we're gonna look at ways that we can add this very very important aspect of using food and nutrients into our lifestyle and maybe even bring some recipes to the table to encourage people to incorporate juicing into their life and if you do I guarantee you will recognize how important it is how beneficial it is and wonder how you ever lived without doing it okay so that's coming up again a whole show on water purification and the importance of pure water coming up so we're going to stay on this topic of solutions through food and water for a few weeks before we move on to other topics let me finish this document that I was reading about alkalinity versus acidity alkaline versus acidic forming foods and I will be posting this with the podcast with a extensive list of foods that are alkaline forming versus acidifying if the diet does not contain enough minerals to compensate a buildup of acids in the cells will occur an acid an acidic balance will decrease the body's ability to absorb minerals and other nutrients decrease the energy production in the cells decrease its ability the body's ability to repair damaged cells decrease the body's ability to detoxify heavy metals making tumors tumor cells cells thrive cancer cells thrive and make it more susceptible to fatigue and illness a blood pH of 6.9 which is only slightly acidic can induce coma and death the reason acidosis is more common in our society is mostly due to the typical American diet which is far too high in acid producing animal products like meat eggs and dairy and far too low an alkaline producing foods like fresh vegetables additionally we eat acidic producing processed foods like white flour and sugar and drink acid producing beverages like coffee and soft drinks we use too many drugs which are acid forming and we use artificial chemical sweeteners like NutraSweet spoonful sweet and low equal or aspartame which are poisonous and extremely acid forming why do you think they want them out there ladies and gentlemen one of the best things we can do to correct an overly acid body is to clean up the diet and lifestyle to maintain health the diet should consist of 60% alkaline forming foods and 40% acidic forming foods and I said a 70/30 split this document has a slightly different take you do what feels right and what gives you the most increased energy I feel 70/30 is closer to the mark he says 6040 okay to restore health the diet should consist of 80% alkaline forming foods and 20% acid forming foods that's for a detox or a cleanse okay to restore health meaning if you're already in a really bad state of health 80/20 is what you should go toward okay generally alkaline forming foods include most fruits green vegetables green vegetables peas beans lentils spices herbs and seasonings and seeds and nuts generally acid forming foods include meat fish poultry eggs grains and legumes so I'll leave it there and I will post this document with the podcast and it will have a chart of just about every food that's out there and which side it's on whether it's on the alkalizing side or the acidifying side and you have to strike a balance as you see fit like I said I consider a 70/30 split he says a 60/40 maybe even somewhere in between there but if you're detoxing if you're storing if you're trying to regenerate after living an extremely unhealthy lifestyle you have to even kick it up to there and go to an 80/20 mix mixture at least between acidifying between alkaline and acidifying foods alkalinizing and acidifying so I'll leave the discussion I'll leave my presentation there I should say and let's start a discussion let's take some calls on this very vital and important topic namely the kind of foods we should be putting into our body hopefully I could take the couple of callers that are on the line before the end of the show here we go caller front e86 to area code you are live on what on earth is happening welcome Oh welcome Bob I heard your presentation I thought it was kindly I am just about I was gonna be on a fast I invited someone else to come on the fast with me it will be a little bit more extensive and it you you brought it right up and so that's one of the reasons that brought me to call because I mean you brought it right home she's doing it for one reason right but I have another reason in mind and that's health consciousness also you talked about a few things see my premise is that if what we're doing it's totally right then we should reap the benefits from what it is that we're doing right and it's a die there's not giving us those benefits then we have to look at you know the diet because it's it's not giving us longer life it's not giving us you know superior health is not getting better memory better eyesight no that's happening so we need to check out what it is that we're doing the other thing that you brought up and I hope that you you know do post that video on to your website because I would like to see that I read about it years ago where you have breakfast Ariens matter of fact I showed the article at my job where this guy was 82 he had eaten no food and drank anything for about 70 was about about 70 or 57 years Wow and he was from India yeah and people could not fathom that that that was not something you know and but that is not the first time I read it vegetarian I've been a vegetarian since 1978 I was in college and someone talked about nutrition and from that point on I just changed my diet I've never heard back so I've been on it when people say well can you make it well you have whole country is that what actually vegetarians is it's not something that just pops up and all of a sudden but I think we're gonna need that and I think your your presentation is timely as the one thing about these particular global is they took over the food supply that's right Santos is saying right Monsanto's had taken over the sea and so when you get this genetically engineered material into your body and they have claimed all seeds and those seeds end up into your body do they actually have possession of your body of course yes we have ownership right that's right of your body because they're seeds going in that makes you no longer you it makes you them because they have genetically engineered to see they have the patent on it and so I'm just asking you that's what the whole works is the whole purpose is to take over the body and to take over the mental functions that ultimately determine human behavior so people can be more readily and easily controlled and it's one of the greatest techniques of doing that is poisoning the food genetically modifying the food ultimately that end that equates with poisoning and genetically modifying human beings that's what's being poisoned that genetically modified us and that's happening not only on a physical basis but on a an epigenetic basis as well through the entered the types of energy fields that result of of this this poisonous nature to the food and and the the degradation of the food supply that normally would be a living dynamic part of nature itself coming into us we're taking in a completely degraded form of energy density and vibration and therefore it's changing us not only at a physical level but at an epigenetic level as well so call our phenomenal points that you've brought up one of the great points that that call are really brought up was if you're gonna do any kind of a change in diet or a juice fast or anything like that do it with someone else that you care about when you do it together it makes it even more powerful and the willpower can even be strengthened because it's to two or more people who are setting an example for each other and they're helping to support each other during that that lifestyle change so great calls caller thanks so much for the call let's go to our final caller on this edition of what on earth is happening a restricted caller you're live on what on earth is happening welcome what do you have for us hello yes you're on live hey hey hey Mike it's Franco from Montreal hey how are you pretty good oh you know you're very hard to actually reach her I was trying with your the regular phone number but the in Canada it looks like there's a solder that the phone number dude that you gave us doesn't work so I have to pass through Skype Ashley died I'll do a trick take a quick picture actually delete you yes Franco has a radio show up in Montreal called tu gair one fee I was interviewed on that before and I'm going to be coming up on that in February actually take this out oh no you go right ahead you take this out you're you can make the final comment okay all right so guys be healthy in your mind it's a it's good to be able to in your mind be spiritual but the constitution what the freedom man that's what it's all about you've got to groove on freedom like the good book says welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches its critical moment of choice and now here is your host mark pascio welcome one and all you are listening to what on earth is happening right here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark pacio this show is live every sunday from 5 to seven pm east coast time that's four to six pm central time my website is what on earth is happening.com the network's website oraclebroadcasting.com today is sunday february 5th 2012 we have a great show lined up for you here today and we're going to be having a very special guest on for all two hours starting with the next segment mr fernando salguero who is a water purification expert and a specialist in survival tactics fernando is the host of the meetup.com group survive and thrive right here in the philadelphia area which meets on a regular basis here in philadelphia to teach survival skills it's a survival skill sharing group okay and on the show today we'll be discussing techniques and technologies for water purification and the critical role that water plays in our everyday lives and this is part of our ongoing solution oriented approaches last week we talked about food and we're not finished with that topic we're going to get into it a lot more in coming weeks today it's water purification and you're going to see that this gentleman is one of the foremost experts on that topic so that's coming up in the next segment i do have a couple of quick event announcements that i want to uh read off the first thing is that the red ice interview with uh henrik palmgren that i did a couple of weeks back is still not posted to the site i announced last week that it would be posted to red ice it looks like there's a couple of people in the queue for new guests right before me but if you go to the radio show page on red ice creations you will be able to see that i'm in the queue i think i'm third in the list so look for that in about a week or so probably i would say within a few days to a week but it will be posted there soon uh tomorrow february 6th i will be interviewed on the radio show two gal one fee uh with uh franco huard and um his other co-hosts this is on the radio h2o network out of montreal so um check that out i'll post some links tomorrow for the show and um next week february 12th i will be interviewing franco huard from the radio show two guy one fee on what on earth is happening and our topic will be present moment awareness um also the truth freedom prosperity group will be hosting their free documentary screening and discussion night at the end of this month wednesday february 29th at 7 15 p.m at media bureau studios media bureau is at 4th and brown in the northern liberty section of philadelphia this month we will be screening michael tosarion's architects of control documentaries so definitely look out for that one come on out if you want to learn all about the techniques of mind control and who these architects of this system of control are and what they're all about that's coming up february 29th at media bureau studios for more information visit truthfreedomprosperity.org ladies and gentlemen we'll be right back stay asleep when he looks at it with his eyes it's what we see when he looks at it with sunglasses he's seeing the same things all the way through the subliminal symbology you couldn't see obey no independence welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com let's jump right into it with our special guest for this episode fernando salguero welcome to what on earth is happening thank you mr passion so um we're going to talk a lot about water purification today we're going to talk about the technologies involved we're going to talk about what kind of technologies you recommend or don't recommend but let's start out with uh you telling the listeners a little bit about your background you're a big activist you're a big actor we're getting a little bit of feedback on the line right here i'm not sure where that's coming from but uh let's see if we could mitigate that um okay uh you're a big activist no it's still fernando are you hearing that feedback hello not sure if we just lost him hold on folks we'll try to sort out these technical difficulties um let's see if i can pick up fernando i'll drop him and pick him back up bear with us fernando are you there i am here can you hear me yes i can okay great so i was saying that you're an activist in the philadelphia area and you also host the uh meetup group called survive and thrive which teaches a uh a set a big huge set of survival skills to people completely for free you meet up very very um um often in the philadelphia area in the northern liberty section of the city at uh liberty's pub on a bi-monthly basis i believe it is so why don't you tell the listeners a little bit about your background and how you got involved in doing uh what you do now okay uh simply put i was born to a junkie of a single mother i was dragged from uh from shitty house to shitty house uh often living in uh squalid conditions um uh often with no heat in the wintertime living as squatters most a lot of times no heat in the winter no running water no electricity obviously no telephone so i had to at an early age really deal with a lot of violence both from within and without the home inside and outside of the home um because i was very much a loner and an independent thinker i was frequently targeted for violence uh on in some of the worst neighborhoods in the city that we lived in um so i've been on my own since i was 15. uh thankfully with the judicious medicine work uh the usage of lsd as medicine i've been able to rewire my neural network elevate my consciousness and i have been a do-gooder of one sort or another since i was uh 15 or so um and i've i've somehow always tried to to champion the underdog so working with environmental groups political groups i've done a lot of uh uh homeless outreach and animal work and just a lot of stuff that i just try to make it a better world than what i was born into and that's ultimately what it's all about is taking action and getting involved not just learning about the things that are wrong with this world but taking uh tangible measures to correct those wrongdoings and to actually bring balance about through our actions it's all about ultimately taking action i could tell you fernando definitely does take action so um let's get into what got you into um uh your current line of work you you work in better purification what i was explaining was that um uh my uh my my do-gooder whatever it was um uh savior complex price complex however with christ consciousness whatever it is that i'm striving for brought me into working for clean water action which is an environmental political group working to hold politicians accountable for their actions helped make pollutant polluters clean up their own messes that's where i got my start in water testing and understanding the dynamics that happen within water right standing broader issues with water chemistry or the chemistry that goes into water these days that really broadened my understanding um about 15 years ago i began to work for a water treatment company and my my vocation is uh i am a water treatment specialist i i have a laboratory of my own um self-employed and i what i do is i go out i test people's water for a wide variety of contaminants and then help first i'll diagnose what the problems are and then tailor solutions and uh and help set them up with a solution great why don't you tell the listeners a little bit about what kind of contaminants currently exist in water that we uh turn on on our taps every day what kind of contaminants are in there in the water that we shower in and the water that we drink and the water that we use to cook etc what are the kinds of contaminants that exist in water well i think at this point it would be prudent to take a step back from that mark and really take a look at what water is sure because water has as all things do physical and metaphysical properties and they're not clearly understood one way or the other exclusively but they really have to be understood in combination so some of the physical properties of water include essentially all the water ever does is carry different forms of energy through space and you think about that for a moment different forms of energy through space it carries so it carries matter when we wash our hands brush our teeth flush our toilets water is carrying things away for us right if we're hot on a summer day and we sweat our our dna has uh uses water to to dissipate the heat we cool off or we jump into a pool and instantly all that thermal energy is dissipated carried away now the human body is made 70 percent of water but the brain itself is 90 percent water now this is not insignificant the planet itself has covered 70 percent of water and as current science understands it water itself is extraterrestrial now this is important as science currently understands it uh the bird was a uh a molten iron uh spinning with uh with with what we call magma and it was just this angry boiling rock fernando hold it right there we're coming up to a break we'll continue this on the other side our special guest for this edition of what on earth is happening water purification expert fernando salguero stay with us everyone we'll be right back welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio we're talking with water purification expert fernando salguero fernando you were uh getting into um what water actually is yes what it does and the possible uh origins of water on this planet so why don't you continue with that okay so very simply uh the earth was a spinning ball of iron and magma the collection of if you follow the big bang theory or at least one degree or another the this is all the stuff of stars so part of the manufacturing of our sun of our star uh there's by-products that include h2o comets and in fact uh the h2 the water comets the ice comets smacked into the earth cooling the surface of the earth to a crust while it's still keeping it boiling on the inside the steam process combined with the electromagnetic force of the spinning iron in the center of the earth um created what we know to be uh the levels of our sky the atmosphere ionosphere stratosphere on out from there uh the blanket um so all forms of life that we know of on earth require water to live uh and water itself did not come from the earth itself so it is by definition extraterrestrial so again water only has one basic power no matter what it's doing it is moving different forms of energy from one place in space to another place in space whether it's thermal energy uh bioelectro uh chemical and this this is where we need to talk about dna the role of dna dna is a living code that takes food matter and uses water to rearrange those molecules to create new cells so we all know that we shed hair and skin cells we shed billions of skin cells a day but we don't think about so much the fact that we're also shedding heart cells and liver cells and kidney cells and bones so our dna is constantly self-replicating these codes it's a self-replicating code and it uses water to distribute now it uses water to carry the good stuff through us like oxygen nutrients antibodies but it also it uses water to carry the toxins of waste out of us also it uses water uh through the central nervous system so the brain again is 90 percent water uh because of its conductivity to be able to communicate uh to travel uh with electrical signals chemical signals uh we are this big biochemical mechanism so understand that water carries things and that it starts to do that on a molecular level h2o now that's very difficult level for most folks to imagine how small that really is but water has some very interesting properties and one of those properties is it's it has no choice but to erode things dissolve things put things into solution and so water always on the earth water always follows a path of least resistance so when it rains rain hits the ground snow melts and it will it will creep along and it'll either go rivers lakes streams it'll be all surface water or if it's easier it soaks underground becomes ground water but anyone who's ever had a leak in the basement or leaking the roof knows that water will find a way so the contaminants that are picked up now are very different than the contaminants that people have dealt with for millennia we're no longer just drinking out of puddles and streams dealing with natural rock dirt and even natural biological uh issues all right we're dealing with a lot more complex chemistry more complex most people can actually wrap their minds around a few things that we should think about the number one cause of water pollution in the united states alone is nitrate contamination now they're all rotting organic materials things that once were alive but are no longer in their decaying so that can be leaves and sticks but also most of the nitrates in the u.s water supply are coming from human and animal feces animal feces let's look at factory farming hog farms dairy farms chicken farms pack mainstream americans refrigerators all that manure is constantly running off it's considered farm runoff so they don't have to clean up the chicken poo and so there's a lot of nitrate contamination from that also we all flush our toilets and so when the water comes our sewage waters clean basically the same way all over the country they run the water through different sized net filters to take out larger chunks from the sewage then they run the water through gravel filters then they run the water through sand filters they pour a few other chemicals in including chlorine kills off all the fecal coliform and the gut bacteria and then our treated sewage water clean to minimum federal standards is released downstream and it goes on downstream to other folks thing is we all live downstream from someone else so their sewage water and everything that goes into it has an impact so human and animal feces number one cause of water pollution second largest cause of water pollution in the united states are household cleaners soaps detergents lotion shampoo cleansers conditioners toilet bowl cleaners so most folks don't think about the tilex content of their water how many scrubbing bubble chemicals from dupont are in you know getting into their pasta and their rice when they boil it a lot of people think that boiling water makes things disappear but it doesn't it just cooks germs to be dead so household cleaners second biggest cause of water pollution the fastest growing form of water pollution in the united states are pharmaceuticals now mark you've heard of folks uh you've heard of drugs in the water before haven't you of course we've actually talked about this on uh the shows that we did on food and drugs uh talking about how the overuse of these uh different pharmaceuticals uh ultimately makes its way into the uh the the water supply and then we end up drinking that and taking in those in lower dosages but chronically over a long period of time and what's your understanding as to how the pharmaceuticals get into the water in the first place i don't really have too much of an understanding of that why don't you enlighten us myself and the listeners well a lot of folks are under the misconception that it's old pills that get flushed down the toilet when they expire but the reality is that most people ingest their drugs and so again with humans and animals you gotta think about big agriculture right big agriculture uses um anti antibiotics to treat pus content in the milk supply or or cut down on different kinds of diseases uh also steroid use is rampant for commercial agriculture but what people take on a daily basis i mean hormones steroids birth control antibiotics antipsychotics antidepressants today alone on this day there are tens of millions of children in the united states that are taking some sort of psychotropic for add autism something under the autism spectrum so ritalin or adderall or abilify or there's a lot of them and every time those kids go potty they urinate all the drugs out all drugs pass through the humans and animals that ingest them so that's important now when when the drugs come out of our bodies they either come out metabolized which is broken down to smaller parts or they pass through unmetabolized and our excretory system just pushes the drug out whole now there are no long-term studies on chronic low-dose exposure but the reality is that there is chronic low-dose exposure on the american people for all pharmaceuticals another interesting point is the uh the body within the federal government that is supposed to look out for our best interest the epa actually they set the maximum contaminant levels for what's in public drinking water and through the very aggressive lobbying efforts of the pharmaceutical companies those those pharmaceuticals are never sought for in the max contamination fernando hold it right there we're coming up to another break ladies and gentlemen don't go anywhere we'll be right back with more from fernando salguero talking about water purification i was born a shotgun in my hands behind the gun welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com let's jump right back into it with water purification expert fernando salguero who was discussing uh contaminants in our water and how they get there so uh we just touched uh briefly on the pharmaceutical aspect that is actually kept off of the national radar by pharmaceutical pharmaceutical lobby the epa and you know it's the same with the the relationship between monsanto and the fda the epa and large polluters have a lot of people in common and a lot of interests in common that don't include necessarily the health of the people as a whole yes so there's that aspect of it that we should be mindful of and then in addition to that you have every other thing i mean you know each of our cars and trucks all of us who drive fossil fuel run vehicles all that fuel we put in one way all those thousands and thousands of gallons over the years all of it doesn't just disappear it just breaks down to smaller parts and goes up into the atmosphere so in the united states alone from our cars and trucks we put tens of billions of tons of the of uh heavy metal laden toxin-laden uh smoke into the air and all that gets rained out because again water only has one power now for as long as it has rain water has purified air that is the natural order on this planet that water purifies air pulls the pollen pulls the dust out so now it's pulling out all the pollutants from our manufacturing um you know and you know the commercials running there for fukushima you know and and a lot of the filters that that sell these that sell on radio shows uh oftentimes don't actually perform as well as uh as well as you'd like them to i've tested big berkey water filters and they've consistently come up lacking i've tested a wide variety of filters that get sold like brita pitchers refrigerator filters faucet mounted filters and they consistently mislead the american people by improving taste and odor unfortunately that's where most people's consciousness lies they believe that you know if they can see a different smell of difference taste a difference then there is a significant difference and there's not the majority of those filters that the brand filters that i just rattled off do little or nothing to remove many of the contaminants they just improve taste and odor and so the american people are often suckered by their aesthetics so you have insecticides and pesticides and all the trash that any of us has ever thrown away sitting in a landfill somewhere if it didn't go to a trash to steam plant where they burned it then it's sitting in a landfill somewhere and landfills are big holes in the ground and they have liners on the bottom of them and those liners have holes in the in them so that the water itself does not fill up in the landfill and make you know a big a big few days of rain you know and and your average landfill could turn into a big stew pot of human trash and all that batteries and paint cans and baby diapers and everything so what happens is landfills have holes to allow the water to strain out so leaking landfills a leachate it's called is a huge source of water pollution and then you know we just keep throwing our trash away they come along once or twice a week pick it up and we don't have to see it it's out of b out of sight out of mind but it's not out of our reality and so i think that more and more people are becoming aware uh through the good works of people like yourself and and there are others uh that are out there working to improve the state of consciousness for mind body and soul and in my own small way that's what i also try to work to do is is help improve consciousness excellent fernando can you address things that are deliberately added to the water supply in municipal water systems and after we address those things i want to talk about solutions what technologies would you recommend and how those technologies actually work to effectively uh filtrate water so uh talk about things that are deliberately added uh to uh municipal water supplies okay well uh the the one that obviously is gonna come to mind especially for listeners if this show would be rate uh would be fluoride okay so sodium fluoride is uh um is a is a as a molecule that will attach itself to the what are called carries the microscopic cavities on the enamel of the teeth and will actually essentially work like a bit of spackle over a small hole in um you know a hole in the wall so a small hole can be spackled over and it won't continue to grow bigger and bigger so there's surface contact benefit for fluoride with with the enamel of the teeth unfortunately alcoa a large aluminum manufacturing uh refining corporation uh back in the 50s realized that there were some studies that linked fluoride to the benefits benefits to the teeth what they did is they hired edward bernays the father of modern modern uh public relations and um they wanted to sell their waste product you see when they all when they mine aluminum out of the ground they have to separate the pure aluminum ore from other impurities that include sodium fluoride which is so highly toxic it's actually more toxic than lead and so they hired a pr firm that hired a bunch of dentists and helped to rewrite textbooks to sell sodium fluoride to be put into the water water supplies for the american people over time we've seen that there's been negligible impact on the dental benefits in fact the american medical association has actually recently come out to to remove fluoride from the water for infants and toddlers because it is not a vitamin fluoride does not ever help the the dna doesn't put your fluoride to put fluoride to use the dna does whatever it can to get rid of it but uh through the excretory system but the um the damage that can be done the carcinogenic uh the impact of fluoride is intense it's related to bone cancer and there are also other studies that show that fluoride calcifies the pineal gland now the pineal gland is key because it is in fact the physical manifestation of our third eye and the pineal gland is loaded with rod and cone cells it's the most one of the most complex chemical manufacturing plants in the brain it is not fully understood by science at this point in time but it is very important and i personally believe that the pineal gland is the seat of the soul the the connection port in which the in the eternal consciousness uh divine spark of of of consciousness that we all are riding a wave of some sort where it actually plugs into the meat suit i believe that the pineal gland is the seat of the soul from which the mind is operated and then the body is operated i totally agree and uh that's why this this attack is ongoing this deliberate attack is ongoing against the awakening of consciousness by trying to damage and and hold back the pineal gland within the brain and that is done one of the methods that that is done through is the fluoridation of water supplies right and and the fact that uh you know if you take a look it's not really diverging from our topic if you take a look at uh the federal schedule of illegal substances uh on on the schedule one the most illegal substances are those that empower the mind lsd dmt which is manufactured dimethyltryptamine is an endogenous brain chemical manufactured uh most likely by the pineal gland also may be manufactured in the lungs but but dimethyltryptamine is an incredibly important neuro neurochemical that is linked to human consciousness and i personally believe is the master key for unlocking human consciousness but so schedule one drugs include uh lsd psilocybin mdma and dmt whereas then the schedule two not quite as illegal are the ones that hurt us the most and often get imported uh by the cia fbi other alphabet soup agencies um for covert funding and whatever it is that they're doing but the coke and the heroin uh that get funneled into inner cities the fact that we're guarding and you know uh poppy production in afghanistan has jumped i believe it's now 700 from before we invaded afghanistan incredible fernando we're coming up to another break on the other side i'd like you to address chlorine and chlorine derivatives as contaminants in water okay great stay with us everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening with our special guest fernando saguerro we'll be right back after these words welcome back this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio today on the show we are talking with water purification expert fernando salguero and fernando we were talking about all of the different contaminants in our water we just kind of wrapped up talking about fluoride but i wanted you to touch on chlorine and chlorine derivatives sure uh the two main uh two main first off when your city tap water is treated uh what they do is they take it from the source whatever river lake stream uh they run the water through different sized net filters to take out leaves sticks trash and animals you'd be surprised how many aside from wild animals actually a lot of pets when folks don't have the money or inclination to bury their animals or if the vet bills are too much the water treatment the guys who work in the plants that's what seems to freak them out the most is the stream of cats and dogs that they see but so they run the water through net filters then they run the water through large gravel filters then through fine sand filters and then they pour in a disinfectant most of the time it's chlorine chlorine is a very powerful toxic chemical that will kill microorganisms and this is a cheap and easy way to uh sterilize the water and water sterilization is important i mean on an average day on this planet there are 34 000 babies that die usually from dysentery or diarrhea they get a case of diarrhea their mothers can't stop uh from from drinking infected water okay microorganisms that are attacking a small undeveloped immune system and so the babies can't handle it and they often die in their mother's arms that's 34 000 times a day so water disinfection is important to maintain your homeostasis how it's disinfected also matters so chlorine is a cheap and dirty way to do it it also leaves a strong smell behind so oftentimes those municipalities that are using or water companies many of us don't realize that we're actually paying bills to a company with publicly traded stock so their profit motives they do the least amount they can they charge as much as they can for it so after they pour chlorine in they'll add ammonia and that will actually help to gas or off gas the smell so you won't smell it as much but they'll still be a lot of chlorine in the tap water and they put enough chlorine in the line from the beginning to make sure that even with dissipation there's plenty of chlorine at the end of the line some municipalities and water companies are switched over to a hybrid chemical called chloramine and that is basically a bonded chlorine and ammonia molecule also disinfecting now there are a lot of other ways to disinfect water sunlight ultraviolet light filters um ozonation is a safe and healthy way to do it but in the united states at least we are uh we are grounded and grandfathered in with uh old and dirty ways to get things done as i understand it also uh fernando chlorine is one of the things that will damage the lining of the arteries uh and create heart disease by making uh molecules such as cholesterol stick into the artery walls uh have you heard this research fernando are you still there did we lose him again all right hold on i'm going to drop fernando and try to pick him up again i apologize ladies and gentlemen hold on bear with us fernando i think we lost you are you back you have an issue yes there you are i'm sorry okay i'll repeat the question i i was saying are you familiar with uh the fact that it is uh shown that chlorine is one of the most dangerous compounds to put into the body because of what it will do to the arteries specifically the arteries around the heart which will become grooved as chlorine molecules pass through the bloodstream and they will create grooving along the inner walls of the arteries and that will allow cholesterol which would ordinarily pass unobstructed through the artery uh through the arteries to stick in these grooves that are created in the artery walls yeah can you hear me okay yes i can you're back you're fine well you did a pretty good job of summarizing it right there uh that's exactly what happens the chlorine etches the arterial walls and and enables the arterial plaque to build up and that's what causes the hardening of arteries uh which leads to heart attack different kinds of heart disease so that's true now another thing that people don't realize is we take more chemicals especially chlorine we take more chemicals into our skin with 10 minutes in a hot shower or a warm bath and we if we were to drink one gallon of tap water within 10 minutes through thermal absorption uh we we soak in um we soak in those chemicals a really neat way experiment you can do this for yourself is grab a pool test kit take two glasses of warm water out of your tap and uh stick fingers down into one of the glasses like three fingers and let them soak for about two minutes and then you pull your fingers out then if you put the equal amount of the oto the chemical that turns yellow with a chlorine test kit you put equal amounts of of that chemical oto into both glasses you will see that the chlorine is almost completely removed from the glass that had fingers soaking in it for two minutes so dermal absorption is a very real ongoing um reality that our bodies do and deal with so chlorine absorption you know a lot of folks think about their water and their health related just through their uh what they directly use for consumption um but don't recognize how it relates to their pasta their rice their showers their uh the detergent residue that doesn't get ripped off properly that's left on the dishes different contaminants that are on the dishes um you know people don't see it clearly and so they don't think about it very clearly as a general rule there are also things to watch out for in the future uh it's my understanding that there are various lobbying efforts uh to put lithium in the water supply in different parts and there may in fact already be parts of this country that have lithium in the water there's also um there's also as i understand it an effort by the company uh eli lilly who manufactures uh lipitor the number one that is the number one selling pharmaceutical in the country um that there's an effort to put lipitor into the water supply this will regulate the country's cholesterol level let's clarify for listeners this is a statin yes and what this what this does is uh explain what what a statin does and how this is dangerous because as i understand it statins decrease the q a coq10 enzyme and that is what regulates the beating of the human heart exactly so there are a lot of again you did a good job summarizing you know there's a lot of ground for us to cover here sure but uh but the the statin drugs uh are excreted through the urine and so statins are in the sewage water supply and so other folks are drinking them that way uh and then if this uh if this uh if this uh uh move gets through you know through lobbying you know it might sound crazy to some folks oh how would that ever happen yeah well we can look at a lot of things that happen uh that seem crazy and yet they're going on um the you know there's also one other thing i wanted to touch on with fluoride before we get away from different contaminants sure is fluoride is a uh is a component in um a number of antidepressants including zoloft and paxil fluoride has been put into the water supply in high doses to control uh groups of people in the past it's been used by the uh by uh during the the bolshevik revolution when they would send folks off the siberian work camps to keep their heads down keep their spirits down keep them off center um also in the uh uh prisoner of war camps in nazi germany the german officers the german soldiers had a different water supply from the jews and it wasn't just because one you know they didn't want to cross-contaminate with you know whatever their philosophies were about why they hated jews but it was it was specifically so that the fluoride would not impact the german soldier and interrupt his mastery and keep to keep the jews and the communists and everyone else who is rounded up uh as passive as possible that's a great place to take a break we're going to be back for the second hour where we will be getting into solutions specifically how can we clean up our water that we drink that we take into our body that we shower in and we bathe in on the other side of this break water purification expert fernando saguero is our special guest on this edition of what on earth is happening stay with us everyone welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening dot com today on the show our special guest is fernando salguero water purification water purification expert and also a specialist in survival tactics fernando is the host of the meetup.com group survive and thrive i'll be posting the links for that actually we can give the link it's actually meetup.com survive and thrive philadelphia region but you have to put dashes between all of the words okay if you type that into uh your url uh field in your browser you'll get right to the meetup page you could also simply go to meetup.com and do a search for survive and thrive philadelphia and it will uh be the first uh search result returned by meetup.com so um we got into all the contaminants in water in this uh hour we're going to be talking about how we can clean up our water purif water purification techniques and technologies before we do that i want to give the call-in number because we're also going to open up the phone lines later in this hour for fernando so the call-in number to the show is 866-841-1065 once again the call-in number 866-841-1065 give us a call get in the queue we'll get to the calls a little bit later after we've had some time to talk about water purification techniques and technologies fernando uh why don't you tell us a little bit about some of the technologies that you recommend that we can employ in order to get these contaminants out of the water that we drink bathe and shower in okay so let's just start by getting a few things out of the way and those would be brita pictures refrigerator filters uh faucet mounted uh filters like the pure uh also the big berkeys um uh most of those things uh will consistently fail um also uh water softeners most folks if you've ever heard of a water softener what they do is they pour salt into the water essentially there's a heavy sodium residue uh it actually generates a level of chlorine uh so they're actually not good for people to drink because the elevated sodium over time uh is related to heart disease hypertension these sorts of things so focusing in on what actually works are two things you need to pay attention to one is a very high quality of uh multi-stage filtration with a back wash this is important any filter that doesn't have a level of back washing of uh separation of clean water and dirty water into different directions is going to end up failing you or or whether you realize it or not it will end up failing you the so for example um the only reliable technology uh for a a man what's called a physical uh cleansing of the water as opposed as opposed to the chemical when you do a when you actually break down the water molecules uh you can either distill water or treat it through reverse osmosis now reverse osmosis is a set of filters that include very fine paper usually it's a multi-stage like three or five different stages for reverse osmosis and the pre at the the beginning stages are usually very tight very very tightly wound paper very tightly spun paper and carbon filters to remove chemicals so you have particulates and chemicals coming out and then it pushes the water through membranes and essentially it's like a skin that is tightly wrapped and uh only essentially at the end of the day it's only the water molecules that will get through fernando hold it right there this is the short segment at the beginning of the hour we'll pick this up on the other side of this next break not a problem talking with water purification expert fernando salguero we'll be right back chatting online exactly get into the chat on the wall on earth is happening radio show page folks we'll be right back after these words welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio today on the show we're talking with water purification expert fernando salguero fernando you were just getting into what reverse osmosis is all about and how it works would you like to continue that sure now there are different grades of uh functionality for reverse osmosis and different grades of efficiency for reverse osmosis so an inefficient reverse osmosis system will produce one gallon of water uh for every uh five or six gallons of waste water that it's a very inefficient system most reverse osmosis systems that you can pick up at big box retailers like home depot or lowe's uh for a few hundred dollars uh generally speaking they will produce one gallon of water and then about three or four gallons of wastewater uh the high efficiency reverse osmosis systems uh are at a one to one and a half ratio um now reverse osmosis basically it squeezes the water molecules through these filters that are so small that uh essentially only the h2o is what actually makes it through um there are incredibly mind like a good reverse osmosis system will remove 99.999 percent of uh of impurities um pharmaceutical grade water uh which is maybe triple distilled uh that's going to be very difficult for your body to deal with and it will leach out minerals but basic distilled water and basic reverse osmosis water will not have that negative impact on people's health that's one of the topics coming up on the chat box uh here and and we're talking about that right the um the ro system that uh i have installed in my house has a um filter that um uh goes down to the point zero zero zero five micron level i would would you consider that that's something that people really want to look at how how fine of a gradation the filtration filter actually goes down to yeah those uh those zeros and decimal points really do matter um because uh most microorganisms uh aren't going to make it past something uh that is point zero zero four uh oh i'm sorry point zero four microns a micron is one ten thousandths of an inch so uh you know micron itself is relatively small um and then when you're getting down to point zeros as long as you have uh something that cleans better than point zero four microns uh for a reverse osmosis system that's where you wanna be great so good stuff now another another technology just because we're probably going to run short on time here i want to keep moving a technology of distillation is very important to understand now there are distillers that you can purchase um that will essentially what you're doing when you're using distillation is you you're using the natural physical properties of water um so when water is in its liquid or frozen state it carries things when it's in its gaseous state it doesn't um it will actually release all the matter that it was holding so um you'll see a lot of folks can see if they rinse a glass off in their in their tap water and just shake it off and let it sit still the water itself will evaporate that goes up to the clouds but the impurities from the water they're left behind on the glass so if you hold up the light you have spots on your glass so when water goes to a gaseous state it releases the impurity this is important so distilled water that you can buy that's a great way to go a lot of folks with a lot of health problems including kidney disease uh their recommended it's recommended by their doctors to drink distilled water um so distilled water is a very good thing now in a grid down situation or grid teetering situation for whatever reason if there is no way for you to get your hands on potable water and you have to refine urine stream water um uh just any sort of waste water can be reclaimed using distillation so there are different kinds of distillers that individuals can learn how to make and i would highly recommend that everyone familiarize themselves uh with the different uh different ways of distilling their own water now one is called a solar still the solar still uses the radiation of the sun to heat up um a closed in space uh essentially very simple solar still is when you were to d if you were to dig a hole in the earth that is half as deep as it is wide so for example if i were to dig a three foot hole i'd dig it down to be like a bowl and at its base it'd be about a foot and a half deep what i would do is then place maybe some uh some black cloth maybe some t-shirts around in the set and then in the center of that bowl that i've dug out of the ground that hole i would place a collecting vessel maybe a cup and then i would pour whatever waste water or urinate on the black cloth um or you can also uh you can also pull weeds and grasses and put them in there anything that has any kind of water to it and what you do is then seal it up you seal it up with a clear plastic um a piece of clear plastic and you uh put stones around the outside make sure it's covered up with dirt so there's there's really no airflow and then you've got this nice and pot and then just above the collecting vessel that little cup on the inside just above that you place a stone in the center so that as the heat the radiation from the sun heats up that it creates the greenhouse effect um and as it heats up the water and the water evaporates from whatever kind of dirty water it was it will evaporate and then get caught on the plastic and the weight of the stone pulls the plastic uh points the water flow down into the cup so after a whole day uh you you know you can make several of these and you can actually have a significant amount of drinking water uh from the distillation process another simple way to do that if you were to take and this is a great experiment just you can anybody can do this at home right now uh take a uh uh a teapot a place a glass preferably a taller glass over top of the spout bring the water to a boil and as the steam comes out it will touch the glass and will begin to condense again and then have another a a cup or something to collect that water that comes out from the inverted glass so that's got three parts to it it's got the the at the end result the clean water glass it's got the glass that is uh collecting the steam and then it's got the teapot so in the teapot you can put all sorts of dirty water but in the at the end of the day all that you're going to get through the distillation process is h2o so that will also remove radioactive contaminants whether it's uh the radioactive iodine 131 from uh radium uh from or stromium from fukushima or if you live near a nuclear power plant if there's ever any sort of meltdown also chemotherapy patients they're always excreting radioactive substances before water distillation a very critical skill to understand and practice for yourself we'll be right back with more from fernando salguero and we will open up the phone lines in this hour stay with us folks you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com let me give the call-in numbers once again for anyone that wants to call in and ask any questions of fernando the call-in number is 866-841-1065 once again 866-841-1065 fernando you were uh wrapping up with water distillation was there anything further you wanted to say on that well uh there are strengths and weaknesses of both reverse osmosis and distillation um the the uh the simple distillation process the solar still is what i just described uh for digging the hole and then there's the uh then there's the uh stovetop now both of those require a significant amount of time and energy uh to uh to procure clean water at the end of the day which may be necessary depending on whether or not you're in uh depending on what the state of your quote-unquote survival situation may be the downside of reverse osmosis is that it has to be pressurized so if for any reason the taps stop flowing if the water companies for whatever reason do not provide water to flow out of your faucet um then you know there are different uh modifications you can do to pressurize a reverse osmosis system but they do need pressure in order to function um if you were to take an ro membrane uh that end filter that they use if you were to unfurl it and and maybe uh stretch it between your arms to make a a a little bit of a pool if you poured water on top of that the water would just sit the water would not seep through but if you were to fold it over and over and then squeeze it then the water would be squeezed through the membrane so it definitely needs pressure in order to function um and really people are just kidding themselves with anything else uh be a big berkey or britta or fridge filters or you know a lot of folks will say oh it's good enough and the other thing too is also the immune system in the excretory system that we have developed our dna uh does an excellent job of dealing with a wide variety of contaminants so um i know right now you're going through this a great super juice diet and i i know you've been vegetarian for a few years now yes um but you've had more than your fair share of wendy's hamburgers in the past oh you know it i do know it i'm going through my own issues and and and figuring out my own way in this world in that respect um but but the fact is that we are resilient that's right and so you know for all the what seems maybe like little doomsday-ish you know all the pharmaceuticals in the water everybody's peeing out the the uranium and whatever it is uh these are real issues that we should be mindful of and we should be mindful of carcinogenic and mutagenic substances um but not not to a point where we live in a bubble and we're frozen by uh fear into inaction because that's that's the worst thing to not do anything um so we we ought to have a healthy balance of understanding what the risks and the benefits are uh for uh for for doing nothing and as well as for uh for going ahead uh setting up a reverse osmosis system exactly now fernando you mentioned uh the juice fast that barb and i are on this is day eight of it and it is going extremely well we have great energy we've stuck to it and uh it's definitely opened up a lot of different areas for exploration and it's definitely shown us uh psychologically how much we are addicted to certain kinds of food and even the ritual and the process of eating in general um but it shows us that the nutrient density in juicing that we get from the water that is actually distilled by nature itself within the plant kingdom uh really has all the nutrient density that the body needs to survive on a day-to-day basis so it's been an incredible learning experience it is the first fast i have ever been on in my life so um this is the first time and you know most people do a one or two day fast i we just jumped right in and did a 10 day juice fast this is day eight we have two days left it's going very well i thanks i want to thank you for uh reminding uh everyone of that and uh you know for the support uh in regards to that but um we do have yes i gave you your last your last solid meal actually there's actually a question that's come up on the online chat i'd like to respond to that sure i was actually just going to post that um a chatter is asking what is the best way to store water so would you address that sure okay now uh when can you hear me okay yes i can uh when storing water uh there are a couple things you want to bear in mind one is if you're storing water it's for a rainy day for whatever reason the taps are not flowing and so you need to sustain yourself just remember that it took the federal government five whole days to get water to the 50 000 people that were stranded after hurricane katrina in the superdome five days for them to get water uh so fema recommends uh for whatever that's worth to the listeners of this show fema recommends that all households in the u.s have at least two weeks of water food medicine and sanitation supply for storing water there's no magic to it okay water does not decompose water itself does not go bad so if it's stored properly you can keep the microorganisms from growing in it all right now storing water let's just say most folks are going to be starting with tap water that is chlorinated you can filter out that water you can store reverse osmosis water uh or distilled water um but it's not necessary okay i'm gonna say that right now and that's what i do for a living and i talk to folks about it all the time uh about the benefits of cleaning their water but the reality is that you will die much faster for for uh from dehydration in three days or so for most people in most situations you'll die much faster of dehydration than you will of carcinogenic or mutagenic contamination which may manifest years decades down the road so it's important to keep a certain balance in this but for storing water uh to answer a ban from florida's uh question um the best thing you can do is gather food grade bottles whether it's from juice or tea bottles don't use the do not use the cloudy plastic one gallon bottles they will degrade and they will start to leak after a year or so uh don't even buy them in bottled water from the from the from the store don't if you plan to stash them for a rainy day don't use cloudy plastic use clear food grade plastic there are different kinds of fillers that are put in there that make the cloudy plastic degrade much faster so the point is this when filling just bear in mind fill up to what's called the meniscus level you fill the water up one of the unusual properties of water one of the many unusual properties is that you can fill a cup or bottle in this case just to overflowing and you'll actually see that there's a bubble of water the water itself will actually bubble over top of the rim of the uh of the cup or the bottle that you're filling so what you want to do is fill it to the meniscus level um so it's bubbled up you want to get as much air out of the water as possible that's really where the danger comes because with air as long as you have chlorinated water or very clean uh very clean reverse osmosis and clean bottles is that background music yeah that's the music for this next break coming up hold your thought right there and we'll pick up more on water storage after this break great ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening with our special guest for today fernando salguero we'll be right back after these messages okay folks we're back this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio we're talking with water purification expert fernando salguero on the show today fernando in the last segment you were getting into water storage and how to uh effectively store water so that contaminants don't get in it and so that it doesn't leak and the types of plastic to use are not used so you can pick it up from there okay uh also there are a number of uh questions that are coming up from the online chat that i've i've told folks i'm going to go ahead and try and answer them they've asked me to answer them on absolutely you go right ahead that's a great way of taking our questions absolutely so to just to wrap up there's no magic to storing water water doesn't go away as long as there's an air type water tight seal it's not going to go away so as long as you get as much of the air out as possible that's ideal if you want to go the extra step and put a little bit of chlorine bleach uh just a minuscule amount of bleach uh for for one gallon of water uh you should need more than eight drops of chlorine um and that will be enough to effectively oxidize that will kill all of the organisms if there are any but if you already have chlorinated tap water just store it back that itself is shell is self that that itself is shelf stable now another question that's come up what about food grade 55-gallon drums is that a good way to store water absolutely yes it is um that's what i that's what i do me personally i have a year of water without having to look externally i can take care of my family for at least one year and all of their hydration needs without having to look to rain water gathering or any sort of purification um that's what i use for the bulk of my stash the another question that's come up is what about bpa by bisphenol a which is a chemical additive uh in the plastic that mimics estrogen it's related to uh cervical cancer and breast cancer in women it's related to lower testosterone levels from early childhood exposure in men so men usually come up with lower testosterone about 70 percent or so of their with their natural testosterone levels food and should be um so that my response to that what about the bpa of plastics uh it's an acceptable risk uh again you have to keep things in perspective and if you're preparing for any level of an emergency whether it's a hurricane an earthquake um a terrorist attack chinese hackers that shut down the grid system on the east coast or wherever it doesn't matter for whatever reason if the tap stop flowing you need to hydrate even if it's relatively dirty water it's still going to keep you alive and you have your immune system and your exercise system working for you so that's one question and now another person brought up a question about benzene and other chemicals that are used in fracking for those of you who don't know an issue that's going on across the country right now is hydraulic fracking that is when uh natural gas companies uh by the rights to drill down deep into a mountain and force pressurized water in over 300 different chemicals uh and what they do is they actually collect the natural gas from little pockets on the surface they collect it on the surface but they've permanently destroyed the water table they've permanently put these chemicals in unfortunately there are some of those chemicals used in the fracking process that cannot be removed by any means of filtration known to humankind other than distillation which is not truly filtration uh reverse osmosis filters um the the membranes are actually a fine polymer plastic and they will melt when they come in contact with some of the fracking materials with some of the fracking chemicals so anyone who lives in a fracking area is probably aware of a lot of these things that i'm talking about uh but fracking may be uh something that sickens us on a genocidal level over a long term we shall see that's a big issue in in pennsylvania right now and and i know many parts of many parts of the country absolutely i was going to say pennsylvania is one of the place where fracking is going on the most particularly in northern pennsylvania so someone talked about silver silver the metal silver has a number of very interesting properties including the fact that it's a natural disinfectant it's what's called bacteriostatic so many carbon filters have their they are silver impregnated they're they're soaked in silver nitrate and what that will do is that will allow the carbon filters to absorb things like chlorine and chloramine but will not enable bacteria to live and grow in the filter itself um back in the old days back during the depression uh when people had milk deliveries they would put a silver dollar into the bottom of the milk jar to keep the microorganisms from growing so silver is a very powerful way to disinfect water you can use colloidal silver you can also manufacture your own colloidal silver and it's a excellent way to purge microorganisms unwanted microorganisms from your from your body silver uh bacteria um colloidal silver has personally impacted me in a very positive way uh not directly related to the water but um uh silver is a very powerful uh uh tool that we have at this point in time in space yeah we do have another question uh but before that i just wanted to reiterate uh to clarify for some of the listeners when you were talking about you know adding a possible into these the storage water when you're storing water a little bit of chlorine bleach we're talking about for survival situations ideally we want that removed in our everyday drinking water but what you're talking about is for survival situations where you want to uh basically take care of and kill the the microorganisms that may happen to be living in water that could possibly make you sick that is a viable alternative to use that in small amounts so that you uh basically um uh make that potable and safe to drink so that you're not going to get sick from the stored water that you're drinking that's correct and again if it's tap water that's already chlorinated you're probably best off just storing it that way and while that may seem counterintuitive um all things being equal uh if you take things into account all the different situations uh you're gonna be better off with that than nothing at all right okay so uh we do have a question from our mutual friend uh walt walter rhodes was once a guest on what on earth is happening and he has a question for you go ahead walt hey fernando what's up brother um if you're in a uh survival situation where the only kind of water you can access is dirty mucky stagnant water how much how much bleach would you have to add to a gallons worth of water and how long would you have to wait before being able to drink it great question um first off there are things that you can do the more of the more particulates that you can remove little bits of grass and dirt and wood because you won't see them but although every little bit of particulate that you can take out is um refuge that microorganisms will not have so the more prote the finer you can filter that out the better whether using a t-shirt or some cheesecloth um refine that water as best as you can and then from there for one gallon of one gallon of water it should be one teaspoon of bleach and that should be allowed to set for at least 30 minutes that's very important um that you make sure you give and i'm glad you brought that up walt because i've made that mistake before and a lot of people have not giving chlorine enough time to kill the organisms and it doesn't have to be just chlorine you can also use iodine uh there are different kinds of iodine iodine for campers and hikers you can buy little tablets uh that will um it will also kill the organisms but still you should give it 30 minutes otherwise you know you can be dealing with those gastrointestinal issues someone in the chat brought up something called gsc for uh killing parasites in water um do you know anything about that gse does not ring a bell if i had it maybe if i heard it through a different name i might understand but i've never heard of gse okay so to reiterate it's it's critically important to wait uh a certain amount of time if you're going to add some kind of a bleach or chlorine derivative to the water in order to uh kill the parasites and the microorganisms that exist in in uh dirty or stagnant water yeah i'll share my story very quickly because this really illustrates the whole picture um i uh my pool in my backyard my family and i was a couple years ago in august we've gone away i forgot to put the cover on the pool we had some storms come back everything's green and it's got like little bugs and lots of stuff in there fernando hold it right there we're coming up to the last break continue with this uh anecdote on the other side of the break in the last segment and then i want to talk to you a little bit about survival which is your main forte and we'll probably i want to bring you on the show again in the in the future to talk about survival skills so we're talking with water purification expert fernando salguero we'll be right back for the last segment after these words welcome back everyone this is the final segment for this edition of what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com we're talking today with water purification expert fernando salguero and fernando you were just going into a personal anecdote about uh pool water that you had dealt with silver the role of silver and the role of uh chlorine and organisms yes so i had allowed my pool because i'd gone away over the summer i'd allow my pool to go all skunky and green so it got time uh to clean it out uh so i poured a bag of cool shock in which is complex chlorine and after about five minutes i mixed it around and then i got in with the with the uh net and i began to swim around and it was actually it was a hot night it felt good and so i walked around with the net and i'm scooping out little bits of leaves and such um about a couple days later um i noticed these little tiny white spots popping up mostly on my lower half where i had more contact with the water um after about two weeks i was covered especially in my lower half by what's called hot tub folliculitis that's in a particular bacteria that infects um hair follicles and so all over my feet legs stomach chest uh the the my hands and and wrists and oh god oh my scrotum i was loaded with these very painful um plus packs uh coming out of my um these infections coming out of my hair follicles i went to several different mainstream doctors they gave me prescriptions for antibiotics that never did anything to cure the sickness and after years of going to these doctors i went and took it into my own hands and i found colloidal silver and colloidal silver knocked it out like no antibiotic ever could um and so uh i have not had any of those issues with folliculitis for a few years now but that was uh that was an important lesson i'm glad walt brought up about you know the amount of time uh allowed i should have allowed 30 minutes and i would have saved myself a tremendous volume of pain exactly so are there any other questions in the chat that you might want to take if not i wanted to uh basically talk about survive and thrive a little bit yeah let's uh let's go on to survive and thrive okay so um this is your your skillshare that you have put together here in philadelphia and uh why don't you tell people a little bit about what it is what you do there and uh how they might want to get involved if they're in this region okay well i i will mention uh that you are an assistant organizer for survive and thrive and i'm also going to tell the public that you are one of the inspirations for surviving thrive um as i watch you put together your what on earth is happening um um a presentation and you actually gave one of your first presentations in my living room that's right um as i watched your uh drive to uh get information into the hearts and minds of people while still had time to make change um uh that was that was uh that planted the seed and later that seed really germinated when i was doing some important medicine work with dimethyltryptamine myself i follow a more shamanic path of understanding the physical and metaphysical worlds and their relations and i was given a very powerful powerful vision of creating a i've been a closet a closet prepper all of my life i've always been ready for blips and whatever disruptions but i'd always been very quiet about it never shared that information with with anyone around me uh except my immediate family um so this medicine work i was given a vision of empowering the feminine aspect of our culture i saw visions of single mothers being able to provide water for their thirsting children pictures of women being able to care for elder elderly parents um in in grid down in grid teetering situations uh so i started survive and thrive uh with the help of you and barb and a number of others we are now pushing about 600 members it's a skill sharing collective uh made up of a wide variety of folks um and we all come in and we all learn and we all teach or not all of us teach but so we teach everything from understanding uh basics of natural law and sovereignty in relation to your own survival own your dna own yourself resist enslavement through various means that include uh the the gmo or what else gets put into your body uh there are a lot of things like that we touch on um we also talk about the basics of how to purify water how to gather it how to find it um fire how to heat your home without the grid how to start fires with no matches how to use alcohol as an alternative fuel which creates no carbon monoxide if you burn alcohol in a closed in space we teach um wildland survival skills how to make traps and snares uh how to how to do fishing uh in different ways um so really just a wide gamut of survival skills grid down skills uh we do sheltering in place we do understanding hazmat i am also a montgomery county uh pennsylvania firefighter i've been a firefighter since 2002. i'm a well-trained firefighter so i try to pass a lot of my hazmat training along for folks a lot of my basic fire training that includes ropes and knots um how to deal with a wide variety of situations so we deal survive and thrive is always free there's no profit ever and we really do help a lot of people we have meetings that are once or twice a month uh the next one is a wild foods and medicinal um tour uh for our plant and uh tree identification uh so we do a lot of wild foods identification uh uh growing food in small spaces how to store food by canning or jerking or different methods of drying how to grow sprouts growing sprouts right there so simple and can make the difference between life and death i mean sprouting just for using a juicer that's right as a matter of fact i just uh did sprouts in the juices that we made on this fast and sprouts are high protein they're high nutrient density foods uh people should definitely look into sprouts it's something i haven't mentioned much but we're going to talk about them and it's an excellent survival strategy if one has the uh the uh the functional instinct for self-preservation which not everyone does and that's okay it's okay to check out but for those who are not willing to check out without a fight um it's an excellent survival strategy you know you talk a lot about a lot of different things and one of the things i respect about you and your work mark is the esoteric um bigger picture uh when i talk to other people about you and your website um i tell them how you and i met at a 911 truth meeting on easter sunday that's right and i tell them that when i met mark pacio i already had a lot of the dots and i had them connected in some way but you pointed to me some outlying dots in the big picture and then connected them all with a sacred geometric pattern that made perfect sense so that's really um that's i think that that right there the freedom of consciousness is probably the most important thing we have going for us but there are those that are out to enslave us and i personally believe that there is a there are hard and soft hill operations soft kill operations in the form of small steady ways that sicken us weaken our wills and deteriorate our health hard kill operations are more direct blood sacrifice more direct war um that that are enacted by powers that be in groups entities uh that are uh bent on manipulation uh through for malevolent means so anything that i can do to help raise people's consciousness uh help you do your work help others do their work as long as you know it's it's it's moving in the same direction i'm uh i'm i'm dedicated to living the rest of my life that way fernando that is phenomenal and unfortunately that's all the time we have for this edition thanks so much for being a great guest on what on earth is happening we'll be sure to bring you back talk about survival skills on a future show ladies and gentlemen don't forget to check out survive and thrive meetup.com survive and thrive philadelphia region put dashes in between those words okay or just search for survive and thrive on meetup.com that's all we have time for this week folks we'll freedom man that's what it's all about you've got to groove on freedom like the good book says welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches its critical moment of choice and now here is your host mark pascio welcome one and all you are listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is dot com the network's website oracle broadcasting dot com today is sunday february twelfth two thousand twelve we have a fantastic show lined up for you here today we are going to have another very special guests come on the show today to talk about solutions mr franco eward from the radio show two guys one girl on the radio h2o network out of montreal quebec canada and today on the show franco and i are going to be discussing present moment awareness something we haven't really touched too much on on what on earth is happening yet but this is one of the most important solutions that we can employ to actually start to reverse the problems and consciousness that humanity is actually experiencing at this time in our history so that's coming up on what on earth is happening today on the show we're going to be talking about uh what present moment awareness is and how to actually stay rooted in it so that we are actually truly experiencing the now and that power of being in the moment in all of our actions and really maintaining that um full effect of truly being aware of our surroundings okay that's intimately tied in with higher levels of consciousness okay and how to get out of lower levels of consciousness so one of the most powerful and effective solution oriented approaches that we can employ in our own lives once again keeping with the themes that we've been discussing with in the solutions section something that we all have an enormous level of power and control over in our own lives if only we employ a bit of um understanding and then willpower to uh putting this uh type of solution into effect in our lives so that's coming up i do have a couple of very quick event announcements um the radio interview that i did with henrik palmgren for red ice radio is finally online it went up uh in the middle of this week this past week so you can check that out at redicecreations.com it's right there on the front page right now it was a two-hour interview the first hour is free the second hour is in the red ice members section one of the greatest repositories of knowledge on the internet i want to thank henrik palmgren again and you could also check that out on the home page of my website what on earth is happening.com or in the news section also the truth freedom prosperity documentary screening and discussion night last wednesday of every month this wednesday it's on the the leap day of this leap year 2012 february 29th 7 15 pm at media bureau studios in in philadelphia media pros at 7 25 north 4th street 7

15 p.m michael tosarions architects of control where you don't want to miss that one if you're in the philadelphia area we're coming up to our break we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen welcome back everyone you are listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening dot com today on the show special guest franco eward he's one of the co-hosts of the radio show two guys one girl which is broadcast from montreal quebec canada on the radio h2o network franco is going to be coming on the program today to discuss with me the topic of present moment awareness as one of the solutions to the consciousness problems in which humanity currently finds itself welcome to the show mr franco uard hi mark franco thanks so much for being here with us today oh i appreciate that and thank you for you to being on our show also for uh thank you you came last uh two times yes uh i was on in i believe it was uh late november and then um uh we just did a show this past monday on uh two two guys one girl and um i i believe the podcast will be posted shortly and when it is i will uh get it up on the wall on earth is happening website as well yeah actually it should be online uh tonight okay if i have the time okay since uh we have another show tomorrow so um i have to to put it online right but yeah a great show also we actually last week was pretty much the uh the well the prequel of what we can actually talk today uh about the the true moment present because last week we we actually talked about nutrition that's right and how to get your your your your whole body into into balance that's right that's what we discussed on franco's show this past week uh i will be returning to the topic of nutrition and uh coming up i believe as early as next week on the show i'm going to do an entire show just on juicing i'm going to take people through the process of juicing i'm going to actually share some recipes that i use i might do a hybrid show on juicing and raw foods okay so that's coming up on a future edition of what on earth is happening but today we're going to get into present moment awareness now i'm going to introduce this topic and then i'm going to turn the floor over to you franco and then you could take it from there because franco has prepared a tremendous amount of material he really knows this topic well and he's going to basically take us through an entire presentation on present moment awareness for the show so what we mean by present moment awareness is the understanding and this may sound like common sense to some individuals and it may even sound very foreign and alien to others who haven't explored this dimensionality of time as we experience it but when it really comes down to it ladies and gentlemen there is no such thing as the past or the future there is only the ever continuous present moment the eternal now in which we exist and everything unfolds in the past for all intents and purposes has already occurred it is over there is nothing that can be done to change anything that has occurred in the past we need to release attachment to that understand that that is what has occurred in the collapsed wave function that we have experienced as the present moment the future uh very similarly is not here yet it has not arrived the wave function that is the present moment has not collapsed to create the condition that is uh something that lays in the future so there is no point in being anxious and worrying over that because it is not has not actually occurred yet so we spend so much of our time staying in this uh imbalanced state of consciousness worrying or i should say regretting having regrets over what has already occurred which we cannot go back and change and having anxious anxiety anxious feelings over what is to come when that has not actually occurred or happened yet what we need to learn how to do and it sounds easier than it is to actually do is to stay rooted in the moment of the present the ever present moment of the now which is where all of our decisions that we can employ really ultimately take place it's where any action that we put into into practice into manifestation occur so franco from that building point i'm going to turn it over to you and you have more to say on this topic i think it's amazing the way you actually uh put it there because it's pretty much the way i wanted to show you everybody um i think i hope that we have all the time that we need to actually show you the whole stuff uh that have prepared uh it's a short six page of uh ages of uh tricks i think i can tell like a good uh like maybe a good starter point for you guys to actually um try to be in a present moment because you know our whole life right now is based pretty much on uh like thinking about the past thinking about the future and not being in the present moment and and and i think that like the the stuff that we're gonna actually gonna talk to you today will help you to go back to that to your roots to be like what's happening right now like right now when we actually talking to you right now what you what are you actually thinking are you listening to to us or are you actually listen uh thinking about oh what i should do after um should i go to do the grocery or did i did i forgot uh to do something uh like i don't know like uh in your house like when you're actually thinking about those things you're not in a moment you're not in a present moment so uh so i made a quick sheet um so in order to achieve like the the true the true moment prison the present moment um what it will give you at the end everything i'm talking about is all about my experience so i'm not asking you to actually believe in what i'm saying but do your own experience and i think that's the most important thing because some maybe some of the stuff that i'm gonna tell you in in the next minutes maybe it's not gonna be the right fit for you but just find your way find your way to actually uh make it work so for me to be in the prison moment uh it makes me uh to be a act i have my intuition uh very active since i'm no longer uh thinking uh when i say thinking it's just like thinking about the past or the future i'm just being in the present moment so my my my brain actually is uh is just like uh i'm just not thinking about anything in my head but because of that i let the uh left side of my brain my uh my uh my my intuition comes out and decide like tell me stuff or be careful some some of those things so um not thinking about the the future not thinking about the past you're here right now in french we actually say uh what is the lebanese happiness so for us the banner is is to be alabana so to be right now so happiness is right now like the the the the the the present moment is right now so uh being in the present moment means also working in conscience so when you're working on uh when you're actually uh working on something doing your work while trying to do it in the moment that in the present moment because it's that way your work will be like done the the the the the perfect like the nice nicest way that you that you can actually do because if you actually like for example building a a ring or building any uh crafting anything well if you're thinking about something else you're not gonna be able to to fully put like all uh all the attention that you actually need to your uh to your work that's right and attention as we've talked about many times on this show is actually what we need to focus in order to create something that we want to create so if we take attention away from something the creation that we uh bring forward is not going to be what we want we'll be right back after these words don't go anywhere ladies and gentlemen oracle broadcasting radio welcome back everyone i'm your host mark pacio and this is what on earth is happening today on the show i'm speaking with special guest franco eward of two guys one girl radio show out of montreal quebec canada and our topic today is present moment awareness now i don't know if anyone was able to uh tell but uh franco uh was on a line that had a little bit of background noise there because he was in a car um there were certain uh personal circumstances that he had attend to that unfortunately came up just before uh the show today so he had to uh drive someplace and was on his way back uh to his home where i'm gonna be able to bring him in on his connection on his computer i'm going to reconnect with him because he arrived at his home during the break and um i i dropped him from the call and i'm going to attempt to bring him back into the call in about a moment what i just want to say is what franco was touching on was taking our attention off of whatever work we may happen to be doing at any given time and i don't just mean you know any physical manual labor or what you're doing as a job i mean any task that you set your attention on to accomplish a goal if we get our attention and there's there's franco back on the line great uh finally i'm back in my studio so fantastic okay so franco do you want to pick it up from there you were talking about attention and how the focus of attention has to do with staying in the present moment yeah uh so i'm gonna give a little tricks for for the people so i think i i already talked to you about the carpman drama triangle i don't know if you're a listener are you used to that word um so it's created by stephen carp carp man in 1968 so pretty much what is that triangle it's pretty much what's happening in our world right now so to fully understand what is that triangle uh it's pretty simple so you get the three sides on the triangle which is the persecutor the rescuer and the victim so uh persecutor uh pretty much you're gonna see it uh in your whole life it's um let's say for example that uh your your your wife uh she's actually late for something like for example uh you've been waiting for 15 minutes and then you told her like you're late and you you pointed you you you pointing to her like oh you're late and because of you i'm missing that that that and that so she's becoming the victim because you're actually like putting the blame on her and then uh she cut into emotion and then she turned it back to you like she and then she said no i'm not late it's because of or something or maybe she can turn it back to you saying like for example uh oh no it's your fault for for something and then she's taking the the persecute persecutor aside and then you're becoming the victim um there's also in some situation always a like a rescuer like some somebody in your life that you can save everything like like i'm the savior i'm coming here i can change the whole situation so he's coming try to like save the situation and usually that's the guy who's always getting uh screwed up because he's going back to the victim size because when he's trying to save somebody well he's going back to the victim so um so that triangle actually shows us like the whole world right now so there's always somebody to persecute uh somebody else there's always a victim and there's always like somebody who wants to save the world but before saving the trying to save the world right yourself save save yourself now so in that example so for example if like i'm persecuting somebody what's happening there's also another triangle that we call uh emotion discernment and judgment so if for example i'm telling you mark oh you you've been late for 15 minutes it's it's your fault what's happening you well you're feeling emotions you know you're getting maybe some some people if they're not in the present moment or they might be pissed and and when you get into your emotion what's happening you're losing your your discernment and judgment so you're taking actions with uh emotion when you shouldn't do that kind of action i know i know if you actually understand what i what i'm trying to say exactly because when we're simply in a reactive emotional state which often comes by chronically dwelling in the past or in the future we're not making informed decision making we're simply reacting you know we're we're engaged in the negative emotions of the midbrain of the uh limbic system and that's actually rooting us deeper in the base consciousness modality which then further imbalances our outward behavior exactly so with with that mind so you you actually see that you're losing uh two important stuff in your and you're actually uh in that situation so take an example of a from from now on when you go outside and you actually see people like complaining or try to to to to victimize some some some some people then you can actually just imagine the triangle and try to see where those people fit in so the goal in their in in that the exercise is pretty simple it's pretty much to uh being aware of that so when you're aware of of those triangle try to not be in that triangle try to uh to um for example in the example that i that i gave you that you let's say you talk to your wife and tell thing telling her you uh you know you're late uh i've been waiting for 15 minutes and because of you i will be late at work so the good way that you can actually see and now it's just uh we can say it's changing maybe the way to changing the words changing the way that uh that you communicate with the people so they don't feel victimized or they don't see if they don't feel uh persecuted so uh you can actually say like uh honey uh my time is running out you know i'm really feeling bad about this situation but uh i might get uh maybe something's gonna happen that might work so you don't pulling like the responsibility to the other person but you you put it inside you put it to yourself so this way uh you you're not going into those triangles and you're not putting the other person around you in those triangles so you're not keep putting that into a low mind just like you said mark sure because ultimately what this has to do with is maintaining a balance because the present moment and now you could look at as that is the balance point that is the zero point from which we should work from which we should take our actions from which our um uh thoughts and emotions and actions should spring from okay if we're again chronically living in a place that is in general not real it is an imaginary uh place the past and the future uh this is the power of the human imagination which is an incredibly important valuable and powerful uh gift that we possess but one of the downsides the consequences of such a powerful imagination is we can actually imagine things that aren't truly real and the past and the future are two of those things that can be imagined to take our attention and focus off of what our task is now and again it should also be understood uh this is another uh topic or uh point to bring up when we talk about present moment awareness is it doesn't mean obsessed with every single uh minutia with every minute detail of you know your your surroundings it's talking about maintaining general awareness by not living in the past or in the future by being here now so for example like if you're always thinking about the past well you're not aware of what's happening right now it's it's okay to know the past like like knowing your past makes you uh who you are right now how it can be in the future that's all fine you can it's important to know what's happening very important yes but you have to accept it you have to to make sure uh that doesn't uh like affect you in the in the future for example and and that's a good point for for example um let's say that you're not fixing stuff that from your past what's happening but sadly it will come back and come back and come back until you actually understand that's right it's happening and when you understand now you can move on and go further we have to confront the things that we did not cleanse purify and deal with in our own past okay and again as franco said natural law is going to keep bringing those same negative often negative experiences to us until we do deal with them and grow from that experience we'll be right back folks we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com today on the show talking with franco heward about present moment awareness and franco i just want to say uh you uh you scanned some of your notes uh for me earlier today and sent them over by email i don't know if you want me to attach any of these with the podcast that's up to you entirely i'm following along with some of these notes with you and they're very powerful you went over the triangle of persecutor victim and rescuer and i'd like to just comment on uh something that you have written here you gave the example of you know the blaming someone for for being late and uh you know saying because of you i will be late you know now um this situation actually occurred to me today okay um i had a radio interview which is why didn't even have the time to even fully go through these notes earlier because i was uh out this afternoon doing another radio interview for the show called the panic hour with n.a poe and steve miller and uh the video of that will be posted to on my website uh probably later this week uh it was a great show uh uh really fun and funny guys and um we did a show on mind control today between 1 and 3 p.m um i just you know made it back to the house around four to get ready for uh this show uh and the interview with franco but um before uh uh the show today uh the the panic hour show um barb was getting ready for for you know because she went with me and she was actually on the show with me and did a great job i have to say but she was running very late she woke up a little later um you know took a while to get her her shower and put her makeup on and get ready and i was kind of rushing her and saying hey these guys are dependent on us we're going to be late we're going to be late and i was getting angry because we were you know leaving you know what i considered very late we just barely got there on time as the show was beginning but um uh this situation happened to me earlier today and in my own mind and people you know i i have to be totally honest and tell you i have dark thoughts i get vindictive thoughts i'm not immune to any of this you know things can affect me just like they can affect anybody else i could even know it and still be affected by it you know so it's constantly a an internal struggle to walk uh that that path and uh you know do what you know is the correct thing to do while i'm sitting there in the car saying oh she's late and i'm getting i'm i'm kind of stewing and you know getting a little bit angry uh i'm thinking i what i should do this is my the ego in me you know chattering away and saying what you should do is you should make her be late for something that she uh finds important okay and i'm not going to do that i'm going to use my will to say what franco has listed here on his notes he says you know that's the bad situation that's how we shouldn't react to what we consider a time-bound situation we should the good way to approach it is saying uh you know we're kind of running late here you know missing something that uh you know it is i feel is important to me i i feel bad about this situation and i think you know you should you know employ some of your willpower to correct that and that's how i'm going to approach it i'm not going to be vindictive about it and try to you know do the same thing that was done that i didn't like because the golden rule is don't do just what somebody else happened to do to you that you didn't like treat them how you would rather be treated and uh that's a simple way to put into effect something that will have positive repercussions in the world and that's actually if you really think about it all tied up with the present moment see the ego is chattering to you saying here's what you should do in the future you have to bring yourself back into the present frank i want you to touch on that and then there's a second triangle that you go into further in your notes i'd like you to get into that as well sure sure but you got it exactly because the way if for example you're you were doing like you were saying to her like this is your fault and blah blah blah what's happening to her like in her head now she now her her mental her ego or whatever you want to call it now she's going to tell her more stories in her head saying like oh my god it's my fault oh my what i'm going to do and and and then you and then that uh like everything is falling down from from there so that little part she's no longer in the present moment because of that right it's a chain reaction it's a chain reaction exactly so one quick uh question i'm always asking myself and it's not uh new age stuff or maybe it's not like the secret book or any of that kind of crap it's uh i'm always asking that that question and the reason why i'm gonna ask you this question is because your ego and your mental can actually not uh answer it and prove me wrong it cannot answer it so my in every situation i'm always asking myself what will love do in that situation and then asking you the same freaking thing about what's happening with your in in your car um instead of like when you're you heard about your your your ego like saying oh you should do that that that and that ask yourself what would love do in that situation and then and then what's happening your ego will step apart and then you're going to be really focused in the right moment and receive the correct answer and that is the process that i had to go through internally today to say i'll i'm going to let this go i'm not going to react in the reactive mind in the reptilian mind and uh you know in a future situation you know i'll try to handle it better and i'm not going to attempt to do the same thing to somebody else just because you know what i perceived is that they did something that you know caused me a little bit of inconvenience and that's the whole point is to better your yourself better your own thinking about uh you know what happened to be uh actually occurring to you and to make the higher-minded choice yeah exactly so to go further uh the other triangle that i uh draw out by the way all the sheets they were for everybody so yes please if you can put it there on your website i will be more than happy if people can share this information or talk about it it's handwritten but your handwriting is pretty good i can understand everything you wrote here so all right perfect in the car my girlfriend was looking at the paper it's like you made a mistake here it's not that word it's that word and that i was like honey well that's okay if you want to send any uh written material as well i'd be happy to post a pdf or you know a word document whatever you want however you want it sure sure right so no problem so um so the other triangle we talk about emotion uh discernment and judgment so let's say uh again again in your car uh you took that uh decision like uh well let's say instead of uh not saying anything you wanted to tell us something okay so the first like where did you feel exactly like that the where where was the emotion on your body um i would say in the torso you know but uh again i'm just thinking in the mind you know i i the the physical reaction i guess within the the the center part of the body the torso the silver plexus area the gut you know tightening up i guess you know that would have to be my answer that's a perfect answer you got one golden star for that um so yeah so all your like for everybody pretty much everybody your emotions what's happening when you you have like a situation like that you've been victimized or you want to pursue persecute somebody well your your your plexus uh you're like where is your chakra there is actually you're feeling bad there's something there that like your body is telling you something so if you always stay in your emotion you're losing the the two order uh important stuff which is the judgment and discernment and because of that well you're gonna make uh a call or you're gonna say something that since you're not centered well it might not be good so that's that's why it's important to actually identify like who's the persecutor who's the victim who's a rescuer and then from there um like ask yourself what's happening right now in my body like okay my emotions are way too hard right now so okay so i cannot discern and judge quickly so just step back like when you see the situation like just step back like slowly and ask yourself like i said before what would love do in that situation and i can tell you like mostly uh eight out of a ten it's always working you re like you coming down you you're going back to your to your roots and then you can actually think clear maybe you me maybe you're going to make a mistake later that's another story but like at that mo present moment you will think clear and you'll be able to make maybe a better uh decision so uh it's important to remember that the emotions are there to protect us against any uh any emotional threat uh it makes us remember previous similar reaction that your body used to protect the integrity of your being so sometimes you like your emotions it it it it's good in certain situation but uh it's important that when you see an emotion coming out try to step back to actually see where does it come from do you did you have something similar in the past if so then well how do you react in the past and then it makes you a clearer idea of what you can do so your discernment and judgment are are still there and then you can actually act upon and even if you uh perceive that you failed or you didn't make the highest minded choice in the past there's always the opportunity in the present moment to make a different choice and to make a better choice yes so we're coming up to another break franco uh phenomenal material uh the notes that you made here are great we have a lot more that we're going to go into on this topic and then we're going to open up the phone lines in the second hour take your calls with our special guest franco eward we'll be right back after these words ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio today on the show we're talking with franco eward of two guys one girl radio show out of montreal quebec canada the topic is present moment awareness franco you were talking about simply asking ourselves the all-important question what would love do in this situation and if people only took a step back in this time-bound culture in which we live in the illusion of time in which we live if to ask that question and then answer it honestly we would be able to step out of the ego and we would be able to truly live in the present moment and we would see that the problems that we experience in consciousness due to this time-bound awareness would slowly dissolve over time if we were able to simply put that uh into practice in our lives you want to pick it up from there sure sure so yeah it's it's a simple question and like i said it's not like a new age stuff it's it's pretty simple like like like we said before uh present moment everything's is simple like there's no complication like pretty much like all the complication comes from your head uh you've been talking about it like i think a couple of shows ago about the 666 666 versus the 777 uh the the the difference because the hell it's pretty much in our head right now so once you actually understand how your body works as you how your brain works well from now different from from from there you can actually move on and and really find out who yourself is uh is really well like who you are really you know that's right so uh got two questions for for you people uh the first one so can can you walk on the street and always looking behind you of course not you can see the obstacles that that shows in front of you and it could result by hurting yourself so it's pretty much like the the what i wanted to explain is don't say in the past because you don't see what's happening right now you know so be keep keep doing it in in the present moment and for the other example well the other question is can you walk on the screen and always looking out in the sky of course not because this same thing applies as the the first question you're going to see up you're not going to both see the obstacles so don't look in the don't look too far in the future and don't look at don't keep looking in the past be right now so this way you're going to be able to see every obstacle one by one and then work on it to make sure that it it doesn't come back after because the life is made is so well done that everything that you didn't fix in your past will probably come back even maybe more stronger uh later because the the life is very done well it is well done you know so uh my moral for that is looking for in in the in the present moment to see what's happening right now so uh i got a book that i will suggest to everybody who wants to to to to have more information about that the the order is uh eckhart tolle uh and the book uh in the book in english it's called the power of now so it's pretty much i don't know if you heard about that excellent book yes uh i'm very familiar with eckhart tolle's work and uh this is a great book he also wrote another one called a new earth which deals with present moment awareness definitely a uh critical author to check out his works on this topic in particular he also has a lot of videos and uh he has a lot of audio lecture series that uh he offers uh on uh um on mp3 um and an audio um cd so um eckhart tolle is somebody uh that i think people should definitely look at i would say uh you know he doesn't get into some of the other areas of the the control system and and uh you know uh top you know topics like mind control or anything like that but his present moment awareness material is essential to understand and take into yourself if you're really going to activate present moment awareness within yourself and understand what it's really about so on on that topic in particular i would say he definitely knows what he's talking about and i would definitely recommend his books yes so it's a good suggestion for you guys so now let's talk more about the brain so we have to understand how our actually our brain works so like i said it's it's my it's just my own uh um research that i'm actually talking to you uh so just do your own thing do you do you do diligence so making sure that you actually understand fully what i'm saying because even if i say it you really need to live the experience so the mental so now i'm going to talk to about the the left side brain so uh actually in french i call it also which is the mental some people are actually saying the the ego um so um in the hollywood movies you actually sometimes you see you see that like you have a little devil on one side and then get the angel on one on the other side exactly well it's close to the truth so uh let's talk about the the left side brain so the left side brain is uh um like like i said like it's your little devil on your shoulder so he's always trying to rationalize things he's uh always making you doubt like are you sure did you think about you know he always make you doubt uh it doesn't feel any things uh he's insecure sometimes brought to fears doubts confusion control that's an important point envy etc so that's your left side of your brain so uh we actually need this part because it's actually pretty important in our in like to be in balance we actually need because that's right it's where rational and logical thinking are are made possible from in the physiology as well exactly exactly so you actually need that because if you only on one side then for sure you're going to get uh screwed by any any situation so the mental is uh what the way i sit you it can only seize in three dimensions so the dip depth width and hate i'm that uh yeah yeah that's too much height depth width and height exactly thank you so uh so if the mental is confronted to a situation that he can explain the first thing you will try to uh uh to do is to actually create uh like a uh uh psychological phenomena box to find a rational explanation to this situation so for example uh i don't know um something uh like something's happening like a supernatural and your your your brain can act actually uh your mental cannot actually explain it so he's gonna find to uh he's gonna find trying to find a way to actually make it uh explain let's say uh a spectacular ufo sighting that can't be explained by any human technological means something like that yeah so for any reason the mental can explain it so what what's gonna do why are you gonna then you're gonna start to um having a fear since because you your your body uh there's a doesn't like something that that he doesn't know and you know i think you you yeah i think you're okay with that too fear of the unknown it's one of the most deeply rooted fears and something that absolutely will take us right out of the present moment and get us rationalizing yeah but what what's happening when you actually beating that fear is after that you no longer fear so you no longer staying in that side of the brain because you actually know right so uh so it's normal it's normal that your your your left side brain actually uh uh like it it's it's it's okay because it's rationalized he can give you likes sometimes he's gonna make you dumb we're making sure that you actually uh that you're actually sure that you're making the good decision but it's not good to actually stay in in that uh and that in that part of the brain so um imagine now that your brain your left side brain uh is a horse and you're the the knight on it uh if you if you're not trying trying to guide it and controlling it uh like controlling the mounting what will happen your horse will be excited and run everywhere and make it and maybe take roads that you probably never wanted to go there so it's the same thing with your left side brain the the actual the goal here is making uh having a true balance so uh not giving the whole power on your on your left brain but also to your right brain that's right and unfortunately this is the biggest level of chronic imbalance that we as a society are in a left-brained chronic modality which again as franco said will actually imbalance the entire uh human being it'll imbalance the entire brain and if we don't lend the balance to that dynamic of the logical rational left side of the brain with the intuition and compassionate nature of the right side of the brain we are going to be out of balance as an individual and as a society exactly so to go further with that in your life you can only control four things that's only four things you get that you can actually control in your life your action your thoughts your voice and your decision that's the only thing you can actually control in your life and let me give you an example mark uh you don't even have control to your to your body you know why because for example stop eating for a couple days and tell me how your your body is gonna react that's the thing so your body cannot you cannot even control your body so and so if you cannot control your body how you want to control your your like your whole life right that's it those are the three things that we basically have control over our thoughts our emotions and our decision making for our actions those are the only three things so we're coming up to another break franco stay with us and we'll be right back after these words ladies and gentlemen talking with franco eward of two guys one girl radio show out of montreal quebec canada we'll be right back welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark pascio my website is what on earth is happening dot com the show is live every sunday from 5 to 7 p.m east coast time today on the show we're talking about present moment awareness as one of the solutions to the problems in consciousness which humanity currently faces my guest is franco eward of two guys one girl radio show out of montreal quebec canada franco we were talking about the left side of the brain and i'm really i'm so glad that you brought up brain function and how this fits into present moment awareness because present moment awareness is one of the things that we can learn as a brain balancing technique so i'll let you pick it up from there for sure well we actually like i said like we we've been talking that in the past about the how have like a balance into your body but your brain needs also to be balanced like what your mind needs to be to be in in balance so we've been talking previously just before the break about the the there's only four things that you that you can actually control in your life and like if you try to control somebody else then you're trying to take their powers that that's pretty much what's happening because in your life you're just supposed to uh control your action your thoughts your voice and your decisions so why trying to control everything around you when you don't have power over that that's pretty much simple as like that try to control your own thing first and then you're gonna be able to see other stuff but uh don't try to control the whole world when you can't so if you cannot control your whole body for like i said like uh you're stopping eating for a couple days what's that what's gonna happen your body is gonna tell you like dude uh you don't want to feed me up i i'm gonna react uh like uh in a way that you're not gonna like same thing if you don't wanna go to uh to the bathroom if you decide to not go to the bathroom don't worry about that your your whole system is gonna show you how does it work and it's gonna go out no matter what so uh that's pretty much what i have right now for for the left side brain let's go back let's go now to the right side brain which is the um i call it the intelligence of the heart or the into a intuition so uh that's a great way of putting it people think that intelligence only lies in the brain but that's not true that's lopsided intelligence uh holistic intelligence actually deals with the heart in conjunction with the mind so that's a phenomenal way of putting what the right brain is all about the intelligence of the heart i really like that thank you thank you so so so the way i see it so the weight of the way of the heart usually shows up as a failed uh feeling intuition and sometimes as uh like people now if we go back to the hollywood movies uh it's associated with the with the angel on the on the left shoulder no like you can't just like you shouldn't do that and then when you're actually doing it then you receive it uh you receive a message back saying like i told you that you shouldn't do it why because your left brain i mean sorry your right brain was actually like talking to you saying like this is not the good that you shouldn't do that like he's trying to like telling you something that you you couldn't you couldn't understand because why because you you were not in the present moment and you were pretty much on your left side of the brain because you're the left side of the brain which is a mental for me so it was telling you like no you should do that and it was actually creating you like a super nice movie and that big movie was only in your head when the reality well your left your right side brain was actually trying to tell you like look dude um this is weren't that the good solution over here but and and that's because the right side of the brain represents our compassionate nature our emotions our intuition and our conscience ultimately exactly so uh yeah like you said like uh love compassion peace joys joy serenity fullness respect gratitude creativity etc so this was the short segment at the top of the hour i'm going to give the call-in number on the other side of this break because i want to have some people start to call in to get some questions ready for our guest franco heward ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting network with my special guest from montreal quebec canada franco eward we'll be right back after these words welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening today on the show we're talking with franco eward on the topic of present moment awareness i'm going to give the call-in number because i want some people to call in and let's uh have some questions ready for our special guest franco eward the call-in number for today's show is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the call in number eight six six eight four one one zero six five the topic present moment awareness call in get in the queue i'll bring you on to fire off some questions for our special guest franco you were talking about the right side of the brain the qualities of the right brain hemisphere and how that fits into present moment awareness so you could pick it up from there yes so like i said before uh we talk about love compassion peace joy serenity fullness respect gratitude creativity so that part of the brain is pretty much important and we can even go further than that uh all the um for example like uh all the uh spiritual sites uh spirituality stuff uh can be uh used from from that side of the brain for example uh channeling uh we talk about uh clairvoyance which which is um uh some not predicting something but you know when you see um you can see a kind of future but it's not really the future but you can see stuff like reading auras uh from from people out the uh uh everything that the the the left brain cannot explain where you can actually do it with the left brain with the right brain sorry so uh when i'm for for example um uh i was talking to you like in my show in montreal that me and my girlfriend we actually uh develop a lot of uh uh telepathic uh communication between me and her because our link is pretty strong and uh sometimes like for example out of nowhere i'm thinking about something and since she's connected to me uh well she's bringing bringing me the stuff like right in front of me and it's vice versa some stuff like like stuff like that for example you actually shaking a hand to somebody and then certainly you feeling something about this person why because you actually being in the present moment that's right since you're not using your your left side brain well your your right side is actually giving you probably more stuff that you you shouldn't know you're receptive to that signal that comes through wordlessly it's not communication through language it's communication through direct experience a one-to-one channel of communication and that's what balance in the right brain hemisphere opens us us opens us up too exactly and and that's what's happening right now that nobody wants you sadly like like they never want you to actually reach that that level why because they can give you more control like they can have like more control of you and because of that you're like if you're not in that like a present moment well you're you might give your power away to somebody else so by by being in the present moment by being like a tree truly yourself being in the present moment like right now and well nobody can steal your your you're actually your power you will you're you're you're thinking right you're thinking clear and then from there you can take proper uh action excellent franco we do have a caller on the line would you like to go to a call and then what i want to do later in the show is i want to get into actual techniques that you feel could be beneficial for helping us to experience the present moment get into uh the present moment awareness and get out of that time-bound awareness which actually holds us back so would you like to take a phone call right now of course great okay here we go this is chris from ottawa a fellow canadian you're on what on earth is happening with our special guest franco eward welcome chris yeah hello um i must say i'm a phd psychologist and i've studied mystical teachings in modern science for over 40 years especially the issue of consciousness and i disagree with absolutely everything your guest is saying um the consciousness of love and creativity and and the heart and conscience is not up in the right brain it has to do with the psychology of the heart and mystics say that self-realization which is waking up in your essence involves the disillusion of the false mind into the lotus of the heart the ego whether left brain or right brain it's still part of cognitive functioning and your true self is within the heart and deeper states consciousness has to do with the awakening of the heart and not to do with the uh functioning of the right hemisphere this is complete policy i i think what's being said is that the balancing of the brain opens up that pathway to make the connection to the heart it's it's a communication that is taking place between the brain and the heart no one is saying that the act all of that function and and the the essence of that state of consciousness lies in the specific specifically in the physiology of the brain they're saying that the physiology of the brain makes possible that experience and if we bring that into balance with certain brain balancing techniques we can open up that communication and experience that heart-based consciousness that you're speaking of exactly i still completely disagree with what you're saying the weight of the consciousness of the heart you are already established in the consciousness of the heart and you don't get there through a mental approach you have to in your present awareness you need to connect with your blood flow because your consciousness in your body has to do with the blood flow in your body and your consciousness isn't all up in your head it's all through your body related to your blood flow well i i would have if that technique worked for you and going into that place space directly i think that's wonderful that you did not have to go through that uh sort of linear process of uh engagement in the mind in order to do that i can say that i'm a living example of that transformation in consciousness that did happen in the way that you're saying that it's it it is not possible to happen because i did do it through cognitive functioning and understanding uh and taking in knowledge through the mind to transform that level of consciousness to uh emerge in heart based consciousness it did actually occur for me personally in that way so i would say maybe for some it may work differently than others so i'm not saying i'm not dismissing your experience and saying it can't happen that way i personally think it happens that the way you're describing it much less frequently than it does through uh the cognitive awareness approach uh because most people are already rooted in a left brain modality that's how it happened for me i'm so i'm i'm saying that i don't believe that uh it is impossible to do it that way i know it's possible to do it that way but if it works in the direct approach that you're talking about i wouldn't be dismissive of that and i would say if that worked for a certain individual uh wonderful well maybe i can add something to you sure to to to to the topic and by the way thank you very much for having that question because it's okay i'm like like i said i might not hold the whole the truth you know be do your home diligent like do your own work and that's perfect like the way you actually brought it it's good and maybe the way i can actually answer that uh when i heard two voices i'm always hearing two voice i had my voice in my head which is i call it the mental and then when i go back to my heart the other voice is actually somewhere around that but when i'm talking about both ranks uh like like i said like the right right right for me pretty much is connected to the yard so maybe you're hearing from your your like from down there and which is good because i'm actually hearing also from that part of the of the body but franco hold that thought right there and callers hold on the line we still have a couple more callers we'll get to your calls after this next break we'll be right back world's first and only swiss goal all right folks we're back this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com we're discussing present moment awareness with our special guest from canada franco eward franco i'm gonna let you uh respond to chris from ottawa's call i'll continue with your thoughts on that and then we have a few other callers still holding on the line to ask you some questions excellent so chris you're still there oh chris is no longer there oh yes i am i think okay okay okay okay so if i understand correctly what you've been saying because i want to learn too see uh so what you're saying is that like the the the brain the mental is one part and then the art is uh like when we're talking about being in your heart is downstairs right the self is within the heart the ego is within the mind in the head okay that's that concept is in the vedic yogic teachings kabbalah unnecessary judaism christianity secret doctrine of blavatsky and elsewhere the the jews say that the truth is under your nose all the time meaning it's within the heart well yeah the truth within your heart that's right but i'll email you franco i i have a book published called of the heart doctrine mystical views of the origins and nature of human consciousness i think thanks for being open to my critique and and i'll email you and give you a connection to my ancient egyptians are in the mystery school traditions out of ancient egypt also viewed the heart as the center of the soul as well the seed of the soul yeah like and weighed the heart upon death right well right now the only part we actually talk is about the brain i didn't talk yet about the heart because what you've been saying right now is absolutely true because i've been using the same thing too but it's important also to know exactly what's happening in to the brain so yeah very interesting to read about your book so you can just actually send it to uh like send me an email at info radioh2o.ca and we'll be more than happy to actually talk to uh uh talk more about that because for sure like when i know right now what i am right now will be different in two days in in 10 minutes because i might i might know something in my opinion might change like hour after hour so for sure exactly frank i'm going to uh bring on another caller we still have several other callers waiting on the line to uh ask you some questions so here we go caller from the three zero four area code you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest franco heward hello this is uh bill billy is who he was looking for uh 304 area code yes you're on the line you have a question for our guest okay well i actually i want to verify i verify what your guest is saying and i'll back up what you said and chris i believe he's probably like like your uh caller said earlier speaker said that he's probably right but as in my present day awareness uh i hope that he learns today that his present day awareness is able to change too i fractured my skull in 1986. the fracture was on the right side i've been left-handed all my life the fracture started at the base of the ear and went to the top of my head and i was in a coma for 10 days wow actually 10 days in one hour when i woke up out of a coma i looked around and the room was full of family and i thought what in the world's going on here i know i was in the hospital because i've been there before and what it was my left brain kicked in gear who had been my buddy all my life because i i always said i was kind of like a bipolar closet case no harm in it except that i had this guy i talked to all the time and i think it come from being basically left-handed at the beginning in a right-handed world where my father and everybody tried to teach me to be left-handed well they created this left brain entity i call them phil and philip that's why now my name is phil billy i woke up out of this coma an hour after i was due to be unclubbed and since then it's been 25 years i have been working all this out and i am to the point where i used to say from my heart i'm speaking the truth now i say from my present day experience i'm speaking my truth so i am i am only speaking from today's present-day experiences and i'm able to grow tomorrow sure because what what the past is is nothing more than the steps of what we take to get here today and mark i want to say that you're bri you're brilliant in what you say and and you'll hear from me again now that broke out of my closet well i appreciate that i always had this guy that i always had this guy kept in the closet and he was my other ego like bipolar opposites twins right because i was born in gemini sign and i've always accredited that extra voice to the other guy and we'll talk again but i ain't going to type too much more time but i just want to verify what your your host is or what the host said and what your speaker is saying fantastic phil thanks so much for a great call uh franco you want to comment on that and then we'll go to some other callers well it's actually amazing and i honestly uh you i can actually sense that this guy is a wonderful guy with a big heart and he works hard see it takes takes a lot of courage to woke up from a coma and then move on from from from from from what happened in the past sure and oh no amazing and this guy i sent him i sent him all my my heart my love to this guy he deserve it and i know that he will he will live well for for the rest of his life for sure right here we go caller from the 610 area code a fellow pennsylvanian you're on what on earth is happening with our special guest franco eward welcome hey mark it's fault walt fantastic this is uh walter rhodes he's been a guest on what on earth is happening before he's a personal friend of mine walt do you have a question for franco no i just have um i just have something to to comment on sure um so there's the left there's the left side of the brain that's logic and then there's the right side of the brain which is emotion compassion then there's something that you need to develop which is the observer the watcher the one that isn't pulled either way the one that completes the trinity right that completes the human being that completes the maturity and that's timely matter timeless awareness right right doesn't matter left side the right side you know where the heart is you know none of that really makes a difference but you have to complete the race right in order to progress it's it's it's about the unity between all of those things and that uh observer consciousness that that thing that steps back and can see the entirety of the experience is what time-bound awareness is uh i'm sorry non-time-bound awareness timeless awareness is actually all about and that's what pure consciousness actually is it's also what the the moment present present moment it is there's no time it's right oh that's it walt uh great points uh do you have anything else yeah and it um basically after you've you've developed this this observer you have to use this this point of view let's say to go over all the incidences of your life and put them in perspective from a higher perspective absolutely it's that's what true self-reflection is all about and uh when we become uh contemplative and reflective of ourselves that's when we're really growing and that's when we're evolving and that's when we're entering higher states of consciousness uh sadly you know oftentimes in our culture too few people want to do that work upon themselves because they're afraid of what they might discover but uh that um that process of discovery is the most rewarding thing we can undertake absolutely well thanks thank you so much for a great call man uh always a pleasure to hear from you we'll hang out again soon all right brother all right talk to you later man take care man franco your thoughts yeah one thing i can actually add about that is um in french we call it the the mewari inside so it's uh uh like everything pretty much in your life could be like a mirror so let's say you have a situation somebody is against you or telling you some stuff well try to contact the truth on there what's happening what's reflecting to you what what do you have to to work on that and sometimes you will find stuff that you could never imagine that your body will actually want to tell you exactly so we'll take another couple of calls on the other side of the break then we'll get back into some techniques that we can employ and maybe even go through a eyes it's what sentence see when he looks at it with the sunglasses he's seeing the same things all the way through the subliminal psychology you couldn't see obey no independence welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening dot com talking today with special guest franco eward from montreal canada on the topic of present moment awareness franco would you like to go back to the phones we still have a couple of callers on the line and then uh later in the show we're going to get into a simple exercise that people can take themselves through to uh help uh get in rooted uh into the present moment of course of course let's go to the phones brian from washington you are on live on what on earth is happening with our special guest franco eward welcome yes how you guys doing today uh i i decided to take you take a cue from your uh you're uh referencing the cartman drama triangle and i looked this up on i looked up the wikipediapedia entry for more details on that and what it is appears to be you're talking about a person being a victim a persecutor and a rescuer seems to be uh situations where i and i've been in in them and get in them at times where where it isn't clear who i mean the roles in this drama are are entangled in such a way to where it's unclear as to actually who who's the person doing the action in any given situation and you also have people who have covert motives who don't really admit uh or you can't approach someone and say well you know what are you doing here you know what's your what's your role in being here and they won't tell you the truth you know and it's like and it's like in that situation situations i've been in where it's like where it's like being kind of in the dark about about um when when i know personally there's things i that i've changed in the past that got me into problems you know that i don't want to repeat you know certain behaviors and certain attitudes and stuff you know but um then when you're in then you're when you're relating to someone having a discussion or a relationship and and you and you're with someone who's got another uh card to play that they're not showing then then i've often wondered you know is it really that simple when people aren't being honest or trying to shield even their emotions from you when they're you know when you're asking them well what are you doing here you know why do you need to be here you know for whatever purpose you know and it's like in a society that that has a lot of uh uh um societies currently that has a lot of things hidden from the average citizen as to as to what is going to what people may do what people will do and what to do to protect yourself you know what i'm saying i mean i'm not saying that's really a question but it's just ideas to put out there maybe you can comment on that franco your thoughts yeah uh happened to me also a lot uh sometime there's a situation you you it will be cloudy but at the end like if you if you're getting like if if you have the minding of of that triangle that's already a very good first step because you will be able to step aside and try to look and in the present moment you're gonna feel it you're actually gonna see like oh my god this person's acting like this and this and that and maybe it's just the experience like uh further that you you're gonna you see the things you you're gonna be able easily to identify uh who's the persecutor who's the savior who's the and then you you'll be able to to to act on it and and it's going to be important for you after that and the choosing properly the word making sure that you're not joining that triangle so but i'm not telling you telling that that is actually easy to do at the very beginning it took me probably uh with my girlfriend probably a good year and year and a half to fully understand and fully uh act upon but it's it's practicing pretty much uh making sure that you you you take a look at this all the situation if you go to a court for example for you going to a court uh the judge actually the the persecutor like uh that the the guy behind with the with the with the lawyers is the victim you can actually see like triangle pretty pretty simply so just something just go outside go outside uh take a look at the people and look at them how they react each other and then you're going to be able to easily like identify who's who's and where they are playing which role right exactly and from there you're going to be able when you're going to go back in that situation then you're going to say oh my god i i'm i'm that kind of person right now then you realize and when you realize then you can actually step back and then try to diffuse the situation caller thanks for your thoughts and now let's go to another call 617 area code i love that there's so many callers and that this is a popular topic because this is critical to understand and it's uh one of the things that we all have within our power to work on upon ourselves to become uh truly in the now in the the present moment and that's one of the things that can help balance ourselves center ourselves and really get us out of the time-bound awareness that leads to so much imbalanced behavior in our world so this is one of the most critical solutions to understand at a fundamental level so uh great that we're getting so many calls on this topic uh here we go caller from the 617 area code you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest franco eward welcome hey guys how's it going great good i just wanted just wanted to share something this might be old hat for uh franco but um just wanted to say there's a whole uh fascinating research literature out there on exactly what you're talking about with this present moment awareness under the name of mindfulness in uh the psychological literature and um it's been essentially what you're saying i mean it's a sort of a relaxed moment to moment non-judgmental awareness of what's going on and uh you know when coupled with relaxation techniques has been found to be very effective at things for example like decreasing chronic pain symptoms with uh decreasing symptoms of depression and anxiety uh which really um again it's it's fascinating that these topics especially uh on this show that keep coming up have their parallels and um you know sort of the harder research areas that are coming more and more of this is coming to light that these are tools that can be used to enhance positive adaptive coping and positive well-being so i was just wondering to what degree uh franco you've seen uh you've seen this literature people like marsha lenahan um stephen hayes john cabot zinn uh sort of overlapped some of the buddhistic meditation literature but yeah i mean a lot of what you're saying is very much uh is very much legitimate uh from my own research so i was just curious to what degree you've seen that that's a great question caller franco do you want to comment on who some of the researchers are that you've uh taken some cues from on this topic to be fully honest i don't know at all all those person i've actually not uh been familiar with the ones that the caller just mentioned but uh i you know i have heard of eckhart tolle who speaks on this topic rahm das his phenomenal uh book his you know great work be here now is something everyone should be familiar with uh i've personally looked into some of the research of deepak chopra and wayne dyer and people like stuart wilde and other uh researchers who talk about this aspect of consciousness and staying rooted in the present moment their work has been very critical very very invaluable to me on my personal journey uh do you have any other names frank like you'd like to add to that list for uh uh listeners to uh research on their own and take a look into for sure well pretty much like all the the research i've been uh studying it's pretty much in french so obviously like maybe that uh those people will actually like that the book i read uh probably um that they also have based uh on what you what the college has said before uh but uh for french people there's my one of my friends sylvain pacquiao uh who said uh who have their website uh kids immorial.ca so i'm gonna write right down into the chat room uh he's having a book uh talk a lot about the spirituality and uh mind techniques and buddhist techniques uh there's also a dtc which is a conf conference person who's talking about the buddhists and the meditation stuff and true present moment awareness um but to be fully honest if you have the document i would be more than happy to actually read it especially if it joins what actually what i'm saying uh like most of the stuff that i've been talking about it's uh i've been like uh like i said like uh like the truth it's in your in you it's not like mostly like outside trying to truth inside you and pretty much like what i've been doing for the past three years uh lots of stuff is based on meditation um connecting myself to my higher self and trying to getting an answer from from from from my higher self so maybe most of the stuff that i've been talking uh reflecting maybe some research but i would be more than happy if i can have like access to those documents for sure well franco any resources that you want to make available with the podcast of this episode which will be uh episode number 95 you're more than welcome to send my way and i'll link them or post them right directly to the uh what on earth is happening website for uh viewers to take a look at with this podcast for one that the caller you're still there oh no he is not okay but when he was talking about the uh the effects on your body like uh uh treating some uh disease and stuff like that when you are in a in a true prison moment uh you can actually ask yourself like what's happening in your body and your body is one he's gonna actually answer that's right the body will always tell you everything that you need we talked about that a couple of weeks ago on the show and it's very true franco someone said in the chat room the present moment is a gift and that's why it's called the present absolutely so we'll take one more call on the other side of the break and then we'll let franco wrap up and do a an experiment welcome back everyone this is the final segment for this edition of what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website is what on earth is happening.com talking today with franco eward of the website of the radio show two guys one girl on the radio h2o network out of montreal quebec canada our topic is present moment awareness franco uh what do you say we take one more call and then we can get into the uh little uh exercise uh that you wanted to uh take listeners through to help guide them uh into getting into the present moment a little exercise that they can all perform uh whenever they feel that they need to do that to uh to get centered and rooted in the present moment excellent okay here we go uh caller from the 267 area code i believe that's right out of here in philadelphia you're live on what on earth is happening welcome um hi is that me marcus sarai hey siree how you doing hi how are you good good um let's see since um like since we were talking about how to be like in the present moment um wouldn't it behoove us also to look at the past as well so we don't repeat the same mistakes in this moment and in the future um since humans normally tend to forget stuff from like generation to generation and repeat the same mistakes i would think it would also i would think that you know like i said before behoove us to remember the past so that we don't repeat those same mistakes again like i just wanted to know your thoughts on that i'll comment on that first and then i'll turn that question over to you franco i think the past is absolutely essential to have a working knowledge of because if we don't as you've said that old axiom is absolutely true those who do not understand the past will be doomed to repeat it because they will not see the failures of our ancestors and what things that they did incorrectly in consciousness the actions that they took that they should have made better decisions upon why those failures happened and uh take measures in order to correct those failures in the now in the present moment now that doesn't mean dwell on the past that doesn't mean obsess on it that means learn it understand what occurred understand where the failures were made and then take the corrective measures in the present moment to to uh actually take action and uh reverse those failures uh to br bring about a better tomorrow so franco your thoughts on that well uh i think you're absolutely right you need you need to be aware of what's happening in the past like i said before um also like like like i said like if if you don't understand we'll come back and maybe we'll come back stronger and stronger and stronger until that you're you're reaching a breaking point that you don't have the choice to actually understand and make it pass through or you're going to leave the the plan you're going to leave here that's right plain and simple so that's how natural law functions it brings us what we need to learn and grow and if we ignore those things they're going to keep repeating and keep repeating and we're going to go through actually higher levels of suffering if we keep ignoring the lessons that those that wave function of time was bringing to us in the present moment as a gift as a as a an opportunity to learn and grow we can't keep slapping that away out of the hand of the universe and saying no we don't want that no we don't want that eventually we're going to be made to face ourselves we're going to be made to confront the darkness that lies within ourselves and uh have to go through that painful lesson so ignoring it is not the answer working through it in the present moment is the answer and even i will push it further for me i actually firmly believe that about about the reincarnation and so in my thinking like the way i i see it is when you come unheard you actually have a plan some somebody call it the uh uh i don't know how to say it in english but you kind of have like a plan you actually wrote it down before you come here so if you're not executing the plan that it is actually made that you that you your soul actually made it for you to actually leave it here well if you not complete it what's going to happen is you're probably going to repeat it in your next life so maybe it answered um some of the question of the of the caller um but yeah you have to like if you're not fixing it now you you're going to have it you're going to have to fix it a way or not absolutely so sorry thank you for the great question and i hope that answers your question franco um we have about five minutes left on the show so why don't you take uh listeners through the exercise that you have planned to show them to uh help ground them in the present moment and we'll let you wrap up with your thoughts after that your final thoughts actually i have two two really quick sure the first one uh i took it from uh from a class uh that i have with the uh the buddhist uh priest so pretty simple uh the way to realign your left side and your right side brain uh into uh one one big brain uh taking your two hands like you're like let's say for example you you want to pray but you're taking your two hands and put it right uh up to your plexus uh keep it there for almost like let's say uh 10 to 12 seconds don't think about anything just like relax and just put your both hands there and you will see well actually when i'm doing that i'm going back grounding back to my present moment uh sometimes we do doing it with the with the kid uh actually taking it for the kid is actually taking uh seven seconds when he's way too excited uh the kid my kid is actually like doing a lot of meditation with me but when she's doing that oh my gosh she's going back to a true uh prison moment uh within her and it works very well um so just try it at home and tell me later if it's working or not second thing we've been talking about a little bit about meditation but for me the meditation is something like is actually like helping me to bring me peace in me uh clear my mind uh able to to use both sides of my brain at the same time give me access to a higher conscience so if i want to contact something else like maybe maybe higher my higher soul well i will try to do it with meditation so simple exercise like i said mark was he's gonna bring it uh put it on on the website um so i just sit down relax to a quiet place uh put the relaxing song for example uh uh playing putting some back music like a air orchestra suite um so when i start to play the play that song i close my eyes real simple uh i imagine the stair so i just like uh i started going down and i slowly i walked down the stairs and every time i'm i'm reaching a stair i'm just like removing like a something that bothers me so i'm just like removing all my metals inside me each tape each step that i'm doing uh so yeah i'm removing a problem a problem at the end of the stairs i see a door so it's a it's a big uh pinky uh crystal door and from when i see that door well uh the i can talk more the crystal later but i go through that door and when i go through that door uh i find out my inner temple uh from there uh i imagine that i sat down again and i just making my mind free so i don't think about anything i just make peace i send love if i want to send love to somebody like uh sending care about somebody and just sending love right there i just imagine the the person giving them a big hug and after i've done that in silence you can do it for x number of minutes i just step back i imagine i step stepping up back going back to the door and slowly uh walking the stairs up to my conscience and then when i'm back to my conscience i slowly opening my eyes and then i can really feel like more more calm and more in the present moment so that's it franco that's fantastic and that's a very simple visualization exercise that anyone can do when they feel that they are being pulled out of the present moment and taken into that time-bound fight-or-flight awareness that is all too common in our present culture so you do a simple exercise like that a visualization exercise that will root you in the present moment that will ground you that will center you and again as franco eloquently put it it will take you into your inner temple and that's where the work ultimately needs to be done so frank i'll let you a wrap up there's a about a minute left on the show you can uh take us out with whatever words you have for the listening audience please give them your website let them know when your show is on and on the floor is yours to end the show for sure so my name is franco eward i have a show called two guys one girl in french uh sadly for you for most of the people but still it's on the h2o radio network so it's a radio h2o.ca my show is on the um every mondays from 8 to 10 pm but i also have a daily show called the h2o show monday to friday uh from 1 pm to 3 p.m eastern time so please join if you want to join us you're more than welcome it has for my final word pretty simple uh be in your heart uh we've been talking a lot about the the the mental the ego uh the left side of the brain right side of the brain but be in your heart and ask yourself what the love will do in that situation and this is ignorance and with that in mind you can't go wrong you know that's that'll never leave you wrong if you ask that question and follow where it leads frankie franco thank you so much for being a phenomenal guest here on what on earth is happening we'd be glad to have you back anytime ladies and gentlemen that's all the time we have for this edition we'll see you here next sunday at 5 p.m eastern time stick around on oracle broadcasting chris average is up next continuing our ongoing discussion about solutions to the problems that humanity faces and as part of that one of the biggest solutions we've been talking about is getting your body into a proper state of health and homeostasis so we're going to be continuing talking about nutrition today on the show but specifically today i'm going to talk about raw foods and juicing it's going to be a dual show today we're going to have the first hour dedicated to or maybe even a little bit more than the first hour dedicated to raw foods and then the remainder of the show to juicing so the these are two of the things that we can take charge of and actually really get a hold of our health using our own willpower it's something that everybody has within their capability of doing if they apply themselves so that's coming up on the show today i want to thank franco heward for being on the program last week on present moment awareness it was a great show people should check it out in the archives i will be returning to that topic and combining it with the other solution of mindfulness which goes hand in hand with present moment awareness on a future show i do have a couple of quick event announcements so i i'm gonna be on three different radio programs coming up this week uh i will be on a show called grow it build it live it uh that will be on um that will be on tuesday evening uh from i believe um 10 10 p.m east coast time to midnight east coast time i'll post more uh information on the show on the uh the website about the show i'm also going to be on the vinnie eastwood show will be on down the rabbit hole with popeye of federaljack.com so that should be a great show as well also um coming up at the end of this month the last day of february on the leap day of this leap year february 29th truth freedom prosperity will be hosting their monthly documentary screening and discussion evening this month at media bureau studios on 4th and brown in philadelphia will be showing architects of control great documentary by michael casarion and henrikh palmgren that's it media bureau studios wednesday february 29th at 7 15 pm for more information visit truthfreedomprosperity.org we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen i was born a shotgun in my hands behind [Music] you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com i'd like to uh send everyone up to the website to check out the images for today's show there as always posted with the show on the radio show page right underneath the player you can see the um numerical links listed if you click on any one of them it will bring up a little slideshow and you could follow along with what i am talking about uh on the show today so image number one what we're we've been talking about is solutions and i just call this entire section the way out it's the way out of the lower modalities of consciousness and it's the way to the higher states of consciousness which will ultimately result in peace prosperity living in harmony with natural law and ultimately human freedom and that's what this show is all about image two shows the grassroots solutions for real and positive change which i have outlined over the past few weeks we've already covered the healing of our worldview as the uh probably the biggest and most important solution and it's one of the most difficult uh boundaries to actually get past because so many people's worldview is completely poisoned so um we talked about the change in our quality of attention how we need to get off of poisonous forms of of media and information and on to uh good quality information and then in keeping with that we started change of diet because in addition to changing our mental food we need to change our physical food because there's so much poison in that as well you know it's just a an unfortunate an unfortunate truth of the state of human affairs that we have completely polluted food supplies and processed foods foods with all kinds of chemicals additives preservatives pesticides you name it artificial sweeteners hydrogenated oils just things that are horrific for the human health and actually create an extremely deteriorated brain in the sense of the uh neural connections in the gray matter of the brain in the neocortex of the telecephalon of the brain so you you've heard the old adage you are what you eat and it's literally true our brain and our bodies are completely made up of the nutrients that we take into our bodies that actually then become our cells so the quality of the cells of our body are going to be determined upon determined upon the quality of the nutrients that we take into our body through our food okay and as a result the quality of our behavior is ultimately going to be determined by the quality of the physiology of the brain and body it follows logically ladies and gentlemen therefore the quality of our world since it is going to be determined by the quality of the collective behaviors of the individuals in it is ultimately going to be determined by the quality of what we do or do not put into our bodies and what we do and do not put into our minds it's it really is that simple people will insist and claim that that's reductionist thinking no it is not the truth is not overly complexified it is simple it is elegant it is that simple we have to simply change the quality of what we are allowing into ourselves through an act of our own willpower and the result will be positive change self-betterment higher consciousness and ultimately more freedom in our lives and the lives of everyone else on this planet so we started with uh in the food section understanding what we need to do to change our diet that this is something we've said and reiterated time and again is within each one of our controls still to a great extent we have control over what we put into our mouths so slide number three simply shows this solution we need to change our diet for the better i put up a food pyramid for people to look at the basic generalities regarding food and the categories that they fall into what what foods we should be eating every day what foods we should be eating on a weekly basis or sparingly and uh what foods we should basically be eliminating from the diet altogether things that really aren't foods to be quite honest so that's in image number four that food pyramid and i put it up there just as another general reference for people to uh to take a look at image number five shows food's relationship to matter and energy which we covered on show number 93 um and showed the density the state of matter and the correspondence to uh the alchemical tradition because ladies and gentlemen make no mistake what this is all about is physical alchemy okay i did a show with bob from cincinnati on his uh great radio show called occult empire on the um anti-matter zone network a few weeks ago that's posted up in the news section of my website and the show was all about alchemy and this is a topic an occult tradition that we're going to be looking into on future shows uh probably maybe as we get a little bit farther through the solution section i'll take a break and uh we'll look at another occult tradition i also want to take a look into rosicrucianism i i've i've said this in the past we're gonna also delve further into other uh traditions that we've already looked into so um that will though that will be coming up on future shows but make no mistake what we're really talking about here is a process of alchemy that is performed upon the self it's purification it's distillation okay and this chart here on image number five just shows that the body has to work harder to break down the more solidified what we're putting into our bodies is uh you know the more solidified it is um we have the body has to work harder to break it down so solid food is going to require the most energy liquids will require much less energy and then air which is what we breathe is processed extremely efficiently and with the least amount of energy and what you will also notice that that's what we need the most as we go higher in this chart the rarer things are what we actually need the most we can live only for a minute maybe without air a couple of minutes at the most before then the brain begins to die okay liquids we need even more than solid foods but less than air you you could sustain yourself probably for about three or four days without liquid and then you'll start to have serious health effects and eventually you will not be able to survive solid food okay you know you could go for a longer time without that if you take in nutrients through liquid foods but um we talked we're going to talk about juicing in the second part of the show today and how this could be done on its own or as a compliment to the diet now i just did a 10 day juice fast with my partner barb it was the first fast i have ever done it was tremendously successful we felt great we both lost some weight i didn't really need to lose too much weight i uh dropped about five pounds on it but um i felt great the entire time um lots of energy and uh it was an exercise in willpower which everyone including myself can always use so you know i wouldn't recommend as i've said again to be on any kind of a liquid diet constantly but you can supplement juicing to your existing diet and you can combine it with raw foods and we're going to talk about raw foods in the first part of the show today and i'm gonna have specific recipes this is gonna be a recipe show ladies and gentlemen i'm gonna give specific recipes i'm gonna post these recipes with the podcast they're not posted to the site yet but they will be with the podcast okay and uh we're gonna take people through the process of how you can do a month-long raw food diet i've done this twice so far month-long raw food only diets i've done a 10-day juice fest and again we should be combining raw foods and juicing with our existing diets as a supplement to our to our diets we'll be right back with more on raw food and juicing after these [Music] words [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio today on the show we're continuing our solutions section we're talking about raw food and juicing and how we should add this arsenal of nutrition to all of our diets and it's something that all of us can do there's no excuse not to get started we're going to talk about the equipment that's involved in eating like this it's not that expensive you can find organic foods in supermarkets in your area you can grow your own in gardens if you have the the land the space to do it even if you live in a city it's possible to do okay so you can combine foods that you grow for yourself with foods that you might find in a store or a farmer's market and get started on the path to physical health which is completely interconnected and inseparable from mental health okay these two things go hand in hand as we've already discussed so um image number five we were on on the chart on foods relationship to matter and energy i think i've said what i want to say about that in general and a couple of weeks back we had uh water purification expert fernando salgueira on the on the show to talk about water purification we got into reverse osmosis technology we got into water distillation it was a great show check that out in the archives as well image number six shows a basic um reverse osmosis water filtration system that goes under your sink and provides extremely pure drinking water and water that you could use for cooking this is almost identical to the system that i have installed in my home so i highly recommend these you can find them for probably as cheap as one hundred fifty dollars if you look online for some deals uh mine was i believe a hundred and ninety dollars shipped to my door okay so again these aren't that expensive there are whole house water purification systems that run into the thousands of dollars if you can afford that wonderful if not this is the way to go all right uh we've talked about the what the importance of the quality of our drinking water to a great extent so um image number seven uh this is an image i put up uh after one of the podcasts that i uh did i think it was in podcast number 93 and it was a slide just called what's an hour refrigerator so this is barb and and myself refrigerator at home uh a few weeks ago and this is what it looked like in in it at the time every ingredient just about every single ingredient in that refrigerator at the time was organic okay and i had a batch of green juice in there i had spinach you could see the spinach up in the upper left in a little tupperware tub there kale celery romaine cucumbers parsley bok choy cilantro carrots tomatoes radishes turnips beets blueberries grapes apples oranges grapefruits pineapple lemon lime coconut mint squash soup chia seeds flax seeds hemp seeds flax oil hemp oil and and for uh to drink i also had some raw almond milk that i made and some raw kombucha which i uh also ferment here which we could talk about that at another time but um this is what happened to me in my my refrigerator at the time of taking that image uh near the time that that podcast was done a couple of weeks back um here's another image in slide number eight which shows my refrigerator last week okay that's what a refrigerator the inside of a refrigerator should look like and i you know i know many people's refrigerator does not look like that and i'll tell you something for for damn sure is mine did not always look like that okay so this is something i know is you know a change that some people can do sooner than others some people will do it gradually but if you're not your health isn't in the right place again your thinking is not going to be in the right place and your willpower is not going to be in the right place okay so when when if you would have saw what my diet was like even only about six to seven years ago it was horrific okay extreme amounts of processed foods extreme amounts of meat extreme amounts of dairy and just extreme amounts of food period okay now that looks like a whole lot of food and a whole lot of perishables to people which they'll immediately say but when you're juicing and when you're eating a lot of raw foods that and there's two people doing that basic diet that's you know not really that much you know and that's not that much money some people would think that that will cost a ton of money for the inside of your refrigerator to look like that that's maybe that's probably under 200 dollars worth of food what's in there right now what you're seeing in that image on an entire 10-day juice fast we spent under 300. for two people to do it so about a hundred and fifty dollars per person okay over a ten day period that comes down to fifteen dollars a day which means about each meal was five dollars if we broke it down into four meals it was even less than that because i believe we we juiced about four times a day okay so today on the show we're going to get into raw foods and you know i say about 60 to 70 percent of our diet should probably be raw foods as opposed to processed or cooked foods we want to try to get it at least up to 60 percent 50 is is great you know that would be a good start half and half but if we could do it up to 60 percent i guarantee you'll see a dramatic change in your health in the quality of the way you feel in your energy level and um just in in all around well-being all right so we're going to talk a little bit about the equipment that you will need to effectively do a raw food diet okay you don't again this is something you can complement your existing diet with slowly make a transition or if you want to jump right in do a raw food diet for two weeks 14 days nothing but raw uncooked foods okay and we'll talk about how we can make that palatable enjoyable and you can have fun preparing some of these recipes and if you have more than one person to do this with that always helps okay it helps with the willpower aspect you encourage each other you keep each other going with it you know and it just it it builds a synergistic energy to do this with another person so that always helps as well the image on slide number nine shows the juicer that i own okay and we'll be getting into juicing in the second part of the show this is the breville juice and blend now um i got this recently a couple of weeks back i used to have a jack lalanne juice man juicer and it was kind of dated it was aging um i i wanted to upgrade to something a little bit more professional and easier to take apart and clean so i looked for uh this breville juicer uh it was a little out of the price range that i wanted to spend if you buy this new you'll have to pay about 450 dollars for it and yet that that is pretty expensive okay i do think it's worth that price tag because of what it can do for your health that's a small investment to make if you're looking at a long-term health investment i went on craigslist and found this for sale on craigslist barely used just very lightly used for 175 dollars uh it was kept in great condition with all the original materials and packaging and uh i picked it up at that price so you can get lucky and you can find deals on things like this we'll be right back after these words ladies and gentlemen don't go anywhere [Music] all right folks we're back this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio talking about raw foods and juicing on the show today as part of our solutions section changing our diet getting onto the higher nutrient density foods pure foods unadulterated foods so that's why organic is the way to go you saw an image right from inside my refrigerator people ask me many times what's your diet like what do you eat i'm sharing what my diet largely is like to you now why would barb and i still go out and eat something why still order a pizza from time to time sure i'm not 100 total extreme when it comes to this some people are some people like that but at the same time i think i'm way farther into this than where most people are at with their diets okay i am vegetarian i don't eat meat products i i will eat dairy still i'll eat some cheese i'll eat you know eggs all you know sometimes very rarely but sometimes uh drink dairy milk i generally drink almond milk as a substitute for dairy milk we're going to talk about how to make almond milk today on the show so image number nine we were looking at the juicer i own now while this is a more expensive juicer because it has a blender component too you can get juicers for much cheaper than this even a breville juicer which is a pretty good juicer brand you can get out of cheaper price so there's a huge price range that you could uh find what that which will fit your budget okay i'm gonna give you five examples there's a breville compact juice fountain it's called okay it's only 99.95 new and you could find it even cheaper than that used if you're not opposed to buying a used juicer from someone as long as they took good care of it okay but 99.95 new and i'm in no way uh endorsing any of these companies i'm just telling you here's the prices you could find some decent juicers at okay i'm telling you what i use i'm telling you what's out there that's all um black decker makes a um 400 watt fruit and vegetable juice extractor okay 29 and 88 cents 30 for a juicer everyone could afford that yes it's not as powerful you know as something like a thousand watt breville but if you're on a budget it's better than nothing okay you it will still get the job done all right might not be as efficient as a higher end one but hey if you you're really uh well to do not many of us are these days but if you you have the money to invest go for go for a norwalk juicer even just take a look at the norwalk uh to see what it can do it's very impressive but also extremely expensive you know over two thousand dollars for one of those so you know there's a price range that would fit every everyone's budget um of course that's probably the rolls royce of juicers the norwalk because it's so efficient you know and um just uh extracts more juice than probably any other juicer out there um hamilton beach makes a product called the big mouth pro seventy dollars okay uh they also make something called the big mouth juice extractor sixty dollars right uh there's something called the big boss juicer forty nine dollars so again i'm just showing you you can go on amazon you can go on google shopping wherever you want to go price grabber okay any site ebay type in juicer look at what what is out there what is available you can go on craigslist like i did that's how i just got a great juicer at a very affordable price you know i'm uh thankful that the people would be willing to sell it at that price you know i'm not really sure why they wouldn't want to continue to use a great juicer like that but i'm i'm gonna take the uh opportunity you know and uh put it to great use which i'm doing right now i'm drinking a glass of my mean green juice as we speak i'm gonna give that recipe for what i i made for what i'm drinking right now later on the show okay so tons of juicers out there you also need a blender especially for a raw food diet a blender is indispensable a food processor also okay now i don't use a large food processor i go with this magic bullet item which is kind of popular these days that's listed there in image number 10 and they have a whole line of those a series of those you could check out these bullet type food processors there's tons of them out there too i have a magic bullet it works great i like it i make a great peanut butter with it as well we could talk about uh nut butter recipes uh later in the show so let's let's get into some of the recipes okay let's talk about what raw food will do for the human body one you're taking in higher quality foods if you buy organic okay i wouldn't even recommend doing a raw food diet unless you're going to do it or organic okay if you can't find an item organic okay substitute a conventional item like i got just about everything organic when i went shopping last week they didn't have organic grapes they only had conventional grapes i guess this time of the year usually i can get them organic i bought the conventional ones okay i'm not going to totally not get something you know if i want to add it to my diet if i want it for juicing just because they didn't have happen to have it organic where i shopped okay some people will say absolutely not i'm only going to get the organic stuff some people will make you know more exceptions i'll make a couple of exceptions when i go shopping but if they have it organic that's how i'm gonna gonna get it all right so what you're doing is you are eliminating as much toxins and free radicals in the food that you're taking in as possible while through not cooking the food on a raw diet you are keeping alive all of the enzymes that the body requires and what that is going to do is it's going to take in the most nutrient density into the body as i said a few weeks ago the the formula for eating right is so simple it's almost silly how simple it is it's maximize the nutrient intake minimize the toxin intake that's it that's the equation ladies and gentlemen and yes it is that simple okay so you want to drink a lot of pure drinking water during a raw diet as well okay because that's what's going to move and carry the nutrients through the cells of the body through the digestive tract and through all the cells of the body so one of the first things you're going to definitely want to do on a raw food diet for any length of time however long you're going to be doing it some people make this their lifestyle okay i'm not a total raw foodist i i will probably do one or two months out of the year all raw foods nothing else but raw food but then i'll incorporate raw food into my diet through the year so um i did two months of 100 raw food for two straight two months not straight but two separate months 30 days straight okay two months of 2011 and i will probably return to doing that uh probably in the spring one month in the spring and one month in the fall of this year okay so um we're going to get into recipes for raw food eating okay one of the things that's going to make one of the the bulk staples of this diet is salads fresh organic salads and you could put whatever you like in them as long as it contains raw organic vegan food there's no dairy in a raw food diet okay so there are cheese substitutes there are milk substitutes and they're actually very very good they're very palatable very tasty okay you have to experiment with them i'm going to give you some resources a couple of web resources to look up information on raw foods but if you type raw food recipes right into any search engine guaranteed you're going to come back with so many recipes you won't know where to begin okay there's tons of information out there on this okay so knowing that salad is going to be one of your main staples of the diet during a raw food recipe and people should be eating salads on a daily basis anyway a good salad dressing is something you're going to want to research a good raw salad dressing made with all raw ingredients okay so i'm going to start with this recipe for raw vegan ranch salad dressing and people will say well how could you make ranch dressing that's raw well believe me it can be done and when you hear what's in the recipe it's all extremely good tasting stuff and when you combine this and make this raw dressing it's nice and thick it's creamy it tastes incredible on any salad that you happen to put it on it's not that high in fat okay and it's raw so we'll start with that one after this next break and then we're going to go to about 12 or 13 other raw food recipes and then later in the show we'll get into juicing we'll be right back after these words ladies and gentlemen [Music] okay everyone we're back let's start to get into some of these raw food recipes starting with a compliment to a nice big raw salad and that is raw vegan ranch dressing okay now some people don't like thicker dressings personally i do um there are many other raw salad dressing recipes out there okay this is one that i found that i liked and you know you don't want to go nuts with this on the salad you want to put it on lightly to you know give the set to complement the taste of the salad that you're eating okay so here's the recipe and how to make it you start with um some soaked cashews okay so you do one and a half cups of cashews and soak them in water now i have found that if you have a powerful blender you don't even really need to soak the ingredients that are you that are you know by default they tell you to soak my blender the horsepower uh is phenomenal on it okay it's got a great um turbine so i don't i don't usually have to soak uh nuts when uh they're called for in a recipe i could just add the water and it will blend them just fine okay if your blender isn't that powerful or if you're you know using a food processor or something then yeah you need to soak them okay so one and a half cups of soaked cashews okay a cup of water filtered water okay three tablespoons of lemon juice one third of a cup of apple cider vinegar raw apple cider vinegar one third of a cup of cold pressed extra virgin olive oil and this is small amounts as you can see it's not over the top with the oil and vinegar okay three tablespoons of raw agave nectar agave is a low glycemic sweetener that puts a bit of sweetness into the salad dressing if you don't want it's sweet at all don't add the agave okay and when i say a little bit of sweetness that's what i mean this isn't gonna make it super sweet okay two cloves whole cloves of garlic one teaspoon of garlic powder three teaspoons of onion powder one teaspoon of dill or some freshly chopped organic dill one teaspoon of sea salt and you don't want to use refined white salt if you're going to use any salt at all in any of these recipes use sea salt himalayan sea salt okay it's like pink has some other hues in it but that has decent mineral content and isn't refined like the refined white table salt so you want to use salt sparingly anyway but um in any of these recipes especially when it comes to a raw diet if you're going to use salt at all definitely go with the himalayan sea salt okay so that was one tablespoon of sea salt one half of a teaspoon of basil and you could also add fresh basil if you want substitute fresh basil now you're going to put all those ingredients into a blender and you're going to blend it very well turn it up to your high setting liquify setting okay you may need to add some more water if the consistency is too thick okay so you could add water to take it to your desired consistency after blending in addition you could add in some very finely minced parsley about a quarter cup or less of finely minced parsley or and you could also add another half of a teaspoon of of uh very finely minced dill okay that will add a nice uh flavor uh to the already blended dressing and when you taste this on top of a good fresh organic raw salad i guarantee you will go nuts okay this recipe as well all of these other ones be up on the site okay with this podcast now soup and salad go together but on a raw diet you can't heat anything okay it's no cooked foods on a raw diet now again if you're not doing a raw diet you just want to make a soup like this you could do it and then heat it up okay but we're talking about going onto a raw diet for a time we're incorporating more raw foods into the lifestyle because all the enzymes are intact and the highest nutrient density is there when the food is raw okay that's why juicing is so good it's uncooked it's unprocessed it's not pasteurized okay so um with with a soup um a raw soup will of course be served cold okay and this next recipe is a great compliment to a salad that you may be eating okay so that makes a great meal a raw salad a raw soup okay so this is raw tomato basil soup all right you start with four large chopped tomatoes okay this is all going to go into a blender as well the blender is going to be your main friend on a raw food diet because so much um uh processing uh in in the way of chopping food needs to be done on a raw food diet to create different taste profiles and to create different combinations of foods you know you could do a raw food diet where you just eat the food the way it is you know chop it up into a salad or just eat it plain grab an apple and eat it grab an orange and eat it grab a banana and eat it okay so these are basically recipes which require some uh blending of the foods or chopping and mixing of the foods to create you know some kind of variation so that you don't get bored with just you know raw um completely um the way they are out of nature foods which i'm not saying is a bad thing if if that's if you can do that and not want any other combinations wonderful do it go for it this is to i'm giving some recipes like this to help transition people onto this diet and keep it interesting that's the main key to keep in mind here okay so raw tomato basil soup four large tomatoes chopped a quarter of an onion chopped one quarter a cup one quarter of a cup of cold pressed extra virgin olive oil one tablespoon of dried oregano one tablespoon of dried basil you could also substitute fresh basil in there or fresh oregano okay a pinch of salt a pinch of pepper sea salt again organic crushed pepper you can also add fresh pepper in there if you want okay excuse me two cups of filtered water and now here's the secret ingredient to add a little bit of thickness to this is one half of a cup of brazil nut milk or raw almond milk okay and i'm going to give the recipe for raw almond milk coming up you put all of those ingredients into a blender you blend it up make it nice and smooth pour that into a bowl and that's a great cold raw tomato basil soup to go with your raw salad you do just those two things you're gonna keep it interesting eating a raw food diet okay one thing i want to say about a raw food diet is you will need to spend some time with food preparation if you want to keep it interesting so you'll need to chop up your salads you need to prepare all of this stuff okay you need to take some time blend some things up in your blender with some of these recipes but if you take the time to do it you're going to understand that why that's a spiritual currency as i've been saying over and over we say we spend our time well if you spend your time doing things like this you're going to get so much in return for that payment of time that you're going to wonder how you lived your life without doing these things because the way you're gonna feel and the clarity of your thoughts the clarity of your intuition everything is gonna all come together okay so that's a soup and salad combination okay you can make your salad however you want make a raw dressing this is just one example of a raw dressing add the soup with it and you have a great raw meal right there okay now for people who generally eat meat or used to even used to eat meat and like it or used to like it some people on a raw diet may miss the consistency of meat now i'll sometimes eat a meat substitute like a um boca burger or something like that i don't try to overdo anything like that because eating a lot of soy i tried is probably not good for you either so i try to make sure it's non-gmo okay so this is a raw recipe substitute which sounds like a contradiction in terms but it's not we'll get into it on the other side stay with us folks welcome back everyone this is what hurts happening talking today about fall food restaurants and juicing and as a pathway to health improving the body and ultimately improving the consciousness so let's get right back into the recipes because we have a lot more of them to go through let me give the call-in number right now because um i want people to call in with any questions or comments uh i'll be taking calls in the second hour actually we're at the top of the second hour i'll be taking calls later in this hour okay the call-in number 866-841-1065 once again the call-in number for the show 866-841-1065 boy that first hour certainly flew so let's get right back into the recipes i was getting ready to give people a meat substitute recipe okay that resembles the texture and flavor of turkey salad okay but it's all raw vegan and organic all right this is called raw vegan quote turkey salad okay one cup of walnuts and if your blender isn't powerful soak them first okay a couple of ribs of celery one teaspoon of fresh thyme one tablespoon of fresh sage finely chopped one spring onion finely chopped two tablespoons of parsley chopped okay one to two tablespoons of lemon juice depending on your taste two teaspoons of tamari ground add salt and pepper to taste blend in a blender now again if your blender isn't really powerful it doesn't have a good motor in it all right you want to take it slow with this and and add a little bit of ingredients at a time my blender you could put anything into and it will go through it i mean it will just slice and dice its way through just about anything you know you can't kill it so if you have a really good one just load all of those things right in the blender blend it on high and add water as you're blending to reach the desired consistency some people will like this really thick okay and it gives you the it's like a ground up turkey salad okay and you got to try it because you won't even believe it it's just it's great i didn't believe it when i tasted it that it approximates of course it's not going to be exactly the same as real turkey salad okay i'd be lying to you if i told you it was but it approximates that and eating it fills you up nicely and it gives you that texture that maybe you're mentally you're psychologically looking for you know when it comes to oh i've been eating a raw food diet and i want something that resembles something more substantial or solid okay this is a way to get that in that idea into your system and your mind while you're eating so that you have the the strength the willpower to stay on the diet more okay uh and i guarantee you do this raw diet you'll you'll knock out type 2 diabetes that's one of the ways to just knock it out through diet and this is something that you know your medical doctor will often not even tell you type 2 diabetes is beatable this way okay so uh i'm going to post a lot of resources links with this podcast i'm going to post some whole books on um health and nutrition and juicing and raw food diets lots of resources are going to go up with this podcast so you'll have to excuse me if it doesn't go up like immediately after the show because i'm going to be preparing resources to post on the site and and posting links and whatnot so um you know give a little bit of light on that this podcast on the other side we're going to get into raw guacamole dip raw almond milk raw fruit smoothies or green smoothies [Applause] raw bread on hot butters trail mix with dessert and more stay with us [Music] welcome back ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening dot com during the break i uh snapped a photo on my webcam of me drinking one of my uh juice concoctions and i'll post that with the podcast people should get a kick out of that i'm going to be giving the recipe of the juice i'm drinking right now in a little bit let's get back into the recipes for raw foods so then we can transition over to juicing for the second part of the show okay so we just finished with the raw vegan turkey salad raw guacamole dip here we go i don't know who doesn't like guacamole i think it's great uh it's a great compliment to a vegetable snack like some celery or some carrots you could dip them right in there and now this is great tasting guacamole dip three ripe avocados one large tomato one quarter of a white onion three quarters of a cup of fresh cilantro cut the leaves off okay you know um you want to cut the stems off use use the cilantro leaves okay chop and finely mix together you could use a magic bullet to do the processing uh you don't you want to make sure you don't over process it with the bullet because it will liquefy it okay so um you want to use the uh press and release technique that they demonstrate in the manual and in some of their videos okay and afterward you could add about a teaspoon and a half of lemon juice and some sea salt to taste and that will make an incredible raw guacamole dip now raw almond milk this is a great substitute for dairy milk i drink almond milk all the time it's high in antioxidants and it tastes great if i eat any cereal any organic cereals i use almond milk okay if i add a little bit of milk to oatmeal i'll use almond milk okay so you start with one cup of raw organic almonds now sometimes it can be difficult to find raw almonds they they are available you can find them depending on on what store you look uh whole foods in my area will often sell raw almonds okay so you just want to make sure they're not roasted almonds okay uh you want to get organic unroasted almonds okay soaked if necessary again we talked about when to soak um add four to five cups of water in a blender okay one teaspoon of pure vanilla extract you could add one eighth of a cup of raw agave nectar for a little bit of sweetness okay which will also combine well in something that is cold as opposed to having to go in something that's hot to dissolve like sugar okay and then blend it on high okay after that blends let it settle for a little bit take the lid of the blender off strain it through a mesh strainer a mesh mesh kitchen strainer okay into another container i strain into a glass milk bottle that raw milk comes in and um that's it that's all that's your raw almond milk and it is delicious okay now you could do things with the raw almond milk one of them is you can make raw fruit smoothies just like you might make a smoothie with some regular dairy milk well you can make a raw smoothie with almond milk okay here's a recipe for a general recipe for raw fruit smoothies start with two bananas add some berries you could add strawberries blueberries blackberries raspberries whatever you like okay add some raw nuts so almonds pecans cashews um peanuts etc okay as much as you want add some raw almond milk some ice blend it up in your blender use the ice crush mode to crush up that ice if you have a good blender with a nice crush mode and that is an awesome fruit smoothie that will give you high energy okay yes there's natural sugars in it but again these are sugars that are found in nature and the the waters that are distilled by nature in these high quality fruits nothing could be better for you so that's a great way to get uh you know nice treat it's pretty sweet tasting it's totally healthy for you and i don't know anybody that doesn't like a good fruit smoothie so uh that's that recipe now for a more nutritious smoothie you would want to make a raw green smoothie okay so once again you're gonna start with some water and ice okay uh add a banana or two depending on your taste add a ton of spinach in in the blender add some kale put an apple chopped up okay a hair a pear chopped up right and you might need to blend this you know and then add a little bit of ingredients blend it add some more okay use common sense when it comes to working with the blender of course you could add some berries in there blueberries strawberries blackberries raspberries goji berries okay are excellent for a smoothie like this okay then add some hemp seeds some superfoods hemp seed chia seeds flax seeds blend it all up together and just drink it down just like that put the remainder in the fridge okay that'll that'll keep for a couple of days you don't want to keep it too long after that okay but that's an incredible high nutrient density and high antioxidant and high alkalinity uh raw green smoothie i make these all the time you cannot go wrong with these okay now people will say well what do you do after you make the almond milk when you have if you're straining all of that out into another you know into another glass container and you have all of this almond meal as they call it leftover this is the very finely blended the finely ground almonds chopped up real fine that you know most of the nutrient density went into the the almond milk and the antioxidants okay through the infusion of the almonds into the into the water during the blending process what do you do with that leftover bulk material that is called almond meal while you can actually make a raw almond bread from it okay this is a recipe for raw almond banana bread and it's absolutely delicious you could you can make sandwiches on this kind of bread you can make um i i made raw peanut butter and jelly sandwiches on this kind of bread and they're incredible okay so um for start with four bananas a half a cup of flax seeds a half a cup of almond meal a half a cup of raw agave nectar a half a cup of almond milk you can cut back on the raw agave nectar if you don't like it too sweet it also kind of acts as a as a binder for all the other ingredients okay a half a cup of raw almond milk two tablespoons of sesame seeds one teaspoon of cinnamon a half of a teaspoon of nutmeg blend all of these together very well in a mixing bowl if you have a you know a baking mixer uh that that will work really well to blend this up in a mixing bowl okay pour it out into a pan or you could also even pour it into a bread pan you don't want to pour too high with that into one of those though but if you have a kind of a flat baking pan poured out into that dehydrated at 95 degrees in a dehydrator if you have one or you could do it in an oven if your oven can go down to a very low setting under 100 degrees at no more than 100 degrees because other than that you'll start to kill the enzymes in the living food you want to dehydrate it at about 95 degrees and you will have an incredible you'll have to do that first [Music] [Music] [Applause] [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcast today on the show we're talking about raw foods and juicing we're going to get right back into the raw food recipes because i have a few more of them and i want to get into the juicing section so here we go raw peanut butter okay now you can find raw peanuts again it can be difficult they can't be roasted okay so you want to look for raw unroasted peanuts okay you want to chop up a bunch of these in a blender okay and then pour that peanut powder i guess you could call it peanut meal whatever you want to call it pour it into a bowl so you could scoop it with a spoon okay and you're gonna take five tablespoons of raw peanuts very finely chopped peanuts i put i throw them in a blender and just chop them up until it's like you know as small as they get and it works really well again it does in my blender anyway okay i don't want to contribute to destroying anyone's blender so know your equipment before you start doing this okay make sure you have something that can handle something like that all right uh five tablespoons of raw peanuts into the small magic bullet um container the small magic bullet cup okay i'd make raw peanut butter in the magic bullet food processor okay if you don't have one of those i recommend one or something similar to it because they're only forty dollars i mean that's what i paid for mine you could probably find them cheaper than that it's a nice quality product i have made incredible peanut butter i mean peanut butter i'm making that will knock your socks off i'm proud to say it okay i like peanut butter it's a great source of protein as is green leafy vegetables are great sources of protein as well so you're going to get a lot of protein on this diet but peanut butter is a good source of protein on a raw diet too okay so i'm not saying go nuts with it you know but compliment the diet with it okay you could do a peanut butter spoon even if you don't want to spread it on anything else i made raw peanut butter and jelly sandwiches as i said with that raw almond banana bread and i'm going to give a recipe for raw strawberry jam in a few moments so five tablespoons of raw peanuts very finely chopped into the magic bullet the small magic bullet cup okay one teaspoon of peanut oil want a half a teaspoon of raw sugar okay raw organic cane sugar okay you could also use a little bit of agave nectar if you want to substitute that for raw sugar or you cannot put sugar in at all okay it's up to you that part's up to you that's optional also the salt the salt is optional of cour i use a quarter of a teaspoon of sea salt a little bit okay process all of that in the magic bullet with the flat blade attachment okay not the chopping blade the flat spinning blade okay and process that until it is of peanut butter consistency then scoop it out put it in a ball mason jar or something like that that's what i use uh to store it and just keep repeating that process of those amounts in the small magic bowl container until you have enough peanut butter that that you're happy with and uh i'm telling i make this for myself i make it for family members and it is incredible it is probably one of the best uh recipes that i personally have gotten into making uh on raw foods okay um now if you're not on the raw food you use um you use um regular roasted peanuts and now we're really talking incredible peanut butter okay so you could do it with the raw peanuts and it tastes great you could do it with the um regular organic roasted peanuts and it's better than any conventional peanut butter that you'll buy in a store to do this to fill up a standard peanut butter size jar will take you about an hour maybe a little bit more but it is well worth it and you'll have peanut butter for a couple of weeks okay so um that's the raw peanut butter raw almond butter and pecan butter can be made the same way and you don't even need any additional ingredients just add about five or six tablespoons of raw finely chopped almonds into the magic bullet blend until it's a nut butter consistency put it out into a ball jar just keep doing that until you have the desired amount that's raw almond butter okay and you got to use raw almonds for that some people will blanch the almonds i don't even bother to do that i just leave them whole and right into the blender blend them up and then right out into the magic bullet okay same thing with pecans blend them up so that they're finely chopped process them in the magic bowl with a flat blade and you have incredible pecan butter if you want to add a little bit of raw sugar to the pecan butter you could do that to taste and these nut butters come out absolutely incredible they're great snacks on their own or you know spread on some of the raw bread okay there's also some raw crackers that you could find in stores that are dehydrated crackers and you know the enzymes are still intact within the living foods so that's those are available at some health food stores or whole whole foods markets etc all right so raw strawberry jam start with a pound of fresh organic strawberries three pitted dates for a little bit of thickness okay one tablespoon of psyllium husk okay that or or you could do soaked chia seeds in lieu of the psyllium husk that will act as a binder and add a little bit of thickness to the jam blend that in a blender until they're smooth and that's incredible raw strawberry jam okay to complement the nut butters that you just made all right now you can make a great raw trail mix just with whole organic raw nuts and berries add in a bowl together almonds cashews peanuts walnuts macadamia nuts pecans raisins dried cranberries dried blueberries dried cherries dried goji berries and if you want a little bit of flavor of chocolate of course processed chocolate isn't uh available on the raw food diet isn't allowable on the raw food diet but you could add some raw cacao nibs which is raw organic chocolate unprocessed and that gives a little bit of a hint of chocolate to the trail mix and this is an incredible trail mix people have come over my house and just like devoured this trail mix it's uh just a great tasting combination and um anybody can make that very easily and relatively inexpensively raw now here's a dessert okay for a little bit of sweetness everybody has a little bit of a sweet tooth i don't know of anybody that doesn't like chocolate okay you can make raw cacao coconut dessert treats okay so what this is is like a a it's basically a ball of chocolate and coconut okay to put it simply uh some people don't like coconut there's probably some things you could substitute like peanuts in lieu of the coconut or you could add peanuts and raisins to it to give it a little bit more of a solid consistency i've done that in the past and it's come out great okay so one and a half cups of shredded coconut raw coconut unprocessed okay um you could also just get that from an actual coconut drain the water out scoop the the flesh out let it dehydrate a little bit and you have great uh shredded coconut okay three three quarters of a cup of agave nectar three quarters of a cup of raw cacao powder that's raw chocolate okay and it comes in in powdered bag bags of powdered cacao uh it's excellent if you're not on the raw diet you can make a great raw uh hot chocolate with it with it's non-processed it's not cocoa which is processed this is raw chocolate okay so um you're going to add three quarters of cup of raw cacao powder a teaspoon of vanilla extract a quarter of a cup of coconut oil raw coconut oil okay and then a quarter of a cup of chia seeds as a binder and a thickener and that's optional if you don't want the chia seeds chia seeds are awesome they're a superfood you blend that together in a mixer a mixing bowl with a baker mixer a baking mixer and then freeze it okay put it in the freezer all right let it set up a little bit let it freeze a little bit take it out and then you could form it into small balls okay and put it right back in the freezer and you'll have a great go-to treat when you have a sweet tooth attack to you know go into the freezer and get a raw chocolate coconut treat you could also add raisins or some nuts in there uh to taste so uh i have two other quick raw food recipes in the last half an hour we'll be dedicating juicing we might even pick this up on the next show we'll see what happens after this break we'll be right back folks all right folks two more quick raw food recipes actually i'm not even going to go through the entire recipe i'll post them on the site because these are pretty complex and have lots of steps to them and this is for people who want to go deeper into the very uh you know the variations of the types of food and the mixing that you could do and the kind of style and art form it can become i'm not so good at it i've actually made one of these recipes that i'm gonna give you i don't think it probably came out as good as the guy who designed this recipe uh you know can make it but uh and i'm gonna give his website as well i'm gonna give a few people's website out in the next half hour um so raw lasagna and raw pizza okay this is something that you know i grew up with i'm italian i'm an italian from south philadelphia okay so you know i ate my share of lasagna and pizza in my life and uh on a raw food diet you might want to revisit those things it'll be a little bit in a little bit different form but uh you can make these things so that they come out tasting so good that it's it is comparable to a lasagna it is comparable to a slice of pizza it's not the same thing as obviously as a slice of pizza but it's uh has some of the nutrient a better nutrient quality than any uh pizza dough white flour pizza dough that you you'll ever eat and it's very satisfying and filling so uh both of these recipes are by a gentleman who calls himself the raw chef his name is russell james you could check out his website at the raw chef the raw chef dot com the rawchef.com russell james and i'm gonna post the recipes of the raw lasagna and the raw pizza topped with pesto and caramelized onion uh on the website i'll give the the links on the website and i'll actually post the recipes all of these recipes that i've given today will be posted with the podcast so when the podcast goes up again it's going to take me a little bit to put it up this time maybe i'll have it up by tomorrow i'll try to do it by the end of the night but i'm going to have to amass this information uh i have it just listed as kind of like raw notes here that i'm reading from so i'll have to organize a little bit better and then i'll post them all up as pdf documents okay so um maybe all in one pdf document on different pages i'll have each recipe on a different page something like that so look for that with the podcast let's get into juicing but before we do that um i'm going to tell you who my main juicing information came from of course jack lalanne championed juicing i had a jack lalanne juicer for years and um i i've until very recently i just got a breville as i said i got a breville juice and blend combo um but elaine is one of the guys i really uh listened to about juicing uh back in you know in in my uh youth i saw a lot of the commercials he did you know a lot of the videos he put together and uh his information is is rock solid when it comes to juicing his juicers are also great he has since passed but uh good juicers of the lane series of juice man juicers um another person i like his information um is matt monarch some of the stuff that he has on his website is a little expensive for my taste but he's got some good information on the raw food lifestyle okay somebody who probably helped my health more than any other individual is kevin trudeau and a lot of people will not like him because they'll say oh he's about money kevin trudeau knows what he's talking about his information has come from the areas of the occult he has worked in similar capacities with occultist probably at higher levels than i have i know that kevin trudeau knows what he's talking about his information is coming from first-hand sources and his book natural cures everyone should read and understand the information that's in that book okay it's close to a 600 pager so about 560 575 pages something like that read it power your way through it understand what's being said in that book you'll do yourself a favor okay that book helped change my life about the way i thought about food and so i'm indebted to kevin trudeau for putting that information out into the world he's got a great radio show too at ktradio.com i highly recommend checking out his work if you're not familiar with it okay so i'm unapologetic about that i know some people don't like him they say oh he was into some you know shady things i think the government wants him done in because he's putting information about food out to people and helping them to get off the pharmaceutical dependency that they've been living under the pharmaceutical tyranny that they've been living under that's doing nothing but destroying human health not bettering it so that's what i have to say on kevin trudeau and um dan mcdonald i cannot recommend highly enough if you want good information on juicing this guy is great he's high energy i love his uh his passion i love his energy his website is regenerateyourlife.org regenerate your regenerateyourlife.org check out his work check out his videos on youtube i'm going to give you some of his recipes right now for juicing okay now all i'm going to say about juicing is don't be timid get in there do it don't take little tiny amounts get the vegetables get the fruits shove them into the juicer that's all that's required ladies and gentlemen it's a it's a power straight ahead approach that you don't need to be dainty or timid about just get in there put the stuff through the juicer drink the juice that's it real simple okay don't be timid about it just get in there and do it as i've said before there's nothing to it but to do it that's the mantra that you just need to put in your mind get in there and do it okay so when i'm giving these recipes it's like take a bunch of these things shove them into the juicer let it process them get the juice what i do is i process them into the container that comes with the juicer if you don't have one you could use a nice glass a pyrex um uh a mixing uh pouring um uh container okay and then what i'll do is when that fills up i'll pour into like a large pot okay and then i'll i'll blend all the juice that i'm gonna make up if i'm gonna make a large batch okay and i'll blend it up in that pot then i'll strain it okay i'll pour it back into the into the pyrex container okay and uh the measuring cup and i will glass okay and then i will strain it through a um a mesh strainer again into a glass containers like you know very uh good washed out cleaned um raw milk uh jars um bottles or uh some raw um some uh uh like uh quart milk bottles too i if you'll also have like um juice containers like old um uh like tang used to come in you know something like that like uh with a plastic lid on top that has a poorer mouth okay you could use one of those you could use lemonade pitchers cover it with some saran wrap that's what i'll store my juicing or you could store in mason jars are excellent for storing juice because you could actually fill them up to the top so you get a little air um you know there's no air above it and then screw the mason lid on and it will keep any air out and that they'll store for a few days like that if you need to go beyond a few days with juice with unpasteurized juice you need to freeze it okay and freezing is something you could also do to enhance your juicing because you could actually make pops you can get little popsicle um containers pour juice into there pour fruit juices into there and make fruit pops fresh organic raw juice um pops uh and have a go-to snack that's made of all pure organic juice in your freezer whenever you you want to treat like that okay so that's something that we do here barb has been a fan of that and uh i have lots of juice pops in my freezer right now okay so um kids will love that too all right so dan mcdonald regenerate your life he has a great dvd video called green juice recipes for detox and regeneration i highly recommend it okay you could check it out on his site and here's the recipes he gave these are inexpensive recipes that you could start out with to experiment with green juicing i'm gonna give some fruit juice recipes not necessarily recipes just you know explain what you could do with fruit juicing and then i'm gonna top this section off with what i call mark's 21 gun mean green juice which i've been drinking throughout the show today and i'm going to show you a picture of what it looks like on the webcam i'll post that with as image number 11 after the show okay so let's start with dan mcdonald's juice recipes the first is carrots and celery okay that's it real simple carrots and celery it starts getting used to the green mixed in with the carrot because carrot is kind of a sweet taste most people will like carrot juice you add celery into it and that will give you a nice combination grapefruit parsley and ginger this would be a little bit of a tart one okay but the flavor combination is great and it's a total detox juice grapefruit parsley and ginger the parsley will make it a nice deep green okay the next wheat grass which will you will need an auger juicer for which is another kind of juicer cucumber and coconut wheatgrass cucumber [Music] welcome back everyone this is the last segment for this edition of what on earth is happening before i get back into the green juice recipes and then a couple of my own one of my own green juice recipes i want to also throw a shout out to another individual who really helped me change the way i think about food diet nutrition in general and that's deepak chopra um deepak chopra before he became a purveyor of spiritual information i believe was a gastroenterologist if i'm not mistaken involved in western medicine until you realize the shortcomings of it and he really got deep into ayurvedic medicine and ayurvedic health techniques and some of his books on on nutrition that contain informational nutrition really helped me to uh turn my diet and my uh nutritional practices around so uh deepak tropras and other individual people should definitely uh consider the advice of when it comes to food okay so um i also want to um say thanks to bob from cincinnati because in regard to um uh ayurvedic medicine okay um and alchemy he sent me a nice quote that i had i did not know this information so that was really uh nice to learn something new regarding alchemy and the eastern indian uh practice of ayurveda okay um he sent a quote and here here it is quote east indian medicine known as ayurveda means the science of life okay that's what it actually means it is ayurveda is a life science the science of long life okay unique to ayurveda is the process of bodily purification known as panchakarma okay panchakarma and the process of physical and mental rejuvenation known as rasayana rasayana in ayurvedic medicine is known as it is the process of physical and mental rejuvenation rasayana is a sanskrit word with the literal meaning juice path the path of juice okay in in sanskrit ayana rasa is the word for juice and ayanna is the word for path so it is the juice path they call rasayana the elixir of life okay and it is used to describe chemistry and alchemy all right so very interesting quote the process of physical and mental rejuvenation called rasayana in ayurvedic medicine and it is literally translates to the juice path or the juice way and that is what this is ladies and gentlemen this is alchemy that is what you are performing when you transform your diet and ratchet it up to a higher level of purity you are performing alchemy upon the self so with that in mind let's get back to the juice recipes and hopefully we'll have enough time to take a couple of callers all right the last recipe from dan mcdonald that i had spoke about was wheat grass which requires an auger juicer okay we don't have time to get into that but it's a different form of juicer if you want to juice wheat grass you'll need an auger juicer cucumber and coconut okay great combination another combination watercress and lemon this is purely for detox you will have a sour and astringent taste in this one so this will be one of the more difficult as far as drinkability but incredible as far as detox is concerned okay more drinkable versions of these green juices celery cucumber spinach cilantro and jerusalem artichoke a great combination i've used these recipes myself and they're incredible another combination celery cucumber bok choy cilantro lemon garlic tomato and jalapeno for a little bit of spice to it another great combination what he calls the lemon ginger blast an apple lemon ginger celery parsley cilantro fennel and a habanero pepper to add a little bit of spice okay a little bit hotter than even a jalapeno a lot hotter actually okay and finally apple pear celery lettuce and lemon and i believe he used that as like a tonic or a relaxing uh recipe all right so there are eight great green juice recipes i'll be posting them with the podcast as well and i highly recommend checking out dan mcdonald's videos for single fruit juice recipes for single uh fruit juices apple i just made a great batch of apple juice that's in my fridge right now orange i also have raw organic orange juice in my refrigerator pineapple juice coconut water just break apart a young coconut strain the water out of it drink it down okay grape watermelon okay you can make berry juices you can mix berry and watermelon a great combination i've come across where i make freeze pops with it watermelon strawberry blueberry raspberry blackberry juice those pour into a fruit pop container put it in the freezer it's a great snack okay now finally the last recipe i call this this is what i've been drinking on the show i'll post an image of me drinking it i call this my 21 gun mean green juice made with 21 components okay here it is celery and these are all the green components and i'll tell you what the non-green vegetables included are and then the fruits and then there is a a is a root okay so celery cucumber kale romaine hearts spinach bok choy green chard broccoli parsley cilantro watercress and fennel okay so that's one two three four five six seven eight nine ten eleven twelve components that are green and that's the life force energy that's the energy of earth itself all right now the non-green components to add a little bit more water content a little bit of sweetness and drinkability carrots which are high in beta-carotene and other essential nutrients tomato and parsnips okay high water all right carrot tomato parsnips then the fruits that i'll add in for a little bit of sweetness and drinkability apples pears grapes coconut water and a little bit of lemon juice just a little and then a little bit of ginger just a touch of ginger i'll mix this up into a pot pour it out into glass containers store it in the roof or mason jar store it in the refrigerator for a couple of days i'll have juice over a three day period any more than that you don't want to keep it in the fridge i would say okay you want to finish what you're making within that amount of time preferably the closer to making it that you drink it the better all right but you can store it in the refrigerator for a couple of days after that if you're not going to use it within that time frame freeze it freezing it will keep the nutrient density and you could thaw it in the refrigerator and then drink it down but don't keep unpasteurized juice in the fridge for any more than a couple of days okay and again just get in there don't be timid do it grab the buy the vegetables grab them put them through the juicer drink the juice that's all there is to juicing anybody that tells you that there's anything else to juicing is lying to you or trying to over complicate things so that you get discouraged that's all there is to juicing ladies and gentlemen and it is the path of alchemy okay and it's the path to longer life and it's the path to health and it's the path to physical and mental rejuvenation and purification so with that having been said let's go to the phones hopefully we have a couple of callers yes we do on the line here we go caller from the 541 area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome yeah mark uh this uh we've talked before uh i just want to give a caveat to what you've been saying i challenge you to use common sense in the trivium and that would be to search out radioactive update studies that would indicate if you juice it should not be done more than a couple of times uh every couple of months and should not be done more than than say three days at a length because you're actually taking away from the body if you study the human uh situation you'll find they were made entirely of fats and proteins and the radioactive uptake studies will show you that you get almost no fats and proteins uh when you're doing a juicing kind or or a raw food diet i do believe in the raw food but the raw foods as any hunter gatherer society will tell you should be fats and proteins those are the sources of our integrity as as a ideal human and if you're like upset about eating raw meat raw fish raw dairy products or whatever you can prepare them with acidity just like your stomach does to to uh safeguard yourself that's how you are safeguarded and uh you could use as in with your nuts peanuts raw peanuts may have a mold you can use hydrogen peroxide food grade to actually protect yourself in that perspective but the bottom line is where hunter gathers we need raw proteins and fats which you cannot get from any kind of carbohydrate agricultural products i think it is possible to get some of those fats and proteins and in higher quantities also from some of the raw fruits and vegetables grow on the earth particularly some of the vegetable and the gum content so we can talk about that later on a further show we're out of time for today folks we'll see you next week on what on earth is happening stick around chris everard is up next on this show focusing on what we can do about the problems that humanity faces we talked about the problems for months over a year in fact and now solution oriented approaches are what we are focusing on we just finished a series on food last week's show was a really good one I gave a lot of recipes out about raw food and juicing I want to point people to the podcast on the podcast section podcast number on 96 was last week's show and with it I posted a whole lot of documents on raw food and juicing I posted all of the recipes that we covered on raw food and juicing on the show last week as well as many other PDF documents on that topic so I posted something called fresh vegetable and fruit juices by Norman Walker he was one of the leading authorities on juicing I posted something called how to get started with raw foods I posted a book called how to halt diabetes in 25 days using nutrition alone type-2 diabetes that is I posted something called the juicing detox diet and another book called rawesome maximizing health energy and colony culinary delight with the raw foods diet so definitely avail yourself of that information and check out PDF documents posted with last week's podcast I do have one quick event announcement before we get into the topics for today which are is going to be present moment awareness and mindfulness so we have a great show coming up today on deeper aspects of consciousness that will help lead us to a solution but one quick event announcement first this Wednesday February 29 2012 at 7:15 p.m. here in Philadelphia at media Bureau studios at fourth and brown that 725 North fourth Street in the Northern Liberties section of Philadelphia truth freedom prosperity will be hosting their monthly documentary screening and discussion night this February 29th architects of fallen media Bureau Studios 7:15 p.m. for more information visit truth freedom prosperity dot org we'll be right back after these words ladies and gentlemen you're listening - what on earth is happening [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark SEO my website what on earth is happening calm so we covered what you can do to improve your health and the quality of the physical body this is one of the steps of initiation activating the physical body one of the other steps of initiation that we've talked about in the past is living in the present moment truly understanding what it means to live in the present moment now two weeks ago I had on the show a guest from Canada from the radio show to two guys one girl that I have appeared on twice now Franko Huard and we discussed present moment awareness I'm not going to reiterate everything that we talked about I'm going to touch on a little bit more and then combine this solution with another solution that deals a lot with brain balancing and quieting the mind which is mindfulness and becoming the observer so we're going to talk about how these two solutions that have to do with introspection and have to do with a deep understanding of consciousness and the qualities of self fit hand-in-hand okay and how they work together to bring about a different level a different quality of consciousness and awareness so that's coming up but let me give the callin number because I want to try to wrap this topic up and then take calls in the second hour okay so hopefully we'll have a lot of callers to take calls in the second hour and you could basically ask any questions up to any of the solutions that we have covered so far you know bring up anything you want about solutions oriented approaches okay specifically topics that we've already covered in the solutions section so the calling number is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number is eight six six eight four one one zero six five calling get in the queue be patient I will be taking calls as soon as I wrap up the information I want to cover for today in the second hour okay so let's get into this if you go up to the water on earth is happening website to the radio show page underneath the player as is the case with with most of my podcast you will see images for today's show listed as numerical links and if you click on any of those numbers it will bring up a little slideshow and you could follow along with the images that I'm going to be discussing today that are associated with the concepts and ideas that I'll be talking about so the first image shows the graphic that I've chosen for this whole entire section of solutions called the way out and we're familiar with this people who have been following along I've seen that graphic so that's slide number one I just put it up there kind of as a header okay image number two shows the grassroots solutions that I have outlined for real and positive and lasting change okay so there's ten overarching solutions combined with a deep understanding of natural law they are the way out okay which is why we covered natural law as the first and foremost solution that needs to underlie it needs to be the foundation for which all of these practical solutions need to be built upon okay because without that understanding you could attempt to apply any of these things and it's only going to make if anything a very limited difference without a deep understanding of natural law principles so you can of course go back to any of the podcast on in which we covered natural law and listen to those if you're not familiar with that material as always anyone was a first-time listener or who is new to the material that I present here on what on earth is happening my recommendation as always is to be at the beginning go back to the start of the podcast at podcast number one and then listen forward because this is information that is built upon prerequisite knowledge it is linearly given I guess you could say it is given in a linear context in a linear fashion the early information is kind of the ABCs it's the building blocks and then as we build later on that foundation you know we cover more and more complex subject matter and things that in order to really comprehend them you need to understand information that was covered at the very beginning so that's my recommendation for any new listeners to this material so we're going to talk about two solutions today development of true present moment awareness and combining that with the process of developing what is termed mindfulness okay or the observer quality of consciousness okay so as I talked about with Franco a couple of weeks back present moment awareness in its most simple basic element simply means knowing that there really is no such thing as time time as such is an illusion it is something created by a consciousness that is kind of in a state of duality okay there is no time as such there is only the present moment the past can never be reclaimed it is gone it has happened so I described it in kind of almost like a scientific way in a way that a quantum physicists might describe it okay in quantum mechanics there are wave functions that govern what actually takes place these are functions of possibility okay and our choices collapse that wavefunction onto what actual occurs in the present moment so the past okay had all kinds of possibilities within it at some at some past moment okay but the the current moment which is where all of the possibilities collapse down to an event or a series of events that actually have taken place in other words right now right now in this moment there are practically infinite possibilities for what could be 100 years from now the possibilities of what could exist in 100 years of what we call linear time okay here on earth 100 of the Earth's revolutions around the Sun as we measure it okay there is practically an infinity of possibilities of what could occur but when we get to that so-called future moment okay it will be the present moment at that point in quote time there will only be one possibility and that's the events which are actually occurring in the present moment 100 years from now okay so I know that's a heady and abstract way of looking at this quality that we call time but you have to understand it like that in the moment okay all possibilities from the past have collapsed and formed what actually is occurring so there is no point in worrying about the past there is no point in having regrets over what has already occurred it is what is as prominent that which is it has become truth in the present moment it cannot change the future can be changed but again that's not here yet either we can only work in the present moment to change what is to come we'll be right back after these words ladies and gentlemen don't go anywhere [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone [Music] you're listening - what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network today on the show we're talking about present moment awareness as one of the solutions to the problems that humanity faces in consciousness and as a result the problems that they face regarding human freedom so developing true present moment awareness and true mindfulness these are methods of freeing the mind freeing the mind from ego identification freeing the mind from time bound existence freeing the mind from the prison of the left brain as well barriers to self-realization that we've talked about in the past so now we're presenting some solutions okay understanding time is an illusion true present moment awareness the present moment is all that exists the past is gone it was once filled with limited possibilities I'm sorry our unlimited possibilities okay that through choices those wave function possibilities were then collapsed to the eventualities that actually occur right now in the present moment similarly you know this present moment is filled with all kinds of possibilities that we could work toward for a future moment what you could call a future present moment because we only ever exist in the present in the now okay so as we talked about with Franco Huard a few weeks a couple of weeks back we have to learn to live in the now to observe ourselves in the now that's when mindfulness is a huge part of that now in a similar way that the past really doesn't exist because it is gone it is that which has already occurred the future doesn't really exist either because it's not here yet we're moving toward it those wave functions of possibility are collapsing toward that moment becoming more and more limited as we approach a moment that is nearer in the future but essentially until it actually occurs we need to focus our attention on the now that's where the magic happens that's where you can actually make a difference that's where you could actually create change for the better it isn't always always about having your head in the future and thinking about what is to be it's actually thinking about what you need to do right now right here you know we mentioned the concept of the power of now put out by that book put out by Eckhart Tolle a great read people should be aware of that material and the phenomenal book be here now by Ram Dass who you know is a phenomenal teacher and anyone who was not familiar with his material should definitely become familiar with it also great documentary on Rama das called fierce grace because he had a stroke and was actually unable to continue teaching for a time and it showed how he didn't really deal with that situation as he thought he would as an advanced spiritual being because again no one is perfect we all fall from our understandings even if you know this stuff it's a matter of practicing it constantly trying to engage it over and over you think I constantly and perfectly live always in the now you're crazy because it I fall out of it as well myself no one is perfect when it comes to this it's a matter of practicing it and doing it and trying to make it habitual okay so regrets for the past are pointless they're futile it's wasted energy anxiety over the future is equally as futile it's wasted energy focus on what you can do here and now that's what true present moment awareness is all about and this is kind of visually demonstrated in slide number four on the images on the web this is a depiction from a gnostic painting of the crucifixion of christ okay but it's a symbolic spiritual allegory through this painting okay the awakened Christ consciousness who is depicted in the center okay is the present moment he is the gift of the creator in the form of quote the Son of God okay and that's where all enlightenment rests in the present moment in the now okay you see he is of course depicted crucified side-by-side with the two thieves in the biblical story of the crucifixion okay on the left the thief on the left-hand side of the image what would be Christ's right hand okay is the thief who has his head toward Jesus in this image this is depicted as the past okay he is looking toward the present moment because the past moves toward the present okay but he's gone so focusing on it is thieving or taking away from the present moment consciousness that's why these are both thieves the two thieves of the present moment that steal from our present moment awareness is the past and the future and the past looks forward to the present moment and the future looks away from or it goes away from the present moment okay which is why the thief on the right side of the image to Christ's left side is depicted looking away from him now in the story yes the thief to his right side kind of embraces his idea okay and that's another interpretation of the painting and the thief to the let his left hand side refuses to embrace the idea that you know they kind of were bad individuals and then were punished for their crimes but Jesus didn't do anything wrong and therefore didn't deserve his fate upon the cross you know the hole that holds biblical story I would call the exoteric understanding of what this allegory really means okay the esoteric understanding is an allegory related to the present moment to present moment awareness in which the thieves of the past and the future robbed from present moment awareness which is enlightened consciousness in the now okay so this is a phenomenal allegorical painting that we can use to understand this conceptual idea and understand how it is something that can help lead us to a much higher state of consciousness what has been traditionally called a cry stood state of awareness whether you believe in the exoteric aspects of Christianity or not we talked many times about how that's all veiled and told through an astro theological underpinning the ashen or theological story and that's all there really to hide the esoteric elements it's all there really to hide what the allegories of true esoteric Christianity are all really about they don't want people getting down into that material of consciousness because that's what it deals with and it offers a true way out it offers a way out of the control system it offers a way out of low base consciousness and a path to higher consciousness and that's why they want to obfuscate it and confuse it as much as possible with all kinds of exoteric stories and interpretations but if we cut through all of that and we understand what was really being taught we will come out at a much higher level of understanding of ourselves and that's what these traditions were originally meant to do that's what they were meant to provide for the initiate so we'll pick up on present moment awareness on the others [Music] [Applause] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening on your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show we're talking about a true present moment awareness how to step into that power of the present moment how to let go of regrets for the past and anxiety about the future and what the future may bring we looked at a esoteric allegorical interpretation of present moment awareness in the last segment and what I want to talk about in this segment is what present moment awareness most certainly is not and how some people with a limited understanding of this topic will try to twist and distort what present moment awareness actually is and sell people something that is definitely the opposite of what present moment awareness is all about and that is tunnel vision okay present moment awareness is not tunnel vision as I've depicted here on slide number five if you're following along with the images it's not obsessing over the minutiae or the tiny minuscule details of the physical reality all around you okay or even the tiny obsessive minutiae of you know what may be happening in internal processes now I'm not saying don't try to know yourself as best you can I'm not saying don't know your situation as best you can because that is what present moment awareness is all about but when we lose sight of the forest for the trees that's when we're getting into trouble and we get into muddy waters okay we need to understand that present moment awareness isn't like trying to memorize every detail about what's going on in a room so that you can remember it you know five five weeks from now okay it isn't obsessing on every single detail your physical surroundings you know and try to remember what color shoelaces somebody happen to be wearing like you know three months ago that's not what it's about okay that's tunnel vision that's obsessiveness you know that's compulsion it's not being truly in the present as far as awareness is concerned now what it really means is pulling back and seeing the big picture being able to assemble patterns because you were paying attention you were giving the currency of creation forward paying it forward and receiving an important result in return for the attention that you paid okay and that is true understanding that is wisdom is what you will have received as a result of paying that attention and spending that time see spiritual currencies we're going to talk about currency connected with this concept of present moment awareness that's something Franco and I really didn't touch upon too much and I'm going to open that side of it up and you're gonna see how a lot of green language works its way into this concept because we're going to talk about this is actually a prelude of a topic that's coming up on this show in the next couple of weeks in the next many weeks probably and that's money and getting out of monetary attachment next week I'm gonna have Kevin tells nur of the podcast caution tinfoil hat area a show that I have actually appeared on in the past we're going to talk about this fake monetary system and how to start to get out of it I'm also probably going to be bringing on Mike Randazzo who is another activist in the Philadelphia area hopefully he'll be able to come on with Kevin next week some people many people will know kevin as kevin tinfoil through facebook or through his a podcast and in the next couple of weeks I hope to be getting in touch with Michael Kelly who called in a few shows back and said that he was interested in coming on on this topic as well a detachment from the monetary system Michael was one of the speakers at the freer mind conference he gave a phenomenal Asian on neuro-linguistic programming and hypnosis the differences between them what they can be used to do or not do and Michael is an old friend of mine and he is one of the people that really helped wake me up this gentleman was awake long before I was and put out information in a very open way and uh has very deep knowledge about a lot of the events going on in our world and was directly instrumental in helping me to come out of my trance state and my poisoned worldview so I hope to secure him as a guest it's nothing is confirmed I have to get in touch with him he did contact me I'm gonna contact him this week and try to secure him for you know coming on in the next couple of weeks hopefully so a monetary detachment an important topic that's coming up on future editions of what on earth is happening starting next week but to go back to this concept of present moment awareness not being tunnel vision what it really is is instead of obsessively focusing on minutiae it's pulling back and seeing the big picture seeing the larger pattern at work such that we can increase our understanding of that pattern and then have knowledge direct first-hand knowledge on what we really can do about that situation that's what present moment awareness is okay it is understanding how systems work together now people would think oh one has nothing to do with the other they are directly connected if we are truly in the moment if we are truly in the now we're gonna be receptive to understanding wider patterns that are taking place and specifically we're gonna get in tune with understanding patterns of behavior which is what this is all about changing patterns of behavior okay so we need to pull back and see the big picture as I have depicted in image number six this is the global situation the thing that will make all similar that unites us all they were all in the same situation together what ladies and gentlemen we're all on a huge spinning rock floating through space in case you haven't figured that out okay that in itself is so utterly amazing okay that it's so mind-blowing that that is our actual present moment situation and this is the only planet we know and and call home and you know we're basically warring with each other here violating each other its natural law rights constantly engaging in transgressions against natural law and other people's inherent natural law rights polluting and degrading the living planet upon which we rely for life and focusing on things like celebrity and football and all kinds of other trivialities and distractions as opposed to really truly being in engaging our consciousness in the present moment to understand what our present situation is globally and how we're all connected and we're all one and as one individual suffers or experienced it experiences injustice so do all individuals because there is no separation at a fundamental level of consciousness okay so that big picture that global picture is what we need to try to take in and as we do that we're going to be able to see the solutions more readily and we're going to be able to apply them more readily in our lives that's what the development of wisdom is all about so as our awareness pulls back even more and becomes greater and greater I would say you know I've put these next two images in here just to give people an idea you know we need to get to global awareness first and the understanding of what situation humanity is truly in that's the first step but you know once it goes past even that we need to pull back and understand galactic awareness galactic consciousness the local neighborhood in other words of the other star systems are and you know as consciousness expands even beyond that point we'll be able to take in cosmic consciousness depicted in slide number eight and again these are just images of you know the constructs that are in our universe you know planets galaxies and you know planets stars that form galaxies and then galaxies and huge clusters as depicted here in the this is the Hubble Ultra Deep Field image taken by the Hubble Space Telescope that was pointed in between the stars of our galaxy so could look out past the Milky Way galaxy just to see what was out there and it depicted this is what it what this is the image the Hubble brought back which was called the Hubble Ultra Deep Field depicted him on slide number eight there's probably over 10,000 galaxies just in this little tiny tiny speck of the sky I mean this is like you know less than an arc second of sky or something like that it's an amazing how small the area of sky that this was pointed at was and in between the visible stars of our galaxy and this is what's out there it's limitless just like the limitless possibilities that surround us that we need to choose from and we need to chew [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host Marc past day my website is what on earth is happening calm today on the show we're talking about true present moment awareness we've covered basically what that is all about I talked about it fairly extensively with Franco Huard a couple of weeks ago it was a great interview if you haven't heard it check it out in the podcast archive on my site I want to talk about how this concept of linear time is connected with money in our psyches and it's a very nested embedded concept you've heard we've all heard the expression time is money and it is money but not in the sense that people traditionally use that phrase to mean you know they're using it in the sense that the more time I waste you know the the less physical currency in the form of these fake fractional reserve banking notes I could receive because I'm spending my time to basically get those fake Federal Reserve notes okay it's all an erroneous concept of time used to justify spending your time to accumulate an erroneous concept of money we need to understand how real time is connected with real money and I'm going to explain what I mean by that another concept that we need to get out of thinking of time as being is endless repetitive cycles that lead to nowhere as in the movement of an object around another object okay in a single plane this defining our year for example as the image I put here even look at the arms on a clock on an analog clock they just keep going endlessly cyclically now on the same plane okay in reality the true movement of a wavefunction is like a spiral okay yes it's an up-and-down progression and a backwards and forwards progression but it's also also a forward motion a true progression progress okay that's what the shape of the spiral represents we take that spiraling energy into a three dimensional form we get like a torus shape which is a very important shape that underlies a lot of what we call physical reality it's the basic function of the field in which we exist is the basic form of the field in which we exist at all levels the torus so if we look at this endlessly repeating cyclical physical notion of time it's going to do a couple of things it's going to portray the idea of helplessness of unchanged ability okay of pointlessness this is what this linear concept of time is meant to do this cyclical notion of time actually is what it is that just one year follows and that's just like one week follows the next just like one day follows the next and it's endlessly repeating it ultimately leads nowhere different nowhere that changes this is a poisoned worldview when it comes to how we look at time and ultimately we need to internally change that it's a it's a concept of worldview change this change in our notion of time and how we see it okay so the notion of time being fake money needs to get thrown out and the notion of time being an endlessly repeating cycle that ultimately leads nowhere needs to be thrown out because neither is true we need to see time as it really is it's an illusion created by our physical experience of reality ultimately there is only the now ultimately there is only one moment the present moment okay now let's take a look at how real time is connected with real money you know this whole we've talked endlessly about how the fake monetary system it calls itself the 1i mon i mono the prefix for one and ey tacked on to it Mon I and people will again dismiss this and say oh that's not really where the word money came from in English this is the reason that they set the word money up to be like this it is supposed to be the incarnation of the one I which is the rep we went over again practically I didn't phone ID him what the symbolism of the one I meant and that's on past podcast you can go back and listen to that I won't be reiterating all of that but I'll just essentially say it represents the true divine essence the spark of the divine the spirit oneness unity consciousness etc the unified field of infinite energy if you want to call it God go right ahead many people are uncomfortable with that term I have no problem with it as I've said many times that's what the real one eye represents it's getting in touch with that infinite dynamic intelligence that underlies all of creation call it what you will okay so what we call money is currency okay and ultimately everything that exists is an infinite ocean of consciousness so it is all the sea this is why they use again this concept of maritime law to usurp people's individual natural law rights their inherent natural law rights because they know that we're all living in a huge sea of infinite energy of living dynamic intelligence the Unified Field it's a sea of consciousness it's an ocean okay and now this word sea as we follow this green language progression from money being related with time okay because time is a spiritual currency it's a form of money in the true sense of the word money we use time in a certain way we will have an activated one I we will have an activated consciousness spark of the divine living dynamic intelligence that dwells within all of us it will become active the one I will be opened okay so this concept of the sea the ocean of awareness of pure consciousness is what weird welling in okay that's why they use this concept of the law of water to usurp rights these sorcerers these dark occult ik magicians if you will the occult controllers whatever name you want to use for them they're psychopathic so-called elitist that consider themselves elite that are simply using mind control techniques to fool people into the belief in two religions Authority and money neither of which actually exists at least the fake money doesn't in the sense of a medium of exchange even to the people who think oh money is only a medium exchange of energy that's fake - ladies and gentlemen we need to go past that in consciousness or we're never going to be free we don't need exchanges of things that represent something else if we want to have an exchange exchanged the real thing as soon as you get into a proxy of the real thing you're in trouble so do I think even you know all of this symbolism is really what the real thing is all about no it's a symbol that represents something a story can be told as a result and information can be conveyed as a result of the understanding of that symbol that's all could they actually do have effects upon our subconscious and psyche absolutely we are inherently affected like that that's a function of our basic nature forms and art types do affect our subconscious hey that doesn't mean that a symbol actually represents the real thing the real spark of the divine is different than the all-seeing eye it's just a symbol for that thing okay so understand the distinguishment understand that dichotomy they've just said to go back to money and how time is connected with it in present moment awareness we're all in this current sea of infinite energy in the present moment it's an ocean of awareness existing in the now that's what currency really is we'll be right back to continue with this green language word flight stay with us ladies and gentlemen [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone [Music] this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening calm today on the show we're talking about present moment awareness and mindfulness and we're gonna be getting to your calls in a few moments I'm gonna wrap up this green language allegory hopefully in this segment and then we're gonna get to mindfulness in the next segment after that and then I'm gonna try to get to your calls we have a couple of callers on the line already I'll give the callin number again it's eight six six eight four one one zero six five call in get in the queue and we'll be taking calls coming up this hour so the true nature of time as a spiritual currency which we spend on what we pay attention upon we're spending our lives the energy of our lives in the form of time and attention and we get something in return for that that's the true exchange that takes place the true money ahman i terry exchange okay and that's currency and we breaking down the word currency in green language it is the current see the flow of the water the flow of the ocean of consciousness current means flow and the CSEA the ocean of awareness current see that's what you're really saying phonetically when you say the word currency it's the same yes there's a tea in there in the word current but when you say it quickly together it's basically phonetically pronouncing that same series of sounds okay that's what green language is now current also means the present moment and see also means to see as in to look at to be aware of by looking at which is where attention comes into it so in the present moment what we pay attention to is what we get in form of currency what we are currently aware of through looking through paying attention you see how this language works it's all right there in front of us these aren't coincidences and this is something I know the left brain among us have the most enormous problem with this thing because what you know what they're really railing against you want to know what they're really upset about they want to convince themselves because they're in such a state of imbalance in the mind in the psyche in the actual brain that the universe is not a magical place ultimately that there is no such thing as a higher form of consciousness that doesn't operate according to their limited perceptual awareness coming from their left brain prison hood that's what the people who the totally dismiss green language that's what why they think that way okay it all comes from a shortcoming within the self to not want to look at a possibility and I'm telling you this isn't just the possibility this is let the language of creation that's always speaking to us we just have to be open-minded enough and have our heart and our mind open enough to hear what is being told to us at all times and places and sadly many people are cut off from that flow from that current and as a result they do not see so what are some other financial terms connected with money we have the word account and our currency goes into an account right but our current see what we're paying attention in the present moment right goes into our account balance okay our accounts what we're going to be held accountable for under natural law our responsibility as an individual based on what we paid attention to and the knowledge that we received as a result we're going to help to account it was ultimately what the universe is trying to do in this huge monetary system that is all of nature is to create a balance Mui say org has moved and expecting [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark passio today on the show we're talking about true present moment awareness and the development of mindfulness and I was going through a green language exercise helping people to understand that time and attention is the real spiritual currency that we use to really advance and gain and progress within ourselves that's what evolutionary progress is all about see we are activating in the present moment our attention so that's what current see is look at it now pay attention now be here now be aware now and as a result we're going to gain through balance true money one-eye because that's how the one eye awakens that's how it comes online through the balance of the brain hemispheres through the balance of the energy of the heart through the balance of love the energy of consciousness which brings balance and this is a financial term a balance is how much you really have how much of the true one eye the true maaan I do you really have forget the fake stuff the paper stuff isn't worth the paper it's printed on I'm talking about the internal money the spark of the divine how much of that do we have within us well that's directly related with our income what we take into to ourselves what comes in and that's all we've been talking about over the last few weeks what we put into ourselves through our worldview how we view ourselves and others through our attention the quality of our attention what do we pay attention to what kind of media do we take in what kind of information do we take in from where what kind of sources the food that we take in through our bodies the water that we take in that's all income all of that is income it goes into our account and ultimately creates balance so that we can have true money and that's what time and attention are spent to create it's all about money just not the kind of money most people think about sadly they think about the fake money all the time and give very little time and attention to the real currency the real money so hopefully you've enjoyed that little green language exercise and hopefully you understand it hopefully you know where I was going with that if you can perceive green language you're probably part of the way toward balance already if you can't or if you snicker about that or if you dismiss it completely you're probably in the prison of the left brain and likely to remain there unless you engage in the topic I'm going to talk about now which is mindfulness for those who are really super trapped in that left brain modality and are so obsessed with of this world is all there is worldview you know can't really grasp any higher spiritual understandings and are only concerned with the physical the financial the you know the political aspects of this world and this life well that's definitely signs those are definitely signs of left-brained prison hood okay and those who dismiss the occult in general dismiss that there are correspondences that these individuals are using there relate to this type of language and these types of symbols and it doesn't as I've said many times it doesn't matter whether any individual in particular believes in any of it things that you don't believe in can affect you believe it or not your belief is not required for something to affect you in your life you're not the arbiter of truth meaning you're not the arbiter of what has any effect in this reality that's not really up to you you can determine how you handle it you can determine how aware you are of it but you're not really did you're not really the determiner or the arbiter of what has effect here okay you're not the creator of natural law you're not the creator of the universe in case you haven't figured that out but many people think oh if I don't believe in something it doesn't affect me we've gone over this many times you know somebody acting on a belief system can affect you whether you believe in their beliefs or not so it's a matter of knowing how many individuals who have real do wield power and influence in this world because of what they've gotten people to believe and accept as true as real oftentimes which have absolutely nothing to do with reality or truth and therefore what they are the actions that they're putting forward based on what they believe you know of a fundamentalist in any given religion is acting on their beliefs so their belief systems since it's driving their behavior is creating an effect in the world because their behavior has an effect on other people in the world it's a very simple and logical thing to perceive anybody would even put forward the notion that well I don't believe in that stuff so it doesn't affect me is is utter it's utter insanity it's nonsense for anybody to think like that in all honesty they're a very immature child in a psychological development because it's a very clear and logical thing to see that you don't your belief is not required for someone else's belief system to affect you in life as long as they're willing to act on their beliefs okay so with that having been said let's look at mindfulness because this is becoming the observer watching your actions stepping back from the role that is being played by you in the physical domain not identifying with the physical five-sense reality stepping back from that and being able to watch your actions being able to watch your reactions and believe me once again I'll caveat this with the statement I'm not always in this state 24 hours a day as a matter of fact before the show I was getting very upset with something that was going on a piece of technology not working right and I was falling out of that state entirely because again I'm not perfect and you know I have flaws but I try to work on it I try to catch myself as much as possible I try to look back in hindsight and then say I'm not gonna I'm gonna endeavor and strive not to fall out of that state of higher consciousness in the future and mindfulness the main practice the main way to become adept at being that observer of your actions is through the brain balancing of meditation and we'll talk a little bit about medicated techniques on the other side of the break and then we'll go to your calls you're listening to what on earth is a G is a symbol for silver on the periodic table [Music] we're back everyone I'm going to try to wrap off the concept of mindfulness in this segment and get to your calls so let's jump right back into it mindfulness really can seem like a paradoxical term as well and I've - this mind ful Ness the state of being full with the mind okay that's what this really means it mean it means becoming filled with the true mind capital M okay we could look at that as the sole the development of the qualities of the soul and this is done through again paradoxically it would seem emptying the mind but we're not emptying the higher case M mind the true mind were emptying the lower case and mind the ego mind okay we're trying to purify the lower case M mind the small me we're trying to get that into a state of connectedness with the all mind that's the difference between these two forms of the word mind mine with a capital M mind with a lowercase M we can say the same word and it can represent an entirely different concept based on the context we're using it in just as we did with self and self the true self for lack of a better term versus the ego identified physical world identified lowercase as self okay as we showed on previous shows the the differences between those two concepts the same applies here with the higher mind the all mind which we want to become imbued with which we want to become full with our vessel to fill our physical vessel with that state of consciousness that quality of consciousness and we do that through quieting and ultimately a laying the chatter of the left brained ego mind the lowercase M mind okay this is like the turning down of the volume because that left brain is constantly chattering away at high volume but this all mind this higher case M awareness is always speaking but it doesn't raise its voice it always speaks in a calm clear tone it's a voice of holistic creative intelligence and it's speaking to us everywhere at all times and places it's the voice of balance it's the voice of true reason it's the voice of truth and the way to quiet the left brain chatter is through the brain balancing technique of meditation we're going to do an entire show on brain balancing techniques if you're too left brained as in this instance I'm talking about you would employ some meditation to bring about some balance the development of the true money balance connected with the heart okay connected with true care that's what this is all about conscience being awoken all right and again this voice of truth this voice of reason and this voice of balance never really speaks above a whisper it doesn't yell in your ear but it's always there that the our job is to turn our volume knob down as I depict here on the last image on the slide show so that we can connect with that voice of balance and that voice of truth and what form of meditation should we use to do this well there's infinite amounts infinite forms of meditation it's what works for you there is no right way of meditating there's no one way of meditating you could look into TM you could look into you know brain wave meditation yeah that is done through guided audio you could look at musical meditation you can get into meditation through you can get into meditation through rhythmic drumming you I can go on and on and on a name a million different ways it's what works for you there's walking meditations where you don't even need to be still to do it just look it up there's tons of techniques I might post some documents on different techniques of meditation with this podcast but ultimately at least do it for a small amount of time now again balance is called for you don't want to get into right brained imbalance by meditating obsessively as we've talked about in the past on this show yes you can do that you can create more right brain imbalance which is a different type of problem by meditating too much about a form of balance has to be struck and you'll know that you're in that state of balance when your your behaviors start to show improvement in the quality of your life your life will improve you won't have the kinds of same self-inflicted problems that you had in a state of left brain and balance or right brain imbalance whatever the case may be at a future show we're going to talk about right brain and balance as well and how we can correct that with concentration techniques and we'll talk about techniques to balance the brain toward the left side if you're extremely right brained you know in a state of right brain imbalance and then we'll talk about contemplation on a future show which is a technique used to maintain balance once it is already there contemplation the lost modality of human thought so mindfulness ultimately is there to help us to turn down the chatter of the left brain so we can hear the voice of balance that voice of holistic creative intelligence that is always speaking to us and that's done through a meditative technique that works for you that's the key thing to keep in mind when you can when you can engage this and start to quiet that chatter within you you will start to go into what's generally referred to as pure consciousness and you will then become the observer of your experience the observer of your action then you will be able to step back from identification with the physical domain not to say it's not important to engage in action in the physical domain but you will in other words help yourself to be in the state of consciousness such that you are in the world but not of it and that's the goal of mindfulness or the observer in other words so I'm gonna leave that there and let's go to the phones okay because we have a lot of callers on the line and I want to take your calls in up till the end of the show so here we go caller from the 267 area code your live on what on earth is happening welcome hi mark it's Kevin can you feed okay hey Kevin how are you great to hear from you what Legion here on the show next week we're going to get into methods of detachment from the monetary system and to promote sustainable living so Kevin welcome thank you yeah I'm very much looking forward to that show actually it was nice that you came on my podcast and and left a really great set of information there and I'm looking for doing the same for you next week grow what I specifically wanted to mention it is about a decade ago or so when I was first like hanging out with my wife and we had first met she had introduced me to a couple friends person like this is that one of the friends had told me about a dream of hers that was very I don't know if it's just do something that really stuck close to my heart and it really meant something to me not only that she shared it with me but like the content of it and essentially the dream is that she said that she'd never really had very many dreams in her life that were like full-on color and this was very much in like full lucid color and the people in the dream the normal people in the dream and so on and so forth they they became that they all were people who were who used to be wealthy in a monetary form in that they could not like actually difficult she affirmed of money and then there was a whole group of other people who are learning something nearly where they were sharing this energy between each cut between themselves and that energy became the true wealth Wow and all the other ones versus wound up becoming wrath that is a child wealthy and the people who could exchange ever we're coming up he came that early well Pema we're coming up to break hold it right there that's extremely interesting I want to pick that fought off on the other side stay with us looking for great talk radio [Music] behind the girl I'll make my all day [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting we have two more segments and want to take your calls in those two segments until the end of the show the call-in number to join us is eight six six eight four one one zero six five let's go back to Kevin and Philadelphia Kevin you were telling us a story about a dream and there was a form a different form of energy exchange taking place from people who had once been I guess you could say a well-to-do or quite wealthy but now they were learning how to engage in a different form of energy exchange and take a couple minutes to wrap that up and then we're gonna take some more callers actually the the really it was almost kind of sad for the currently wealthy people of like cash monetary wealthy because those people all essentially became the poor interesting in this future dream of hers and all the people that are currently poor learned this way of exchange energy and information with each other and passionate like literally like the way she described it like there was just an energy exchange it went in between the two people and it's very like like bright and colorful and so on and so forth but this is again the minds allegory right now when there's someone are dreaming like they're they're pulling these ideas together of the things that they already know Kevin have never seen and I've ever seen the movie The Celestine Prophecy or read the book a kind of a sounds similar to what was going on in that in that a book and movie as a matter of fact yes I have when I when I'd come across those those those books specifically I definitely felt a very kinship huge kinship to them because of Niger ISM is well dreamed that she had mentioned and it was just very synchronistic that that like these ideas are all coming together as well because I think other people are really starting to see that that that concept coming is that like money is an illusion so it's really even when like our currencies get devalued and so on and so forth in them and the economic forecasts and so on I laugh and I it makes me happy because I'm like we we all know that monies are an illusion in the first place so like why why our wire are illusions becoming devalued and not just we're taking up our time spending our present our gift in the present moment to obsess on this thing that is an illusion that's the real crazy thing about it though at the expense of the true present moment you know we're engaged in this pursuit of an illusion and that's ultimately win and that's the other quick thing I want to toss out sure that's the other quick thing I want to toss out is the calendar of consumption that's one of the things really actually opened my eyes up I saw the movie idiocracy saw the beverage ambulances and specifically I was working retail at the time at a place called Party City and essentially they continuously bring in resources from our products and stuff from China like like American flags napkins you know that's really patriotic right you're right if your seasonal allergies during a barbecue are under that as you can imagine but you know that people don't really think about this they just buy to stuff and it just goes into the garbage ambulance and they do it in this calendar consumption fashion New Year's Eve there's a whole product line that came out specifically to be sold as party favors right and then each progressive new season comes along most of them religious and/or government nationalisms so on and so forth and between religion and government they pretty much control I guess about 90% of the quote unquote holy days and they're all based off of this calendar of consumption to keep people feeding The Economist why they're going finance worth it they don't need that's why they're called holy days or holidays because it's all dedicated toward their God money you know that's what they're trying to set up as our God and that's what they have people focusing all their time and attention on their spiritual money their spiritual currency giving away the real thing for the fake thing Kevin thanks so much for those great points and I'll I'll be talking to you next week on the show thanks so much man thanks for having me on see you next week you got it all right let's go to the next caller John from Canada you're live on what on earth is happening welcome what do you have for us can you hear me yes yes I can your own life okay thank you yeah I was I agree with you what you're saying about currency being worthless and money being an illusion I tried testing it out that the idea one night I went to the grocery store got her till the car was brought is when I came to the cashier you know she gave me the total it was like eighty seven dollars and something and I said the currencies that I have in my pocket I could give you but I am sharing with you something which is much more real and that is my attention and my consciousness right and she said well you're gonna have to come up you know with eighty seven dollars and I know Reserve notes it's worth yep the money is an illusion worthless right because a manager in the guy isn't Danny because there were a few people in line you know behind and she's gone surrogate the paper to grow it was sure their name systems though their belief systems will be so bound to it that you know that situation could escalate to violence rather quickly in in our current world sure you know so no but the beauty of it what yeah but the beauty of it was they couldn't arrest me or anything because I hadn't walked out the store with the Roasterie oh sure sure yeah in in a note in no way in my attempting to suggest that everyone is there yet and in no way am I suggests that the people who do know about this illusion are not unfortunately bound by the mind control of the vast majority who do continue to buy into this illusion but maybe if we can get people up to that level of consciousness we can all you know just desist in this madness and we can create something that we you know are barely even scarcely able to imagine of what this planet could become like the possibility for a future incarnation of this planet most of us can barely even scarcely imagine what that might look like were we to do away with this complete nonsensical illusion that we call money and really start to do something that is more geared to our higher evolutionary progression so absolutely yes do you have a like I just you advocate like not doing business with having a checking account and that sort of thing well if you're gonna do put money in any bank it should be a small one or a credit union you know the big banks definitely don't don't fuel those but my whole detachment from the monetary system comes in the form of AI I will not work where any any type of 3 way of middleman is employed in what I do I I give my labor for you know the exchange of what I agree that the person is going to give me in return for that labor that's a mutual exchange and I only work as a sovereign being I'm not a corporation I don't get I don't use any kind of identification numbers I don't have a social security number to give to anyone so I I you know what work are you able to do what kind of work are you able to do on that day period I do essentially to secure these fake reserve notes so that you know I can have you know the limited amount of money that I do to do the things I need to do on a daily basis I do some computer repair work and computer tutoring work and that's it and it's a one-on-one exchange with people who directly ask for those services and I provide them and that's it there's no middleman but you don't but you don't you you do accept money for the services or no in some instances yes and I could also maybe barter for them if the person has something that I'm interested in borrowing for so sometimes it's an exchange of something that's not quote monetary and sometimes it is but are you read I own home yeah and I mean do you make mortgage payments or you own it outright or unfortunately yes yep so it's it's you know in my situation is in snow in many ways as far as the financial situation is concerned in the world isn't different than most other people except I've taken a rather extreme approach that you know I'm not going to help fund murder you know I'm not going to give of what I happen to earn on a daily basis to fund murder and pillaging throughout the world I just won't do it and I because I know who those individuals are who are doing it because I worked with them in my past and I know that they're also pedophiles and child killers so nothing but they have to have the need to have the bank account you need to be Social Security you have to give them your social security number right no I I don't engage in any anything like that I work for cash only if somebody gives me mob but I mean but I mean to make your mortgage payments you're using us a checking account right now I'm not using mine no so but I mean that's you know all I'm gonna give out a pump personal you know financial information but it's not done through my name so that that that's how I handle that so we'll talk about ways of getting out of that system starting next week so let's go to the brace geo of truth frequency radio if you missed our six [Music] welcome back everyone this is the last segment of this edition of what on earth is happening I'm gonna wrap up my response to John from Canada's question regarding how I personally detach from the monetary system then I'm going to take some other calls and the callers were all on the line please off be as brief as possible get your comment or question out there so I can get a response out to it because we have limited time and there's many people hanging on the line still so I detached from the monetary system to the extent that is within my capability to do so by not participating in the taxation system and by working as a sovereign individual only that's how I do it I don't put my money in banks but when I do go to the grocery store yeah I have to bring those worthless Federal Reserve notes and pay for the groceries with those worthless meaningless FRNs also just like everybody else does because I'm bound by other people's belief systems just as much as anybody else as long as people continue to believe in that and that's one of the main ways that we can get the foods that we need to sustain ourselves unless we can ramp up production to get all of the food that we need by growing in our own land I happen to live in a city like most of the other population of this country and I don't live on farmland where I can grow all of my own organic food so when I go to the grocery store yeah I pay with the fake form of money as well and you know the real form of money is still seen as largely valueless to most people and most people would kill or die over the fake money that's just the way it happens to be right now in the present moment and we're working to change that in the present moment by bringing awareness let you know through information like this to the world and ultimately it has to change if it doesn't humanity's not really going to be here to be debating you know what methods we use to get out of this system because ultimately it's going to devour us all and I'll leave that there and let's go to the next caller call her from the 607 area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome hey Mark how's it going hey welcome to the show hey first time caller I wanted to ask your opinion on the Higgs boson and whether or not we're living in a universe that's in a black hole yeah I think the idea of the Higgs boson being the god particle is kind of ridiculous the idea that there is no further possibility of division is as insane as there is an end boundary to the universe itself the universe is infinite in both directions it's infinite in the very large there is no edge or boundary to it and it's infinite in the very small you can keep dividing it to infinity and people have a science has a hard time with that because it's pure left brain you know it's not it can't incorporate that idea of infinity that comes from the holistic intelligence of the the balance between the brain hemispheres so the Higgs boson is not the quote god particle there is no such thing as the god particle because there is no such thing ultimately as a particle it's all just vibrating energy in this sea of awareness that's called consciousness ultimately and that could be that's infinite in its boundaries it's infinite there is no boundary it's infinite in its expansiveness I should say and it's infinite in its ability to be divided into smaller and smaller parts so yeah they're trying to build larger and larger super colliders to find smaller and smaller particles it's madness absolutely I wanted to hear your opinion on UFOs maybe next week I know you want it that's the more whole shows on that after we complete our solution section and within the many weeks to come out generations and then I'm gonna get into some other esoteric topics that I've held my tongue on for a long time okay so we will get we will get into those topics but it will be many many weeks from now probably several months from now okay but we will get into them in on future shows so thanks so much for the call let's go to the next caller caller from the 303 area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome Hey Kevin's in Colorado how are ya hey welcome to the show I'm doing well good I just wanted to chime in and the present moment awareness and meditation and some one of the things that in June is uh Vikram's hot yoga have you heard of that I have not check it out it's the hour and a half and a 105 degree room 50 degree humidity and one of the best deal because I've ever done interesting I would guess the doctors that gets the body's purified by sweating those toxins out through the skin absolutely and the people who do it they say I mean I they sleep on the class or six years old they look like they're thirty interesting that's pretty cool yeah so check that out see if there's a Bikram Yoga where you live and go check out the class if you like it great and thanks for advice on juicing I recently bought a juicer and I've been juicing up and I can totally totally feel the difference of energy and that organic juice absolutely ah nice big glass of it during the entire show today as I do many times so that's fantastic to me it's great that you are you know took that advice and you're putting it into practice that's what it's all about yeah thank you for the warehouse of knowledge that you're a podcast is giving me I'm a guy who's gone through just about every episode from the beginning and what a life-changer very good and very good stuff well I appreciate that very much so you have anything you have a good day and keep up the great work thanks so much my friend you take care thank you bye bye alright here we go caller from the 4-1 to area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome to the show [Music] what Pittsburgh hi I'm like ask you are you talking about your strongman you're saying that you got rid of all your identity specifically I haven't spoken a about the the concept of the straw man this all fits in with maritime Admiralty law but I've made my position on the straw man pretty clear that there is no political or legal solution to eliminating that what we need to do is reject it absolutely on its face as a concept and refuse to be bound by it absolutely say I'm not participating in this nonsensical system of illusion and you know being bound by these things that completely usurp natural law it's not a matter of trying to beg their system to provide us the solutions or try to do something and jump through all these hoops in their legal system which is all about authority and control and that's an illusion in and of itself to free ourselves it's a matter of absolute refusal to cooperate with their nonsense you know and say you're not you're not my owner you're not my master I you cannot ascribe to me certain characteristics and qualities that I do not you know agree to under these legal fictions you know so I I don't it doesn't matter to me what they say I have that that's somebody's claim and that needs to be recognized by an individual who accepts the claim as being real or true and I I do neither I don't accept it as being real and I don't accept it as being true and nobody can bind me to those things if I don't believe in them myself the object is freeing the mind of even believing that any of those things are real because they're not it's all a fantasy it's all a fiction to get you to identify with it such that you're running around in circles you're trying to find some kind of solution when the solution is not to believe in it at all and the refuse to be bound by it the problem is here's the problem with this so few people have that level of mental freedom that they're still willing to go along with this system and they're not willing to get behind other people who are also refusing to be bound by this system and stand up physically if need be to these dominators and controllers there's just not enough numbers there to do that so we're basically still teaching this from an underground perspective and trying to free people from that identification of accepting these claims and accepting these legal fictions as being true or real so I hope that answers your question do you have anything else based on that Oh so when it comes to maritime law your feelings on that oh it's all a fantasy created by people who want to dominate and usurp our other people's inherent natural law rights it is made up it is made up it has nothing to do with reality there is only natural law that governs the experience that we create through the behaviors and choices that we make through our thoughts our emotions and our actions and I've done many shows on natural law I would highly recommend going back to help really get a deep understanding of how natural law works and functions to deliver the reality that we live in and experience and that's the only reality that's the only actual truth what I call the real law of attraction how the universe functions this maritime Admiralty system is all fantasy and illusion and again it is a claim via dominate that requires someone else's belief and the acceptance of that claim that's a great way to end the show here today we're going to be talking about the monetary system next week and how that's tied in with these systems of control but for now that's all the time we have on this edition of what on earth is happening we'll see here next Sunday 5 o'clock p.m. Eastern Time you've been listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcast world's first and only Swift gold have a great show lined up for you here today we're going to be we have a special guest coming on to discuss a very important topic we're going to be continuing our ongoing solutions oriented approaches to the problems that humanity faces in consciousness and as part of that solution we have to begin to understand the fact that money is an illusion created to enslave us all and that's something that many people really have a very difficult time with a very hard time even imagining a world without money but these are the topics that we're going to discuss today with our special guest Kevin tells nur Kevin is an activist and talk show host from right here in my hometown right in the Philadelphia area he does a great podcast called a caution tinfoil hat area yes a comic name for a podcast but he discusses some very serious subjects on that podcast I highly recommend checking it out his podcast is linked right now on the radio show page you could participate in the chat room as well on that radio show page for the show today so I have one quick really not an event announcement but I want to thank everyone who turned out for the last truth freedom prosperity documentary night at media bureau studios they braved a very rainy damp cold evening and came out and I'm very glad that they did because we showed one of the most empowering documentaries that we have to date and that was Michael - sorry owns architects of control and boy was it a hard-hitting and powerful one and I think you know the right people were there to witness at the people who really wanted to see that and use their willpower to come out in a in a bad weather situation came out and they were there and they they were the people that need to be there and see that so thank you for showing up everyone that did show up for that last documentary night the next one is going to be on Wednesday night March 28th the 28th of March and we haven't picked a movie for that as of yet but I segment we have Kevin tells nur and again we're going to be discussing the monetary system as a mechanism of enslavement and how to three our minds of that illusory methodology of enslavement cut that's coming up on this edition of what on earth is happening stay with us [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening on your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show our special guest is kevin tills nner an activist and talk show host from the philadelphia area kevin is the creator and host of caution tinfoil hat area on the talk show network will be discussing solutions to the corrupt monetary system which currently has a stranglehold over our country and the world as a whole this will include the exploration of topics such as sustainability resource-based living and free energy technologies among others Kevin welcome to what on earth is happening thank you very much for having me on mark I really appreciate it absolutely thanks for being here with us today so Kevin um the idea of money as an illusion we talked about this in the mind control section on the site what we want to start doing here today is helping people to understand that fundamental truth and help them to start dis identifying their minds with this concept of money and thinking that we need money to exist to survive as beings you know that that this is something that eternally must be here and must exist in order to us to function and have a society and have civilization at all so um you know let's start exploring that topic and getting into that a little bit and let's saw here your your thoughts on that and how we can begin to free our minds from that illusion that's holding us back as a species I guess one of the first places I want to start off that is kind of where you were just taking it is that like someone else had mentioned that saying that humans cannot live without government is like saying animals cannot survive without farms and I feel that there's a very easy juxtaposition to be created with the concept of money as well as the concept of government in that in that quote sadly we really are kind of lost in our mentalities in many ways like it's almost disturbing the amount of propaganda that's floated towards us even through things like say children's films like as long as Sleeping Beauty's are attracted to men with resources you know dreaming men will wage wars and to try and gain and maintain that attraction and we need to shift our consciousness clearly out of this mentality of we must like buy and be corporate slaves to our consumeristic greed realistically and and like I wish to be said nicer than that but but sadly too many people are are into that consumeristic mentality as even the third mall from the Sun is built and even more than just the fact that people cling on to a materialistic lifestyle it's more of a fact that they their minds have really been so degraded that they don't have the the capacity anymore in many cases to even imagine a situation without money one of the quotes that I've put out there you know myself is that the ultimate form of mind control is the of the extermination of the human imagination once the imagination is gone once you can't really visualize your way out of a situation it you're really enslaved by it you're really trapped in that box of limitation you know it's it's some it literally is a prison for the consciousness not to be able to imagine that a current condition can ever be changed and this is part of worldview this ties in with something I've been talking about as a huge solution to the problems that we face is changing one's worldview from this powerless worldview that you know things have always been this way and they can't be changed and that there is you know lack in the world and you know we need to be in competition for resources and this simply isn't true this is just simply a worldview it's something that if we simply choose to not believe in anymore again that apophatic pathway of this did you know disconnecting ourselves from it taking a second look at it deciding this isn't what is for the betterment of myself or anyone else and I'm just gonna walk away from it I'm gonna I'm gonna stop thinking this way I'm gonna put this set of ideas and beliefs which is what they are down and I'm going to refuse to engage in them anymore I'm going to go over here and do something completely different but unfortunately that requires an activated imagination which unfortunately I should say most people don't have that activated imagination what do you think we can do to start really turning people on to the idea that things aren't set in stone we've made things this way because of what we believe and we can we can change that change those things those situations those circumstances anytime we want but we first have to change our minds what can we do to assist that process well that's exactly it you use a nail right on the head it Psychopaths run our world and we let them by believing in money which they print out of thin air to fund our oppression and then they say it's for our own good and and it's it's it's laughable it really is and and the fact that we don't recognize this early on in life and I think a lot of children actually do and they see through that illusion and we just pound it into him by teaching him this this nonsense I mean even the other day I was trying to teach my son about money and I said the first thing you do when it comes to money is you do not steal from other people when you want to fill your box full of money to try and purchase something you want to purchase because these are the rules again and we I got to teach them to them doesn't mean I like it and I'm the the other ways of getting out of this idea is that we need to kind of encourage people to go beyond the revolution and start to evolve our new source of power needs to mean not money in the hands of the few but information in the hands of the many the whole open source possibilities are really endless the idea of anything being considered a copyrighted and and oh this is my idea you can't have it that that kind of John Galt mentality of this is my idea how dare you steal it from me even though it's a even though it helps the world I'd rather destroy the world in all of its processes instead of just offering solutions that anyone can use that's right or if it's our perfect example such as taking our current resources of trash and turning them into housing that's sustainable exactly and we're gonna get more into earth earth ships later on in the show but to go back to this idea of open sourcing information this is something that I've been hammering on since day one helping people to understand that if we want to be free we have to put things out there freely that's why it's called freedom because and that's why we have so little of it because we're unwilling to do that we're unwilling to simply free that which we create we want to hold on to it stay attached to it attachment is not freedom but it's the exact opposite having not no attachments to something is freedom okay we're not binding ourselves to anything we're releasing the power of the imagination we're not keeping it inside a box anymore so um you know one of the best ways I I think I've put that out there is if you look at the copyright on my podcast if you go on like you know for example the podcast directory on like Apple or something like that where what on earth is happening is listed and it says what is the copyright for this podcast right next to that little copyright symbol it says this information belongs to everyone that's what we ultimately need to get to that level of consciousness that ideas are not mine alone there are things that belong to everyone in creation we'll explore more of this on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening ladies and gentlemen stay with us [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening today on the show we're talking with activist Kevin Pilsner about the corrupt monetary system and how to free ourselves from it first in the mind and then free ourselves from it in the external reality in which we live Kevin we were talking before the break about the idea of attachment and how people think that things have to be a certain way and part of the first method of starting to free ourselves from this corrupt system of financial tyranny is freeing the mind from its identification with it so let's explore that out a little bit more and also you had a quick event announcement that you wanted to make regarding this topic and I want to give the call-in number too so we'll get into that in just a moment let me give the callin number then I let you make your event and now announcement then we'll go from there the call-in number for the show ladies and gentlemen we'll be taking calls an hour number two is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number for this show if you want to call in and ask any questions of Kevin tells me or myself is eight six six eight four one one zero six five calling getting the cue we'll be taking calls in our number two so Kevin you had an event announcement and that will continue to flesh out the the mental detachment from this system that we've been of oppression and enslavement that we've been living under well when I first started to notice things start to fall apart was actually just before like 2001 and like in around 2000 so I saw like a lot of the system starts to fall apart I noticed my own financial capabilities were not what I had hoped they would be after high school and in in going back to school I learned a lot about technology and that was really helpful and it helped me get a couple of new jobs but then I started to still think that like this is ridiculous I'm not doing what I really want to do and what I really want to do is just simply be free and I don't even know what I want to do so I'd like to just be free to explore first so I start looking into different sustainable systems that could be created as cheap as possible and I stumbled on there earthships and a guy named Michael Reynolds created a movie called garbage hoarder and it is very akin to the ungrate film that was played at the at density I'm sorry Adam at TFP this the other day I know you had a movie night that showed unguessed so that's right I actually chose to show that one we showed that a couple months back so the point to all this is that Earthship Phillie having a seminar there was originally $400 it's now I found basically a way to get through through them they've got 100 $200 tickets now that are available for the April 6th 7th and 8th seminar it's essentially on sustainable autonomy for everyone or safe as they call it and you can look that up online at Earthship comm slash Philly - oh shit - seminar - discount - ticket dot HTML we'll post a link there is a link when I'm looking forward to learning all the more from it Kevin will post this link with the podcast of the show on the what on earth is happening website I know it's a one-off event but you know I'll keep it up there as long as the event is going you know prior to the event but um yeah if anybody wants and learn more about earthships as well the movie on grip is great at seeing an Earthship actual actually in action that is being inhabited the gentleman in the movie who's the the main person of interest in the movie also not only brings out ideas about sustainable living in this film which is why I encourage it but he really gets into the concept of sovereignty that we really need to step up and basically let it be known that we're not someone else's subjects that were not their slaves that they don't own us you know and that's what ultimately all of this is is about it's about ownership and what people think you know who become so attached to the concept of money think that they could ultimately start doing with it with the quote power that it affords them over other people's minds and ultimately their behaviors and that that's why so many of these people out there you know in different control based institutions are willing to do much of the you know complete horrors that they take part in on a daily basis the complete and flagrant violations of other people's inherent natural law rights because they're paid to do it they're given a paycheck and to them that represents a value that represents power and ability to do things in the world because of you know how our current financial system is set up and you know they'll do any and all immoral deeds as a result of being paid to do them and we're going to get into that as well so keV let's go back to the idea of an attachment to a certain way of thinking and how this keeps people in this idea that you know there has to be money first of all well the first thing I want to say on that is Daniel Pinchbeck had a perfect quote he did also the creator of the earth I think one of the founders at least of the Evolver group oh yes he said that capital is ultimately a social relation hence a belief system and a collective agreement that can be changed or revoked that's right and see this is when people start to worry because they're like oh no the foundations of my house of cards is being you know the table being shook right and like compassion isn't weakness and concern for the unfortunate is not socialism is another quote and another one is when I give food to the poor they call me a saint when I ask why the poor have no food they call me a communist right look let's let's address this dichotomy right here first of all because this is very important the first thing I want people to understand is I am NOT a communist I am not a socialist as a matter of fact I believe in no systems of oppression government and authority at all I think authority is another religion that is actually it stems from this belief and money they play hand-in-hand that they play into each other hand in hand it is a Hegelian dialectic 'el worldview okay that is that is fostered and promulgated by the sorcerers of this world if you will okay to get people to think well if you're not a capitalist you must be a communist okay if you're not a believer in the free more free market economics with the kind of money that we have now then you must be some kind of a socialist and just because a is not true doesn't mean B must be true okay we have to understand that there is third fourth fifth sixth and an infinity of other ways of being in the world that doesn't include either of these two systems of oppression and enslavement because ultimately that's what they both are one is a financial system of tyranny and one is a state of sponsored system of tyranny and unfortunately we have both of them going on right now if you think you don't live in a fascist society you're absolutely out of your mind because the fascism is the murder of corporate power and state power and that is absolutely what is going on and if you don't think we live in a communist and socialist society you're also equally out of your mind because that is a system that continues to give power to the state take away all private property rights and inherent civil rights of the people and give them hand them over to the state which they deem as the efficient managers of all of those things so I'm not a supporter of either one of those systems there is again as I said many other ways of being in the world other than those two and if you think just because you don't support one that you must be a supporter of another that is extremely immature unit dimensional thinking and you have bought into a method of mind control called the Hegelian dialectic and again the dark usage of that dialectic I should say so Kevin let's uh let's talk about that a little bit thank you very much for actually bringing all that up because that's part of what comes up often when dealing like International and so on who just want to like yell about the zeitgeist movement of The Venus Project being a cult of Marxist robots or I'm gonna free the minds of our labor force or no and like that that's really what it comes down to is the fact that like people are waking up we're starting to understand that there's more light going on and do we have a few moments I've got a hold on a quick break that I'd really like break them so what's I'll continue to explore that on the other side stay where this ladies and gentlemen we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening dot-com we're talking today with Philadelphia area activist and talk-show host Kevin Pilsner about the corrupt monetary system that we live in and how to ultimately free ourselves from it Kevin you were going to get into an anecdote about you know how production has changed and how therefore more people are actually out of work and can't afford things uh than ever before it's exactly right we've gotten ourselves to such a high level of production that through mechanization that a lot of people are put out of work like you just stated and because of that they can't even afford discounted prices say at Costco so Costco gives a whole bunch of their food that's going to be like expired in the next day or so and they give it to Christian charities who then give it out to the poor so a lot of the ideas behind say The Venus Project which is really like taking all the sustainable systems that are in an Earthship and switching them into a citywide design and in so doing we would then have say large vertical farms where they create large amounts of food and just give it away for free there's a guy who works for NASA named Douglas douglas mallette and he has put out a movie you can look it up on youtube very easily it's called our technical reality and it goes over all of the basics of how we today have a lot of the technologies that they suggested in Star Trek and we're kind of on this path of paradise like pass to paradise that's possible but we're also on this trail to oblivion that that's also like really nipping at our feet if we don't pay attention and that comes from all this advanced technology and all this advanced technology and methods of production all around us which I'm not not against I think we can live sustainably with technology it's just a matter of how we're going to use it we have all these means of production and we're using it to pump out so much more than we can use in certain areas and then other people are living in other areas are starving you know and and literally they're making more than than can be used in the shelves in their own stores but then having to actually try to give that away before it spoils I mean this it's it's like madness if you really think about it instead of simply you allowing production to continue to go up like that and then just making it available you know why have to use this medium of exchange we were talking before the show Kevin on the very concept of the medium of exchange how this is a fallacy to begin with people always who are monetary apologists and supporter of supporters of this insanity called the monetary system think that it's just a store of value or a medium of exchange both of those concepts in and of themselves are dangerous both of those concepts ultimately lead to slavery you can't believe that something is something that it is not okay that this worthless piece of paper actually represents the real thing that I can supposedly get as a result of exchanging this with someone else that whole concept is the problem with the monetary system to begin with you know the the concept of creating a medium you think about what that means it means in the middle and money is the farthest thing from balance that we could ever possibly imagine it's not balanced they're trying to present they use that word that word of exchange or medium a medium of exchange as a deliberate obfuscation method as a deliberate mind-controlled technique to get you to identify mentally with this concept of a medium of exchange as a way of balancing one's life which it is absolutely not also a medium is an intermediary like a me a psychic medium and intermediary between you and the spirit world were a priest acts as a medium between you and the the God had a medium between you and the divine force of creation and these are also concepts that are obsolete and ultimately they're as a mechanism of control just like money so Kevin you want to speak to that a little bit yeah please forgive a little cynical ribbing here but a lot of times this is when people start to say oh it's not a money's fault if guns killed people you know pencils would misspell words it's all people they're using and misusing the money and that well that's true and all it's you have to understand that you know as people put this money thing up on such a pedestal you know anytime you put something on a pedestal you kind of deserve to get kicked in the teeth as Michael serenus put it and I really like live and die by that anymore and and that's part of the other issues that like we don't really focus on and consider that it's who would we trust to make this new money if we have this sound money for America I love the idea don't get me wrong I would love a currency that was actually based in in in some sort of truth that actually worked then I don't know maybe even a time bank or something but but like some sort of calculation of how you're putting towards society it would be a wonderful thing but we need the basics to survive and and and people need to understand that money came from like people say that all this money came and helped create all this technology that gave us all this abundance where it's really kind of the other way around where technology came along and it created abundance and capitalism kind of rode the wave of it and yes it greased a lot of palms and a greased a lot of wheels to make things go but in the end money is much more like lawn darts it's an old and dangerous game then maybe it's time to manatee put it on the shelf of some of the other toys from our childhood that's right all we need really is human ingenuity human creativity creativity is the way out of all of this ultimately that's what that's what we really have to become focused upon you know that's where we need to put our and our intent and our intention on becoming creative individuals on developing the capacity of the imagination so that we can imagine our way out of this current condition and you know um we also were talking about before the show Kevin uh we I did a speech at one of the end the federales I think it was the last one that I gave and I talked about the power of the human imagination and I you know said that this is what ultimately these psychopaths want to keep down in us they they they want to eradicate that because if we can't imagine a world any other way than what it is we can't get out of these conditions it worked it's that's that simple and when I ask the people if they could imagine a world without money act an end the Fed rally please take note okay it was almost as if you could hear crickets chirping in the background okay it was like I felt you could feel the empties into silence except for like me and one other person that was like yes yeah and therein lies the entire problem the entire problem is that this religion has a bigger stranglehold over the mind of humanity than any other thought at all than any other belief system this is the biggest one and where that's where it has to be attacked it has to be attacked at the level of the mind first before we can even really ultimately propose any solutions in the physical world we have to understand we're dealing with an illusion that doesn't exist in nature ladies and gentlemen that has to be changed in the mind first and foremost so have you can address that and uh you know if you wanted to get into that that anecdote as well I know you wanted to talk about the anecdote about pretty much the whole thing on that one I mean the other anecdotes that are possible or like we have all these different ideas that can take care of a lot of problems for us I mean we want to end poverty create a bunch of vertical farms it does Malena let I was mentioning works for NASA he's trying to create a little farm like that it's like a building you can just drop it somewhere and it just continuously generates food because of a hydroponic system that works with aquaponics it's basically using tilapia fish and it generates all the nutrients and basically creates a as an ecosystem right and generates the food and it just pumps it out and it's all mechanized and he's actually get some funding for it currently but it's not like these things aren't possible right people talk about the chemtrails in the sky and they're all choked up about it and I like to joke that it's really a simple solution ground dog planes take that we won't fly concept as far as you can and we can make mag Lev technologies are out there pop science has had it out since the 90s they can make a tube like a vacuum tube that that sends your money to your bank and when you're sitting in a car it sends it it basically will send a train a monorail train from New York to London in a few hours and it's not like these things aren't possible it's just that the greedy won't let it happen it cost too much money to make something like that and then what you want to give it away for free and let people ride it for free and well yeah combine that with the attitude that these are elitist take toward any technology or energy system that could ultimately free us from this system of enslavement like free energy you know and that suppression just continues so we're going to talk about that on the other side we're going to talk about free energy technologies and what it means to really transition from a system called limitation and lack okay scarcity to a system of true abundance we'll talk about that on the other side we're listening to what on earth is happening stay with us [Music] welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio today and over the next few weeks we're going to be talking about freeing ourselves from financial tyranny methods on doing that practical methods on doing that but first and foremost getting out of the idea the belief system the religion of money itself so today on the show we're talking with activist Kevin tills Knar about how to begin this process now Kevin you have a sort of an outline of five things that you have observed about and questioned regarding this concept of the free market so I'm going to let you start breaking those down and through that we'll get into the the understanding of the dichotomy between scarcity based thinking and abundance based thinking so I'll let you pick it up from there thank you I guess the first one I'll just lay right into it Roxanne Meadows of The Venus Project specifically has stated in today's society you are only as free as your purchasing power and even in a true or enlightened capitalist free-market acknowledge we're not in one now and that's obvious we're much more like a fascist corporatism it's but nonetheless it still creates a wage slave because you have to work for money or you starve in that system to so the question comes down to why must humans pay to survive on this planet as the saying goes were the only species who does right yeah I know other species uses money you know we it seems we are degraded from the other species on the planet in this regard with all the capabilities we have that allegedly makes us a higher category of being than them we're using this illusory concept of something that doesn't exist in nature and chaining ourselves with it actually enslaving ourselves through a capacity of the mind it's it's absolutely amazing so I definitely I toe we agree with that the second one was kind of like this I don't know maybe two of them I'm gonna have to say are kind of a little iffy because they look at government as well and this one is specifically the free market directly led to crony capitalism and government based monopolies through this monetary system well so what happens baby that could happen this man gives you the finger is George Carlin at right Kevin let me stop you for a second that could happen through the very concept of differential status in and of itself like saying this person has more of value and has more ability to do things in society just based on how many of these monetary units he happened to acquire not because he's an actual better human being or because he's capable of actually producing something that is truly worthwhile toward the many you know he could have gotten rich on uh selling plush dolls dolls that really don't serve any actual utilitarian purpose other than some you know aesthetics or you know people who appreciate such things but the whole point is you know what did did the maker of let's say Cabbage Patch dolls get incredibly rich while our Cabbage Patch dolls solving the problems of humanity okay yeah babies might like to play with them but you know is that actually doing anything ultimately for improving the quality of life for the people on the earth you know but that person could get incredibly rich in a system even in an open true open free market system okay but did that person actually contribute to the betterment of his species I would argue no so that this is the point you're trying to make here but that's definitely a huge part of it even and we mentioned number three earlier where even in the free market someone has to create money and capital so who can we trust to create it I mean are we considering the idea of making like a million more Ben Bernanke's here I the fourth one is a we live on just one finite planet and I know you want to get into this here with it with scarcity and such and that's really what it comes down like before I even get into number four here I want to throw out a minor anecdote about Australia where realistically we could actually move everyone one the planet to Australia and basically build a sustainable environment on that saying we should I'm just saying that we could and since that's the second smallest continent it pretty much proves that we don't have an issue with overpopulation and that's pretty much a myth well we're here like I'm glad you brought that up I'm glad you brought that up I saw I'm very glad you brought that up because I wholeheartedly agree overpopulation is not the problem the way that we're interacting with this planet is the problem not the population of the people that that is as you said that's that's a myth and that's something to promote a eugenics actually exactly like we live on just one finite planet with many finite resources the true free market is based on infinite desires and infinite growth how can this be sustained it can't I mean the idea of that there will always be more resources to exploit turn into things and then sell is folly you know so I totally agree with that abundance based living doesn't mean you could perpetually take things from the earth and convert them into things and you know never have consequences to deal with as a result of doing that before we continue to talk about that now I want to go back a little bit to number three and talk about this idea of who would we trust to create this you know type of money that we're using right now even in this so-called honest monetary economy you know the sound money principle that is often discussed oh we need to return the monetary creation power to the Congress where it rightfully belongs quote-unquote you know return it to the people who are on the take from the international bankers now and there are going to be extremely moral people and do the right things with that kind of power and capability so you saw you know I totally see where you're going with that that you know the whole point of whoever is the quote maker of money okay this fake form of money is ultimately going in a going to be in a position of exploitation over other human beings the system is a system of exploitation of other human beings period that's what the Coll monetary system is always has been and always will be that is what it is that is its nature that is the nature of an illusory exploitative system called money the real money is what we have to become makers of and that is the the balance of the mind the opening of the heart and the connection to higher consciousness that is what real money Mon i1 I as we talked about with green language you know called a symbol language is all about that's where we need to take that power into ourselves not give it over to anybody to create this fake form of it so I just wanted to say that about observation number three before we get back in the talking about you know abundance versus the scarcity based mentality which we have now yeah thank you for bringing that up I'm sorry I skipped past it so quickly but that's exactly what it comes down to we have the technological capabilities to literally create a paradise and if we're and people want to yell at me oh no I'm a utopian now me utopium yeah no no sorry again that's creating this dialectic and like there's they're all social planners and and what do you call them central planners they're all evil this had the other thing well you know okay fine if you want to say that and then fine it's not like you couldn't cur we can't create these things to that people can then be taught easily how to maintain them and doing in a decentralized way that doesn't involve authoritarianism precisely and in the end maybe it would come down to some trade barter like hey I produced like an extra bushel of oranges this week dude does anyone in our neighborhood have extra strawberries we could have we'd like to have them for something and that sort of trade I don't have a problem with barter at all I think it could be an effective stopgap and interim solution toward going to a truly free open economy like a gift society you know that that's ultimately what we're really talking about moving toward understanding we're all one family and that we all basically have the same needs and the same requirements to live on this planet in a body you know so ultimately that would be happy pretty market right how about a true free market where we just give away for free yeah that's why it's called a free market that would be the definition of a free market I'm going to market why would I need money if I'm going to a free market that's part of the problem with the free market it really the free in free market is doesn't can't that's right if you were truly free you wouldn't need to be told that you were free exactly we be so uh what's flush out point number four a little bit more that uh you know while we live on a finite planet we could still embrace this concept of true abundance for all and there's the break music for this next break we're gonna be coming up to the top of the second hour I'm gonna give it a call in number again let's have some people start calling in and we'll take some calls throughout the second hour for Kevin tous nur talking about the system of monetary enslavement that we're living under and how to get out of it we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is how you guys it's crystal [Music] [Applause] [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark passio today on the show we're talking with activist Kevin tells nur about the monetary system the depth of corruption of the system that we live under right now and how to ultimately free ourselves from that system first through this identification with it at a mental level and then through some of the practical methodologies that we can employ and creative means that we can employ to promote sustainable living in a system without money Kevin welcome back to the show and let's continue with your observations on the quote free-market system we were on part number four where we were discussing the dichotomy between scarcity based thinking and true abundance yeah well as always suggesting with the whole like that Australia concept not to actually move everyone there but what clearly we had enough space to then let what natural resources we already have go back to nature and maybe even the happy hunting grounds of old we'll come back that the Indians used to the Native Americans used to speak us and I I would love to see something like that where we're like I I understand your feelings on on being a vegetarian and so on but I I also kind of understand the thrill of the hunt I guess it comes almost from like my father teaching me how to fish and so on and as a child and I still eat fish and so on myself but the idea that we have these resources available we could very easily make a world of Plenty back during the like beginning of the last century oil was coming into this big paradigm shift and we got away from using different plant-based oils that we could have gotten into such as Ford apparently made a car completely on hemp out of hemp oil plastics and then it ran on on like ahem style ethanol so the sort of sorts of things are possible and we're holding these ideas back for greed are we really going to let a bunch of like greedy people just ruin our planet I guess it's so that is something that some people can maintain their power and their profit at the expense of other people at the expense of actually the evolutionary progress of an entire species which is what the holding back the deliberate suppression and the violent suppression of free energy technologies is actually doing I mean just look at what they did to Nikola Tesla at the turn of the 20th century you know basically broke all of his dreams for a future that would have had unlimited and free abundant energy through wireless electrical systems that he championed and pioneered and actually proved that would be able to work and be sustainable that we could actually as he said hook up our machinery to the very wheelwork of nature you know technology is something that could very well serve humanity if we use it in the right ways and with the right mental intentions the right consciousness employed to the technology and we could then create something that is extremely powerful and sustainable and serves the needs of all and that's what Tesla won they're doing as a result they pulled this funding and basically shut him down and you know turned him into you know a broken individual as a result of not being able to give what he wanted to freely give to humanity out and get it out there and just like today there are even further biological answers that we can use to help fix things the guy out there named Paul Stennis and he has a video that you can look up called six waves mushrooms can save the world and not a single one of them even has to do with a food production which is the funny part of that right they all have to do with how clean up our environment I mean one of them have to do with it's literally like you got the oil field it's better like land baby touch and another one we've been eating the radiation out of Chernobyl amazing that as we beat Kevin hold it right there we're coming up to another break we could also talk about the uses of hemp and how that's suppressed as well on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening dot-com today we're talking with local activist Kevin tills Knar about the monetary system and what we can do to free ourselves from identification with it and ultimately change reality as a result of sustainable methods of living in our world so keV you are fleshing out a little bit more of your observation number four regarding abundance true abundant living versus the scarcity a system which is ultimately fear-based that we have now before you get back into that I want to give the call-in number one more time eight six six eight four one one zero six five to call in and join us we have a couple of callers on the line so I'll let you finish flushing out that point we were also talking about the suppression of technologies that could lead to true abundance and then we'll take a couple of calls in this segment hopefully that was one of my favorite things is that out there is these things called rep wraps or maker box came across them and they just made me happy because you can actually download programs off the internet and have them print out various items like summer tools whatever you can create with a 3d printer now some people don't even know what 3d printing is just to give you an idea it's basically like a type of engineering where they it's additive engineering they call where they basically add a layer and then add another layer and add another layer and eventually of a three-dimensional object you can create all sorts of really amazing designs with it because it's you can create whatever you can whatever your imagination can come up with I want to and design it into a computer and then it will just print it out so imagine like Toys R Us and 20 years is actually not it could theoretically not even be capitalistic it's just like hey I'm going to a toy site this is where it's listed you don't need to go to a store anymore you just print it out and your garage or whatever so you have your own little personal works with like a basic polymer mini a lot cheaper it works with the basic polymer material type thing yeah you basically it's it's made out of it you use a plastic and eventually you could use if the laws were and restrictions were removed from hemp you could very easily make a hemp plastic out of it that might even be stronger than the stuff that people are I'm sure would be filled yeah a lot of people don't know hemp can be used for building and it it creates such an enormous ly stronger building material than most of the substances we're using now you know and it's it's just ludicrous that this industrial form of hemp is uh you know has been made illegal when it was one of the foundations of this country the growing of hemp you can also scale out the the console crafting stuff as well like you can scale it out so that you're not just like making little tiny stuff like like hooks and and like wrenches and stuff like that but you can make buildings right now cement right and and these things can just like work tirelessly overnight and print out building after building after building conserving not only on home construction resources but also saving the lives of construction workers and oh no these people are all going to be put out of work well you know if we design a system that's sustainable and globally abundant where people have access easy unfettered access to say instead of a Wawa you would go down to your local vertical farm and just pick up what you need absolutely and you know that's the thing that we need we need to grow the food where we're going to eat it instead of growing it off-site and then using more energy resources to truck it into the areas where we actually live growing food where you live is one of the keys to abundance based living so phenomenal points Kevin what do you say we go to the phone and take a call in this segment yeah I'm all about it angry okay here we go caller from the Philadelphia area you're live on what owner is happening with our special guests Kevin tells nor welcome hi mark it's Mike Mike Kelly just the man I wanted to talk to hey Mike listen while I have you on the line before we even continue do you want to come on next week to do a show with me I'd love to fantastic then Michael Kelly is the guest next week it's that simple ladies and gentlemen we'll be continuing to talk about this topic with Michael Kelly next week so Michael what do you have for us today well moeraki Kevin you know this is an interesting show but I have to disagree with some of the things I've heard and I think what you guys are not you have not come up to is the point of human nature you know the psychology people have we're not much different than other animals you said no other animal uses money and that's true but that it's money is one of the greatest inventions and if you want to know what human nature why the problems occur with money it's mostly because of government is a problem and not the people you know if if you look at other animals like I watched some squirrels in my backyard and one squirrel was going into the nest where they the nuts were from another squirrel there was a bloody war between the two over those nuts people are the same way and you have something you want to keep it you want to maintain what you have that you've worked for you know if I had a farm now Kevin was just talking about getting hemp you just walk down to your farm and sort of the local farm and grab it well wait a minute if I put in the labor to grow that why what gives anybody else our right to come in and take the fruits of my labor I don't can't we're not saying we're not saying take it against that other person's will we're saying the people who would grow it would willingly put it out there for free if everyone did something like that if everyone was at that level of consciousness see Mike I'm not disagreeing with you that that is our current condition what I disagree with is that that's our nature it's the current condition of our mind which you could you can make the argument that is what our nature has become like I don't believe it's the default condition of our nature nor do I think it has to be that way I think once consciousness changes enough we can willfully choose not to be like that anymore in the world so I'm not bound to those restrictions in other words that is not my nature at the level of consciousness I exist that if there was a pool of resources in other words in a local situation in a local environment and you know even if there wasn't enough to completely go around I would not have to choose I would not be constrained to choosing the behavior of fighting and killing over those limited limited that limited situation of resources I can employ my consciousness to not engage in behavior like that I agree with you though that not everyone is at that level of consciousness that other people's nature has been I guess you could say degraded down to a point through the conditions that they're living in and through the mechanisms of mind control that they've been living under - that their natures have become like that but I don't believe that that is their default condition so like it's like that the word nature itself doesn't even describe it very well it's the condition that they currently exist under the their state of being I think would be a better term to describe that's exactly it BF Skinner did all sorts of studies on conditioning and on turn it on basically pigeons and how you can make them turn around by just like the word turn and it's all based on conditioning they put them in a scarcity environment giving them all less food so that they would automatically jump to perform a media minutes and Kevin Clegg it right there we could talk I heard and Kevin hold it right there we'll talk more about behaviorism and Skinner's up methods on the other side Mike you're gonna come on next week and talk about some solutions to this right I sure I'd love to mark ran you got my number AG is a symbol for silver on the periodic table of elements [Music] welcome back one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting today on the show we're talking about sustainability we're talking about abundance based thinking solutions to the monetary enslavement that we are living under in this corrupt financial system our special guest today is Kevin tells nur and Kevin I want to get I want to thank

Mike Kelly for the call and you know well we can disagree about certain things and that's fine and Mike's gonna come on next week and he's going to give some of what he sees as practical solutions to getting out of this form of financial tyranny so another individual I would really like to bring on the show I think I'm gonna try to get a hold of him over the next week or so is James Yaeger James was on the show before talking about the Federal Reserve System and the the system of financial enslavement on on the the show that we did about the problems related to this current system and I'm gonna ask him back to propose some of his solutions because he wrote a phenomenal article up on his website at Jagger research Yeager Research Institute dot-org called non-monetary civilization and I may even quote something from it later on in the show because I thought it was so powerful and I'd like to get his take on this as well one of the points Mike did bring up that I think is absolutely on point is how government plays hand-in-hand with this financial system to create enormous violence in the world and that's what the whole monetary system actually contributes to more than anything else so Kevin this was actually your observation number five so I'm going to turn the floor back over to you and let you get into this one thank you very much yeah he's right that our nature is exactly like that I mean if we're in a scarcity environment we're gonna add just like those squirrels there's only so many nuts to go around so we're gonna hoard them and we're gonna fight over them and it's just like money that's the reason why people stab each other in the street first sneakers and four gold chains which is hysterical as far as I'm concerned that we kill each other for chains but that's beside the point it goes down along though with that violence and that we think that we can buy this sort of violence as well and buy this authority through money I mean all state violence is is bought through money and it would it's purely based for these like people who are psychopathic enough to commit the violence for nothing is just not something that's really going to happen on a regular basis I think most people have to be driven to it or like that that carrot is put in front of them for for it and money is often a very large carrot because it can buy a lot more carrots and yeah you take money out of the equation and who would commit state violence you think about how many people are doing the jobs that they're doing that ultimately their own internal natures don't really want them doing and they know it's extremely harmful to the soul what they're doing I actually did a special podcast I haven't actually posted this on the site yet I have to get the link from Popeye of federal Jack calm but I did a special podcast with Popeye last week on the very topic of violence in the police forces and how it's on you know actually escalating now more than ever and why these individuals do the things that they're do that that they do I'm actually going to do a series of shows on this when we get to the solution called the non-supportive dominators and I'm going to do probably an entire show maybe maybe multiple shows just on the psychological factors that contribute to the types of behaviors that the beings will do for money an entire show on just that topic alone maybe multiple shows on that topic alone so um we have to understand that money you know as this illusory force as this power that people have made real by their belief in it it may not exist in nature but because they have believed in it so strongly they have made it real to themselves okay and they believe in it so much that they're willing to actually harm take actions that do harm to other living beings just to stay employed so that they can keep receiving that money and so much of that is people's motivations just a paycheck without that paycheck how many people would still do that there would be a few true Psychopaths that just want to hurt people but I guarantee you without that paycheck coming in most of those people would walk away from that system they wouldn't even flock to it and to begin with they would just not do it at all they would say well if I can't receive money to do that those actions I'm not gonna do them there would be a number that would continue to do it anyway they would they just get off on the sheer violence of it because they like to hurt people that is their nature because they're actual Psychopaths but that's some definitely a limited number compared to the people who stay in that system because they feel like they're trapped and they need to do something to make money and this is in their minds and their limited perceptions all they're qualified to do so definitely money plays a huge role in that and like as you said it buys all state violence essentially a level of violence that goes on in the state could not be accomplished unless the state had the money to give these people to continue to do those actions and the Federal Reserve prints it out of thin air and funds at all so therefore it's an unlimited then they tax you on it and subject you to further state violence if you don't pay the taxes on basically the interest on on the said debt of creating the money for you in the first place and since they have an unlimited supply since they are the creators of that fiat money and they control the issuance of it they control how much of it is in circulation and when when it is printed they can just continue to buy however much violence they feel that they need as you know to accomplish their their goals their objectives as long as there are people out there who are willing to do certain behaviors for monetary compensation see the whole idea is we have to get to a point in consciousness where we can't be bought I cannot be bought ladies and gentlemen if I if I know that something is wrong I don't care how much money somebody's going to all for me to do it I'm not gonna do it you say hurt that person over there put that person I don't like what they're doing even if they have a right to do it and I want you to put them in a cage for me I want you to put them you know in some you know limited box okay where they're gonna be kept because I don't didn't like their behavior I didn't like their action whether whether you think they have a right to do it or not take this money and go and put that person in a cage for me and I would laugh at you it's it's it would be hilarious to me that you would even think you could get me to engage in a behavior like that because I can't be controlled at that level because I won I don't identify with your garbage money as real at all it holds no value for me I don't really care about it okay if someone wants to help contribute to the work I do by saying oh here take this and do something valuable and you truly valuable and useful with it can't help to put your information in to the world I'll take a donation or a contribution I don't demand anything like that from people but if they would want to freely give it wonderful I don't have a problem with using a resource at someone's disposal that they want to voluntarily there's the key contribute to someone else but you know I'm not gonna take any amount of money to go and go against my principles and and that's the level of consciousness we need to get at so Kevin your thoughts on that I I couldn't agree more I mean that's realistically the problem I mean I kind of exist because of this this whole system in a lot of ways I was put up for adoption because my mother couldn't didn't think she could afford me I I was then adopted by people who thought they could afford me because they were so engraved into the system that they were doing exactly what you were talking about like my uncle it was a it was there's a retired cop my my father who's now passed away was our prison guard and like the whole family is in that institutionalized mentality and and if they met I don't think we're never able to get out of there they were always yelling why don't you act as a normal person why don't you go get a real job why don't you work for the face and this side the other thing I'm like I don't want a job I could pick people with occupy no offense meant or rather foolish putting up signs saying I demand the right to a job and because I don't want the right to a job that's like saying I am sure I should work at McDonald it right there [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio talking with kevin tills Knar today about solutions to the system of financial enslavement that we currently live under we were talking about how not everyone has a price you know that whole oh that poll saying everyone has it has its price well not everyone does people at a high enough level of consciousness have no price and can't be bought so I guess we could leave the whole violence concept there about how the monetary system is the ultimate contributor to violent behavior and funds that behavior and tries to keep that behavior in existence ultimately to justify its own existence and justify its own means and keep the status quo the way that it is through its enforcement system which is all based on violence so our Kevin we have a couple of callers hanging on the line you want to take another couple of calls in this segment yeah that's fine right all right here we go caller from the three-30 area code you're live on what on earth is happening welcome alright are you doing and I'm actually a farmer in a while here and we do you know all grass based stuff and you know just getting the land back to you where it needs to be getting back to you with that I just wanted to throw this out that um there's a lot of you know older farmers that don't have you know people to take over their land and maybe restore it in the way it needs to be restored and just want to throw that out as an option to anybody who wants to get into you know organic farming biodynamic there are farms available for you know leasing and it's just another option to throw out there with I mean things are just still abundant you know it's just that people don't really realize it so that's just one of the things I want to throw up you guys in your audience and yeah it's a great show I mean I just started to actually I'm about like 30 well maybe like 30 it's show but I just started getting into a Marc show after hearing them on the red-eye so uh yeah great job guys fantastic yeah but yeah you know it's just wondering like for resources like you know because one of our main things you know on a farm obviously is like you know fuel and energy and you know course there's solar you know and there's you know wind technology and so forth but I'm really trying to get deeper into some better you know real free technologies that would really be useful on you know on a farm and so forth so I'm really it would be open to whatever sources you have for those I mean every author I think I'll try to do an entire show on energy because energy is the real form of money and money as we understand it today is only a proxy for energy and ultimately once they do away with that proxy we understand there really is only once we do away with that proxy we understand that there really only is energy and it's it's all about the means of distributing that energy efficiently and um you know this is why we need to really understand and learn more about free energy technology radiant energy you know harnessing the power of the natural energy that exists all around us ultimately I think the biggest resource that goes completely untapped that provides everything we ever really need is the Sun you know ultimately we need to understand how to harness the energy that is constantly bombarding this planet from that huge light in the sky called the Sun that ultimately makes possible all the life here down on the earth and this is something that people will say oh it can't be done and you know it's not it we you you can't harness it efficiently enough nonsense we just haven't put the energy the time the attention into figuring out how to actually do that and I think that there are scientists out there who have done this and realized that you can tap into this at all places at all times and then effectively distribute that energy from where you're at on the earth and this is another thing that's being actively suppressed the power of solar energy ultimately so I think I'll have a whole show in this monetary segment you know in the the thing the ways of actually freeing ourselves from the monetary system maybe I can get somebody from the Tesla Science Foundation to come on and do a show with me an entire show just on free energy and just on the whole type of abundance based thinking that would result if we were able to have freely available energy and what that would do to change where we put our resources in the world what we have to think about how much money you have to acquire in order and then spend in order just to keep your energy needs met you know we have free energy all of that goes away and a huge part necessity of the monetary system goes away with it so I'll Kevin your response to that I all I can think is to add that there are also other ideas that it's better out there too it's not like I'm just trying to promote The Venus Project is a way of global sustainability we you may need to start small and local on one like using permaculture ideas and like in in in a small town in Germany I read that they put a bunch of little like propeller type things underneath their bridges and that creates a bunch of free abundant electricity and it's out of the way and it's not harming the environment and they just attach them underneath the these bridges that met though that goes through the town and it now generates all the electricity they need for the municipality they don't actually like their mu their municipal electrical needs are fully sustainable by this little grid system under bridges yeah I think another resource people should check out is thrive because uh they painted some nice visualizations in that movie about what some of this free energy technology could do and how it would completely put you know an end to these uh strangleholds that these huge international corporations have over our our energy requirements our energy needs and how dependent we are on them it would actually just a small piece of technology that could harness energy and distribute it sustainably and effectively would take away all of the dependency that we now have on these huge oil companies and these you know electric companies that charge outrageous rates for bringing power into our homes that that's the biggest bill that most people have in their homes aside from maybe the mortgage that they're paying is the electrical bill is always the biggest bill in the house I mean unless they're really huge on using you know minutes on their phone but you know electricity and communications are the two biggest bills that we basically pay if we look at it every month and this is the kind of stuff that Tesla was championing and you know trying to bring the world for free free energy and free communications once you have those things what else really you know do you need as far as energy goes not much that that that would basically meet those needs for everyone on the planet and it can be done it's a matter of engaging our imaginations and then engaging our ingenuity along with it let's go to another caller Alex and Serbia you're live on what on earth is happening what do you have for us hi mark man I spoke to you a few weeks ago yes it was also about the food I thought you that I am a vegetarian for about 20 years longer and you have great topic today and a great guest today so I want to join the conversation absolutely you go right ahead yeah you know I started following this stuff like two years ago at the New World Order and everything and it was just like too much information at one it's a short time so I was really paranoid and afraid I was like Oh depopulation the bureau Helen e chemtrails food poisoning every everything so I was like yeah what should i do I should prepare I should do this I should it is that I don't want to have children I had the son at that time but I was like yeah I'm afraid what is the future being today at one point as I was listening more and reading more and researching more I was like how do you fight population you make more children you don't vaccinate them you educate them to be something different that we are now I took garden I invested like 200 euros for a garden 40 meters by 40 meters I bought some seeds 400 euros organic by a biological seeds I make my plastic houses I make my glass houses I protect myself as much as I can from chemtrails I have my own food without any chemicals and I was talking to people about all these kind of stuff about science about if we not the Freemasons just maybe but if people don't see that you change they will not follow you anyway they would say look at these guys she's talking some crazy stuff but ignore him but when they see you stop smoking the three plants you have your own garden you have your own normal life people without following you know they would say at one point no you guys not that crazy that's exactly right therefore we all have to do that's exactly right me up to lead by example that is the best way of teaching people so we'll pick this up on the other side stay with us ladies and gentlemen hey guys it's true [Music] you can't stop an activating imagination someone who has activated that gift within themselves can truly change their reality you're listening to what on earth is happening this is the last segment for this edition with our special guest Kevin tells nur we were on the line with Alex from Serbia who was talking about his awakening to what's really going on in our world and how that created an initial response of fear but he went through that process and emerged out into the light on the other side of that dark tunnel Alex are you still with us and I'll let you continue your story and then if you want to propose a question for Kevin and we'll get his response yeah yeah I'm still here great so great so yeah if the feel is the only things we have to feel you know III had the Sun I told you like four years ago and now I'm waiting for another Sun in April and you know I'm I believe in all these conspiracy theories and there is a plan to depopulate earth and there is a plan to make us afraid and to control us but when you see what I set up with less than 500 euros I will have a red for whole year it's incredible what men can do but the next thing I want to say is I now with the internet we have all these names we have all these conspiracy theories and people are waking up I think that the elite is not that crazy that they will push the agenda that fast I think rather they will go let it go for next 50 years slowly and slowly they make paranoia more than its real reality of course they are taking away freedom of people but not on the local levels because I see it on the internet I read it in the news but in my area I don't see it that much there are regulations of course that forbid us being free as we want to be but it's not that bad yet and they want to create some kind of mass hysteria and we have to we have to remain calm we do not have to be afraid to make children we have to make children we have to make them smarter we have to make them think out of the box we really need to be be smart with all this information and not get into some kind of mass hysteria where we will just snap and make even worse than it is that's right we just have to wake up and do it on a local level start changing ourselves our friends will see that these guys doing very well I want to be like him and as more people do that then we can win otherwise if we get weapons if we get aggressive that's what they want we will lose the world just like we lost all the wars till now that's right I'm sorry Alex what we need to do is um set that example and start with the youth because the youth has a chance to change before they even get sucked into all that indoctrination they have a chance not even change but just express their unique creativity and imagination that that is instilled within them from the very beginning of their lives and we start with the youth and you know try to instill these positive and empowering ideas into the youth of our world it will organically spring from there that's like planting a seed when you know it is at the most fertile and that's what the youth represents so Kevin let's get your yes that's got response to that yes teaching our children how to learn is truly the most important thing like III can't like tell you how much I've been trying to throw in little tidbits for my son as we play about even fallacies I've been trying to teach him lately such as like that all the different ones that are out there I mean I can't go through every single one of them all in one shot because he's a little kid he's only taken so much at one time but I as you teach them how to learn and and how to I mean it's as good as George Carlin put it it takes it's less on teaching the kids how to read as to teaching them how to see through all the BS in the world and that's that's really when I got a friend of mine on the line Carl Roberts he an artist from the UK and he is another one of the types of examples who get to keep he takes these ideas that are actually very almost Illuminati style and he puts them into his he takes them back and kind of creates them for himself and I guess that's kind of what we have to do I think a lot of people are really scared when they first look into the zeitgeist movement because a lot of the suggestions if they're really studying they're going to learn about things like agenda 21 and how it's almost like a depopulation plan that's based on sustainability well it has nothing to do with The Venus Project and like I'm even gonna like mention a couple words from like Jacque fresco himself here he says the Venus Project is neither utopian nor Orwellian nor does it reflect the dreams of impractical idealist instead it presents attainable goals requiring only the intelligent application of what we already know the only limitations are those which we impose upon ourself exactly and another quote that I find even just as enriching and kind of needs to like go hand in hand with the last one is it some our deepest fear is not that we are inadequate our deepest fear is that we are powerful beyond our imagination it is our light more than our darkness which scares us we ask ourselves who are we to be brilliant beautiful talented and fabulous but honestly who are you not to be alright while we allow our light to shine we unconsciously give permission for others to do the same we will liberate ourselves from our own fears simply we can then liberate other ourselves and others from our own fears simply by our own presence that's right that's right and that's what setting that example is all about be the change be the light in the world you know release yourself from fear so that you can inspire others to do the same that's what it why it's called encouragement you know putting courage out there into the world it's infectious and as Alex was saying you know it's all about not buying in that fear not reacting yeah they they are I think on a try to keep it going in their incremental ISM people have a less of a tendency to see it that way what David Icke has often called the totalitarian tiptoe you know its incremental ISM a little bit here a little bit there and then you wake up one day and realize you're and you're in a prison so we have to be watered a little bit a little bit and a little bit here a little bit there is also how we get out of it we can use our imaginations let's sort of do the same thing you've got as silly as it sounds people think about like the whole Venus Project and they're like oh they just want to use this giant robot to control us all and it's like no no no think doctor Theophilus from Buck Rogers you know the whole disk thing there was a computer that they asked that Twiggy carried around they just asked it questions like okay what's the easiest route from here to there and and it would use algorithms to to create that data and then people would act upon that data it was met they there was a whole group of them that were called the like ruling council but the they were really just guides that we would ask questions of and they would give us the best most scientifically devised answers based on these again scientifically devised algorithms that could help us design future concepts and all it's all about evolving ideas ultimate ultimately as you said in that quote as fresco was saying in that quote it are the only limiter is our own imagination of what we can actually do of how productive we actually could become and how free we actually could be you know if we like being kept if we like being held back that's how we're gonna end up but if we want to be free the only limiter in that equation is the human imagination that's why we have to develop true critical free thinking skills and start to really understand the ways that we can go about living sustainable sustainably and in harmony with natural law Kevin I want to bring up one other quote and get your take on it to take us out this is by James Yaeger he says if you are a creator of money the last thing you want happening is a situation where the demand for more of your product is static or decreasing this is why the that this is why the money creators constantly increase the money supply and this is why the memes of quote money creates demand and quote money is a store of value are promoted even more viciously than the memes of government is indispensable and government is there to protect Liberty the meme of money is necessary is the most promoted viciously promoted meme your take on that and then your comments that take us out again it's everything that we've been talking about throughout the whole show and it's all about like you're just saying I I can't even wrap my head around it sometimes as to how people deal with money the way they do I am maybe I'm maybe I really am some sort of insane person or do I have it actually in such a mentality that it's possible just I understand that it's Tom that's right I understand it's put it took a lot of work it's gonna be a lot of hard work a lot of momentum a lot of resources being given to people so that you can just create these types of new paradigm Kevin that's what it's ultimately all about is creating a new way of seeing the world that's all the time we have for thanks to our special guest Kevin tells nur we'll see you next week on water on earth is happening stick around Christopher are the world's first and only holds such a stranglehold over our country and over the people of the world in general and we're going to be talking about what we can do to counteract this monstrosity of a system and Mike is a person who is definitely very special to me in my life because he is one of the people who really helped to wake me up many years back and started that process going through his great publications and we'll be talking about some of the the things that Mike has done in the past as far as waking people up and putting out a great publication called secrets from the next dimension a newsletter that was pretty big here in the Philadelphia area that discussed quite frankly the topics that we talked about here on what on earth is happening and this really opened up my mind and helped to change my paradigm change my worldview and it was definitely instrumental in shaping the person who I am today so we'll be talking with Michael Kelly coming up in the next segment I do have one quick event announcement at the end of this month as always the free documentary screening and discussion evening hosted by truth freedom prosperity this happens the last Wednesday of every month here in after these words ladies and gentlemen with our special guest michael kelly stick around [Music] [Applause] welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening calm today on the show we're going to be speaking with our special guest Mike Kelley Michael Kelley has an extensive background in medicine holding a BS from Pennsylvania State University with a degree in medical technology and a master's in cardio pulmonary perfusion from Ohio State University in 1989 Mike was recruited to the hospital of the University of Pennsylvania as a staff perfusionist and became the clinical education coordinator for their school of perfusion Michael completed hypnosis training from the American International Association and became an NLP that's neuro linguistic programming master practitioner for natural healing Michael was the co-owner writer and managing editor for next dimension publications which featured a monthly print newsletter called secrets from the next dimension michael has been a guest on numerous radio and television shows over the years discussing discussing with discussions ranging from government conspiracies to fraud to extraterrestrial phenomena me and Mike are going to be talking today about the monetary system and solutions for disentangling ourselves from it and obtaining true freedom as a result of that disengagement so Michael Kelley welcome - what on earth is happening hi thanks for being here it's so interesting when I first started secrets from the next dimension one of the first things I did a series of six issues on the banking system and the fraud and corruption involved especially in government and governments management or not management but regulations of the banking system how government is corrupting the system as much as the individuals in the industry absolutely and we can talk about that today how every time the government tries to do something to so-called regulate the the money supply or bring any kind of stability they always end up causing further instability through inflation which is a hidden tax and you know government's not the answer to this problem a change in consciousness of course is the answer to it but what I want to get from you is what do you see is that the major crux of the problem related to our monetary system and how what can we do as a people what can we do as individuals to help to start to turn that tide and and to you know create a solution as far as this system is concerned Wow that's a real tough one to start off with what we can do is first we need to follow some the three basic principles first don't be awed by government whereby a banking system if you work as an individual to involve yourself in these things you're more likely to get the results you desire then by getting a large group of people being confrontational with either the government or the banks and it just creates more attention and it's harder to get what you want as you stated in the beginning of the show I used to write secrets from the next dimension and I was involved in a lot of political movements and I found that it's useless at this fun my whole thing was it just I saw no changes positive changes occurring the more you work with the worse it got and there are no change so what I did do though is I found a way to find liberty by being an individual and not getting into the groupthink and group dynamics and I found myself I feel much freer there's still a lot of restrictions that are done by society but overall I don't get into the proselytize you know of my thoughts and the way I believe things should be what I'd like to let people know that you ten as an individual take along the government take along the banks and and I don't think we can stop the the problems but you can find freedom and happiness it's like anything else ultimately we have to disengage our mind from the Beast that is feeding on us first we have to stop giving our cooperation over to it it's about having no respect for a system that treats people with complete disregard with uh you know just as a resource that it feeds off of and so many people still have this respect you know in their minds for you know money and government and things like that and really it the process starts with realizing that these are parasitic entities that these are parasitic organizations that ultimately don't care about anything but their own continued survival and whatever they have to do to continue to feed on their their hosts as it will as it is and that host is us and we have to stop giving our consent over to it through the the attention that we focus on to it in our minds the disengagement of our minds from that corrupt system is really where it has to start and that's something that we could all do as an individual not as even a group or getting together with other people but as an individual that's where that process starts yeah that's right um the three principles I find or I first not to be awed the second is not to do it the right there are confrontation and the third is do not organize these three things basic principles will bring you happiness it will not stop inflationary process it will not return to a commodities based market money market what you will find at yo uses you said that's a parasitic in today and it really is but when it comes right down to it and you go into a government office or a a banking office you are dealing one-on-one with another individual and if you can sort of just clear your mind the whole thing that they put in front of to make themselves appear to be on spiring or confrontational then you can just blank them out and focus on the single individual that you have to deal with as a human being and you would be amazed at how much you can get done that is to your advantage and once you have that advantage other people can also do the same thing and things seem to work out as long as you're coming from a deep moral principally principled way you're going to be fine you know you go into that government office and you treat them like a human being these common things are smiling you know speaking clearly and concisely not if you do get angry do not shell you know those kind of things you know sometimes that's called sometimes a long process but I've found that not working against the government or against the banks or against any organization what it's always dealing directly with the individual especially knowing what no equity with with neuro linguistic programming help to because it makes it easier to deal with these people even if their regulations say this must be you can always walk around the exception fill holes Mike we're coming up to our first break here on the other side of the break I want to talk a little bit about the newsletter that you used to publish and you had a lot of information about there about the Federal Reserve System it's something that originally woke me up to what the Federal Reserve System was and I want to get into that and I'll get into some of the things that you wanted to talk about regarding the Fed on the other side of this break stay with us everyone our special guest today on what on earth is happening Michael cowling we'll be right back [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening under host mark pascal today on the show to talk about solutions the monetary stranglehold over our nation and the world with our special guest michael kelly Mike you wrote a phenomenal newsletter that I have many issues of here in my home called secrets from the next dimension it was a great newsletter published here in the in the 90s in the Philadelphia region and like I said it helped wake me up to many things and you know I was actually still involved in the dark occult and in Satanism at the time that I would get your newsletters and it's one of the things that helped me see the psychopathy that was involved in the organizations I was involved in and and realized wow these are the people that he's talking about here and I'm directly involved with people like this so you you talked a lot about the Federal Reserve System in those newsletters and this was one of my first exposures to to that system of fractional reserve banking I wanted you to give us your views on the Fed and I'll you know talk about solutions what we might be able to do to release the stranglehold of this monstrosity that it has over you know the the monetary issuance and and value here in the United States first of all for Ron Paul I don't see a quicker way out of that system but the Federal Reserve is a real horrible and it is unconstitutional to have central banking in the United States but what happened is which are Wilson wanted to inflate the money supply us because you know if you inflate the money supply if you have a debt prior to that inflation let's say $100 you inflate the currency after you know now you saw $100 at that even though the value of the dollar is now cut in half so you're only paying half the amount that you actually busy quizzes it's the contract is for $100 now tooling value to 50 but that's basically what widget or else would do is inflate the money supply hidden tax because you know if you let's say if you put $100 in a savings account at two percent interest and the inflation rate is four percent at the end of your year and you go to get your money yes you get your $100 pleasure two percent but you've actually lost money because the inflation rate is 4% this is a hidden way they steal money from you what the the Federal Reserve itself was set up because the United States was broke on three occasions they called upon JC Morgan to bail them out he successfully did that on three occasions he got sick of it and decided to convert Lea set up the Federal Reserve with the help of other high moneyed interests they it was even an article in The New York Times at the time that happened when they went to Jekyll Island to set it up saying that they're aware these high-powered individuals the train station going down south and they wouldn't talk to the press and it was really quite the scandalous thing but they were performing quite and illy or unconstitutional it was unconstitutional project and they set it up they pass it into law forced by Morgan and and Woodrow Wilson and that was the beginning of the end of Liberty in the United States and just to be clear these were private interests this was not a governmental organization these were private individuals extremely wealthy had come from you know very old you know rich families that had taken their their wealth basically over to you know to the United States and worked their influence in the United States from offshore and that they this was a subversion of the United States government systems through banking through the banking institutions they did this all covertly you know in in in secrecy and these were all private individuals not members of government just to clarify that so what do you think we could do to help mitigate or or negate in general this fractional reserve system because if there's never enough money in circulation since they control the amount that's in circulation and the interest rate to pay back all of the interest on the debt that's created the current fractional reserve monetary system represents nothing but debt it isn't a store of value it isn't value at all its debt it is a debt based system our our monetary system represents nothing but debt so what can we do to try to get out of that entire way of the operation of money you know what can be done as far as transitioning ourselves away from this fractional reserve banking system and getting out of a debt based monetary system in general well first of all fractional reserve banking is that if you put money in the bank the bank is right now unless on my check the bank is only required to hold four percent of the total amount deposit and in our bathroom and that's checking and other business accounts with savings accounts they're required to keep zero amount in their bank and the RUS can be lent at interest at interest right now if you go to the bank for a loan and let's say you want $100,000 they don't have to have on two thousand dollars in their buildings to give you all they happen that money is created when you sign the debt note that's wrong you sign the contract there is no money there that $14,000 one hundred thousand dollars does not exist inside that and it only exists when you pay as you can pay it back to them with their with the interest so you're not only working to put some money there but you're also paying them the interest rate so you're really screwed the the whole thing that was a matter of fiat money as well as fractional reserve banking and fiat money is just money that the government says each day that you wanting to wake up and find out what that the head of the Federal Reserve is calling a dollar if you check with the US Treasury Department a dollar is one point one seven or but four ounces of silver or in gold it's I think it's $35 is one troy ounce of gold but that no longer holds true because we don't have papers certificates anymore that can be redeemed for commodities right it's just a dent note now that's all it is and you know they the Federal Reserve will print a one dollar bill or a hundred dollar bill and their cost is four cents I think at this time however the government and that means our taxes have to pay them than face value back in within that money that you know they send out the government $100 they cost them four cents and we've still pay them a hundred dollars and our labor to return that you know what that's what we owe them so as a result of that ultimately since there's never altom utley enough in circulation to pay back all of that debt that's being continuously created all real assets would eventually flow to the banks by default exactly not only to the banks but when the garment takes loans to you know pay off their debt or sort of proton whatever they're borrowing the money for the borrow from foreign entities and the only thing that the government has she uses collateral is private property of the citizens of the United States you know they say the United States never defaulted on its debt and that's not true so at a time when the United States did its default with Japan I think it was in the late 8th 1980s there was a default and the government had to give up their collateral the a company purchased the debt from Japan from the country of Japan and they in exchange got univer I think you remember was Columbia and Universal Pictures and that Sony became that Sony was the one that got it in that fashion they got because they paid the United States that and took that collateral so you know these things do happen and that's how the government secures their debt with your if you own a house your house could be part of the collateral so that's the way that works fiat money is just a part of it like you don't know well Mike we're coming up to another break hold that thought and we'll pick it up right there on the other side you're listening to what on earth is happening with our special guest Michael Kelly stay with us everyone we'll be right back after these words you don't like [Music] [Music] we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host Mark Hasse oh my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show we're talking with special guest michael kelly about the monetary system and the kinds of solutions that we can employ in order to release ourself from its extreme stranglehold so Mike you were giving your thoughts about the Federal Reserve System and fiat money and fractional reserve banking in general what do you see is the one of the major solutions to this problem the quickest solution is a return to commodities based money when you have gold silver Oh first let's talk about somebody's base money in general it started out like thousands of years ago they would use barley or peppercorns as their money but they found it superior race I mean you can't plant and some of this stuff again and grow war but because it's a natural product that are a living product it was deteriorate with age so they got rid of that with the salt so that's where it's the word salary comes from and salt used to be used as payment so it was very very difficult to get it was very limited supply some people took salt because it was easy to carry and you can actually use it for your health purpose for your food what salt would also change its weight depending on the humidity so you know you couldn't you could inflate your currency just with water so that you could lose it all but too much water so salt was eliminated they went to metallic substances gold silver and copper all want were highly desirable for their all sorts of artistic purposes and beautified them but they were very much valued by people and they work because they didn't change the governments would inflate some of the currency simply by scraping off the sides of the money you find ancient coins or see them on TV and you can see it's like a flat edge because people scrape it off the people were scraping off the money where the government was just - is how you have last but would be still payment as hole now you know you'd have a whole one whatever one dollar coin and you know if they scratched off 25 percent of it was still a dollar you know but you weren't getting the same value in gold so but really a return to gold and silver is our quickest solution somebody because the way coins are made now and minted and happened in the United States since the US Mint started you cannot change the size of the coin the government cannot change size of the coin the coin is a specific weight and measure and that's our best way because how can they inflate the currency except put more in into circulation a problem occurs using precious metals though because if you I'm sure you a lot of it sappers recently about the inspections that are desired at Fort Knox and that there's probably no gold there right I personally think there is gold there but I don't think we own it I believe the stories that asked the are turned that over to European countries especially in Germany after World War two our during World War II after World War one the Kaiser was being forced to pay reparations to a lot of nations in Europe for his crimes and he didn't have money in gold and silver so he just ran the printing presses inflated the currency worldwide because he's paying off all these nations they were using it for trade and that's what precipitated the stock market crash starting my stock market crash back in the 20s a lot of the people who here who saw that happen thought it was a wonderful thing for governments and big industry to being able to have that power and that's why they slowly precipitated the the use of just paper currency because they like the idea of being able to fling currency and right now today you can see this happening with the United States doing it but to some extent China's doing it to a vast extent they owed so much money and they just simply inflated their currency paid off with the currency they had a much lower rate and didn't have to spend as much money to pay off their debts and now they're doing that against the United States because the monetary policy in the United States is pretty flimsy advanced and they're kind of left holding the bag of debt yeah and you know and you know think you know that was what precipitated the war in Iraq you know if you look at the war what had really happened at the war in Iraq you know the United States made it out to be one that they were holding they supplied the terrorists that struck the World Trade Centers in the Pentagon and September of 2001 and then they said they were rich in uranium or they buy and yellowcake material and what the real reason was is Saddam Hussein decided that he was no longer going to accept US currency right for oil sheiks he was only going to accept the euro and that's what precipitated the war messing with our money sure but the garment here never once admitted to the fact that was about money of course not and we we have to paint a patriotic fervor and a righteous cause before we send our troops off to to kill and die in a war of foreign aggression but it's always over money or oil or resources that's all its ever over you know I like the idea of you know precious metals as at least a stopgap for the kind of out-of-control inflationary system that we have now you know at least it would it would prevent that kind of counterfeiting government and and Federal Reserve counterfeiting but you know only as a stopgap I mean I I do like the idea of resource based money cut as you call commodities based money because that's the only thing that's real all we really need is food and energy you know that's what money essentially really is that's the only things that people really exchange that they truly need I mean you could you know take it out further and say well clothes shelter from the elements etc things like that but we need energy you know money is this representational form of energy that isn't the real thing it's a proxy for the real thing you know go and go into a commodities based system as you suggest what at least get us onto the real things that we need to exchange among us so that we can have the energy that we require to live for life so I I do see that as you know a good solution and it is very similar to what people have turned the resource-based economy yeah you know I know when I used to do this all the time and talk about the money supply I carry around a 1908 $20 gold piece and I always hold it up and let people see it it's a four ounce of pure gold well almost sure I think it's 97% gold must be hey that's got to be worth what about $1,700 today everybody know I I show this back to when I was doing this house of gold was about $800 that same coin has the same purchasing power up same tendency as it did in 1908 when it's run into if my I would always say do you how much there's a suit of clothing people would say good suit of clothing is about $600 and I hold up the classic this is a $20 gold piece would a tail or take this coin in exchange for that suit and most people say no way but that's not true because the value of that coin right now you know just the the monetary value of the quite not gonna see how historic value of it being from 1909 but the monetary value is the same as it was then my $1.00 silver my $1.00 of silver coin will pay it by the same amount of goods today as it was in 1960 so so you got to ask people then what has changed and the answer is the value of the dollar the missing power of the dollar has changed it's been deflated it's been been basically robbed of its purchasing power through this in you know inflationary this hidden inflationary tax if you listen to the politicians definitely there's practically no inflation we're close to zero percent inflation while and they're lying they're lying I mean they don't go to the grocery store yeah it's like come on buy a box of cereal for seven dollars come on what is going on here it's it's the paper money they can just inflate it as they see fit you know Ron Paul made the point to Berkey this past week and in a session of Congress I know there's someone who's near and dear to your heart Ben Bernanke Ben Bernanke what a wonderful man he is such a coward and he was talking about the price of gasoline and and Ron Paul said I think it's the money supply and Bernie's horse sighs no it couldn't be so Ron thought this the same thing guy he held up the silver dollar he says tell me how comes this dollar combined me fifteen down gallons of gasoline today but your dollar can yeah there's no inflation so I it's much harder for the government to manipulate where the Federal Reserve is manipulate I told you solvent and you know it's a real Fortnum you didn't make this point I have to reiterate the point that we heard the guy government gave you that's right my clothes I've thought right there we're up to another break and we're gonna give the Colin number on the other side so people could get in the queue to call to ask some questions in the second hour we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening when he looks at it with his eyes it won't be seen he looks addicted the sunglasses we see the same things all the way through the subliminal suburbia courtesy of a no offended [Music] that'll put your true eyes on so you can realize what's really going on as that great allegorical film they live what that's all about we're talking with Michael Kelly here today on the show about solutions to the monetary problems this the the monetary system of corruption and debt that were entangled in and we're gonna get back with Michael Kelly in a second I want to give the call-in number so that people can get in the queue to call in to ask questions - Mike the callin number for the show is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five calling to join us be patient wait in the queue and we will be taking your calls starting in the second hour of the show today so um before I get back to Mike I just want to say thanks to Kevin Pilsner for being on the show last week that a great interview with me here on what on earth is happening that's in the podcast section I believe that was podcast number 97 if I'm not mistaken I'm sorry that was podcast number 98 I also posted a bunch of documents and video links up on the podcast with that so be sure to check out that information and let's get back to Michael and talk about you were getting into the fact that the Federal Reserve every emphasizing the fact that the Federal Reserve is not a government entity it's a privately held corporation it's a privately held cartel and you're gonna talk about who is really behind that system who they answer to yeah yeah well you know it's really funny when you look you know anybody said this they said oh you're crazy when you say the Federal Reserve's not a government agency and a simple way to prove it is to tell them to find a telephone book I know that's hard to do these days but if you look under government the US government and find the Federal Reserve's phone number in there I'll give you a million bucks because they're not there they are a private corporation as you said they are a fraud quite well and it's really funny cause the Federal Reserve started as the banking system for the United States and central banking seemed at first to work very well here and everybody else adopted at that system in Europe and a lot of countries in Asia adopted it now it's pretty much universal on our planet to have central banking for each nation but an asset fee arose and I don't really I could never find out exactly when they started but it's the central bank to the central bank's all the central bank's answer to a company in Zurich Switzerland for the Bank of International Settlements so in the Federal Reserve wants to inflate our money supply they have to get it from these unknown entities in Zurich it's really strange it's really tough to find out good information about them they're so secretive when there are the Bilderberg meetings a lot of people are assuming certain members that are there that are hard to find out their identity as they walk in are the people from Zurich and Davos in Switzerland who are controlling the worldwide worldwide money supply so it's it's really strange that our central bank and we answer or our government answers to the Fed and the Fed controls the politics of our country but who's controlling the politics and say not Ben Bernanke it's whoever these are he's a good little puppet he's a good little lap dog who does exactly what he's told he's told by his owners exactly right and his owners are in Davos and in in Zurich and I can guarantee you if you really found those individuals I can guarantee you're going to be finding dark occultists dark Luciferians Satanists of all orders of magnitude you're going to be finding what I call sorcerers you know these are people who have deep connections to the occult and some of the groups that you helped me to become aware of through your newsletter publication back in the 90s some of those individuals are I'm telling you the people that I worked with as a member of the Church of Satan in my past they were connected with some of these other groups they were connected with the Bohemian Club they were connected with the Club of Rome and other international think tanks and I'm sure some of them went up into institutions like what has become the Bank for International Settlements in the modern world be is this is an institution people really need to look into and understand and understand that this is connected with other secret orders secret society networks and dark occult organizations as well those those people are definitely evolved and are involved more than just in politics and in banking they are involved in the Catholic Church not as much today as in the past during the reign of Pope Paul the sixth but yes you know there is a battle in this world right now between who is going to control the world banking system there is a in the works of a single world currency going on the World Bank the IMF the Federal Reserve some other groups smaller groups like NATO wants to be involved but the biggest challenge is coming from the Vatican Bank I do not want to see the Vatican Bank at all involved in anybody's monetary policy except their own the problems associated with the Vatican are first that they are a sovereign nation and no matter what happens there you cannot investigate only they can investigate and if you try if an investigation does begin because of their religious vows if something goes wrong as they're giving an order of ballot there they take a vow to be obedient and if they are given the order to be silent they will be silent that is the probably of all of them that is the worst group it's probably the one organization that is best in a best position to become the bankers of the world I don't want to see a world currency I don't certainly don't what the United Nations involved in it but even worse than that is the Vatican you know you talk about the cultists that you're involved with and they have in vain they were in a big part of the Vatican during the reign of Paul the sixth you know I don't know if you were familiar with the stories and you know the whole Vatican Bank scandal it occurred back in the 70s and 80s sure and how it was connected with some of the darker and clandestine lodges of Freemasonry like propoganda do a or P to write the P to lodge the bank ambrosia no Roberto Calvi and Bishop NAR Sanctus I'm Calvi what wasn't he the one that they referred to as God's banker he was God's banker and you know it's funny because when Pope John Paul the first was elected he only lives for 30 days and they said he died of natural causes I don't believe it he was the head of another Bank which was taken over by the Vatican Bank by a bishop more Sanctus and he was kicked to the curb Marcinkus was furious at what happened with all this and when I can't remember John Paul the first name but when he became the Pope there are a lot of speculations that because he spoke of the Lord our God and both male and female that that upsets so many people that somebody would kill him for that that seems really far-fetched to me but what doesn't make sense is that he knew what was going on with that Bishop Palmer scientists he knew the scandals and he knew the covert operations of running drugs from Turkey to New York City laundering the money through the banking of Rossano and the Vatican Bank in order to run guns to Poland that's the whole scandal in a nutshell and Marcus did not like the idea that the new pope was from a bank that he overtook and kicked it a curb and John Paul the first knew about it he also knew about the Masonic and the occultist goings-on within the Vatican that was headed by Paul the six and he was going to do away with it all and more safest is a person who has never known to be out of bed before noon but somehow at six o'clock in the morning or 7:00 a.m. in the morning he was walking through the courtyard under the the papal apartments when John Paul the first was found dead I think he was poisoned I can't prove it but it seems to be that way and all about money all about corruption and all about who's going to control everybody else and that's bottom line with a lot of it about it's absolutely what it's about and that is a leading theory that he was poisoned he he was a albino Luciani Pope Pope John Paul the first so um yet people should definitely look into these connections they should definitely look into these occult connections to the banking system and I'm really glad that the discussion went in this direction and there's nobody better to talk about with regarding those connections than Michael Kelley so Mike stay with us we're going to get into our taking calls on the other side when we pick up in the second hour ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio we'll be right back after these words [Music] we're back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show our special guest michael kelly we're talking with them about the financial system the corrupt financial system and how we can begin to free ourselves from it and you know one of the first parts of that process is really understanding who we're dealing with the knowledge of who these individuals are what their organizations are all about the kinds of connections that they have to much darker organizations and institutions has to be understood you know this is essential knowledge and Mike wanted to wrap up discussing some of the occult connections to the banking system in a moment we'll do that just want to give the callin number again real fast because we already have a couple of callers waiting in the queue we're going to get two calls right after this short segment the number to call in to join us is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again eight six six eight four one one zero six five give us a call and join the discussion with Michael Kelly Mike I'll let you take this rest of this short segment to finish up talking about the some of the connections with banking in the dark occult yeah market it's absolutely crazy you know when when you look at the people in high places they do have their own clubs you mentioned the Bohemian Club they're just stories put out by father Malachy Martin before he died he wrote a book about twelve of six and when after his inauguration into the or whatever it's called money who became Pope he had a black mass and it was it was broadcast in Rome and so place in South Carolina with a bunch of speakers big banking figures big corporate figures involved and each church they had in Rome they had a little girl there but was given some valium and she had her puppy dog they taught the dog on to the altar at st. Peter's Basilica and killed the dog and then they raped the little girl multiple times multiple men and they erase them among them was called the sex according to father Malachy Martin some say it was just fiction but you know if you think about Paul the sixth the Pope you know you can can you tell me that you remember his funeral I'm sure you can remember the funeral of the Blessed Pope but and maybe some people can remember the funeral of John the 23rd but nobody remembers the funeral of Pope Paul the sixth you know I would take Martin's testimony almost at face value because while you know I'm no big fan of organized religion as people who listen to my show well know if you listen to Malachi Martin and some of the interviews that he's done over the years you can hear the genuineness in his voice and you can hear what a good human being he actually was so I wouldn't have any problem believing if that came out of Malachi Martin's mouth that it was actually the case he actually put it in writing so I said one of his books I can't recall the title offhand but as much as you know if you tried try to get somebody to remember the funerals of the Pope's you can remember a lot of them but nobody remembers the funeral of Paul the six he was such an anti Pope that they stuffed his carcass and a wooden box and stuffed it in an unmarked grave well somewhere that's the horror of this man you know you know you know we were talking in the break a little bit about some of the symbolism involved in some of these ritual murders that go on a connected with these dark institutions and you know when they when they you know possibly killed Pope Paul John Paul the first you know we were talking about his name it means white light his name actually means white light in Italian and they killed or put out the white light you know and imagine that the symbolic overtones to that is are just incredible it really you know and another thing we want to think about the only corporate heads and military Noah crying either nobody did it better than the movie eyes white guy and showed that even if you are wealthy position you're not a member of the elite that's right yeah not not older right there Michael pick it up on the other side and we're gonna get to your calls in the next segment you're listening to what on earth is happening we'll be right back [Music] behind the girl I'll make my mind all day [Music] that's why they call me [Music] well definitely a lot of these international bankers are certainly bad company as the song says a very appropriate bumper music come in to this segment with I know I just want to touch on before we go to the phone's Mike in the last segment you talked about the film Eyes Wide Shut that's a phenomenal allegorical movie not even allegorical it's really non fictional and this is what really goes on in the world and you know just touch on that a little bit to help people to understand this is who the banking system really is that the super elite who's really running society and you know who's calling the shots behind all of our institutions these are dark occultists and they're keeping people silent through brutally violent methods as they're depicted in Eyes Wide Shut exactly same people who killed Roberto Calvi from the Vatican Bank scandal you know just you know a point of interest where with me is Roberto Calvi was found a hung under the Blackfriars Bridge in London he was a black friar in his Masonic Order and they hung him under the bridge with his feet dangling in the waves of the banks of the river and in his pockets were cash and some bricks now that could have been a hit by somebody else and make it look like the Masonic kid but it was too well executed to me it did not have been a Masonic hit and it was performed by people in his Lodge which were other people his same classes same stature in in his banking world it's not just the banking world it's also the military industrial complex part of that complex is the pharmaceutical industry so you know they do these things you know we've all heard stories of the antics at the Bohemian Grove you know the people that lived in that village out there always have complaints of the prostitution the drug use the craziness that goes on at the time and this is the world elite you know get together to get drunk and and just do crazy things in you know of which might actually include human sacrifice there are two reports that a human sacrifice one of a child of run by of one of the people who work there whether the server's there but because of who they are and the protection is guaranteed them under the National Security Agency even the State Police were not permitted to investigate amazing um you know even if they're only doing some mock rituals out there you can see the intent behind them and I've covered this before on shows you can go back and check out the show that I did with neo on on trauma-based mind control I also did another show on Satanism and what they're what they're ultimately all about what their whole ideology is about dark occultists and I did a show that included some images from Bohemian Grove to show you what the elites actually think of people I think that was on the show that I did about how money is it like a form of a religion and it's these people who are ultimately directing it so you have to look into the occult connections behind money and not having that knowledge as part of your arsenal is one of the solutions to be knowledgeable is to be armed against these individuals because we're dealing with evil evil entities that really are at the highest ends of the at the highest positions in these institutions so Mike a great segment on the occult related with with money and banking institutions what would you like to go to the phones sure I love alright great we have a couple of people on the line let's go to Steve in Wisconsin you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Michael Kelly welcome oh hi mark thanks for taking my call sure um would you allow me to read a couple paragraphs from the end of all evil by Jeremy Locke oh absolutely I think this is an essential book that people should check out I think Locke proposes a lot of solutions and this is philosophical work that Pete that is required reading as far as I'm concerned so go right I love this book market I thank you from the bottom of my heart for mentioning it I read it reread I don't know how many times but I had I do have a question that's really been burning in my mind for a ball at month that I wanted to ask you sure here we go chapter two earth there's a dark conspiracy which has clouded the minds of humanity throughout all ages this conspiracy is evil incarnate and controls vast mountains of human emotions work thought and speech it has been responsible for the deaths of hundreds upon hundreds of millions and the slavery of nearly every being who has ever lived if you accept a single principle that you have infinite worth then this book will give you the vision necessary to see the world as a genius you know want to infer all that the dark conspiracy is not strong but weak that evil is not going but dying and my question is this to the both of you is it dying I think it is I agree with mr. Locke I think I think they are weak in certain respects you know they're very cunning conniving and whatnot but are we seeing this whole thing about the collapse and I know we have to take personal responsibility for own help spirituality we have to take action I do agree with that it's not like we can just sit back and do nothing right but I think he's right some sense what do you think guys Steve what a great question Mike I'll let you respond to that first Dee do you think evil is in its death throes and therefore is struggling to tighten its grip on the reins of power no I I do not think evil is a sign now I think they are strong as they've ever been and it just all you have to do is look around at what's going on and things are not getting better things are still bad now you know there's I guess it depends on what you mean by why they get how I think the embarrassing there's that but to me I look at it as even though our standard of living today is higher the evil is allowing that to happen and precipitate a lot of it but they're poisoning the minds of everyone which is the stuff they put in our water supply stuff you know there's more fluoride in fresh fruits and vegetables than in a glass of water now I thought you know being honest with these things evils no ramp it so it is it a function of it's always been this bad but now that just there's just enough information that has made its way into the populace as hands that they can see then the depth of this evil all around us and I think that is the case that knowledge has come to of state of open free flow to a point where we can see the nature of our situation but that doesn't necessarily mean that we're it doesn't necessarily mean that we're on the way out of that situation it can mean that but ultimately what is going to determine whether evil is going to increase its stranglehold or whether it is slowly losing its its domination it's losing its grip it's losing its control is what kind of action will we see by the people in the know now what matters will they take into their hands to actually correct these situations and to do something about what they now know about what they can now see as a result of that light being shined on the state of affairs of the world and that's ultimately what it's all about so great question Steve in Wisconsin thanks for posing it to us and that you have our basic take on that so we'll be back on the other side of this next break with more of your calls and we'll continue to talk with our guest Mike Kelly stick around everyone [Music] but back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today we're talking with special guest Mike Michael Kelly on the monetary system its connections with the occult solutions what we can do about this corrupt monetary system that has a stranglehold over our world and we were taking calls from our listeners the call-in number to join us is eight six six eight four one one zero six five and let's continue to take some calls let's go to Richard in Washington State you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Michael Kelly welcome welcome to you great show mark as always first just a quick response to Steve and on all the other Oracle hosts I've made a challenge and I challenge you because you responded to my last one so read the vegetarian myth by Lear Keith ke I th it deals on more than vegetarianism it actually deals with the cause of where we are now but in response to Michael I can only quite quote our founding fathers and Thomas Jefferson said our best paper is poverty it is only the ghosts of money and not money itself experience has proven to us that a dollar of silver disappears for every dollar of paper emitted well the international bankers and I'm sure your guest as aware of this has turned us from a money system to a fractional reserve system which is really a lean debt system right and as long as they control that debt lien system and there is no more money or really money is not being brought to bear in the system we are in and pretty much deep trouble absolutely Richard great points Michael your response to that I agree another thing problem besides just inflation but a direct saturation of our earnings Jesse said wise and just government never takes from the mouth of labor the bread is earned it actually is unconstitutional to tax wages so they get around that illegalities by calling in and income tax they have a right to tax your wages but the federal government does not you know it's it's really all about like rewarding people who aren't even creative they're not really creating any true value for civilization for people in general they're making money off of money you know they're making wealth I guess you could say off of something that really isn't isn't even valuable in its own right they're just it's a manipulation game it's a mind trick it's it's what it's ultimately about it's waving a magic wand and making things you know appear in people's mind you know and these people don't have any real creative capability they don't make or invent any technology they don't create any new innovations that enhance our life or make it easier to deal with the natural world all around us they ultimately do nothing you know this is the real solution is stop believing in their in their magic because that's what it ultimately is it's it's dark magic it can't really be said any simpler and you know I thank Richard for his points so let's move on to another caller and let's go to Kevin from Minnesota you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Michael Kelley welcome hello gentlemen thank you very much mark and Mike as an as a Anishinabe descendant of the indigenous people of North America it's definitely well worth the powers that be to continue the systematic genocide of the indigenous people because the native peoples of North America did not have a concept of ownership an a a purpose of buying things when the Anishinabe people were i know more of since it's my ancestry that they got their status or they received their status within the tribe by what they gave not what they accumulated and when to hold on to and they there's no way that the powers that be and North America to have the indigenous people survive to spread that concept that's right of non ownership because it totally defeats the system that has been established that's a phenomenal point Kevin and now this is the reason behind the extermination of the true indigenous cultures that were here before we came in and conquered this land you know that we looked at it as this was our birthright or manifest destiny to take this entire continent but we conquered it ultimately we took it from people that were already really living here and they were living in harmony but for the most part with the land and their their systems of their their paradigm their way of seeing reality their worldview was in a much healthier state than the the people who came over here from the from the eastern hemisphere so Michael your response to that regarding the reason that the this banking culture this entire monetary culture needs to keep down the influence of the Native American cultures and there are there are philosophies in general if they want to continue to do what they're doing that's why they keep them impoverishes well I think it's horrible what the government does to these people but it's not as just a unique concept to the Native American population its concept of the count's the Franks started out that way until they the Romans monetize them so you know in history you can find other cultures around the world that were very similar but bred it's that when they the power elites get into power you know and get the stronghold and that's what's happening we could look into the the suppression of the Moorish legacy we could look into the suppression of the indigenous Maya legacy by the Aztec empire and those who came after them you know if this is this is has been going on throughout the world because ultimately the indigenous people the indigenous tribal cultures have a deep-rooted connection to the earth and the ways of the earth itself the ways of creation itself you know and how that energy system flows and exists naturally and his abundant is endlessly abundant and is always giving and I love the idea that Kevin brought up that the the real Chiefs in this in indigenous system of which he was speaking were given their status as a result of their giving qualities not of the the taking qualities or even quote leadership qualities but they were they were given their status as a result of how giving they were to the people around them and that's ultimately what we all have to learn that's the lesson we ultimately have to learn is that we need to get back to a consciousness of giving and sharing if we're really going to solve these problems that's where the ultimate solution lies and that's why they want to suppress any cultures that dealt with those notions on a very deep basis they can't have that getting out into the the mass cultural mindset of people because then people will stop again believing in their illusion believing in their paradigm that they want to entrench and things would rapidly change and it would change in their in the controllers eyes for the worse because they would certainly lose their influence and power so Michael your response to that you know some of what you said I agree with um but there's already a system in place that is corrupting this whole thing and if you listen to the mantra give back to the community what did you give back to the community and it's so offensive to me that I took something that I did not belong to me and I owe the community who is the community the community is a group of individuals right and everybody has their own thoughts I didn't take anything I don't owe the community anything so you know you can you can have these things but it only goes so far my purpose is individual liberty and self-governance absolutely and so you know they have corrupted this by forcing students in high school cannot graduate and so they do so many hours of community service don't get me wrong I'm for only I'm for voluntary sharing absolutely no compelled or compulsory taxation I'm completely against all forms of it you know my whole my whole deal is contribute what you will contribute what you freely have to give of yourself and want to give not because you're compelled to do so that's the level of consciousness I'm trying to help us steer people toward that the great thing about great Michael we'll pick this up on the other side with more about our listeners calls we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening on their host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm so we were taking people's calls with our special guest Mike Kelly talking about the monetary system and Mike we do have yet another caller on the line here we go caller from the to14 area code you're live on what on earth is happening with our guest michael kelly welcome i am i believe they allow these things or i rather i don't believe in a lot of these things that don't believe in money as far as how other people are deifying it there's the profit is the new religion of the world yes and i don't believe in that anymore but i have to have money you know i survive this world is built upon this predication that you'd have to have money in order to make it in order to have a roof over your head and some kind of decent level of living right so how do i get around this issue of the w-2 and all the other well your we're all bound we're all bound by other people's belief systems see while belief you know isn't going to make something that doesn't exist in nature suddenly come into existence it is going to affect behavior of other individuals so if other people believe that you have to live a certain way and you have to do a certain thing to receive something else okay you know in other words I need these paper bills in order to receive food okay and that's their operating principles their behavior is based on those general principles it's going to bind other people's ways of being in the world it's going to actually contribute to how we experience reality even if we don't believe in the same thing they believe in the problem is of course that almost the majority in time our majority almost the entire whole of humanity believes in this system of money the percentage of people that don't believe in it is negligible as compared to the people who support it uphold it and continue to enforce its its behaviors so ultimately what we are the very tip of the spear in putting forward the idea that this is all this is all other lis illusion this is all something that doesn't serve who we are as a people and we need to continue to help assist that change in mind so that people will stop taking those behaviors that chained us that's really the ultimate solution I'm in no way suggesting that you could just immediately abandon any interactions with their monetary system right now today and probably have any kind of an effective existence because other people believe in this so strongly they'll let you starve in the street that is their mentality of course so you know the the the answer really is is to continue to put out the truth about what this system represents so that people stop believing in it and upholding it and holding it up and therefore they will stop binding our physical ability to live in a world on a planet without this ridiculous illusory system Mike your thought your response to the caller's thoughts I'm just had a hard time with the concept I don't believe in money it's like saying I don't believe in bread wine or cheese money is there you have to use it don't there right now the way things are as you said yeah it's a necessity what we're talking about in the sense that it really isn't the thing that you're exchanging for it there it's it's not a part of nature it's a construct that is invented by the mind of man to represent something else it would be like saying well marbles now represent batteries okay marbles aren't batteries you try to power a device with a marble it isn't going to happen a battery is a store energy a model is not money is a construction and construct real concept that exists in the mind that is used in place or by proxy or by way of a real thing so that's what the user is basically talking about and we understand fully that there is such a thing as actual a monetary system and you know these forms of currency that people use as a mechanism of exchange we're just saying that ultimately human beings don't really need that to actually live on the planet if people would simply stop believing in that construct or concept yeah you know I still see money as probably the greatest invention and it is an abstract concept but it's still to me the greatest invention which is allowed for the highest standard of living we enjoy today you know is because it did allow for a diversity of the workforce so you could be in the arts and not have to exchange your artwork for your food you know you could be an engineer you could be a scientist you could be a tail or whatever and it was money that allowed for that right it's now that we've attained all of these things that some people say I think we're going against human nature as we are now that there is so greed and if everything is there for the taking simply because it's there how are you going to stop the violent and greedy from making aw that's the main concept I thought I was talking about today and I could only be done as a result of removing that impulse toward greed and the violence that it would spur on by improving the conditions of the environmental conditions in which we live such that that level of consciousness would not be prevalent because the conditions it isn't like just the people are violent and greedy conditions lead people to violent and greedy behaviors and yes then you could say well then if that persists long enough that becomes like their nature I argued last when you called in that this was is not the actual human nature that it is the current human condition and condition means environmental conditions that has created this way of being in the world that is greedy and violent and I'm in no way disagreeing with you human beings have become greedy and violent animals and you know if you just simply tried to remove this system overnight yeah they would become greedy and violent regarding the things that they require to live on a daily basis it's the consciousness change that has to happen first and when when that consciousness change occurs then we won't have any need for this kind of system of exchange because we will contribute freely and share freely among ourselves because we'll understand that that's the only way we're alternately serving who we truly are now how do we the crux of the situation chicken and egg scenario isn't it but it's like you know now how do we go and enlighten the ruling elite who because Saddam Hussein said he wasn't going to take US dollars we'll send military troops in to kill millions of people ah but that's the key yeah they're just telling people to do those things those people have to be willing to follow them and again the thing that's that so their impetus for doing that is often money is getting that paycheck because they feel that that's the only thing that they can do to earn money in many cases no I disagree I think that it's not money it's a false sense of nationalism and an honor that doing these things it's a whole mind-control thing we're doing a mind-control a question how many people do you think if you pulled the paycheck from military and police would remain in those capacities as a paycheck you know the military paycheck is so low that there's a WIC office on that where US military base in the world write their paychecks are horrible do their that do it for money they're just let's just let's say you said you if you want to continue to do this you have to do it pro bono completely for free how many people would stay in that capacity well who could do their normal job that they are earning their living with by pulling their paycheck nobody could write doesn't matter if you're doing that or here you're talking to a nurse in a hospital nurse and honestly you don't get paid you have to go in there and take care of sick people all the day so how is she gonna put food on her table what I thought what I would argue is if if someone is truly passionate about what they're doing they would do it regardless of whether they're paid for it or not ladies and gentlemen I'm not paid for what I do I do this and I'm not paid for it yes I receive Federal Reserve notes too you know debt notes to pay for food that I have to eat on a daily basis by doing other tasks but this is my real passion and I would do this and and do do this and will continue to do this absolutely for receive with receiving absolutely nothing for it I don't need anything back in exchange or in return for speaking the truth because that's what I'm passionate about but to bring up another concept Mike I want to recommend this article that I had been telling you about I told you a little bit about before we went on their air tonight that I posted on the website it was an article by James Yeager called non-monetary civilization and the subtitle of this is called how we can evolve an obsolescence of money and James is another individual I've had as a guest on what on earth is happening in the past I may be bringing him on in the future to talk about solutions to the monetary system but Mike I want to read you a little bit of this and get your take on some of James's thoughts on the other side of the break how is that sound that great great all right we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening [Music] [Music] welcome back please and gentlemen you're listening through what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com today on the show we're talking with special guest michael kelly about the monetary system and solutions to the stranglehold that it has over ourselves our situation and our consciousness so Mike I wanted to bring up the article from last week's show which was a phenomenal article that I found on James Yeager's website the Yeager Institute Yeager Research Institute James Yeager's a filmmaker he's from the Philadelphia area he made the great documentary film on the federal reserve system called Fiat Empire which is absolutely required viewing material for anybody wanting to know about the nature of the Federal Reserve System so he shared your solutions approach when it came to commodity based money he said as a stopgap in this article to going to a system where we wouldn't need money at all that a commodity money system would need to be established the commodity could be anything accepted by human participants and as production of these commodities went up the purchasing power of the money the monetary units put into circulation to to purchase these commodities would also increase increase so in other words you would set create a month a money supply nut'n unchanging money supply would not be able to be inflated or deflated you would have a set amount of money in circulation and then you would have you and ramped up production on your commodities and then eventually you would need less and less and less money to purchase more and more and more goods so the the value of the money would tend toward would would tend toward a zero you know the money itself would would buy more and more I should say and that the Sesa t for it would tend towards zero because you would eat so little of it in order to buy so much of the commodity that that it would be almost meaningless at some future point it's really a great concept and i think you can equate it to if you just look at life in the United States just after World War two one man could hold a job make about fifteen thousand dollars a year and have a family of five or six and not only have his home in the city but could also have a vacation home how is that possible with one where person working and a household of six or seven people it's because it works now this article it's on podcast number 98 I'll repost it again with this article for people to check out definitely want to get your thoughts on in private Mike after you check it out and read it but I thought it was a very enlightening and I think James has put a good solution forward as a stopgap to slowly transition away from the kind of monetary system we have now to one where money would be obsoleted and we could interact without it and I think that absolutely could work if people really read this article it's called non-monetary civilization and the subtitle is how we can evolve the obsolescence of money I've posted it on the site in in the podcast section right at the top under podcast 98 and I'll post it again with this podcast which is 99 in a PDF format and the PDF is only three pages long it's just a short essay on this topic and uh James again I have to bring him on the show in the future to talk about this very concept and get his take on this uh on this essay that he wrote so we have one more caller on the line you want to take that and I'll let you give us your final thoughts how does that sound like that great alright great here we go caller you're live on what on earth is happening from the four one six area code you're on live with our special guest Michael Cali welcome hi guys Nikki McCall I just had a question about the recent putting out the posture of moammar qaddafi I wonder what you think of the notion that one of the major reasons why they did that was that he was trying to create an gold-based currency to the continent of Africa and secondarily what does it say about where we are in the world if we have to rely on people like Gaddafi or I'm a demon Ahmadinejad for some kind of backup against these forces good question Mike results on that wait you know it makes perfect sense that NATO would go after Muammar Qaddafi because of the gold he was going to put in it I can't argue with that I agree but how to fix this problem is is we have to we have to stop these the ruling elite how do we stop the ruling elite this is difficult I don't know that it's going to happen without a bloody revolution I don't think they can be enlightened because they are so entrenched into into the dark side and you know there's a lot of speculation that the reason we went into Libya was because he didn't want to put his people on to our type of fractional reserve fiat currency system controlled by the central banks yeah that's true um you know that's one thing about him though but there was a lot more bad stuff but no matter how bad he was it was none of our business to go there and the president United States committed US troops to there without consent of the Congress which is an unconstitutional act it is a high crime you know it is not a misdemeanor and he should be impeached he should also be impeached for the murder of US citizens abroad who he considered terrorists and they're saying they can kill us towers without due process these are the problems in it you know what the bottom line with all this stuff is to keep everyone on control we prop up these dictators when it suits our purpose and then once they go against the the the real owners of this country then they send their their lapdogs called the military in to clean up their problem Michael one quick question from a Skype chatter is what do you think of the Liberty dollars and I'll let you take that question and then you can give us your closing thoughts it was another that was another crime for the government to go in and take the Liberty companies money they call the counterfeit money but I how can you have a Federal Reserve Note and say that the silver is counterfeit it's just it's not a crime by the federal government and as simple as diet and it's there just to eliminate competition to their standard which they want everybody hooked on and having no no recourse to if the Franklin Mint decides to put out in circulation currency are they going to close down and the Franklin Mint probably but like that's who Prince there to Mister there are nickels and dollars they're thinking that all the old coins that we use today Mike we have two minutes left I'm going to give you the floor give us your closing thoughts give us what you think people should look into the solutions that they should look toward and you know the floor is yours till the end of the show well alright first of all if you want learn about the estate of money it's a book by NA Ferguson it's a great focus to describe some money the bubbles why they happen doesn't give any solutions just gives the the facts on how money works in the real world but I'd like to end with one of my favorite quotes by Spooner he said whoever desires Liberty should understand these vital facts that every man who puts money in the hands of a government puts into at an award which will be used against him to extort more money from him and to keep him in subjection to its arbitrary will while while that is extraordinarily powerful because that is really what this is all about your you're putting the power behind the sword that's being ultimately used to take you down by feeding into this monetary system and ultimately I would still argue the main solution is to pull our mental energy back from this they want us focused on this more than anything else the main thing to pull is the pull our mental energy back from the monetary system and stop focusing on what we can do to make money start focusing on making the real money which is the awakening of the mind and treating each other as the true value in this world rather than something that is made at the waving of the wand of a black magician mark you know this has been a really fun experience I haven't done this in a long time I want to thank you very much for having me and I think you just brought me back to the fight absolutely Mike again you were one of the individuals who helped pull me out of my sleep out of my deep trance so I want to thank you eternally for that and you've been a great guest that's all we have time for on this edition of one on earth is happening thanks so much for listening everyone I this radio program and as as part of the 100th radio show for what on earth is happening I wanted to do something a little bit special a little bit out of the ordinary and instead of continuing to cover you know that the outline that I developed for solutions for the topics that we had planned for solutions I want to bring on a very special guest today my friend Jay Parker who is going to talk about solutions oriented approaches for ritual abuse and trauma based mind control Jay you may remember he was one of the speakers at the free your mind conference back in 2011 and he did a phenomenal presentation there that enlightened a lot of people you could check that out on YouTube you could also look it up at free your mind conference com go to the speaker page click on Jay's link and you could watch the entire presentation Jay came on this radio program as neo before he came forward under his his actual name to speak at the free your mind conference so many of you will remember him from show number 17 where he discussed satanic ritual abuse and trauma based mind control today we're not going to rehash all of that horror we're going to stay focused on solutions and what people who may have gone through some type of extreme trauma like this can do to basically psychologically heal themselves so that's coming up on the show today and I'm really looking forward to it I do have one quick event announcement and that is regarding truth freedom prosperities monthly documentary screening and discussion night that's coming up as it always does on the last Wednesday of every month slavery by consent is a documentary that exposes how we are seen as nothing more than chattel by the entrenched rulers of the global control system it also explains how humanity ultimately enslaves itself by giving our consent to be ruled by these Psychopaths and agreeing that we must somehow obey their dictates our true power will only be found when we develop the courage to stand up and emphatically say no once and for all to human slavery but will we join us for this great documentary slavery by consent Wednesday March 28th we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen welcome back everyone we're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm today on the show we have a very special guest as kind of a celebration of our 100th episode and that special guest is Jay Parker here's his bio Jay was born into a multi-generational satanic illuminati family and received monarch trauma-based mind control as a child for the first seven years of his life Jay was subject to satanic ritual abuse in a large cult setting on the show today I'll be discussing with Jay some holistic recovery and healing methods for satanic ritual abuse survive survivors among many other topics Jay welcome back - what on earth is happening well it's great to be here mark your 100th show congratulations thanks man I appreciate it and I appreciate you being here well in the time since I did the what on earth is happening at show number 17 and today I have to say that my healing is gone very well that's really great to hear I'm sure people will be really happy to hear that and uh they're going to be also anxious to hear about how what kind of techniques and methods you've used to accomplish that coming back to balance psychologically and spiritually we're going to be talking about that and getting in depth on those methods on this show today but before we do that one of the things that I would like to briefly talk about and get your take on is the occult season of sacrifice and this is something that I talked about fairly extensively on what on earth is happening in the past and the reason I mention it is because tomorrow I would say is the unofficial beginning of that season with March 22nd 3 22 being the actual real official beginning of that occult season of sacrifice now I talked about this concept on shows number 51 and 52 so if people are not familiar with what the season of sacrifice is I'm not going to completely go over it again I've I've put the three images that I discussed on shows 51 and 52 on the radio show page for this show so if you don't see that you can refresh the page it's right underneath the player on the radio show page of what on earth is happening or it is posted with podcast 100 if you're listening to the podcast so those three images are showing the occult calendar the the the calendar of the Sabbats the midpoints of each season and then explaining why the spring equinox is seen as an extremely special time kind of like the renewal of the year when the Sun breaks the midpoint or the zero Degree point of it's the Earth's plane of orbit the Sun of course due to the Earth's plaintive orbit is visually seen to go from 23.5 degrees south latitude of the earth to 23.5 degrees north latitude of the earth depending on the time of the year and the midpoint where zero-point of that is the spring equinox and also the autumn equinox but it is seen to be rising during the spring equinox signaling a time of rebirth and renewal but also in the dark occult sense this is a time of sacrifice when blood is to be given to the earth and to the Sun in order that a bountiful harvest may be received during harvest season so that's the short explanation of what the season of sacrifice is and if you look at these three images it basically explains that this is a 40 day period 40 being a very significant symbolic occult and biblical number from 322 or March 22nd to May 1st which is the midpoint of the spring season which is the Sabbat known as val purchased nacht val purchased nacht happens on May 1st and it is the highest occult holiday of the year so if you look into history and you look at false flag operations and you look at covert sacrifice rituals done in the name of showing people how horrible these things are and that we have to do something you know to gain control over this situation like school shootings and bombings and terrorist events etc a high percentage of them take place during this 40 day window and just a very brief example I'm sure I'm forgetting tons of them I just compiled this quickly right before the show the BP oil spill happened on April 20th Waco the siege at Waco occurred at on April 19th the Oklahoma City bombing happened on April 19th the Columbine school shootings happened on April 20th the assassination of Martin Luther King happened on April 4th the Virginia Tech school shootings happened on April 16th the massacre at Port Arthur happened to 8:00 on April 28th all within this 40 day window that is known as the season of sacrifice so one of the things I want to start off talking about is that this season is is getting ready to open up as a matter of fact again I would say that the unofficial season is March 19th okay which hat which starts tomorrow that's three days before the official opening of this season which is March 22nd okay and they that's another symbolic reason the three days before the official rising that that the son is dead as of March 19th and then finally really truly breaks the the horizon of the zero degree latitude mark on the 22nd of March 322 again another symbolic occult number and it is highly associated with the dark occult organization known as the the Skull and Bones the order of Skull and Bones or the order of death so this season is something that we have to be vigilant during especially so not to say we don't need to be vigilant during other times of the year but especially during this season so I'm putting out a call for people to be on look out for false flag events for fake terror events for bombings and shootings etc okay or justifications to go to war they're constantly trying they've been trying to push to go to war in many different areas okay Iran not the least of which Africa now with this uh you know Kony situation you know that they're trying to flan out there when this person hasn't really been a a threat in Africa for years and they're trying to trot that out in front of people to justify going into going to war in in the Uganda region of Africa so the the situation the actual time of this year is ripe for a false flag event and we really need to be extraordinarily vigilant during this time in particular so Jay I want to turn the floor over to you before we start getting into satanic ritual abuse and healing methods for it I want to get your take on the occult season of sacrifice knowing that you came from an occult family tell us what your take is on that what you think we should be on the watch for well growing up in my family everything you know in the religion you know basically yeah you know all about it bow purchase not all the different holidays you know different rituals but well we're gonna pick this up on the other side of the break I know this break just just got us it snuck up on us but I'll turn the floor over to you when we come back from the break and you can tell us what your position is on the season of sacrifice and you know what you think we should be looking out for some of the things that you think they might try they might try to sneak in past us during this this time that they look at as they must give blood to the earth in order to get there their manifestation to take place we'll pick that up on the other side stay with us everyone welcome back everyone I'm mark Cassio and you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle Broadcasting Network my special guest satanic ritual abuse survivor Jay Parker we're going to be getting into healing methodologies for SRA satanic ritual abuse a little bit later on the show but I opened up the show with a warning to people that were about to enter the time period known as the occult season of sacrifice which I covered rather extensively on podcasts number 51 and 52 I went into a list of events that happened during that season and I turned the floor over to Jay tell us what your take is on the occult season of sacrifice and maybe perhaps what we should be on the lookout for during that time period well when it came to the cult I was in my father claimed to be ninth generation Illuminati and that his family was in the Illuminati senses 1720s basically the entire first seven years of my life every time you turned around there was some sort of ritual or special holiday I mean it's very much like the Catholic Church every time you turn around it's it's some saints feast most of the time they didn't need a reason to kill somebody for let's say Halloween they did what they did based on religious practices they that go back for them probably 3,000 BC so when I when I look at my let's say early spring memories of being in the call for me it's the same it was the same as any other time or whether there were there was always raping and torture but if there was a human sacrifice to be done it meant it was wasn't really that big a difference for them to do it May first or to do it during the equinoxes the summer solstice they they didn't need a an excuse of reason they they just did we kill people all year long they would rape people all year long but when it comes to what you're talking about with the season of sacrifice that's where you get into the Illuminati mind control manipulation of society in general and then so this is an event on a mass scale done to to push consciousness in a certain direction on a mass scale well when you talk about mass consciousness manipulation my favorite story my family was watching the JFK funeral with my mother father and two brothers and my father saying to my mother that he had just finished talking to the head of our town cult and he said to my mother this is a ritual it's called the death of a king and we did this and the driver of the limo was our man and I'm just saying and this is just like the death of Diana this is something the killing of the king or queen is something that I talked about if people go on the news section of my website I got into this with Bob from Cincinnati when he brought me on his show a cult empire a couple of months ago and we briefly discussed the ritual known as the killing of the king I'm not sure if I went into that during the season of sacrifice shows or not I can't quite remember but I do know I touched upon this topic on occult Empire with Bob from Cincinnati and you could check that out that was a show that was actually on the alchemical tradition alchemy that I did with Bob on a cult empire a couple months ago you can check that out in the news section of the of the what on earth is happening website but jaehwi you had mentioned another one during the break just off the top of your had you threw it out there the Battle of Lexington the battles of Lexington and Concord actually happened on this date April 19th it seems that for mass killing for mass murder this date is so favored April 19th and April 20th are seemed to be extreme favorite dates in the mindset of these dark occultist you want to touch on that well of course April 20th is Adolf Hitler's birthday so you always have to try to give kudos to the master of eugenics on his birthday now I can see why these eugenicist would want to sort of you know tip their hat in other words in a very sick and twisted way so this date these dates in particular April 19th and 20th are you know absolutely be keeping your eyes open during that we'll talk more about it as as it approaches but again I consider the unofficial beginning of this season to be tomorrow so that that is what I would consider really the opening of the season of sacrifice is March 19th so I guess you know that's really all I wanted to say about that and just put it out there for people to really really be aware of it don't obsess over it study it understand it understand that this is the mindset of these twisted psychopathic individuals that are the occultists who are really running things in the power structure of our world but this is their belief system you know I'm not telling you that there is any kind of special magic that occurs because they can find a way to manipulate a situation where thousands hundreds or thousands of people are killed during a certain time of the year what I am Telling You is that that's what they believe they believe that and are certainly willing to act upon that belief system so it's important to understand their beliefs and keep an eye out during this time of the year so let's let's move on and start getting into satanic ritual abuse healing methods the first thing I would I guess I want to ask you is what helped you to come out the condition that you were in as a result of all the trauma and abuse that you suffered during your childhood what did you specifically do or what happened to you to help you start to bridge that gap psychologically mentally emotionally spiritually tell us you know what basically led you from that condition of deep imbalance pain and suffering to the condition that you're in today being an awake and aware individual well the journey of you know thousands of steps and one step builds onto the platform of the previous step and you rise up out of the mind control I have to say that because of the adage birds of a feather flock together many of my friends were abuse victims and so one of the things that helped wake me up was that one of my close personal friends was a satanic ritual abuse victim also and he had woken up to the fact that he had been raped and tortured as a child and he started reading books about it and then he gave them to me because once he got enough understanding of his psychology he took a look at me and said oh that's why we're good friends because subconsciously we both had been through the wringer interesting what would you say that it would also have a great bearing upon whether someone be starts to go in the direction of healing the kind of people that they would choose to associate with perhaps even after the the direct trauma has been done to them one of the amazing things when I look back at when I first started breaking my programming first started breaking down one of the main reasons with this is I stayed away purposely from my father who was my primary hand without him able to reboot my programming it started the lease of power so physically removing yourself if it is within your capability from from doing that if you know that this kind of abuses is being done to you physically leaving the scenario if you can muster the courage to do that and if you know that the cult that is doing this to you does not you know want to physically keep you held hostage in a physical way physically removing yourself from that scenario is step one absolutely I will pick this up on the other side of the break our special guest today jay park we're back everyone our special guest today Jay Parker survivor of satanic ritual abuse and we're talking about healing methods for SRA satanic ritual abuse Jay was saying that the first thing to do is to physically remove yourself from the circumstances of the cult from the actual physical surroundings of the cult that you may be surrounded by and this is obviously doable to a certain extent depending on the the nature of the the type of cult that you're dealing with this was possible to an extent for you many people were under such strong mind-control that they can't mentally bring themselves to do that but many people I guess some of the their role in the cult setting is valuable enough to the cult members that they will not physically be allowed to do that so if it is possible that is the very first thing is as Jay was talking about this concept of people of like-minded consciousness will continue to breed that same consciousness so it's very important to physically remove yourself from those surroundings so Jay do you want to touch anything more on that do you want to move on to the next technique well well one thing I remember from that time of becoming aware of reality as opposed to my programmed mindset was the emotional horror of finally pulling the curtain back and starting to break through the amnesic barriers of the trauma and having body feelings and memories coming into my mind from what I had experienced as a child and emotionally it was really painful but I was fortunate that in my own consciousness that when I realized how I had been duped and used as a tool you know of that of the cold I was angry enough that I actually decided that I was gonna get better from it I wasn't going to wallow in the negativity I was going to find positive things and heal myself and because I understood enough about human life in general that we are to a basic extent computers and it's garbage in garbage out and whatever you're focusing your attention on that's where your energy is going to be and by reading healing books psychologically and this for its spring Myers book on how to make a monarch Mountain control slave was really helpful to me because I was able to see the clinic way of looking at these rituals and and understand the why and how of what I had experienced so quality of attention plays into this in a big way and this is one of the things that we've already talked about on the show as one of the overarching solutions for how humanity can change its consciousness and heal its imbalances so that plays a huge role in recovery from ritual abuse as well what you pay attention to is ultimately what's going to manifest in your life of course with mind control and mind control triggers the kind that are embedded in trauma-based mind control that could be an even taller order for people who are just let's say hooked on certain forms of media or you know hooked on certain forms of frivolous entertainment so that that will obviously be a tall order for people who have been through this ringer of trauma-based mind control but why don't we stay focused on on that aspect of it for the time being and talk about who are some of the influences some of the people that you really kind of paid attention to to help to you to to change your worldview and your mindset well all I have to say is thank God for the Internet and III have to say the the process of break one of the things that will happen when you're a monarch or you go through any cold abuse and and this bisko's work and any quote endquote just off-the-beaten-path religion people are susceptible to emotional abuse and emotional manipulation in group settings and all I have to say is when I woke up I had already because of the web and started to read books by by authors that expanded my awareness of reality let's say I was a big fan and still AM of nasty hair mine I I like the work of dr. Bruce Lipton when he talks about the epigenetic nature and the reprogrammable nature of human consciousness both physically and mentally and when I was waking fighting the let's just call it a suicide programming of Monarch because once you really put your foot down and say okay I see what this happened to me I know who my abusers are you'll go through a period of several months where this and it's nothing more than suicide programming where emotionally and mentally you'll be up against the wall and your your mind and body will be screaming at you kill yourself there's you know don't don't try to heal from this just give up look at your whole life was a fraud bla bla bla and I just fought through that because of my understanding that I didn't know everything and that there was a lot to learn and understand I hadn't given up on life because of what had happened to me I realized that I had been given an opportunity to literally reprogram myself okay so we talked about removal from the physical surroundings if that is within your capability to do so the change in the quality of attention who you pay attention to what you focus your attention on will redirect the manifestation that's taking place in your life let's move on to another technique what would you say is the next most important thing to start to do to reverse the tide and heal of the world view and heal the psychological and and the physical damage that has been done you know as a result of the direct mind control techniques particularly the trauma based techniques well it in in the books I was reading I was reading a lot of psychology books based on trauma both call an on call sexual trauma I was reading a lot of information based on the sciences and history and just generally speaking I adopted myself into a a conscious state where learning and understanding became an important thing to me when I realized what that my family was totally called and you know basically my brother even my older brother tried to reboot my programming at one point as I was pulling away okay and when he did that and I realized that not even my most beloved brother was my friend anymore now most people when that realization we hit them they would be crushed totally but for me I realized from that it's it's it's it's something that I guess I just read enough psychology to the point where I had developed some critical thinking skills of my own and instead of being really I was angry at my brother for being caught and trying to reboot my programming but I also had read enough of Fritz spring Mars work and some of the other trauma based psychologists to understand that until people take a step back from their personal programming whether it's trauma based or whether it's religion or whatever it is and look at it through critical thinking they're nothing but prisoners of their programming so what you needed to realize in the instance with your brothers that he was simply a prisoner of his own programming and doing what his programming dictated so part of your own healing was letting go of that resentment that he's still under the the mind control and your coming out of it and to basically let that anger go regarding the state of consciousness that he still trapped in oh absolutely I when when that particular incident happened although always mad at him I also had read enough that I had an understanding about basically the robotic nature of people or programmed would it be fair to sum up that basic aspect of Oh as a technique for healing from this type of trauma would it be fair to group that under the category generally of forgiveness in general oh absolutely I think one of the biggest things you have is lighten up on yourself absolutely that's very important to you know basically look at things in a positive way the power of positive thinking that's something we're going to talk a lot more about on in the future on this show we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen our special guest Jay Parker you know welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on the Oracle Broadcasting Network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com they only show our special guest Jay Parker survivor of satanic ritual abuse we're talking about healing methodologies for people who have been put through this horrific form of trauma-based mind control so Jay you were talking about the you know the the necessity for forgiveness for people that are still trapped in this kind of abusive setting and you know are operating on you know their automaton programming and realized that that really isn't the individual that really isn't that the true person that's not the true individual that's not their real soul they're operating on under programmed conditions and circumstances that have been instilled there that programming has been instilled there by trauma that they themselves went through so I said is that fair to call it as a general technique practicing forgiveness and your response to that well let's just talk about my oldest brother that when he tried to reboot my programming under direction of my father you know I just looked at him and that's the last time I actually saw him physically and that was over 10 years ago and basically when that incident happened and I realized he was in on it I always extremely angry at him but but we had had asked my programming was breaking down I reached out to my brother to try to discuss some of the things I was remembering from our childhood and my brother looked at me and with tears in his eyes he said to me I don't want to go back there I don't want to think about that time at all I can't deal with it and I said I want to know what happened you know I have these memories flooding back to me I'm going to understand this and so you go on line and and some of the first memories that that came back to me were sexual abuse and also some of the training time that I actually spent alone with my parents being told the true nature of reality in the world that the Illuminati controlled the world that we were an Illuminati family and the things we did were because we were part of the power structure and so then you you start to search out Illuminati secret societies what are these things what are these memories and you start to read people like David Icke and you start to go down the rabbit hole and you start to study and and research and try to find answers to the memories that you have which that's what I did so what would you say that wanting to look at what actually occurred is like a prerequisite for healing uh psychologically and mentally and and emotionally can people do you think that they can fully heal from this type of trauma if they refuse to admit what occurred and and not look at it and not want to know all about what really happened and why you know is it possible for them to heal without doing that homework you know or is that a prerequisite is that something that people really need to you know basically buck up and do that work look into it no matter how dark it is to really fully recover I went through an interesting time mark in the first several years of my recovery process and that by reading a lot of books by mainstream psychologists and let's say abuse therapists and psychologists I found that they had what I all I can say is a mentality of wallowing and of victimization of constantly constantly rehashing the trauma rather than reprogramming and I don't know why maybe it's something in me but I wanted an understanding and then I wanted to release it and then reach out and bring something empowering intimate into me so that I would truly be rise above what had happened to me so it's the idea once again of knowing but not focusing on the negative knowing about it knowing how it works but not obsessing on the negative there's so much negativity and there's so many mind-control techniques and you know dark things that are taking place in the world if we obsessed on it we would you know basically shut ourselves down and we would never come into any kind of personal power or personal empowerment we need to be aware of the darkness as which is why I spent a year and a half on mind control techniques to make people aware of all the multi-faceted techniques of control that are going mass control that are going on all around us at all times and places but at the same time we moved on from that because I don't want to just dwell on those things we're talking about how we can set things right ultimately you know empowerment is what we want to focus on we want to be aware of the dark but then turn our attention to well what can we actually do to heal from those dark things that are going on around us so it's absolutely important to keep in mind be aware of the darkness but don't dwell upon it and let it take over your everyday waking consciousness there's a big difference between those things and sometimes it could be a line to walk you have so many people that constantly talk about all the negative that's going on but never really bring up solutions well what we do here as part of what on earth is he's discuss solutions and what we can actually do practically and pragmatically to bring about a change in the current situation so that's a very key thing there J and I'm glad you brought it up so let's talk about some of the physical things like I know you wanted to get into food and how the change of diet can really help with the change of mental attitude worldview and psychology as well so what do you want to say in regards to what you did practically to change your physiology and what you were take you know taking into your body nourishing your your your body computer with so to speak well one of the things I used to love to do in my life before I woke up was I love to work really hard and party really hard so I would drink after work practically every day and one of the things I had to face as I woke up was that was a program in me to keep my subconscious memories and to keep what was stewing deep down inside me mentally from surfacing was just have a drink relax forget about it and so I stopped drinking to excess and I started learning about nutrition and I started realizing more and more from the scientists and philosophers I was reading that you're basically the sum total of your own personal knowledge so if you're ignorant of something you're not you're not going to do yourself any favors and and this especially when we talked about diet and this is a big issue with you and you look at what's being fed to the human race today one of the first things you can do to make yourself feel better and heal yourself is the stop eating

GMO poison just get away from aspartame alcohol and drug abuse you literally stop feeding the deme and start feeding the healing and it takes a little more effort and at times I have to say I look at my organic diet now and I'm not a chef so it's it's somewhat bland but that's the way I keep it the price down is I don't go crazy and keep it simple but I noticed absolute changes in my physiology in the last three years especially since I went totally vegan and organic and I just I stay away from the garbage it really is a form of vibratory energy that we're taking in through our food so how you put it is so appropriate when people feed low vibrational food to their body they're literally feeding demons that are controlling them they're keeping them on that program because that demon acts like a parasite at once that that that entity wants to feed on the low vibratory form of energy and it once you constantly down in your energy system so that it can stay latched on to you because if you get healthy and you get on to high vibratory energy foods living natural foods living organic foods those energy vampires that are all around us are not going to feed there they can't they can't stay and attached and feed off of that different vibrational energy through high quality food so we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen stay with us welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio into the second hour of show our special guest today Jay Parker were talking about satanic ritual abuse and then methodologies for psychologically and mentally healing from this type of trauma-based mind control and I want to give the calming number because um we're going to be taking calls this hour a little bit later in the program so the callin number is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the Colin number eight six six eight four one one zero six five is the number to call in and join us live be patient get in the caller queue and I will take your calls after we cover a couple more topics so Jay you want to wrap up on food and how important that really is to to set the body right the the the vibratory energy of the body ultimately needs to be in right harmonic vibration oscillation in order for the subsequent healing to take place mentally emotionally psychologically and you want to talk about some of the people that helped you to really recognize that so that you could put that into practice in your life well when when I first woke up I I had some fortunate things happen to me because of my situation of my life for many years being being a zombie in the system most of the people I worked with in business and in personal friends were either former abuse victims or in the Illuminati themselves so I just want to tell this one little story because it deals with how I got to where I am today there was a bar owner in the neighborhood here in Philadelphia and I would go over to his bar and drink and it'd become known to most of those people that were in my circle of friends that I had realized that I was a traumatic abusive victim because I was talking to people who were who were close to me about what was going on with me so it kind of got around the grapevine of the cult in Philadelphia that I had woken up and so I went to this one guy's bar and I'm sitting down and having a beer and he looks at me and I could tell that he was in he was in the call I don't want to get into details with it but let's just say he looks at me and he says do you have a TV and I said yes I do and he said it's really not good for you and you know being being an aluminous he could have literally you know hurt me if he wanted to but because he personally liked me and he heard that I was waking up he decided instead of putting me down and stepping on me with his heel he decided ah the guy's got some consciousness in him after all well I'll give him a little pointer a you know a way out of the of the Me's and he just and I'll never forget him looking at me and saying that TV it's really not good for you and the way said it to me was as a handler would give a point of direction to a slave almost as if he was just outright admitting in very few words that they are the controller's of that device they are the people who put the vibratory energy that they do out into the world through that device and what the results of that kind of of consciousness intake of the intake that that type of information would be upon the consciousness exactly alright this is the short segment so we'll pick it up on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening ladies and gentlemen here on the oracle Broadcasting Network we'll be back with our guest Jay Park we're back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio our special guest today on the show satanic ritual abuse survivor Jay Parker we're talking about healing methods for sra and we covered several and we were talking about food and how important it is to get on healthy organic foods because that's vibratory energy that's also affecting consciousness that's affecting our emotional makeup and our psychological makeup and it's something I talked about extensively on the show we did many programs on all the dangers and poisons that are in food and we did many shows on what the right thing to do regarding food is Jay was talking about television and how poisonous that form of intake of media is and this is something we talked about in the change of quality of attention section as part of solutions to overall mass mind control what it seems to sound like to me more and more is that a lot of the healing techniques for extreme traumatic mind control such as Jay went through and many others have they dove tail and go hand in hand with the solutions for mass mind control they're basically doing the same thing to the person's consciousness putting it under a form of control of behavioral control ok they're they're using different methods to do that the methods are more subtle and long-term and chronic when it comes to mass mind control but under trauma-based mind control they're more extreme and they're more highly focused and they're done in shorter orders of time it sounds like though the general solutions are basically very similar to each other Jay your comment on that and then if you want to continue on food and and quality of attention through cutting out television go right ahead well I absolutely believe that no one should watch TV except for maybe one two good entertaining programs a week if you're watching TV more than three hours a week you've got a problem it's I mean physiologically and what it does and bringing down your brainwave pattern put you in a state of hypnosis so that the subliminals can be put into your subconscious if you want to do that to yourself good luck with that one of the things that my healing process was fortunate to have was I was taught to be a reader and so when I started waking up I didn't do anything but try to get information and web has been a great tool but also you know hanging out with people like you mark people who are actively using their entire life force to get to the truth about what the human race is here for you know what are the big questions I mean what happens in our society is we're told to think small minded and it thinks selfishly and not to really get a big overview about history philosophy spirituality what you're really here for and fortunately as I woke up David Ickes books were really good in getting me to open up because the Illuminati control system is a system of scarcity and it's a system of I wouldn't say just disempowerment but it really is a small box that you live in and you're not allowed to look outside that box absolutely and that's the thing that they continuously reinforced through their media which is going to be enforced through the television and that's what part of what holds people in such a small limited perception of the reality in which they live in on a day to day basis I want to comment on what you said about David Icke he was a researcher that really really helped my awakening process as well and for people that you know have a lob cited or slanted interpretation of this man's work I would say stop going on what you have heard from other people or that even that you've just watched in a five minute YouTube video you need to sit down and read his books from the beginning from the early ones start at his very first book which I thought was I think truth vibrations he wrote another one there wasn't really about consciousness that was about the Green Party movement I think it was called it doesn't have to be like this which is also an excellent book his first book and what you can consider alternative information and higher consciousness was truth vibrations and I would highly recommend people start reading his work from their from his earlier books and proceed to some of his later books that are much larger and jam-packed with even more information but then you'll really get a sense of what a kind of researcher that man is you know and and how proliferates his work is prolific his work is I mean the amount of research that he's put into even one of his books you could research on those topics for a lifetime because they're so well documented and they're you know there's so many references provided particularly in some of his larger books like and the truth shall set you free or the biggest secret I mean they could take you into thousands of topics on their own just from the endnotes from each chapter so people who have a colored viewpoint of his work really should stop paying attention to hearsay again or what they've seen in a brief clip somewhere and actually sit down and read what he has written over 20 years of his life through I think now eight 17 or 18 books something like that so that's what I have to say on that Jay we want to get into a couple other topics too you wanted to talk about the Trivium a little bit you have emotional freedom technique was another healing modality that you all want to direct people toward if they're not familiar with it or know about it EFT and I want you to tell the listeners about your work with orgonite as well so let's start with the Trivium what kind of work have you done regarding that and how could people employ that well one of the things they happens to you as you as you start to read David Icke and Josh I I think when it comes to understanding the mental faculties of being a human being people like Kevin Trudeau and Bruce dr. Bruce Lipton their lectures have been indispensable healing tools for me and I'm not saying that Kevin Trudeau and Bruce Lipton had a hundred percent lock on truth or accuracy but some of the concepts these men do you deal with on a daily basis and try to teach people uh like I'd be genetic biology with Bruce Lipton is that you are source programmable and you can program yourself with positive things and make yourself happy or you can program yourself and keep feeding yourself garbage and the garbage you manifest it's your choice it's individual and responsibility but I really think that you know Andrew Grove and Yan Irvin with the Trivium have been real inspirational to me as far as guys that are teaching about the ancient philosophy of critical thinking absolutely and that is one of the most important methods for truth discovery so if you're going to get out of this parasitic worldview and the worldview that's basically been leeching off of you you have to have a method methodology for discovering and understanding the truth and the Trivium is as you've said indispensable in that regard ladies and gentlemen stay with us our special guests on this episode of what on earth is happening Jay Parker we'll be right back after these words the oracle brought you can't stop people the client Victor come out all situation see so tire as satanic ritual abuse and I'm glad to be joined by one of them right here today on this broadcast Jay Parker so Jay we're going to continue talking about SRA healing techniques you brought up the Trivium where we want to talk about emotional freedom technique or what is commonly known as EFT and I want to I want you to tell people about your research and work with orgonite and some of the some of the theories and technologies of wilhelm reich so we'll get into that coming up but we do have a caller on the line do you want to go to the phones and take a phone call sure great okay here we go Richard in Washington you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Jay Park and welcome yeah thank you for having me on my background is a probation officer I was trained educated in physiological psychology brain behavior and through my career as a probation correction officer and counselor what I found was there's a close connection between habitual behavior which is makes us as a human being very successful and addictive behavior and I've kind of challenged you before as far as you know looking into what we consider to be food as possible addiction especially to carbohydrates and grains the vegetarian myth is a exposition by a vegan vegetarian who when her health started to deteriorate she really checked into it and found out the whole background of of what was happening not only in her condition but in the world in general I highly recommend that the Eric Keith is her name last name Kei th now what you find and just what I found in AAA is people go from an alcohol addiction to say an addiction to coffee cigarettes and donuts and they're just trading addictions and I don't want to sound insensitive here but but this seems to be somewhat about what you're talking about now the personality and we can take this on a spiritual level the personality seems to want to just trade addictions without really acknowledging the fact that they've gone from the habitual positive aspect of things to the addictive losing sight of reality perspective I'll give that as my my opinion and if you want to answer that and then ask me again for a little more input I'd be happy to to let you respond I actually like to talk to you a little bit more about the aspects of diet but one thing I have to say is a well-rounded mental outlook has been one of the things that has really healed me when the Trivium gets you to really critically think about the information that you're being given you start to look for the strings on the puppets in all aspects of your life and you start to say well this person is telling me this but is it because they're a organic vegetable seller I mean what's the motivation behind the people who are giving me information and I'm incorporating it into my worldview and into my life and when you start to cut the strings of the puppets in front of you and make up your own mind and do your own research then it becomes your life and your decision and your responsibility and your manifestation and and this is something that it literally took me eight years to even get baby steps onto a platform of self responsibility and Richard I'm not really quite sure what I mean this is what you were saying regarding that have to do with ritual abuse per se in particular I mean you've lost it yeah yes there's been great points made an out last one was was it an exceptionally great point that's what I'm saying is possibly what you're mistaking for addiction and programming and we all get programmed from youth that's the nature of turning to hood and I don't want to sound insensitive because you're sure you know I can't put myself in another shoes and nobody knows you know their experience you mean for like other modules I was referring to like people who may still be in that mind in that mindset right right but I do ask and as part of the last good point was due diligence partakes of taking opinions and and in research from other sides of the perspective and that's why I've challenged you and and I challenge the guests to read the vegetarian myth this will give you a true perspective and I call it the Trivium my background is in Latin rather than a Trivium like it's not trivial it's it's a triangular a perspective three sides and and I just asked you to look at that and investigate the fact that carbohydrates and like I said grains maybe something can contributing to an addictive pattern and not really to a vibratory enlightenment sure you know I think definitely we have to limit the intake of carbohydrates in general I don't think you know I think that's it's dangerous that they did that the conventional food and health system seems to want to put those as the very bottom or basis of the pyramid of the food pyramid and I and I've talked about before how I think that is definitely not the case because it's not something that we need to make the staple of our diet I've said that you know the actual living energy that's contained in foods that grow from the earth that are that are actually living like fresh fruits whole fruits and vegetables as well we should make the very staple the the basis of the of the diet because that's taking in the living energy of the Sun so a great call there Richard and we don't have any other callers on the line but the number to join us is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number to join what on earth is happening with our special guest Jay Parker is eight six six eight four one one zero six five the lines are so call in and I'll put you right through J let's get back to another healing technique that you wanted to cover which was EFT or emotional freedom technique you want to tell the listeners a little bit about this because this is not something I've talked about on what on earth is happening as of yet and I want you to break it down and tell people what it is what it's about and how you've employed it well well as I've stated previously to lecturers that I really like one being Kevin Trudeau who has his own radio show quite a few books out there he's anti New World Order and anti Big Pharma so and he's got my vote but Trudeau talks about he has a series called your wish is your command and it's basically an understanding of human subconscious and your own personal programming now it's very much like the secret but the secret is something where they'll tell you the first two methods out of a five method belief system and you're not going to go anywhere with it but there are some truths in the secret and in your wishes your demand that are paramount in understanding human psychology but Bruce Lipton's work he goes into a an eight-hour lecture called the wisdom of your cells once a person understands that the first six years of their life they're on complete download programming they do not differentiate any information coming in whatsoever they're just making the the sub conscious processor of their biological computer that means the first six years of your life you're being completely programmed your conscious mind only represents one percent of what's going on in your life you need to understand that if you got problems in your life you might want to reprogram an EFT emotional freedom technique is a reprogramming of the subconscious I personally cannot recommend Kevin Trudeau and Bruce lift and highly enough these are two individuals people really need to understand that series that you talked about your wishes your command is invaluable people really need to check it out listen to what Kevin Trudeau is saying understand some of the sources that that material came from as well and who's using those techniques and check out Bruce Lipton's work on you know junior grade welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark casio my website what on earth is happening calm we're talking with special guest Jay Parker on this 100th episode edition of what on earth is happening about healing techniques for satanic ritual abuse psychological mental physical emotional Jay we're talking about an emotional healing technique known as EFT emotional freedom technique you were talking you were setting that up telling people that they need to really discover some of the work on a law of attraction that that Kevin Trudeau has done and also some of the work that the former cell biologist Bruce Lipton has done regarding behavior environment and genes and his work like the wisdom of yourselves and biology of belief now transition that into talking about emotional freedom technique and what that actually is why that research of Trudeau and Lipton is important regarding that and let us know what he can actually do in a person's life and I know that you've used it to great benefit well my favorite there's an entire new psychology that's known as energy healing and basically most of them and there are quite a few different varieties there's a touch and breathe there psyche a there's a emotional freedom technique which I find to be the easiest and simplest that though but basically you would form a thought in your mind as to a negative belief or a feeling you have or it could be anything but you put something in your mind and then you tap on acupressure points in your body while saying a phraseology that will help you to heal or deal with the trauma or the fear that you have and one of the reasons I really like EFT is for you just go to Amazon put in EFT and there's a bunch of books on how to do it properly Gary Craig is a person I really respect when it comes to EFT there there have been EFT counselors that have dramatically healed post-traumatic stress disorder War veterans in VA s in the space of two or three days taking people who are literally basket cases emotionally and getting them to a point of emotional healing over the trauma that they went through in war and EFT has a post-traumatic stress disorder book out there tell us about what EFT actually is like what is the technique that is used in it well when it happened was there was a psychologist in Los Angeles by the name of Taliban and Calormen was treating a woman who had a severe phobia of water and he was also at the time studying some Asian medicine and acupressure and acupuncture and he decided one day when this woman came over for her session with him and he had been working with her for years over her phobia on water and he decided just as I'm beginning to talk to her I'll just tap on an acupressure point on her collarbone and say to her don't worry about the water the water's fine you know and what had happened by accident it's subconsciously reprogrammed her and she immediately ran into his backyard and stuck her feet in his pool and this is a woman that would literally have a heart attack if she got near a pool and so Calormen understood that he he had discovered something and so he kept doing investigation and research and from his investigation he came up with the energy psychology healing technique which Gary Craig went to kalamoon and developed the FT so to be clear it's tapping on different pressure points in the body while sort of repeating a I guess either aloud or to yourself some sort of a mantra that you're going to change a behavior or a belief that you don't particularly like about yourself we're a write a an aspect of the server to say a setup that one does and let's say your fear is rats and you would say to yourself while tapping on a particular acupressure point you would say I have no more fear of rats rats don't scare me and then as you go through the entire gamut of pressure points you would say let's say the word rats and you would do this several times and basically you can go online and see Gary Craig's YouTube videos where he demonstrates emotional freedom technique in action and all I can say is I've spent a lot of time with different psychologists in my life and I can say for myself that EFT it's been a really wonderful technique for me because not only do I start clearing away the baggage of my personal trauma but it also brings out of my subconscious other issues that my mind wants to get rid of so I'll do an EFT session with myself based on some things I went through in the SRA and other issues will come to my mind and I'll tap on those issues because EFT has the ability to really bring out of your subconscious deep hidden issues and you know I think it's more than just a belief in the mind that doing that is going to make a difference like the actual tapping I think it's actually redirecting energy from these pressure points I mean you know about the system of acupuncture and and other healing traditions that use pressure points in order to release certain energies in the body or redirect the flow of energy in the body so I think there's something physically tangibly to this technique that actually makes it a viable solution and makes it actually work would you agree with that oh absolutely one of the things that I've been doing and you know this about me is I'll listen to interviews on red ice radio and if I if I like something I'll get the book and I read it red ice Radio Camelot productions I'm constantly on the web feeding my mind a varied diet I'll even listen to people I don't particularly agree with because I want to sharpen my mental ability to sift truth from fiction okay and I realize from listening to your work Marc that we're here as conscious beings to learn and to grow and we're not here this in front of a television and eat aspartame poisons exactly and what you're saying makes a really valid point something that I try to continuously reinforced is that we really do need to be eclectic about our information gathering we can't limit our scope we have to take in information from an extraordinarily wide variety of sources and then boil it all down you know to - well as you've said hone our ability our mental ability to try to separate truth from fiction and that is part of why we're here because that this is what helps us to grow as human beings in consciousness so extremely valid point J I know something that's really near and dear to your heart that we could do an entire show on if you're through basically saying what you wanted to regarding EFT and I love all the names that you've dropped during the show these are people that I also highly respect and think everybody should really look into their work and get some of their books and other materials because they've put out such an extraordinary amount of information that is uh for the betterment of humanity but let's talk a little bit about orgonite and the work of Wilhelm Reich and the work of people who have come forward with how to make orgonite with everyday materials I know this is something that you do and this is a form of radionics is it not yes yes well hem Wright was murdered by the FDA in 1956 and basically he was a psychologist and a medical doctor an amazing amazing honest scientist but will hemorrhoid used to make these large boxes let's say four foot by five foot where a person could sit inside the box and it was basically panels of inorganic and organic material put together and people would sit inside these boxes of fiberglass and steel wool and be healed amazing and that's simply from again the redirection or transmutation of energy was made possible by this form of Technology we're going to talk a little bit more about orgonite on the other side orgone energy in general and orgonite specifically on the other side of this break we're coming up to another break and I will come back with the last segment of what on earth is happening for this 100th episode welcome back everyone this is the final segment for this edition this 100th edition of what on earth is happening now before we get back into it with our special guest Jake Parker I just want to tell everyone I am going to begin a new podcast page I'm going to keep 100 podcasts in the archive on on this page that I have now going and then when we go to podcast 101 next week I am going to start a new page so be aware that none of the podcasts will be taken down next week I'm just beginning a new page and then you'll need to click next page to see the rest of the archive this is just so that the page doesn't get you know really really huge and big and cause loading problems for some people on slower connections so just be aware of that and I'll remind everyone of that next week as well so with that being said let's go back to Jay Parker who was talking about Oregon energy some of the discoveries of Wilhelm Reich and orgonite in general Jay tell us what the fundamental difference between Oregon energy and orgonite is and who basically is the the main inventor of orgonite itself well Wilhelm Reich he died in 1956 in Lewisburg penitentiary on trumped-up charges from the FDA but he was a protege of Sigmund Freud when it comes to the great scientists in Europe of the 30s Wilhelm Reich was one of these men you can also also look at we like to talk about this era the 20s and the 30s where some of the greatest geniuses that ever walk the face of the earth got shafted by the new world order system will hemorrhoid is one of those great minds royal raymond rife is another great mind that got shafted by the new world order system and but there was one more person i think his name was Tesla and yeah that guy yeah and so when you when you look at what these three men will hem right Nikola Tesla and royal Raymond rife were attempting to do for Society in the 20s and 30s and the answer that this evil society gave those men we would live in a totally different world have these men been honored but as far as orgonite I'm a member of a group here in Philadelphia called the free Ormonde conference and one of my partners in free your mind conference the executive producer Michael Fattah and I we have a little orgonite partnership here in Philadelphia so we make a lot of pendants we make pyramids basically the technique of organ accumulation that will hem right discovered with his layers of fiberglass and steel wall panels Wright discovered that throughout the entire universe there is life force energy and he turned this orgone energy and he found that if he simply took organic and inorganic materials and place them next to each other it would accumulate this naturally flowing you know in alternating layers okay now what what I do it would direct this life force energy in like a certain direction or accumulated actually actually a mass in a certain location yeah the orgonite devices I make as far as the science that I know they not only accumulate and broadcast positive organ energy but they also transmute negative organ energy there's actually an Union yang energy system that were a party to here very interesting now who developed a technique of modern orgonite now will home right to Scott you know bait is basically the discoverer of this form of life force energy referred to as Oregon but who started with orgonite itself well Wilhelm Reich had in Maine a a Institute of research and study in his psychology and physiological work a lot of people were protégées of his and so it just was a naturally occurring thing that if you had organic and inorganic panels and you made boxes out of them what would happen if you took metal and which is inorganic and organic fiberglass resin and made a 50/50 mix would it have the same or don't accumulate your effect and they found that it did and then people started energy sensitive started to realize that if you added quartz crystal and other gemstones you could even enhance the property of the energy coming through and who are some of the people that are pioneers in that well work if you you know just do a google search on orgonite and or on YouTube and you'll find many people but my favorite the man who introduced modern orgonite portable devices to me of course is dawn Croft and Don Croft is the web his website is etheric warriors calm and etheric warriors calm is probably the worldwide headquarters of modern orgonite gifting throughout the world some people will remember back before the free your mind conference when we had a little contest that I did on the question of the mystery traditions and the prize was an organized pyramid Jay was actually the maker of that pyramid and his his techniques have actually even been refined since then I'm sitting here in the room with three of orgonite right here now as we speak but Jays modern techniques that he's using to create orgonite are absolutely fantastic and he does a great job with them and it's all done with very positive intentions and positive high level of consciousness put into the work so Jay I'm going to turn the floor over you for the last few minutes and you could say anything you want about you know what people can do to help heal for from the type of traumatic a ritual abuse that make that they may have gone through and what we need to heal as a society in general the floor is yours ought to take the show out well mark I just want to congratulate you on your hundredth show and I can't stress enough how much your friendship has meant to me over the years in actually healing some of your work on natural law it's been greatly beneficial to my heart and mind because one of the things abusers do is they take away your rights and they tell you that you don't deserve anything and natural law and good philosophy tells you that you're part of nature and that you belong here and it's a good thing I've been a gifting orgonite with a Michael falsetto for quite a while now I guess we're over a year now and we're hitting energy vortexes and different lay line configurations in the Philadelphia region trying to do our part to fight back the cell tower radiation which is turning people into zombies as far as healing from SRA you really you need to do EFT because I've sat with and paid a high price and I've sat with satanic ritual abuse counselors and it's a good thing when you find a good sra counselor but they're few and far between in the traditional psychiatric world and if you want to alleviate the pain and suffering of waking up from severe abuse EFT is easier ticket out fantastic J always a pleasure to have you on the show and I just can't thank you enough for your convictions and for putting this information out there for people that's what it's ultimately all about ladies and gentlemen we can go through that our experiences but how we ultimately face them and then share that experience with other people is what's going to define us as a human being and that's ultimately what's going to determine whether we get out of this current situation that we're in in human consciousness or not okay so it's all about putting that information out there for other people and J once again I want to congratulate and applaud you for doing that for our listeners of this program that's all the time we have for this edition of what on earth is happening ladies and gentlemen I want to thank you all for listening and I'll see you here at the same time next week right here on Oracle broadcasting stick around Chris Everard is up next freedom man that's what it's all about welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Marc past ago welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening right here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening dot-com the network's website Oracle broadcasting dot-com today is Sunday March 25th 2012 and we are now into the season of sacrifice as I mentioned last week on the radio show and we're going to be talking about that again a little bit this week today on the show we have a very special guest Vinny Eastwood of the Vinny Eastwood show from American freedom radio look really looking forward to bringing Vinny Eastwood on the show he's one of my favorite radio personalities in the alternative information community and Vincent does such a great job with his show the Vinny Eastwood show I encourage everyone to check it out and we're going to be talking about how Vinny got into doing what he does how he changed his world view and what woke him up to the global control system what some of his proposed solutions are for how we might get out of our current global situation so it's going to be a great show with our special guest today Vinny Eastwood and we'll be opening up the phone lines in the second hour to take some of your calls with our special guest of any Eastwood so I do have one quick event announcement and that is of course for the free documentary screening and discussion evening hosted by truth freedom prosperity here in Philadelphia as always this takes place on the last Wednesday of every month at media bureau studios which is in the Northern Liberties section of Philadelphia Media Bureau is at 725 North 4th Street here in Philadelphia and we will be meeting on this Wednesday March 28th 2012 at 7 o'clock p.m. please note the time change for this month we're bumping it up by 15 minutes to 7 p.m. so this month's documentary is going to be slavery by consent a great documentary that I think everybody check out features a lot of great interviews including Jordan Maxwell so the this documentary exposes how we the people are seen as nothing more than chattel by the entrenched rulers of the global control system it also explains how humanity ultimately enslaves itself by giving our consent to be ruled by these Psychopaths and agreeing that we must somehow obey their dictates our true power as a people will only be found when we develop the courage to stand up and emphatically say no once and for all to human slavery but will we do that that is really the question that we must ask so we're coming up to our first break on the other side we'll be talking to our special guest vincent east one of the vinny eastwood show don't go anywhere ladies and gentlemen you don't want to miss this one you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle Broadcasting Network we'll be right back welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening - you're on Oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark passio and my website is what on earth is happening calm today on the show our special guest is Vinny Eastwood a radio talk show host from Auckland New Zealand with a background in the telecommunications industry Vinny made a conscious decision to transition out of mainstream media and began to make his own news by interviewing activists about real issues that truly affect New Zealand and the world Vinny's main effort is to encourage activists who live and breathe the issues and are not bound by corporate or political parties to become pundits reporters and watchdogs on the multifaceted agendas of the global elite he hopes to one day be part of an alternative media revolution that will replace the mainstream media with something that is truly relevant Vinny's radio program the Vinny Eastwood show is broadcast every weekday from 6 to 8 p.m. Eastern Time on the American freedom radio network ladies and gentlemen welcome - what on earth is happening our special guest vincent eastwood vinny welcome to the show she is mark thanks for having me absolutely it's a pleasure I'm a big fan of your show I listen a lot I think you do a great job putting the issues out there putting this information out there for people to take in and you inject a lot of humor into what you do I appreciate that effort and it's a it's definitely a unique take on what's going on in our world yeah yeah it's something that I pride myself on as being indefinable right to be a complex organism means you can't really be defined you can't really be put in the box okay and there really is nothing like me nor is there anything like you mark and people need to start recognizing that when you're looking at an individual that's when you're looking at what the best there is in the world that day that's ray people really do have that that huge amount of there you just being a single person just doing what they're doing and that's why you get so many comments on social networking sites and what-have-you of people saying that exact thing keep doing what you're doing because they appreciate it they they value it they know it needs to be there and and I've been getting donations as well and people subscribing for like five dollars a month and I give them audio well should we say commercial-free edited archives and special exclusive interviews like last night I think it was or well the other day anyway with a Henrik Palmgren from red ice radio and he gave me an extra hour and a half of his time excellent after already giving me two hours on the Vanier's would show and we've now got that as an exclusive video for subscribers but the thing is anybody can see it you know it's not unlisted or anything like that you don't technically have to pay to see it and that's the whole point of the the business aspect of being a truther is that it's basically you can get what you want you know you can listen and you can view the content you can make a donation if you have to if you think that it's necessary if you really support it if you understand how important to this that's right to have a platform for activists who simply just get sandbagged and soundbite it all the time yeah it's very important for that assistance for us to continue to do what we do and we always appreciate anything that anyone voluntarily contributes it's a it's always a help and we're always going to put that toward the effort to expose what's going on in this world and help to make it better and Vince and I want to commend you you do a phenomenal job on your radio program and it is unique and that uniqueness of the individual is something that is so crucial in to really helping to fundamentally change our overall old view which is going to what's going to lead us to a higher level of consciousness and lead us out of this mess that we're currently in so why don't you tell some of the tell listeners a little bit about your background and how you came to currently do what you do as a radio talk-show host well how long is the show you have the floor for as long as you need okay um well we've got it until the the segment coming on oh I've been thinking about this the other day because there's there's a lot of different aspects to how I woke up how things kind of came together like a separate different Transformers who become the league the arm the the head of the of the big giant transformer beast that is Vanna Eastwood and it comes down to a few parts like I got busted for selling cannabis when I was 19 I got caught with 13 grams of it and it was rolled up you know ready for sale you know I was selling it and the police told me that if I was honest with them and did everything that they said that they'd go easy on me so naturally I told them yes I'm a I'm a drug dealer I've been dealing for about eight months I'm selling about an ounce a week you know total belief in the system just writing it open straight up you know and in fact in my defense the fact that I was a very naive young man came up you know that was how strong my belief was in the system and to suddenly realize that even though I had been that honest with the police they still made stuff up and the guy in front of me in court for sentencing it was there for I think it was resisting arrest sexual assault and growing cannabis plants in his closet he got a hundred and fifty hours community service I was caught with it's 13 grams of cannabis I got 300 hours community service and I'm very lucky that I did go to jail for up to eight years for a first offense for something that grows naturally in the earth yeah yeah yeah and if I'd asked you know can you can you show me a victim of my horrendous crime yes imagine that all these victims over here in these people who were just blaze you know certain they were big smiles on their faces Jeepers Creepers I beg for forgiveness imagine crime needing a victim you know what a novel concept that is another novel concept that I realized was that I didn't have any friends as soon as I had been busted and everybody knew that I wouldn't have any tweet all those different people that were coming around to see me and talk to me and have fun with me and all of that kind of stuff disappeared I didn't see any of them again strange well it kind of in times of trouble and distress as they say you find out who your friends truly are and that kind of form of betrayal both by the application of the police force the application of law and sentencing the application and human behavior as a result of this it basically conclude me up to think that the the legal system and the social structure that we all live as completely and utterly weird it's strange it doesn't make any logical sense whatsoever completely insane would actually be a more accurate term because that's what it is it's insanity but we'll continue with that on the other side of this break now use and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening with our very special guest Vinny Eastwood of the Vinny Eastwood show we'll be right back after these words stay asleep obey when he looks at it with his eyes is what we see when he looks at it with the sunglasses we see the same things all the way through the subliminal civility courtesy of a no he defended welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm we're talking with Vinny Eastwood of the Vinny Eastwood show here today on the show and Vincent you were just getting into your background and how you began to become aware of the insane nature of the control system when you had been arrested for the use of a natural plant that you were basically putting into your own body and engaging in voluntary exchanges voluntary interactions with other people no victim of this crime people who actually wanted to interact with you in this way no compulsion or anything involved and then the control system comes in arrests you and then you started to realize everybody else who had been your friend suddenly backs off and wanted you know basically nothing to do with this situation because you know it was a something that I guess was involved some heat on you and continue with the story and tell people what that led to as far as your awakening well didn't my flatmate started stealing all the stuff from me and it was real blatant as well like we went away for a couple of days on the weekend you know my mum took me away for the weekend to kind of help me calm down a bit because this was an incredibly stressful time probably the most stressful time of my entire life no no doubt you know and when I came back came into my rooms like all my stuff's gone you know most of it you know Mike Mike locks radio my lava lamp my stereo and you know everybody would walk into the room and notice like pretty much all this stuff gone wasn't they Wow and my change job we've been saving these five and 10 cent coins for some time now I've well over a year with my friend Liam and we've been planning to pay off his fines with it in cash of course walk into the police station with the camera and paper fides were the with coin giant sack of coins you know and the credit and we'll probably do it at Christmastime as well you know that kind of cheeky behaviors what I was sort of thinking about doing but you know things get kind of a bit of a damper wrong once you realize that everybody who you thought was your friend wasn't isn't and basically you'll never see from them hear from them again ever and it's all because the only interaction they had with you was a financial one right it's it's a false social atmosphere so the difference between your drug dealer and your friend you know there's a very difference for example the the shopkeeper down where you go and buy yourself a coke is he your friend or is it just the shopkeeper you know in most cases you just be the shopkeeper and people forget that distinction because when you're doing illegal activities together you have a sense of kind of like false trust and interesting sidenote here when the netherlands amsterdam what have you relaxed their laws against cannabis prohibition the social structure of the country changed quite quite radically to a point in which the general usage of cannabis went down from I think it was between one and seven people one in eight people were using it and then it went down to about one in twenty one people very something of that nature Wow and those people were asked why did you stop smoking it after it was no longer illegal and they said well my my social circles changed predominantly I realized that I didn't actually have anything in common with these people other than the fact that I was a criminal and now I was not a criminal so now I don't have anything in common with them at all Wow now that is how it works that is how the underworld of drugs and alcohol and all the social lubrication works because after I was arrested I took five months of not taking anything whatsoever no cigarettes no alcohol no caffeine no nothing and you know what I found what's that I had no social interactions virtually of any kind because you think about it now how is our entire society lubricated hey bro do you want to meet up to have a coffee do you want to meet up to have a beer do you want to meet up there for joint do you want to meet up to such an salary okay no such interaction could occur and it was very strange for me because as soon as I gave up that stop that five months suddenly my social life returned you know it really our society really is structured like that this is just odd that you don't really have much of a choice if you're going to be associating with people you load it in some way it's all thing it's almost as if we collectively somewhere in the subconscious mind of people we realize were under such control that a lot of people want to use substance in some form of escapism and I'm talking about people who aren't using it for any kind of consciousness expansion like in the in the context of of psychedelics or you know entheogenic compounds to set that aside for the time being just general social interaction and as you turned it like social lubrication you know this is because I think we realize were a tightly controlled society and that freedom really isn't present in our lives in any real way and therefore people look to substance as a way of as you said a lubrication a loosening up you know a I call it a form of escape of not actually dealing with the real and sharing something for example you asked I asked an old smoker once you know why do you why do you smoke you know you mean smoke can fly 40 50 years or something and he says well when you're at the party where is all the interesting conversations happening outside with the smokers and it's like whoa I thought about like that that's true because outside you can actually hear other people speak you know it kinda it kind of makes a commentary though about how we tend to alienate people that aren't like doing what we're doing or acting like us or behaving like us in a certain way it's it's a form of closed mindedness on many people's part and people feel like they have to in some way conform in order to fit in and I say that because I film dance parties you know for a little bucket money here and there and you know I go out and I'm joining I'm part of the party too and you find something very strange is that when you approach people when they're under the influence of substances a B C or D whatever doesn't matter what they're doing they are all much more open to talk about conspiracy theories and and deeper philosophy and alternative information without just blowing you off like they normally do if they were at work or on a lunch break so you can use this some this interesting mind Gizem soup that people are being knowingly subjecting themselves to as a form of escapism to actually inject the truth into their life in a way that while they're in a state that they're far more likely to accept it it's very fascinating very interesting take on how to slip the truth in there kind of get it in by the back door so to speak I like that a lot so on the other side I want you to tell people how you came to do what you're doing in radio because of that this is probably a very interesting story as well and you know a people a lot of times you really want to know what led you into this field in particular like you know what was your background in the telecommunications industry like and what made you see things differently to leave you want to what you do now so we'll pick that story up on the other side of this break ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening with our special guest Vinny Eastwood's we'll be right back we're back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening on their host mark passio today on the show we're talking with our special guest Vinny Eastwood of the Vinny Eastwood show Vinny were telling the audience a little bit about your background and I wanted you to get into what led you into internet radio in particular and you have a background in the telecommunications industry you could tell us a little bit about that and how you managed to transition that into what you're doing now as far as being an internet radio talk-show host well I've got the saying in the end everything comes back to the beginning and so to talk about my beginning in radio I need to talk about the end of work and I'd been employed by this company and I was a Tele salesman you know residential just calling up people at home and selling them a new phone company basically and there were times when I was getting up to a 50% hit rate every every second person that picked up that phone and said hello I would sell them I was really really really really really good I was top of the boards for six months you know cuz I could talk and I got promoted and I thought that my promotion job was gonna be something that where I could just you know help people out you know with their business accounts and that kind of thing but no it was just another sales job and and I had been I'd gotten tired of sales because I've gotten as good as really good and I didn't really it wasn't really that much of a challenge for me anymore I didn't want to do it so I started looking at other things that needed solving when I wrote a 7 page essay about what was wrong with the company about what was wrong with its training practices and and everything you know because I've been there for quite a long time and I'd done been able to freely associate with people all over the company talk to them and private want heavy and there was a meeting called for about 15 minutes and we got to like maybe halfway through the second page then the who called the meeting you know the head honcho and whatever just goes and nothing gets said about it send him an email go what's what's happening about the the concerns that were raised new because everybody was agreeing with me that they safe they need to change and all the staff were and well in agreement that there were some problems around here and it wouldn't be that hard to hire now he says as far as I'm concerned the issue is closed couple of days later my boss tells me coming coming in with coffee next door might go they have a coffee next door he swipes a piece of paper down in front of me and I say what is it you go sign it it's we're basically gonna pay you six weeks pay to leave right now like pack your stuff and and get out of the office in like the next five ten minutes and I said to myself you know what I haven't had a summer holiday in quite some time six weeks pay that'll that'll do me for a while and I can always get another job and I'm sick of working here at the moment anyway so I took the money got out of there and after that money ran out it started to beat dawn on me that hey I had to get another job and the same thing happened bunch of people employed me didn't care about me didn't value my ideas in a video I got into debt working for them and then another person employed me um who was abusive abrasive calling it like 10 o'clock at night on a Friday telling me to get up off the couch of my mates place put down the beer find a pen and paper and write down the number of a client to call on Monday that kind of intrusiveness you know the three jobs and the telco sector again and again and again the same thing and that was what him when I recognized that the world of work is is wrong all of it it wasn't just individual employers or anything or anything like this but the entire system is geared to make your employers into douchebags to screw you over if you don't do what they that's what the world of workers and I could no longer work I mean I've come up with a new term called employer phobia I'm a phobic about becoming employed no no I can't do it and I started getting into activism because because I was a very good salesman the very last job that I had was a bonus month and a half and I sold 93 business landlines and toll call packages and broadband internet streams to businesses all over the all over the city and I got eleven thousand nine hundred dollars worth of Westfield Shopping that is like this big mall chains you know and so I could spend it at anything that was in one of those malls and there was one just down the road from me so I went down got myself some equipment so I got myself a little Sony Handycam and an Apple Mac and I just said you know what the thing that's been bothering me a lot of I've been listening to a lot of Alex Jones and a lot of and watching a lot of documentaries from the states and that's the interesting thing New World Order's everywhere but all the people that are fighting against it and all the material that comes out against it is coming out of the US seemed like it to me or at the very least there's very little coming out of New Zealand if anything and so I said well I've come up with this idea called guerilla media because the people that are actually capable of being talked to and having a lot of fun worth and knowing the issues that they're talking about and are exposing the truth those are the people that you go and you ask your questions to you don't go and ask some kind of pundit who belongs to a business so certain things that can I can't say you don't go and you talk to a politician from the political party because there's certain things that can I can't say right if you want your information you go to the activist because the activists are the ones who live breathe bleed and sweat the stuff it comes out of every orifice usually their mouth and and they answer questions completely all right you there's none of those dodgy questions they all go over here now if you're asking an activist if they know the answer they will answer it in full won't they and you become far more informed just because that one person has been doing all the work so the best idea if you want to inform the public is to give those voices of those people who do all that work to the people and that's what I sort out to do those people are not constrained by any motivation that is put there by the the desire for money or for advancement in a career or power or anything like that their motivation comes from purely from putting the truth out there into the world so that it can benefit people and help make the world a better place whereas in being yes they aren't film bankers they are radio show hosts they don't have time to edit to upload to blog and to do all this stuff I do have that time right so I interview them I edit the videos I upload it I've designed the DVD covers and put these people in their presentations on a DVD and allow it for sale and if they can sell any of themselves or they can print copies or whatever to get them out there so you're giving these people who are used to repeating themselves to different people the ability to instead give them a DVD or send them a link to a radio interview or direct them to a webpage that's being created for them it's an entire new media platform that that you're helping to create in that capacity using your own essence of word that aim and this was even before I had a radio show right I've been working with a guy named Jonathan Eisen who runs a good website and magazine called uncensored uncensored code in Z dot Co n Z and he was actually the person who convinced me to quit you know my my last job I called him up and I said you know John I really don't like this job anymore and it's it's just driving me nuts I'm incredibly stressed all the time he says well quit then if you don't like it quit I say really he's like well think about it does it feel right to quit I thought about it I was like yes yes it does and he goes then do it and I did I never looked back and the problem is when you never look back you realize how little you've actually got left okay and you're kind of struck out on your own unfortunately over very understanding and supportive girlfriend who's been supporting me all these years because it's been a real hard road I got into radio because I was running doing all this YouTube thing and a guy called much sense hell saw my videos really like them and liked my style and because on American freedom radio.com they were having a show with Brent Johnson and Dave von Kleist who've made 9/11 and plain sight they were co-hosting the show together and Dave had to leave the show so there was a call for new co-hosts to come and do the show with Brent and brink was doing this trial thing and and what have you by anyway I wound up co-hosting with him and then they liked me so much that they can the whole show and then gave it all to me and as they say the rest is history yeah that's how the vinny eastwood show came to be ladies and gentlemen were coming up to another break we'll be right back with more from Vinny Eastwood stay with us I was born a shot garden behind the girl I'll make my father all day welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle Broadcasting Network our special guest today Vinny Eastwood of the Vinny Eastwood show then he was just telling us about how his show came to be and we're going to be getting back into that in a moment I want to give the call-in number for the show if you want to call in get in the queue I'll start to take some callers in the second hour of the broadcast the calling number is 866 eight four one one zero six five once again the calling number eight six six eight four one one zero six five that's the number to call in and join us with our guest Vinny Eastwood Vincent I want to talk a little bit about your tag lines for your show because there's some of the best out there and like I said you do inject some humor into your show and it's a great thing it's a very unique perspective and you know more hosts out there should be taking some more of a light-hearted attitude about some of these topics they're very serious topics too but we do need to maintain our sense of humor so my favorite of all of your tag lines is jamming a finger in the face of scumbags and pointing out their scumbag eree yes scumbag array you have a t-shirt with that phrase on it as well yeah yeah you know the I Love New York t-shirts of the I heart in Y you know I've got the ones I had to expose scum beggar oh that's great or another ones just I heart scum bakery with the Vanier's would show calm you know it's um we do live in a world that is currently in my opinion infected with a virulent strain of scum beggary which infects virtually every branch of government every political party every media apparatus it affects everything you know if you have a broad base awareness and this takes a couple of years of deep research in order to have just an awareness of only what's around you specifically not what's going on overseas not what's happening in the universe and on astral planes and what-have-you but just physically what is happening to you with all of the different products and all of the different things that you do in each and every day takes years of intense study in order to work out okay that's how much bad stuff was being done to you on a daily basis that's how much you need to learn about it and when you think about it you got a wonder how does anybody stay sane in such an insane world yes and it's through humor okay you think about the the funniest comedians ever that have taught you the most things they are the George Carlin's the Bill Hicks the Lewis blacks etc you know the people who are incidentally angry but funny yes how exactly can you try and replicate that in a radio show well I've tried to do it and people like it and I think it's because that they're mature enough to understand that there is a lighter side to genocide and we do need to expose scam beggar in any way possible and if we can do it by laughing at it then why wouldn't we okay everybody's got their own style and I encourage everybody to do their own show you know it's not that hard these days if you have a headset and a computer you can do a radio show it's pretty straightforward you can do a podcast and do anything right YouTube videos you can write blogs anybody can do anything it isn't that hard and it really frustrates me when people come up with all these excuses about why I can't use Skype or I can't do this or I can't do that you're restricting yourself boy you're restricting what you're capable of doing by denying yourself access to technology okay Dee reckon the Amish community would grow exponentially no because they're using inferior technology everybody else needs to recognize that technology can be both a bed and a good thing absolutely and if it's been created for bad you can take it and use it against the people who created it they created Facebook they created Twitter they created YouTube ergo the answer is to use Facebook Twitter and YouTube to expose them that's pretty straightforward and it's our own special talents our own unique talents as an individual to step up take action and do what we can do it isn't about making excuses it isn't about sitting back and watching the world go by like a movie on a screen it's about stepping up getting involved making our voices heard giving other people a platform to do the same and that's what of this alternative media revolution is actually all about and as you said anybody can get involved in that it's all about understanding what you're capable of doing and then stepping up to actually take that action and do it and be vigilant while you're doing it as well because this is a very harsh mistress getting into conspiracy theory going up and ambushing prime ministers and heads of state as I have with the camera this can be something which will jar you jolt you and you best be prepared for the consequences of your actions before you go and do it right these people do not play games but for the most part you don't actually have to worry at all you know why because you're invisible you're everywhere you're just like everybody else you know I snuck into Helen Clark the current third top lady at the UN and got like a allegedly some kind of nine million dollar salary and a nine billion dollar budget for sterilization programs in Africa or something like that and all the UN Development Program scary lady very very scary so we dressed up at for her award ceremony we just turned up there claimed to be with local media I made a phone call to the guy or whatever and we're dressed like wankers you know nice dress shirts and suits the whole the whole kit and caboodle so we fit right it and then we got to ambush her and talk to her about the United Nations being a tool for world government we wouldn't have been able to do that if we didn't take the initiative and you know what kind of consequences we had from doing that nothing nothing whatsoever no people following us no nothing you know why cuz we were decent respectful covert operations and we had a camera there so you don't need to amplify it because it can be repeated later on online concert we managed to talk to the the former Minister of Finance for about seven or nine minutes as well about the fractional reserve banking system and how it works in New Zealand don't go up to people and instantly have a chip on your shoulder about it and say you you're a part of the New World Order you're trying to kill me in my family Bowl you're not going to get any information out of them you're not going to be able to expose them with their own words if you're instantly hostile you need to talk about them and talk about the things as if they're abstract as if you're talking to a human being and eventually you'll start to solicit these in the quantities of information as long as you show knowledge about what you're talking about just as in any conversation with any normal person you just have to act cool don't be a douchebag you know if somebody on the other hand is a clear clear and absolutely horrific scumbag to the point in which they are surrounded by security and they are hustled and backdoors and out with stuff like that hell why not why not yeah why not use a megaphone what else can you do can't really do it can't really do a whole lot you can't go in for an interview you know it's about picking your battles and it all comes down to staying within the natural law staying within our right if we stand in right the universe is not going to stop us it's going to grant a level of protection for us to continue to do what we are doing because we are in the right you know right is what might actually is right is real power being living and operating within the boundaries of natural law of right is what grants us power and is what grants us protection in this realm yeah you know and if that doesn't work wear a disguise okay well you know for example I've come up to the the Prime Minister John Key and I'm wearing a cheese cutter hair and these big kind of John Lennon sunglasses for upstairs yeah for the big fluffy beard it's great image comes to mind just even thinking about that many hold it right there and we'll pick it up pick up the conversation on the other side at the top of the second hour ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio today on the show we're talking with our special guest Vinny Eastwood of the Vinny Eastwood show we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen don't go anywhere we're back everyone this is the second hour of what on earth is happening for this Sunday March 25th 2012 edition my special guest for this episode is Vinnie Eastwood of the Vinny Eastwood show on American freedom radio and then some before we get back into continuing to talk about you know the work that you do and you know the the general idea of helping to bring this alternative media community up to another level and continue to expose the truth through these these methods and through the this medium I want to just very briefly touch on a topic that I brought up last week and if you'd like you could contribute your take to this if you have anything to say on it but this is the short segment so I just wanted to briefly interject this I told everybody last week I actually talked about this a lot last year and we did a show an entire show on it at one point it's a thing called the season of sacrifice and I mentioned that at the top of this show and this is a window of opportunity by which the Old Religion the occultists who are really controlling the things behind the scenes and believe me ladies and gentlemen they do have a religion we've talked about it pretty much ad infinitum on this show about what the dark occult is actually all about and there's this 40 day time period from the beginning of spring to the midpoint of the spring season in which these occultists believe in their twisted sick psychopathic way that they must spill blood that they must give blood to the earth in some significant quantity or amount in some sort of a mass murder ritual or a human sacrifice ritual and they they have done this innumerable amount of times I gave a whole list of incidents that quite possibly could be examples of this sacrifice event that takes place usually in April okay they favor April 19th and 20th is a hugely favored time but very beginning of this season known as the season of sacrifices March 19th the beginning of spring and you know the spring equinox into March 20th which we just passed and I told people last week on March 18th last Sunday that they should look out for a potential false flag event a potential murder event or a mass killing event the very next day on march 19th which as I said I consider the unofficial beginning of the season of sacrifice March 22nd is what I would consider the actual opening to this window of time called the season of sacrifice May first being the endpoint of it the the occult holiday known as vol purchase nacht and an event took place in Toulouse France a school shooting where several people were killed on march 19th this was huge news it was blown up all over the met the mass media the mainstream media it was really obviously talked about you know a whole lot in France and officials were on high alert even people here in the government agencies went to high alert there were police officers position that Jewish synagogues etc because this shooter allegedly targeted Jewish individuals and this happened on March 19th the shooting this mass shooting and then on March 22nd the alleged lone nut' gunman was killed himself so these are one significant occult days Vinny if you want to chime in on this go right ahead what do you think about all that's it I think they're gonna make a movie about us and it's gonna be like the sequel to that Van Damme moveme movie nowhere to run it's gonna be starring jean-claude Van Damme again as the shooter and that's called nothing to lose and there is that green language once again ladies and gentlemen and benny picked it right up on it the city that this was done in was too to lose see how they intersect the language in there with everything it's always there ladies and gentlemen its there they're having some fun with us it's a game to them and they're laughing about it I just wanted to get that in there if you want to comment more on along the other side of the break that's fine we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen don't go anywhere you're listening to what on earth is happening you'll be right back alright ladies and gentlemen we're back listen - what on earth is happening on your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm the call a number to join us in this second hour which will be taking calls in is eight six six eight four one one zero six five once again the call in number eight six six eight four one one zero six five that's the number to call in and join us if you have any questions for Vinnie Eastwood feel free to call in and we were just briefly talking about the this season of sacrifice in which false flags seem to happen in abundance during this short window of opportunity and I believe that the the shootings in Toulouse France were an example of this they were done at the very beginning of this season and the the the then supposedly gunman was killed himself on March 22nd the official opening to this season and I think what it really emphasizes is when we see a false flag event happen we have to maintain our calm pointed out for what it is realize that this is an event that is staged and done simply to to get a reaction out of us to get a fearful chaotic reaction out of us in a state of confusion okay so that then we're willing to give up our freedom to somebody who is promising us protection against these hard events when in fact they're the ones who really staged them and planned them and made them take place the way that they did from the very onset from the very beginning so uh Vinnie you want to say anything about false flags in in general and you know what your take on that is and you know what you think people should be on the lookout for or you know their general advice on how to respond when something like this does happen mm-hmm that's a good question you know false flags are a very important thing whenever you have a look at a news article or disasters shoot-'em-ups anything involving terrorism environmental degradation economic catastrophe etc they're pretty much all inside jobs you know just as a general roll you know most things that happen on earth you know some people say funny not everything's a conspiracy and I'm well I agree with you as long as you agree with me that most things are let's let's not be childish about it or anything but let's face facts here powerful people have seize control of the world and they reckon that the best way to manipulate people is to behave huge hairy terrible action Airy well broadcast repetitive events where there is lots of death and destruction and scary business going down so that they can demonize somebody so that they can advance some other agenda either by distracting you with this particular one or using this particular one as a justification for advancing their agenda which they had planned the whole time anyway that's exactly right this is basic dialectics it's an example an example of the dark usage of what's known as haggles dialectic the Hegelian dialectic we've seen it we've looked into it on this show many times and there they continue to use it and and they continue to use it for a very specific reason it continues to work people have not in general overall on a societal level come up in consciousness enough to recognize this technique see it when it is being employed and changed their reaction about it and not react in fear and terror and and you know in a chaotic and confused way but recognize it as hey there's more to know here there's more to see about what really caused this event and it isn't always a lone nut' that then obviously either kills himself or the police kill them so no more information can be garnered about what really created this situation you know it's the same pattern it follows the same pattern over and over again and people seem to continue to fall for it we need to be a little bit more mature about this when we see this happening don't react don't immediately say oh give up my my guns and my rights and take my freedom away just to protect me and say you know there's a pattern here there's more to know I've seen this before where have I seen this where have I seen the same type of event go down and you know that followed this pattern and that that's how we have to change our thinking in regard to this and therefore this technique won't work anymore in the future if we do that if we change that basic way that we view it so I liken it to the snake oil salesman that was on a Simpsons episode once and he was selling a monorail to Springfield except it was made with all these cheap materials and it was and it broke down that kind of thing and was destroyed it turns out that he'd done this to a lot of other places and when he was on a plane to escape it he is there just making an emergency stop and some little town and he's like wait a second I recognized that name oh no and then all of a sudden there's all these people there with torches and pitchforks that he'd screwed over long ago and they will run on board the plane and beat the hell out of them you know that kind of thing it's just that simple once a whole bunch of people have been scammed and they know who you are if you ever show your face again people will take you the frak out right however the biggest and best and baddest airs scammers in the world are invisible you never see them you know what was the last time you saw David Rockefeller on the news that's right no you was last let's let's backtrack a bit then there was the last time you saw George Clooney on the news oh yeah that's right now he's a big-time advocate at the UN as knee is a public face is not the private puppet behind the curtain you know the puppet masters work and their hands are very very busy and they're always denying with their mouth what they're doing with their hands that's right yeah they're dealing with is people who apart you're not dealing with people who are Chicka players here you're dealing with chess players who think more than a few moves ahead that's where exactly right and they're invisibly entrenched within the deepest levels of the institutions that we all take for granted as being things that are always going to be here that they need to exist these institutional bodies you know and that's why they hide in them they've convinced people so thoroughly that these institutions always must exist or there would be chaos in society that they can then take their entrench position within that institution and it almost guarantees that they're going to remain enthroned in power for the foreseeable future because in people's minds they feel that that institution is absolutely necessary when the reality is it's absolutely irrelevant most of our institutions nowadays are no longer relevant at all you know and my personal quest is to create a new form of media because the existing form of media is absolutely irrelevant it doesn't matter all the stuff that they're talking about now doesn't matter you know you ever look last night what was oh yeah somebody got hit by a car somebody got stabbed with a knife somebody got ripped off somebody got rescued from a from a top of a car and a flood somebody had a damage to the to their car by a four-year-old who was driving another car or something like that okay now at what point does any of these particular stories which a flash one after the other like they really important actually have any relevance in any way to me what do you what eventually anybody else all a form of distraction and it's a poison scream I've likened it to a poison scream no different than putting poison food into your body putting tainted media into your mind does the same thing we'll pick it up with that idea on the other side of this break and then we'll go to some of your calls ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting network with our special guest Vinny Eastwood of the Vinny Eastwood show we'll be right back welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on the Oracle Broadcasting Network I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening comm we're talking with Vinnie Eastwood of the Vinny Eastwood show on American Broadcasting on American Freedom radio I'm sorry and we were talking about alternative media in general and I was going to pose the question to Vinny how important do you think it is Vinny for people to truly change the quality of their attention in regards to the type of media that they're taking in how is that connected to overall societal change how important of a of a solution is that when it comes to changing fundamentally society at a large level well I think if you want to change society you have to fundamentally you have to fundamentally change yourself and how you act in that society because thoughts don't bring around a new society only actions do and they were the only thing that ever has the masses don't bring around at big changes through society as it's only ever being the small determined group of individuals who are working day after day for a better world that actually eventually wind up constructing one the masses don't matter conformity doesn't matter all the matters is you the individual figuring out what is wrong and figuring out what part you can play in how you make it right okay and some people you can abdicate your responsibility I think that thoughts bear responsibility in and of themself and you've got to take it to the next level you can't just think oh man that cops over there he's arresting somebody for no good reason you know he's beating the crap out of them and the guys clearly submitting I'm just gonna keep walking well why don't you just go up to that copy you say hey what's it what's your badge number okay you've been assaulting this person here not and I'm gonna and I'm gonna act as a witness you know think about it think about standing up for other people think about standing up for yourself at the end of the day yourself is really all you've got and you protect it and part of that I think is doing good things for other people and and not doing it because you want some kind of reward but because you can and you choose to write that that volunteer type aspect you know most of the videos that I've made most of the activists that I've covered most of the interviews that I've already done I haven't received a dime for doing them but the the experiences that I had through doing that have enriched me in other ways there are many many important things that you need to be listening to looking at and hearing about virtually at all times the reason why you need to always be looking out for things is because you never know what you're going to be missing okay the person who thinks that they know it all obviously knows bugger-all the person who thinks that they don't know much at all probably knows enough because of that fact you don't know how much you don't know the more you learn the more you figure out how much you don't know and if you want to do something great if you want to do something big if you want to do something meaningful don't just put your head to it put your heart into it and it'll flow and it'll make itself work it always does every single time when I wanted to do a video or I've wanted to go and ambush somebody or if I've wanted to have somebody on my show I just really think about it for a very short period of time before I start acting and making it happen you know just kind of consciously thinking I'm gonna have that person on my radio show and send him an email now you know thought action thought action thought action people get stuck in the thought process they don't put it into action and they can they sit around wondering why they are and accomplishing anything why the New World Order's only getting stronger why I'm only becoming more alienated from my friends and family as always exactly problems lie within that's what wisdom is is converting what you know into what you do that's the hallmark of wisdom we have way too many armchair quarterbacks as they call them here in the united states - uh you know you know going on i mean too many people are just pointing out what they think is wrong or what other people are doing wrong instead of actually getting in and taking action based on what they've come to understand you know and what they know in their hearts is the right thing you have to actually do something ladies and gentlemen that's what it's ultimately all about so the change in quality of attention goes hand in hand with that so it is very important to get off of that poisonous stream of media that that they're in dog training and brainwashing people with 24/7 and get on to a form of media that is telling people the relevant issues that they really need to go and look into for themselves not telling them what they should think about it but giving them the information and then saying you need to look into this for yourself and determine you know what what how that is relevant to you and your life and then what you're going to do in regards to that so that's what it's all about it's it's all about that fundamental worldview change and and then subsequent change in behavior that goes along with stopping looking at these distractions and starting to look at relevant information and that's what this alternative media community is is all there to provide that platform for people so uh Vinnie would you like to take some calls we have a caller holding on the line what do you say we take a phone call great all right here we go caller from the four to three area code you are live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Vinny Eastwood welcome hey guys what's going on man good how are you yes it's really good to catch our session this conversation man I'm a little buzzed though I want to make a point that you guys are trying to stress sure it seems like that everybody wants to point a finger at everybody that listen to but they don't want to listen to success I mean you know unless you guys ah I come up from coming to listen to ours Jones for a long time and I come up with listen to McKenna David Icke you know I mean any fun once you get so far you wanna I mean nobody's gonna ride in on this horse in point to you who is favorite because I mean we learn everyday I mean 10 years ago what we knew then is not no it's not what we know now right you know what I mean I do learn you know we don't have to part a finger so where are our stones of this or a day that I go to rip to you or whatever it has to be that this is what we know together you know I'm saying exactly that's exactly right ven your take on that well the thing is the info has stayed the same the whole way through okay the other people that were doing this kind of thing that we're doing today back in the 60s knew a lot of the same things that we knew they knew what the agenda was but but of course there was not enough public action and outcry and people getting out there and doing it and spreading it and mate and making the change happen but the information stays the Sun it's it's how much if it may we get deeper than want to find out you know he goes this direction I don't agree with that and then we want to block that out well you know it's like David outreaches a lot of people and Terence Mckenna had the best thing to say and I was Jones is reaching a lot of people we need to realize so what it means don't talk bad about them because everybody needs to hear all this we can change because that's what this is this is wellness is now at the moment we live in and we think we can't take any information that says they don't agree with our agenda that's worn out and block people from learning more information every day that's right yeah yeah all right great points caller because that's exactly right we need to take information in from an eclectic variety of sources even if there are small parts of it that we don't 100% totally agree on that someone's unique take on the totality of the situation and we need to take the pieces that do concur with us and integrate them and that's part of what learning true learning is all about you know and that will encourage us to go further in our quest for knowledge and in our quest for truth and that's what's going to help again vertically integrate us but build us up to a stronger tight-knit community of people who are seekers of truth when we stop as you've said pointing fingers and just say oh well he doesn't agree with me on this particularly thing so I'm going to throw out all of his uh you know huge amounts of information that do have accurate you know aspects of the global situation so great point caller thanks for calling in and bringing that up Vincent let's take some more calls on the other side of the break we have a few more callers holding on the line so we'll continue to take your calls with our special guest Vinny Eastland on this edition of what on earth is happening we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen alright ladies and gentlemen we're back you're listening to what on earth is happening under host mark passio my special guest for today vinny eastwood of the vinny eastwood show on american freedom radio so we are we were talking about we're talking about kind of like truth ISM and sort of different different people you can and should listen to or whatever and subject of Alex Jones always comes up and there's so many people who really really hate Alex some people who really really love them and I'm sort of in-between you know this thing there's things that I like and things that I don't and you know to make a point make not make too fine a point on it I would not be here if not for Alex Jones most of the truth movement would not exist without Alex Jones it's just that simple he's woken up there many people that you cannot in any way say that he hasn't had a good effect right even if he has done some bad things or whatever and I've been I've been told and and shown some some pre some pretty rough things I don't I don't mention them on on open-air radio I don't talk about it with people in general because we're all in this together and like it or lump it we really do have to join hands and sing Kumbaya once and a bloody well while just because the truth always offends both sides of any argument because both sides of motor most arguments are always wrong some people say Alex Jones is evil somebody would say he's good and I'd say that he's just like every other human being right somewhere in the middle so up to a large extent you know don't criticize truth is because you don't agree with them or you don't like something that they've done just become a better truth yourself that's read by example you don't get to the top of the junk pile by obtaining down everybody else you get to it by climbing that entire junk pile and it's like you know we were talking about this a little bit off air someone like Alex Jones he's a good in for people who are new to this information what I recommend the people continuously just listen to that and not go forward and to other vistas of information absolutely not you'd be missing a huge part of the picture alex is an introductory aspect for people who are new to understanding the entire control system and he does a great job in that capacity and that's the role that he is playing and he stays generally within those parameters he stays within that role he knows generally that that is his forte that he's he's there to help bring the people into the truth community to bring people into a state of just paying attention and looking at all of these issues you know you grow from there and you move on to even deeper topics and vistas of awareness and to stay at that point wouldn't probably be healthy okay but don't then say oh because he may not be talking about this aspect or this thing or this thing that you throw out everything that he all the work that he has done and I've mentioned this before on my show and try to you know clearly explain to people my take on that individual because it's asked to me a lot and that that's what it is and you know I think we're on the same page as far as that's concerned and it goes the same for anyone again as we were saying you need to be eclectic about the information you take in you can't just listen to one person or even a small group of people you have to take in information from a wide variety of sources and then start to filter it and integrate it into your own worldview and help that to change you and to encourage you to then take action based on all the information that you've come to understand as a result of that information gathering so uh then we do have a couple more callers on the line you want to take another call yeah yeah take them now so it's the only time we go fantastic here we go alright caller you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Vinny Eastwood welcome hello yes you're live hi hi mark hi Vinny how you guys doing really good well I'm 54 and when I was 19 I did extensive studying into aleister crowley's works and the golden dawn and I've studied everything from witchcraft to esoteric Zen Buddhism and as far as Alex Jones goes let's just get that out of the road right off the way yes he's a gate but he's not the end result he's the weed he's the weight of the truth movement you know he's the gateway drug I mean exactly yes and he is controlled in a way but he's giving you enough data to get you on the research path that's right that's exactly right because we're all ultimately we're all self reliant we're all here to educate ourselves and so he does serve a function but he doesn't take you all the way down the path I totally that's why I totally agree with that absolute no one person can take you all the way down the path of you noticed it really does take a huge wide spectrum of research yes no one person can know it all yeah and that's where this energy comes in to working together that's right yeah absolutely all right I have to yes go ahead I'm gonna bring you back to one little checkpoint before I go sure the ultimate aspect of our whole experience in this existence is that we are the observer we are not the experience and so no matter what we encounter or what we get locked into we're still the observer that's exactly right I talked about that point when we went into the concept of mindfulness as one of the solutions in consciousness and that's something that we really do have to understand and keep in mind when we're dealing with any of the situations that we encounter in life so call our phenomenal points thanks so much for calling you inventing your take on that hmm well I think everybody's got their own line and that's why they call it your life and you got to live it you know you can't expect anybody else to solve your problems for you if you're sick for example then start taking care of your health if you feel depressed then start exercising start talking with people who who inspire you start listening to things that actually make you feel happy and better don't sit around just trying to waste your time you know get angry if anger gives you enough motivation to get off the couch and start doing something if you're deathly afraid of the New World Order and they're puppets and this scam beggary then by all means grab a cheap air as a video camera and go down and find an agent of scam beggary wherever you find them chase them down ask them questions be a pain in the neck and you'll be surprised at how much in in bullies learn this at an early age how much fun it is to pick on people all right now the difference being here is I encourage people to bully bullies all right it's like the double whammy its it feels like justice you know smells like victory sort of like napalm in the morning because when you go in after these people you recognize that they don't really have a leg to stand on they have no moral authority right over you or anybody else and ego you can use that to justify just invading this space just a little you don't need to assault them you don't need to insult them just make them aware that there are people who know who they really are and what they're really up to and that we're watching them and that at any point we could come up on you and this is another part of my operation as well it's about psych warfare okay if you can make your enemy afraid your enemy begins to start making mistakes once they start making mistakes because they're angry or because they're frustrated or because they're hot under the collar or something like that that's when they'll do something stupid that's when they'll expose themselves and there's an old saying how do you expose a fascist you get them to act like it's okay if anything we're trying to I'm trying to taunt these people into coming after me into making something of it you know so I'm armed with the truth I don't care what weapons you have you don't have the arsenal capable of taking me on and ideas can never be killed an idea a person can be but an idea can never be slain yeah I'm a man I can be shot I can be stomped okay but ideas of bulletproof and nothing can stop an idea whose time has come and what these scum beggary individuals need to recognize and be very very cognizant of of all times of the day is that their time is almost up people have started to awaken and once people have all really gotten the idea that they're all being screwed into the ground like 10 pigs holding up this giant marquee for a circus full of clowns and jugglers and fat disgusting throttling patrons who have nothing better to do with their lives once you realize that you're part of that structure any one of us can bring that whole big top down on itself just by and built upon us and have been built by us and we can take it down just as we put it up just by refusing to hold it up for a moment longer phenomenal point then we have another caller holding on we'll get to them on the other side of the break and then we'll have your final words in the last segment we'll be right back folks welcome back everyone this is the final section of this edition of what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm our special guests for this edition vinny eastwood of the vinny eastwood show on american freedom radio benny we do have one more caller holding on the line would you like to take the final call um you go for your lunch my great here we go richard in washington you're live on what on earth is happening with our special guest Vinny Eastwood welcome yeah great last segments and great callers the only thing that I have found has been consistent is the fact that fear is used to divide and conquer so the the powers that be whatever you want to call them consistently use this and they create different and I like Hal Anthony's terms since homosapiens have got to every corner of the world I like his fact that we're the open-air prison and there's just various tribes in this open-air prison and what I think we need to refer to these powers-that-be as unethical though influential merchant banker tribe that takes all the evil or the you know a goodness or the religion or all these these divisive aspects of things out of the picture and you can address the issue like you said as an individual and one thing the individual has to do is educate himself and then become involved he has to take a stand every second he has an opportunity to make that commitment to taking a stand great point Richard Finney your take on that well I do see it as a kind of tribal warfare you know there's the the slave tribe versus the ruling tribe and and this kind of thing happens all throughout history you know it there's an old saying that there's nothing new Under the Sun and it's very true and the interesting thing about today's society on the other hand is that one person can have their voices amplified through the internet or videos can go viral and that sort of thing so when you're ambushing somebody or you're trying to make a difference or you're asking questions or whatever just but think about who your target is okay what kind of concept are you targeting here are you targeting climate change are you targeting vaccines are you targeting unjustified Wars or anything like that and then think who your target audiences what kind of people are going to actually want to watch this video what kind of people will see me asking this particular person a question there's something inspiring or something informative you know think about that for a moment before you go out and doing things and somebody asked me in the chatroom here what if it's done in a group you know like if one person is asking the questions one person's filming one's holding a boom mic or whatever you know does that work and you know when it comes to finding out your own way of fighting against the New World Order my same old answer as anything and everything okay do anything you can and do everything you can to fight these people okay you don't need to break laws you don't need to damage things or or anything like that just figure out what you as a person can do it doesn't matter whether you're a musician a butcher a baker a candlestick maker if you can't be in front of that camera or whatever you'll probably see on the YouTube or something like that somebody who can and if you have a few spare buck or two to help that person continue doing what they're doing send it through to them okay figure out what sparked your playing are you part of the the enemy team are you gonna sit there and just find truthers to attack because you disagree with one thing out of the hundred thousand or so things that they've said and use that as an excuse to block them on your Facebook or your YouTube and never listen to them ever again because they said one thing you didn't like this is the this is the insanity that we have to deal with as truth is on it on a daily basis and we and we all know if you are a truther you should know okay very early on in the piece that the reason why a lot of conspiracy theorists have been called crazy and whatever it's not because we're crazy it's because there are actually a few crazy people that do share a lot of the views that we do and they go nuts they know they're very rude they use all camps they throw wild accusations out of absolutely nowhere they're completely out of control and they're really annoying but conveniently they're also a very small shrieking shrill minority who very few people actually actively listen to but on the other hand when it's your content that they're commenting on and calling rubbish and calling you a sure I've had people call me an agent of Israel I'm in bloody New Zealand for crying out loud you know just just this mindless twaddle and the thing is it's outnumbered usually about fifty to one with people saying yeah that's awesome frickin cool you know it's just like hey sometimes you can think back and wonder to yourself was I too concerned and getting offended and staying up for three hours arguing with these people who were angry idiots who don't know what the hell they're talking about who I can't convince of anything anyway when I could have instead been talking to listening to or or being with somebody who inspires me cares about me and believes in me that's right and that's how COINTELPRO works that's how they're just trying to take you off of your game because they don't want you reaching more people and so they're trying to redirect that energy into a into a you know a frivolous enterprise on your part you can't let that happen you have to stay focused you have to stay on point and continue to do what you're doing so uh Richard great call do you have anything else for many yeah the question there would be the summation of this whole thing is there an ultimate cause and effect of this whole thing and my bottom line is where the Cimmerian of the aspect am i and the egyptian the roman empire's that civilization is there something causing the rise and decline of these civilizations and I think I've kind of challenged you before mark read the book the vegetarian myth by Lehrer Keith Kei th once you read that book you find out what the real cause of the rise and fall of every civilization is for us Homo sapiens I have actually taken you up on your challenge I'm not going to comment on on this today but I will on a future show and I'll leave it at that so if any of you want to well respond to that well yeah I would find it very interesting to find out if there's one particular cause of rise and falls of civilizations but as far as I've seen it's always because a small predatory class has risen to an extensive amounts of power they go nuts start to think that their gods start to believe that there's no consequences to their actions stop caring about other people actively try and manipulate them using all of their power and this is the definition for conspiracy theorists in my mind and I use the term conspiracy theorists in a different way to others I see it as a positive thing and I think because the conspiracy theorist has been used as a negative word a negative connotation to people for so long we need to change that meaning back to mean a positive thing the way it should be because conspiracy theorists back in the day were called investigative journalists and researchers you know the people who actually found out what was really going on and today I take the meaning of conspiracy theorists to be a person who believes that powerful people who have a lot of influence use their power to gain more influence it's pretty straightforward when you think about it like that isn't it because if you have a look at the opposite side of the spectrum what's an opposite to a conspiracy theorist a coincidence theorist right somebody who think that everything happens by it's just random now if you take those two people and you put them side-by-side coincidence theorists versus conspiracy theorists what's one of them sounds more insane right and naive okay that's the person who thinks that everything happens by accident that everybody in general when you ask this question to will think is completely and utterly naive and just completely crazy which is the opposite to how they're currently thinking about it that it's conspiracy theorists who are really crazy and the people who don't question everything that walk around as if nothing's going wrong as if everything's sweet as a nut they're actually the real crazy ones exactly because they believe the notion that powerful influential individuals with tons and tons of money never come together to make plans for the same agenda you know and that happened that is happening 24 hours a day seven days a week all around us we just need to be conscious enough to say it many of your final words to take us out great show thanks so much for being on well if you'd like to listen to me and Aslan's pastor lindsay williams says you need to listen to the vinny eastwood show every day because things are moving so fast and I want to say share something positive with everybody when it comes to making decisions in your life you've only got one moment to make it that's this moment okay it's a continuous one that moment has stretched all the way out through history and it will continue to stretch all the way on through eternity so in a way we get to share a moment with everybody who has ever lived or whoever well and that is an encouraging thought and that's why they call it the present because it is a gift then you've been a great guest thanks so much for being on you're welcome back anytime check out the vinny eastwood show calm ladies and gentlemen that's all we have time for stick around Cris ever art is up next

Topics: Solutions, Non-Support Of Dominators, Emotional Mind Control, Police & Military Complicity with Human Slavery, Objective Truth vs. Perception, Frequency as Alignment with Truth, Absolute Nature of Truth, Apophasis, Saying No to Evil

freedom man that's what it's all about [Music] you've got to groove on freedom like the good book says [Music] welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches its critical moment of choice and now here is your host mark pascio welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark pacio my website what on earth is happening.com the network's website oraclebroadcasting.com the show is live every sunday from 5 to 7 p.m east coast time today is easter sunday 2012. sunday april 8 2012. and we have a an information packed show here for you today on east star sunday we're going to be talking about solutions oriented approaches this is what we've been doing for many many weeks on the show i've had guests on for the last several weeks last week i do want to apologize i did not announce two weeks ago that i would be taking the the week off uh last sunday i had a personal event to attend a friend's birthday party so um i did play a replay of the show that i did with jay parker a few weeks back on healing methods for satanic ritual abuse so my apologies for not letting everybody know that last week's show would be a replay a couple of weeks back today we're going to be shifting the topics a little bit and talking about the non-support of the dominator culture and how that is actually a big problem even for people in the so-called freedom movement they don't see this in its fullness they don't really understand the philosophical change the nature of the change that needs to be made philosophically to understand what domination is what the aggression principle is versus the non-aggression principle and this is going to be a long discussion it's going to extend over many weeks but today i want to begin delving into this topic as one of the biggest solutions to the problems in consciousness that is taking place on this planet and i'm going to start with two basic concepts that need to be understood and that's emotional mind control and this is what i call heart control we talked about mind control but we've talked very little about heart control and that to my knowledge is a phrase that i have coined myself heart control so we'll be talking about that today and we'll also be talking about the concept of apophysis which we looked at when we took a look into natural law but we're going to delve into it again today on this show and in the many weeks to come because it is one of the premier solutions uh in understanding what is actually taking place around us and what we really need to do is employ it to say no that's what hypothesis is after all so i do have some event announcements but i have a actually have several of them so i'll read those on the other side of this uh first break you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network stay with us folks great show coming up we'll be right back after these words [Music] [Applause] [Music] so welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening on this easter sunday 2012. i'm your host mark pacio let me get into the event announcements because i have several of them so truth freedom prosperity will be hosting a networking social here in philadelphia on saturday april fourteenth two thousand twelve that's this coming saturday at seven o'clock p.m this will be taking place at media bureau studios on the corner of fourth and brown that's 725 north fourth street in the northern liberty section of philadelphia another event announcement is the official end the fed rally the rally for sound money day here in philadelphia will be taking place sunday april 22nd now i'm going to have to make a decision as to whether i'm going to do the show on sunday april 22nd because there's actually two events here in philadelphia that i will be attending i don't know whether i'm gonna just attend and then rush back to to make the show and maybe report a little bit about the events on the show or whether i'm gonna put the show on replay for that day as well and um and just interact with people there all day so i'll be making that decision in the coming couple of weeks but sunday april 22nd is the official end the fed rally here in philadelphia uh hosted by truth freedom prosperity this is going to be taking place at 11 o'clock am at the federal reserve bank of philadelphia that's at sixth and arch streets okay and the big announcement the big news for many people here in philadelphia is the freedom uh rally philadelphia freedom 2012 and they're spelling freedom p h r e e d o m uh you know as a play on the word philadelphia so it's the philly freedom 2012 rally this is taking place also on sunday april 22nd at 1pm and the big news that was just announced this week for this event is that ron paul will actually be speaking live at the philadelphia freedom rally here in the city um you know say what you will about ron paul i personally think he's generally an honest uh human being and tries to do uh good things i don't think government is the solution to any of our problems in no matter how limited its capacity is that's my take on it uh i'm i'm a total anarchist you know i don't believe in government whatsoever i think it's an illusion based on control and there is no political or uh legal solution to the mess that humanity is in because it's a problem that's generated in human consciousness and that's the only place that it can be solved we're going to be talking about these ideas here today on the show uh when we get into emotional mind control and hypothesis okay so um but that having been said many people are going to want to come out to hear ron paul's message and um i think that's healthy because it was going to wake up some people here uh who haven't really been exposed to those ideas so it's a step at least a small step in the right direction um you know some people say what's the difference between a libertarian and an anarchist uh and the answer is a couple of years at best and hopefully that is the case for people that uh you know are on that path toward understanding that government is not this the solution to any problems it is the creator of the problems that humanity has beset with so uh going back to this event announcement philly freedom 2012 is going to be taking place at independence mall right on the independence mall lawn eleven o'clock i'm sorry one o'clock p.m sunday april 22nd 2012 here in philadelphia independence mall uh at the corner of fifth and fifth and not between uh chestnut and market streets okay uh at fifth so uh come on out for that that should be a great event other speakers for that event are in addition to ron paul michael schuer and james padaleoni jr so that should be a good event coming on april 22nd finally the free monthly documentary screening and discussion evening hosted by truth freedom prosperity also i actually uh barb and i actually picked the films for uh this night and this month they're always the last wednesday of every month here in philadelphia uh this month it will be april 25th at seven o'clock p.m at media bureau studios also at 4th and brown and this month we will be showing the great film the great documentary film by ben stewart kymatica so climatica film screening wednesday april 25th 7 o'clock p.m at media bureau studios 725 north 4th street here in philadelphia for more information on all of the events that i just mentioned going down here in the city of philadelphia please visit the website truthfreedomprosperity.org that's truthfreedomprosperity.org okay let's jump into the uh subject matter for the show today and again over the past many weeks i've been interviewing people having people on the show to do interviews and i've been taking a lot of calls we're going to shift back toward more of a lecture type information format here for maybe the entire program here today maybe i'll decide to take some calls later but more likely than not i want to focus on this subject material and this will probably be the trend for the next many weeks because the concept of the removal of the support from all forms of the dominator culture is the solution to the problem it is taking action that needs to be taken in order to get out of this situation that we're in you know a lot of the concepts i bring up here on what on earth is happening can definitely be heady and abstract but ultimately you need to convert that wisdom that is acquired by the unders through the understanding of that information into action that's the only way that it's it really becomes wisdom you have to put it into action so that's what why i read event announcements like that you have to get out you have to get involved you can't be an armchair quarterback and complain about the way other people are putting the truth out there you have to do it yourself you have to get out there interact with other people you have to change people's minds that's what this is all ultimately about and that's the hardest work that there is to do is to actually change someone's mind and that's what the whole concept of the removal of the support of dominators getting people to change their mind about how they see the real creators of the new world order which we're going to talk about here today how did they see these dominator people these order followers the people who go out and do the bidding of their dark occult masters who they don't even know who they never met who they don't believe exist and they'll argue with you until they're blue in the face from oxygen deprivation uh that that doesn't exist you know so will a lot of people in the truth and freedom movements you know they don't want to accept that the occult is real they don't want to accept that these people have a religion that they believe in and they're acting on and it doesn't matter whether you believe it or not but if you don't know your enemy you don't know his mindset you don't know his strategy you're lost in this game you have to know that first then you need to act but you do need to know about your enemies mindset and what their beliefs are what drives them then you have to put it all together and decide how you're gonna take action in light of that new knowledge that you've acquired we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening don't go anywhere [Music] welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio i also uh neglected to mention uh in the last segment that i will be appearing on the bob tusken radio show this monday so actually that's tomorrow april 9th bob's show is live right here on the oracle broadcasting network every weekday from 8 to 10 p.m east coast time so bob will be bringing me on his show tomorrow night as a guest i'm not really sure what we're going to talk about but i'm sure it will involve natural law in some capacity i'm sure it will uh involve human consciousness in some capacity and bob's a great uh talk show host here on oracle um always a pleasure to be uh asked to be on his program so let's get into the subject matter and i want to direct everyone to the website what on earth is happening.com click the radio show tab of the site and there underneath the player will be images for today's show these are images that will accompany the concepts and ideas that i'll be talking about on the show today you can follow along with them uh it's a uh they're numbered links when you click them it pops up as a little mini slideshow so image number one there shows that this is a continuation of the section that i have been calling the way out on this program what are the solutions to the problems that humanity is beset with in consciousness image number two shows the grassroots solutions for real and positive and lasting change these are consciousness oriented solutions they involve a fundamental shift in world view which is why that is the number one solution healing the world view we've already covered many of these topics many of these sections of these solutions we looked at world view healing we looked at how to change the quality of our attention okay how to develop true present moment awareness and mindfulness we looked at changing our diet and getting on to the right foods we looked at detaching from the monetary system to the extent that it is within our capability of understanding that that's an illusion to begin with completely and it's there as a mechanism of control and we have four sections left in the solution section and then from there this radio program is really going to become more free-flowing to be quite honest we'll review some things we'll bring in some new concepts i will also be covering some additional occult traditions in future shows to expand on a knowledge base that we've already begin uh begun building in that regard i'll be having many many more guests on the show in the future we'll be doing open call uh shows again in the future we're going to focus on getting these solutions wrapped up okay we're going to focus on fleshing out these last four solutions and the non-supportive dominators is definitely one of the biggest and this is going to take several weeks i may cover this as long as i covered natural law okay and that's beginning today uh we're also going to look at the use of anthogens in a conscious context and perhaps bring on a few guests in that regard to talk about psychedelics and how they should be employed in order to change human consciousness these are helper spirits their helper consciousnesses that really are here to help us to dissolve our ego we're going to talk about the dissolution of the ego here today because that is tied inextricably in with emotional mind control okay we're going to look at in the future the pow employing the power of positive thinking and becoming a teacher ourselves which is really what we need to be doing not just sitting there absorbing everything absorbing it absorbing it never actually then converting it into wisdom which is taking action on it and that's again going and helping other people to change their mind carl jung the philosopher and alchemist you know put it best when he said enlightenment is not just imagining figures of light it is making the darkness conscious making it conscious through action making people to change their minds obviously you can't force that change but you could influence it and he goes on further to say in that quote that that latter procedure you know the one that he mentioned last there okay is very unpopular because it's very difficult it is difficult it require it requires the most effort and therefore most people don't want to do that work they want to complain about someone else they don't want to actually change themselves and this doesn't mean that you can't say someone is responsible for their actions and point out what they're doing is wrong that isn't what i mean by pointing fingers i mean really thinking that it's the just a small group of people at the top who's who are the cause of all the problems that have beset humanity that nothing could be further from the truth these people are influencing people yes but they're not the ones actually taking the action they get other people to take the action through influencing their minds and in their spiritual weakness these people at the bottom many many many more of them than there are these mind controllers at the top of this hierarchical pyramid of control they're the ones who go out and take the action they're the ones who bear all of the culpability and and the the karmic consequences upon their soul it isn't the elite going out with machine guns and gunning people down it's not them taking away people's natural law rights by corralling them and putting them in cages for non-crimes and offenses that that you know are made up they have no right to take them away for because the people are acting within their rights no police and military do those things we're going to talk about these two groups of people because this is what the dominator culture is it's also people who give their consent to those people it's also the people who think that they're doing a great service to humanity who think that they're heroes and again i'm going to come out and you're going to hear things in this whole section through the dominate the non-supportive dominator culture ladies and gentlemen that are going to be abrasive harsh but they are going to be absolutely true absolutely true and i'm not going to mince any words i'm not going to pull any punches so we're going to get into things in this section like repressed sexuality which i haven't talked much about at all throughout this this entire series but we're going to talk about the sexuality of these individuals and how that plays into how they behave all right we're gonna get into how religion plays into this in people's minds we're gonna get into the worshipers of the state their mindset what made it that way why don't people want freedom why do they fear true freedom and personal responsibility what is going on in their psychology in their psychological makeup that makes them take these stances take these positions ideologically we're going to look at the fact that there is no political solution to this problem there never has been there is only a philosophical solution so when we come back i'm going to begin this section this solution section which is called the non-support of dominators and we're going to start by looking into emotional mind control of what that is and how it works we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen don't go anywhere

[Music] welcome back folks this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark casio my website what on earth is happening dot com so if you're following along with the images i want to let everyone know uh i did make a last minute change to the images so if you only see 12 images on the radio show page please refresh the page they're supposed to be 13 images i did neglect to upload one and i made that correction during the last break so refresh the page you should see 13 images on the on the radio show page underneath the player or with the podcast you'll certainly see them image number three is a representation of the dominator culture and it's uh from the film star wars obviously it's a bunch of stormtroopers in their white uh uni forms meaning one form okay meaning no individuality no uniqueness everybody's the same okay and if you take the helmets off of course if you're a follower of the star wars saga you'll recognize that it's actually all the same individual underneath every one of those helmets because the stormtroopers were a cloned army all cloned from the same individual jango fett in the story okay so they're all clones literally meaning copies of each other and that's what the dominator culture wants people to become a carbon copy something that's not really even alive something that is made it is the facsimile of life made from something that was once alive but it's just a golem okay it's a golem it is a thing that is imbued with motion but it doesn't really have any real life to it it's not making its own choices or decisions it's not thinking it's not feeling it's just acting you pull the strings or put the little electrical impulse to it and then it it acts it jumps that's it it's impulses can be completely controlled and that's exactly as the dark occult to see these individuals we're going to do a whole show as i did at the free your mind conference on how the dark occultists see these individuals i'll give a whole show maybe two shows to that topic and we'll go over the occult mockery of the people who are actually the order followers and do the bidding of their masters it's like a a master who hates his dog and just kicks his dog constantly constantly commands it gets to do whatever he wants it to do but he still loathes it with his whole being because at some fundamental level he identifies how could this dog continue to do what my sick twisted brain is is asking of it that means it hates itself at some level that means it it it it's so is only concerned about what it can get from me that it has no care for it its own self whatsoever is totally given up itself this is another concept we're going to tie into the the non-support of dominators the concept of the loss of the self this will be an entire section within this section i call many researchers other than myself as i've also called it selflessness not selflessness in the sense that you don't you're not selfish that you care about other people but selflessness meaning you have actually lost the qualities of the true self you have become a non-self the self the original true self is gone and there's only a husk a shell that once was okay so the next slide shows the two main groups of people and again there are ancillary groups who assist the new world order but these are the two groups of people who bring it in the dark new world order i want to be very clear about making that distinction we talked about the concept of that there's really two new world orders that one is a a place where truth and freedom prevail and one is a place of utter devastation to the human soul and the utter destruction of freedom where enslavement is the order of the day okay so what we have to understand is that that dark new world order doesn't get made without these people's cooperation in slide number three it does not get made without the police and military's cooperation as a matter of fact what we're going to see is not only does it not get made without them there's a reason for that because they are its creators the dark occultists are not the creators of the dark new world order they are only the influencers of it but they are not the ones who actually perform its creation the police and the military are the ones who actually perform its creation and if you're having a difficult time with that topic that gets us to the very first subsection within the solution of don't support the dominator culture withdraw your support say no to it because that involves the getting over of a form of mind control and it's called emotional mind control and i have a depiction of it comical though it may be in slide number five and this is the traditional image of the three monkeys one with his hands over his ears one with his hands over his eyes one with his hands over his mouth see no evil hear no evil speak no evil okay you don't want to hear or see or talk about the things that are really wrong you want to think that we can somehow get to a place of rightness of goodness of order of prosperity without taking a look at what currently is wrong or admitting the fullness of that wrongness in other words people want to look at little sections within the wrong doing and they want to think well it's this aspect that's responsible for the whole mess or it's this group of people that's responsible for the whole mess and not that group you know they want to pri they want to pick and choose they don't want to look at the totality of the situation because they have something that they're holding on to something they're attached to something that they can't admit or let in to their own mind to their own consciousness okay they can't let it in because they're holding something so close to them that somehow they feel forms part of their identity okay we're going to look at that when it comes to emotional mind control heart control they're holding on to some feeling about something that they don't want to let go of so let's give an example let's give an example of a okay whose father was a cop so he has fond memories of that individual he believes in his heart okay and in his mind the son does that the father did good things now notice i said that he actually did good things in his role as a cop let's leave out the father's role as a father for a moment we're talking about his role as a cop the son loves him for all the things he did for him and the family in his role as a father or a husband okay so we're talking about two different roles two different ways of being in the world of functioning one he's an order follower that's the reality of his role as a cop he's told this is your job this is what you do if you don't do this you can't do this job you cannot say no i'm not going to do what i'm told to do and be a cop it doesn't work like that if you say i'm my own person i'm not going to do this just because this is told to me to do then you're not a cop you you cannot continue to do that job and keep your job in that role in that capacity and still be your own person following your own conscience it is these are antithesis they are diametrically opposed ideas a cop by definition is a follower of orders and those orders come down to him through man's dictates called man's laws and then he is told by his superiors in the political structure okay in the governmental structure this is what you must do or must not do he's not actually making those decisions himself and you could argue this again until you're blue in the face but when you really look at the situation that is exactly as it is it is in some other way so we're going to pick that up on the other side and continue to look what is the sun feeling when you when he hears this knowledge what goes on in his mind and in his heart we'll be right back folks don't go [Music] anywhere welcome back everyone i'm mark pacio and this is what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting coming to you live on this easter sunday of 2012 talking about the non-support of dominators and the dominator culture as one of the prime solutions to the problems that humanity faces in consciousness and as the beginning the introduction to this we need to talk about emotional mind control or as i have coined it heart control okay we we've looked at mind control and all the ways that this goes to work on us cerebrally but we have looked very little at heart control how are our emotions controlled and they're controlled the most when it comes to the people who we know who are actually the servants of the dark and don't even really know it and in many cases that blinds us from be being able to understand that that they can only be bringing by what they're doing chaos into the world it is impossible for them to be creating order harmony safety any of those things because their actions are based in fear and confusion and coercion and as a result they can only ever create chaos which is why i said that the the dominators the people who are actually order followers who believe that they have the natural law right to do things that they most definitively and absolutely do not have any right to do are the creators of the dark new world order themselves it is not their occult overlords and i'm not making any excuses for those people the dark occultists they are evil in their own right and in their own way but at the same time they do tell people what they're about to do before they do it and they have to get some sort of complicity or acceptance and they may even tell people wordlessly through symbol but they tell them okay and ultimately they're not the ones going out and doing these atrocities they're not the ones out in the fields murdering people in the killing fields they're not the people on the streets who are slapping handcuffs on people and throwing them into a cage someplace they're not the ones doing that they're not taking that action and as a result their culpability is is negligible next to the people who are actually doing that action with their body employing that behavior you can look at the atrocities committed by people in soviet russia or in the third reich in germany okay and understand the leaders were a minuscule component of that population tiny tiny fragment of it a portion their secret police their military that's who actually did those things to people these were people and it's the same way in any culture that's why it's called a police state okay it's the same thing in any totalitarian police state ultimately those people do not have developed consciences they don't know what real conscience is and that take it however you want ladies and gentlemen get offended i don't that's not my business that's if you're offended by that statement perhaps you are under emotional mind control they're the people actually doing it to the other people they have a choice in the matter you can say no to it they didn't did not really have a developed conscience conscience in them was not truly born otherwise nothing can make you do that to another human being it ladies and gentlemen it would not matter what the circumstance or situation was you would never see me being given orders to shoot somebody who i know did nothing wrong did no wrong doing to someone else and then me saying yes i'm going to do it it wouldn't make a difference if you said you're going to kill me i'm going to torture your family i'm going to kill and torture everybody you've ever known it doesn't matter i have a developed conscience which is the true objective knowledge between what is right and what is wrong and then the willful choosing of the behavior that goes with the right and not the wrong the behavior that is in harmony with right right action that's what a conscience is so no one no matter what they do is going to get me to violate somebody else's natural law rights for a paycheck for threats on my body or any other reason again i i say threats of torture are even meaningless and not just for me i'm going to choose not to cooperate with evil no matter what evil does the end see that's what truth is that's what serving truth is it's not wishy-washiness it's extremity and when people say oh you're an extremist i take that as an absolute compliment truth is extreme this is one of the things we have to understand when we look into emotional mind control that truth is extreme and it does not matter what form truth comes in truth can come in a beautiful appearance and it can come in the form of a horror it can come with a soft spoken voice or it can come shouting through a bullhorn this is another aspect of emotional mind control let me wrap up the first one we talked about the son who can't give up the idea that his father he knows his father to be a genuinely good person in his interactions with him but when his father was doing the role of a cop how many people did he lock up for putting a substance into his own body then yeah he came home and loved his family and brought a paycheck home and put food on the table for his his uh daughter and son and you know and wife etc but what does that ultimately matter if the person is violating someone else's rights when he goes out to do that job you know how many protests was he asked to shut down during his career how many people whose property did he go and take because they failed to pay their extortion money to the dominator culture called attacks all of these violations of natural law and the person who's doing that job is never saying i'm going to look at the action that i'm taking based on whether it is in definitive harmony with natural law principles do i have a right to take that action is it harming someone else is the person who i'm being asked to stop from doing what they're doing are they harming someone else or they have a right to take that action no none of those things are even thought about in the mind of of the storm trooper of the clone of the copy the cop it's this is my job this is what i do my behaviors go unwaveringly along with what i'm asked to do because that's what my job requires other if i don't do that i don't have a job see because that's the whole thing ladies and gentlemen you can't be an enlightened person following your conscience and be doing that job it's not possible that's an antithesis it's diametric opposites those concepts do not exist simultaneously they can only exist simultaneously in a diseased psyche it's called cognitive dissonance it's a psychological illness that you can believe you're a totally good person following your conscience and still following orders if you're following orders you're not following your conscience you're following what someone else is telling you to do and if you're following your conscience you're most certainly not following anyone else's orders you're only following the truth which brings us to another concept how people hear things how does this tie into emotional mind control how they perceive what they hear many people want to hear you know things that tell them what they want to hear that's all they will accept into their mindset as soon as something that doesn't go along with what they want to hear is being spoken to them they push it away immediately they react with fear it's not a it's not any kind of a cognitive process going on it's a reaction acting on impulse on stimulus response which has which has that's rooted in the r complex of the brain not in the part of the brain where higher ordered thought is made possible which is the neocortex when people hear something and react to it immediately that's emotional mind control that's coming from the lower centers of the brain [Music] the r complex and then the lower functions of the limbic brain now we can talk about a little bit about that about brain function and how that goes along with human perception we'll pick it up right there on the other side of the break don't go anywhere folks you can't stop a person who has called true conscience i can't control a person who has developed true conscience [Music] they are only following the path of truth not anything rooted in the human world they're not following human orders they're going to where the truth leads and when you're walking that path only order can result but when you're walking the path of following human orders only chaos can result because a person in that modality of consciousness is not obeying their conscience and this is where emotional mind control comes in a family member of a person like that who's following orders their whole life they want to identify their personal feelings for them in the role as a family member as a maybe a protector of the family a per in that role that person may have acted justly they may have acted in harmony with natural law regarding their family taking care of their family provided for them etc but the person is identifying their emotions of how they perceive the individual in that role and they're grafting it onto they're transferring it to the person in the role as an order follower in which his behaviors were not in harmony with natural law in which he followed other human beings orders regardless of whether they were in harmony with natural law or not so his behaviors were not just they were not good they were not order li meaning they did not really create order they created chaos in many other people's lives and subtly maybe not in 100 percent seen ways they create chaos in their own lives through the actual manifestations of natural law and how that works in our lives to bring us the experiences that we must experience based on our behaviors so the person in emotional mind control can't reconcile these two roles that this individual was playing and this is part of where the real mind controllers have us have the majority of us we can't step back and disidentify ourselves from our role with that individual and i this is what i'm trying to explain to people is so vitally important to do if your father or your mother or your brother or your sister or your daughter or your son or any family relation is not in right relation with truth and natural law it isn't up to you to say oh but they're my mother oh but they're my son oh but they're my dad you have a much more powerful responsibility to attend to than a family bond the family bond people want to think is somehow the highest responsibility that any person has and it's not true there's a much higher responsibility that should be tended to long before you ever tend to any kind of a bond in the family and that's the responsibility to the truth and to what is right you have a responsibility to go where your conscience leads not just saying oh they're my father so i forgive them for it if you truly know the difference between right and wrong putting somebody allowing them to just skip out on it on some kind of a cop out because you didn't want to hold them to account or you didn't want to check them on their wrong doing is is a cop out yourself and that's an advocation of your own personal responsibility to speak the truth just because you didn't want to create an uncomfortable situation we'll pick this up on the other side of the break stay with us [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com talking about the non-support of dominator cultures of the dominator culture and the people who enforce its dictates on the rest of the population and how emotional mind control or what i call heart control plays into that dynamic you know breaking these bonds particularly when their family bonds with an individual who is in this kind of disharmony with natural law and developing the courage to start speaking with them about it to help change their mind about what they're doing can be very difficult because it's deeply rooted into the human psyche but more than that it's actually rooted into the physiology you know these functions become like addictive patterns because of how they work in the brain when you're forging an emotional bond with somebody you know the limbic brain is sending certain kinds of chemicals into the body you become very used to that and dependent on those substances that's why you miss someone when they're not around it's like a form of withdrawal you know these chemicals are like drugs they are mood altering their body altering they are released from the limbic brain they go into the bloodstream you become used to them like any other substance that you continuously would put into the body so someone becomes identified with that feeling when it is when they're thinking about it relating to another person in their family and then it becomes i don't want to logically think about what they're doing i don't care about that i'm just i'm just going on feeling an emotion here doesn't make a difference what they do and once again this whole idea that family bond is the strongest makes us look the other way when one of our family members is doing something that's wrong meaning intentionally harming someone else and it doesn't even matter whether they think they're doing the right thing this is another defense that's constantly used against the dominators they think they're doing the right thing the universal natural law does not care whether you think you're doing the right thing that this is another thing people need to emotionally get over gravity does not care one iota whether you don't understand it folks and neither does behavioral natural law it's going to bring you what you have acquired as a result of your action whether that comes from stepping off the cliff because you didn't know about gravity or whether it comes from deliberately trying to take someone out taking someone else's natural law rights because quote unquote i didn't know it was the wrong thing to do natural law doesn't care it's not it doesn't work like your mind or my mind it doesn't have human emotions it is in a law that works unwaveringly 100 percent of the time the same way people have a difficult time wrapping their minds around this and it's part of they don't want to accept that there's anything that works like that and that they're subject to it you are a slave to causality to natural law that's how this universe was built the end you cannot do anything about that you can learn how this law operates and then decide to live in harmony with it or not that's it they're your choices it's the ultimate hegelian dialectic if you will but it's the one that is real so in that regard do you really have free will hey maybe not because there's only natural law which binds you and you have a choice to make it's your free will decision but you're the one who makes it do i acknowledge this law that is in place that happens to bind me here in this physical universe while i'm in it and do i want to work within the parameters of that law in which i don't create suffering for myself in which i can create harmony and order and wonder and beauty and peace and anything i could possibly even dream or imagine or do i want to constantly buck the flow of that natural law i want to believe that i'm god somehow i could do whatever i want with no consequences and i'm just going to create disharmony suffering endless suffering and chaos for myself see ladies and gentlemen you could ignore reality all you want but you cannot escape the consequences of ignoring reality that's what's not possible it is possible to ignore reality you're uh utter fool to do it and because you're you happen to be uncomfortable with what that reality is you don't want it to be that way that's why most people won't even look at natural law i don't want it to be that way well once again you're not the creator of the universe who cares what you want you need to learn what is and start getting your head around the concept that you need to accept the way certain things that weren't created by you are they weren't created by any humans they're just the natural function of this domain that you don't have a say over this is why in many secret societies or in many mystery tradition schools people who don't believe that there's a higher power than man won't even be dealt with and i understand why that is i get it because they think they can get it to make up what the truth is based on their likes or preferences or their emotions i don't like that that bothers me that idea i'm not even going to look into whether it's true or not i'm going to look into whether that happens to be the conditions i'm surrounded by and surrounded with and that i'm binded by or not i i have no care looking any of that because that makes me feel uncomfortable i don't like it so therefore it can't be true which brings me to the next slot couple of slides you know i call that the arbiter of truth syndrome i get to make up what truth is based on how it makes me feel and here's the the flip side of that coin is when people hear the truth they react in different ways based on how it makes them feel not on whether it's accurate not on whether it can actually be verified whether it's true the veracity of the information no no no i'm going to judge it based on how it makes me feel so if i don't like how this person looks or the sound of their voice or if that information's making me uncomfortable or i don't like the way he presented it or he left this little tiny detail out that i think is important even if the rest of what he's saying happens to be true i'm throwing it all out this is such an immature way of seeing reality and coming to any conclusions of what is but unfortunately this is where most people are at and this is a symptom of emotional mind control many people in again in the freedom and patriot movements are under emotional mind control and i'm going to give you an example in a way how i'm not under that kind of mind control or heart control when people hear people shouting or screaming something or saying it in a harsh or abrasive way they want to think it isn't true so i put this up as slide number six so you take a look at you could take a look at it during the break and i'll get more into it on the other side you know people can shout two plus two equals four at the top of their lungs it's always going to be true we'll be right back folks [Music] first part of this is understanding what emotional mind control is and how it works how people graft emotions onto other people in their family their circle of friends and don't want to objectively logically look at what people are actually doing the role that they're fulfilling in the creation of the dark new world order that was the first part of this the second part of this has to do with human perception and how people want to perceive reality versus accepting reality as it is or even being able to see it at all as it is this is one of the biggest problems that humanity has and many people fall into the trap of if i don't like the way the information is being presented it's not true so i put in two images up here to emphasize this form of mind control which is called which is heart control it's more about controlling someone at an emotional level than it is controlling them at a mental level because they're not thinking with their mind at all the mind is being removed from the process and they're being controlled from the feelings of the body [Music] that's why this is a powerful form of control that most people never even see or understand how it works i'll be the first person to admit my voice isn't the most pleasant to listen to never thought that it was i don't like listening back to the things that i do because i don't like the sound of my own voice as many people don't that's a common thing but when i do listen back to try to see what am i doing right what may can i improve upon i generally feel i do do a good job i listen to the concepts i present i think i present it in a clear way in a way that could be easily understood by anybody i don't over complicate it and i think i do a reasonably good job to explain these concepts so i i gage myself not on how i sound because i don't like the sound of my voice when i listen back to it i'll take a look at what did i actually say and then i'm going to be honest about did i do a good job getting that idea across that's it doesn't matter whether i don't like to hear it and this is again something people don't even know that they're in sometimes i'll give another example okay manly p hall old man before you know he died i believe at age 93 or 94 something like that i think it was 93. but he lectured on us on the circuit into his 90s and when you listen to an older gentleman speak at a monotone very slow pace you know deliberate it can be taxing it can be something that is wow that's that takes willpower actually sit there and pay attention to that because it's it let's face it it's boring literally i mean you know it's something that's not really very exciting or holds you in wrapped attention but the information that he's giving is like whoa i mean this guy is a beacon of light you know what he's exploding onto the world with what he put forward over his years so i'm not paying attention to the sound of his voice or whether it makes me bored or even sleepy i'm listening to what he's saying and again if it's super harsh we could bring alex jones up as an example people call him a blowhard they say oh he's super over the top of what he does none of that matters all that matters is is what he's saying accurate regarding the control system so you know in image number six here i have all these people shouting and looking upset and they're yelling right at you they got your finger up in your face and they're all saying the same thing two plus two equals four which is unequivocally eternally definitively absolutely true and can never be any other way that is a mathematical natural law reality it doesn't matter how anyone says it to you they can say it in the most pleasing wonderful tones that sound like angels singing or they can be a blowhard yelling through a megaphone all relevant the only thing that is relevant is is it true was that accurate does that reflect reality image number seven shows the exact opposite of this the news broadcasters our wonderful friends in the mainstream media they're always talking in such pleasing tones and now now the news take it away ellen sure jim and now they're gonna then they're gonna spout the most absurd ridiculous propaganda that anyone has ever heard and most people are gonna gulp it down they're going to shovel it in with a spoon they're going to slurp it up with a straw and they can't get enough they can't get it in fast enough more please more please yes i'll have i'll have another because they like hearing what they want to hear and they like it being told to them in sweet pleasant tones even if it's total bunk all of these people are telling people every day that two plus two equals five and it doesn't matter how sensuously it's put it doesn't matter how nice the female anchor dresses up and does her hair and sits you know with her legs crossed and looks very attractive it doesn't matter how much humor they interject into it how they smile at the camera it's always going to be nonsense but many people will buy it just because it's told to them like rocking a baby to sleep you know in those plea soft and pleasant tones they're never going to even go out and check whether it's accurate they're going to take it at face value because they're gauging information not with the human mind they're gauging information through how it makes them feel in the body and that's what emotional mind control is and this is the same thing that happens when you say you know what your father may have done great things in his role as a father but in his role as a cop he abused people's rights all day long whether he knew it or not because he didn't he wasn't following natural law he wasn't following his conscience he was following human orders and what happens boom emotional reaction in the body that makes me feel bad because i remember the emotional connection i had to my dad as my dad and now i'm going to react to the truth of that statement by getting angry i'm not going to look into the statement's veracity whether he actually did violate natural laws in his role as a police officer i'm just going to react to the teller of that information to the bringer of that information because he touched a nerve with me because i have a deep emotional connection to daddy you understand how emotional mind control works and how dangerous it is and how it is keeping things the way they are in this reality let me give you an example of how i will respond to new information i'll go out and check whether it is accurate okay so i'm i happen to still eat eggs i'm a vegetarian but i eat eggs so i eat some dairy products i'm trying to work on that because i recognize there's a lot of harm that comes from animals as a result of being in the capacity of providing even milk or butter or cheese or eggs okay so i've stopped drinking dairy milk i'm going to tell you about what i've done regarding eggs on the other side of the break we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere we're back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting your host mark pascio my website is what on earth is happening.com [Music] continuing with emotional mind control we have to understand first it doesn't matter how information is delivered we need to get over that that is part of the calcified human ego is believing that what our perceptions of the messenger are is directly related to the quality or veracity of the information and nothing could be farther from the truth because you could get total absolute truth from a homeless destitute individual lying in the street in a cardboard box and that happens to be his situation he may even be drunk he may be slurring and he could give you wisdom and yet you could go to the executive of the board way up in an ivory tower someplace in the middle of of of the middle of a city in the board room and that could be the devil incarnate basically in a in a ten thousand dollar three-piece suit telling you exactly the opposite of the truth it doesn't make a difference what the truth looks like or sounds like you need to do the work to definitively verify the information that's it that's part one of this part two is people have such difficult concepts with the idea of definitiveness definite absolute all one way extreme these are things we've been conditioned from birth to think oh those are bad things that's bad you know the middle the middle of the road is the best shades of gray is how everything is everything is relative relativism never really look at whether something is has an objective reality that is independent of my perceptions of it and yes there is such a thing no everything is not independent uh dependent on perceptions truth is not dependent on your perception ladies and gentlemen you you think that's the case you have bought into some bunk when it comes to relativistic science regarding the observer effect that that isn't how that's intended to be understood there is such a thing as objective reality that is independent from my perception of it that exists it's called truth and it can be known and it is not shades of gray truth is not shades of gray truth is all one way there's a there's a bumper sticker for you truth is not shades of gray it's all one way this is another thing people under emotional mind control cannot comprehend because they want it to be the way they've been told that it is that they've come into a state of comfort with that it elicits a certain emotional reaction in the body oh it's it's not all one way it's relative it's it's that's comforting that means that you know uh this isn't something that really is in is independent of me it's dependent upon how i perceive it how i see it and that's where all moral relativism comes from the idea that we can get to make it up based on how we feel about it oh i like taking people's rights away i like following my orders that that doesn't necessarily mean it's wrong i could i could be doing this and actually be right because it makes me feel good never looking at is there an objective reality about whether what i'm doing is right or wrong or not never looking into what natural law actually is how it operates how it brings you the experiences that you must undergo as a result of your behaviors no i'm gonna just base it all on my feelings and what i've been told looking into it for myself are you insane that would involve work and taking on the personal responsibility of then knowing right from wrong and having to make my decisions based upon definitive knowledge oh we're never going to do that we're just going to just base it all on emotion base it all on feelings how it makes me feel how about let's be just based alone what i get from it do i get the cookies that my master throws at me as little dog lap lap dog that i am do i get the little biscuit treat afterward you know do i get my paycheck is my are the bills on my house still going to be paid as a result of continuing to do this in moral behavior which you know ultimately these people all know it's immoral nobody's that dumb folks it all really comes down to that you know when you're doing harm to someone else everyone does they just want to tell themselves that they don't they think that they can continue to ignore reality flip their middle finger up in the face of natural law and they can escape those consequences and i assure you ladies and gentlemen the universe does not work that way and the people who think that and think that they continue to get away with that kind of behavior are in for the shock of not their lies they're in for the shock of universal time to say the least but to go back to this idea of the second aspect of what emotional mind control is about is that the truth is all one way it is extreme it is absolute i i briefly before we get into this i want to give an example one other example i was shown how badly the chickens who lay eggs are treated in certain uh factory farm conditions and then are slaughtered as well even though though they may have just been chicken uh eggs used for chickens they're then taken to slaughter as well so knowing that i stopped eating meat because of the harm that it does because it's not a human right as people have been conditioned into thinking that it is and again you can get as offended about this as you want and look up contradictory data that is made up and is based on religious assumptions to try to get people to accept that you know this isn't a wrong practice okay and i haven't really gotten too deep into this because i've been trying to hold my listeners and not offend them to a point where they just say i'm not going to listen to anything he says but again this goes with emotional mind control and people just need to really be told what is really going on regarding this wholesale slaughter of animals all over this planet in a just a harsh way in a just way that you know look if you can watch the movie earthlings and not have a conscience about what's going on with animals on this world you are a psychopath and at the very minimum a secondary psychopath if you take that documentary into yourself and be honest about it and you say that that isn't wrong i i fear for your soul is all i have to say and i told you that's the only movie in my collection i won't watch again out of the thousands probably tens of thousands of movies i have in my digital library okay i wouldn't watch that one again i got it i got it the first time and i made myself watch it again just to hammer it home a little harder so what i did yes i don't eat meat anymore but okay i don't eat dairy milk drink dairy milk anymore i make my own almond milk i still happen to consume eggs now do i know that that practice is still contributing to some suffering with with chickens yes i i do so i do want to make it even better i do want to go beyond where i'm at it's still not good enough so barb and i have tried to locate a source of non-slaughter eggs eggs that come from chickens that are not slaughtered and we finally did get a make a contact with someone we are now we're still eating eggs as part of a vegetarian diet not a totally vegan one certainly at least not yet anyway who knows what the future would bring but the point is the eggs that we get do not come from slaughtered chickens that will be slaughtered at all they come from a place where the chickens are cared for basically kept as any other pet that we would keep and the egg is taken when they when they lay them and uh they're come from again chickens that completely are not slaughtered so that's one more way i've been able to pull back and exercise apophysis the saying of no to the suffering that is generated by what we're doing to animals it's less it's a it's one less contribution to the support of that agenda which is exactly the way we need to go when it comes to dominator culture we'll be right back [Music] folks when he looks at it with his eyes it's what we see when he looks at it with sunglasses he's seeing the same things all the way through the subliminal symbolically you couldn't see obey no independent thought welcome back everyone last segment of this easter sunday 2012 edition of what on earth is happening let's jump right back into talking about emotional mind control and the extremity of truth image number eight on the uh image section shows that truth is an unwavering line represented by the horizontal black line in the image we represent the sine wave pattern okay the wave form and if our frequency is high we are more in alignment with truth because we hit the absolute in many more places but if our frequency is low we're lucky to hit the truth a couple of times in a lifetime [Music] this is what is really meant by high frequency coming into a higher frequency of consciousness versus a low frequency wave truth is not something that waivers we are that which waivers in this reality in this dimension if you will and we have to make it our task to bring ourselves into alignment with truth align meant and when you have a high frequency or when you have things that are uh bunching up sounds that are bunching up together like uh you know if you create a little sound and then increase it increase increase in its frequency you eventually develop a tone a tone meant or at one because that's what the truth is it is the one it's not more than one thing alignment atonement as these are terms that have to do with frequency truth is that very middle point in the wave from which the wave grows out of what it is centered around it's our goal to align ourselves with that through reaching a high frequency and hitting it at all points so the idea of the absolute nature of truth needs to be understood and we need to get out of this emotional um way of seeing things as relative because that somehow comforts us and it means oh we get to make it up and it's not something that is independent of us that you know binds us that has uh you know is a higher power than man is let's look at the word absolute for a moment because much meaning can be found in the word itself and through green alchemical green language and alchemy is something that i've talked a lot about this has to do with alchemy as well and if you missed the show i did on alchemy with bob from cincinnati on occult empire on um uh his network you definitely want to go into my news section and check it out because it was a great show and i'm going to do a show just many many maybe many shows on the alchemical tradition in the future here on what on earth is happening so the word absolute it comes from partially from latin actually pretty much the whole term comes from latin but ab is a latin prefix meaning away from and solute is the second part of the word that comes from the latin salve okay which we're going to get into in a moment but a solute in english is a substance that must be dissolved in a solvent in order to create a solution if a solution has a solute and a solvent okay so the solute is the hard thing it's the calcified thing it's the solidified thing it's a solid that you are going to dissolve into a solution to create a solution which is what we're trying to do is to create a solution well in order for the solution to be created the solute must be dissolved so you need a solvent well then that means what we need to look into is what is a solvent because if we're trying to dissolve the hard thing to make the solution and the hard thing is the ego the the people's hard heads okay they're calcified beliefs well what is the solvent that we're looking for to create the solution what is capable of dissolving the ego well what it is is the speaking of the truth and the refusal to accept evil saying no to evil that is the solution saying no to the dominator mindset is the solution that is the solvent that we're looking for the solvent from latin from the word salve in latin means to release to unbind to untie to free and to open and i would suggest that every one of those terms okay should be followed by the word mind to unbind the mind to free the mind to open the mind to untie the mind to release the mind from illusion that is what the solvent is and the calcified egoic mind is the solute that needs to be dissolved in order for the solution to be created now this has everything to do with language and truth and again the biggest barrier to this is understanding that the people who are the creators of the dark new world order is not are not the people at the top of the pyramid the people who are the creators of the dark new world order are the people who are following the orders at the of the people who are at the top of that symbolic hierarchical pyramid they're the ones who are actually doing it and until we are honest enough with ourselves to admit this we are still in a calcified egoic control we need to get out of that state of mind and into consciousness which is true understanding and that means knowing the difference between right and wrong through the understanding of natural law and employing hypothesis which again this was a concept we talked about in the natural law section which means to say no from the greek apophenai and this is describing what something it is by saying definitively what it is not so this is not the truth i'm going to filter it i'm going to remove it from the solution this is not in harmony with natural law well then i'm not going to engage in that behavior this does this does not create peace this does not create harmony this creates suffering well then i'm going to remove it from what i do it's been called affirmation through negation learning the truth by learning the opposite of it by looking at the negative and admitting it you know it means more than just to say no it means not to speak so there are two ways we can employ apophysis there's a there's a dark form of it you know and i i put this image at the end this image 13 to explain the two sides to hypothesis this look kind of a dual symbol the dark mystery traditions don't want their initiates to speak they want them to remain silent they know that the universe is spoken into existence and we need to communicate our knowledge to other people by word of mouth in order to get them to understand it and ultimately to change their behaviors so they want them their initiates not to speak but in the positive sense this means apothecis to say no not to say yes to not speak the word yes to evil to say no to evil is the positive form of hypothesis and i would suggest that this symbol can be looked at in a very positive manner if we understand the concept of hypothesis of saying no to that which is wrong and that is the ultimate solution or at least it's the ultimate solvent the thing that can break down the calcified ego so that we can then create a solution that's all the time we have for today the time flew by we're going to continue with the rejection the saying no to the dominator culture next week on what on earth is happening thanks everyone for listening stick around on oracle broadcasting chris evart is up next [Music] me appearance to that show Monday April 23rd 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. and the topic is going to be the Rosicrucian tradition of occultism we're going to be getting into the deep esoteric aspects of Rosicrucianism and the Rosicrucian tradition in general you you're not going to want to miss that show it's going to be a great one so those are the upcoming appearances I have scheduled for other radio shows and that concludes the event announcement so let's jump right into the subject matter for today's show which is a continuation of the section the solutions section known as the non support of dominators now if you want to follow along with all of the images as always go up to the what on earth is happening website click on the radio show tab and underneath the player on the radio show page you will see a series of links of numbered links these are the images that I'm going to be referring to you can click them to bring up a slideshow to follow along with the images that go along with the concepts and ideas that I will be discussing discussing throughout the show today image number 1 is simply the freedom rally poster so you could check that out image number 2 is this image that I put up here for this entire section of solution-oriented approaches and I will continue to be using this image because it's extremely powerful and there's subtleties in it that are put there deliberately okay so I call this entire section the way out because it is the way out of the mess that we have created for ourselves it's the way out of the cage that humanity has made for itself okay and it shows a man and woman holding hands and walking out into another world into the light seemingly out of a dark tunnel and into a world of light and you can see where their hands are joined you know that is like the bottom of a heart kind of okay symbolically it's also the symbol of the the Grail or the the inverted triangle which represents the Sacred Feminine which is such a huge part of the solution which is true care turning on one's conscience the knowledge between right and wrong and the willful decision to employ that knowledge for the right and to not participate in the wrong and the letter Y joins directly at their hands that's also not just synchronistic or synchronistic that is deliberate okay and in how I designed this image in this slide the the letter Y and the the question why is we're something we're going to be talking about here today on this show okay this also is this image of the Grail or the chalice okay this sacred feminine symbol and it is the ultimate solution it is the ultimate secret to everything in the universe the question why that's the thing that too many people do not ask and that's why they do not have the solution in hand why is what power is all about it is what empowerment is is the ability to ask that question it is the will to ask that question and then to seek an answer to it we'll be continuing with the non support of dominators we're going to talk about emotional mind info what solutions really are the absolute nature of truth conscience and its employment and much science believes you deserve the right to have a long and healthy life [Music] behind the girl I'll make my all day [Music] welcome back everyone we're talking about solutions as we will be for many weeks or months and today we'll be continuing the coverage of the section called the non support of dominators as one of the biggest solutions to the problems which humanity faces image number three on the slides that I've prepared for today is just a listing of the grassroots solutions that we have been and will be covering on this part of the water on earth is happening radio show we've already covered many of these we're up at the top of the second column and we've basically gone through the first column of solutions and also mindfulness in the second column we'll be continuing with this list of solutions as the show progresses but we're going to be spending time on the non-supportive dominators for probably several weeks and as I said last week there are several things to keep in mind when I go through this section and the first thing is that the gloves are off that's the first thing I want to let everyone know you're going to hear me say things that are seemingly harsh throughout this entire section take it however you want get as offended as you like as always I'm not here to make friends this isn't a popularity contest I'm here to tell people what the truth is that's it and to explain to them how they're creating their own self inflicted suffering I don't serve this race called humanity I am NOT its servant I am a servant of truth that's it that's my only allegiance I don't have only gence to any race of beings so I'm not doing this because I love humanity I'm doing this because I love and serve truth and it's the right thing to do and that's the only reason I do it you know it's a beautiful wonderful spring day here in Philadelphia with shockingly no chemtrails in the sky for today a May amazingly I should say you know I could be out enjoying the day I could be out you know having a great time on a beautiful spring day but instead I spent all day inside preparing this show and preparing the slides for it so you know I'm not doing this because I want to be doing it for people I'm doing it because there's a moral obligation as someone who knows this information to speak it to other people and maybe you could even hear a hint of bitterness in my voice regarding that because yeah I could be doing what I want to do what my ego self wants to do versus what I know I should be doing and I give of my time freely in that capacity when I could be doing other things and that's really that's the kind of sacrifice that is going to be required if humanity's going to turn this situation around and I'm not saying I'm any kind of a martyr because of it but I'm telling you I go through the whole gamut of emotions just like anyone else might when they're making a sacrifice and giving up something you know that maybe their ego driven desires want versus what they know they should be doing with their time so you know if everybody contributed a little bit toward that great work it would get done easily but unfortunately most people sit back on the sidelines complain or do nothing or you know just feel sorry about the situation that they're in don't exercise their will don't get involved don't get into the game they sit on the sidelines armchair quarterbacking and pick out little minutiae that they don't like about other people's work and and and the work doesn't ultimately get done the true great work doesn't get done of awakening conscience in humanity because sadly most people you know are going to sit back and watch and wait for other people to take action instead of actually getting involved in the game them game themselves so going back to you know what I was talking about is the gloves are coming off and I'm not an apologist for people like so many new AG lecturers or or hosts are okay I'm gonna give you the straight deal regardless of how painful it is and that's part of paying attention to that and accepting that is part of not being in emotional mind control which we talked about last week hearing things that make you uncomfortable about what's really going on in the world or even really going on within yourself and then you rejecting it because it makes you feel uncomfortable is what emotional mind control is all about and so many people are under that form of mind control you know if it makes you feel uncomfortable you choose to ignore it or you choose to believe that it can't be true or you know oh I don't like that guys delivery I don't like his style I don't like the sound of his voice I don't like his hair I don't like you know the clothes that he wears this or that well then I'm going to ignore his message that's all emotional mind control that's the ego saying to you well this doesn't resonate with one of my preferences and therefore I'm gonna cast off the message and I'm gonna choose to believe that that message is also bogus because I don't like something about this person personally you know or maybe his voice just doesn't resonate me with me and it grates on me or maybe I think he's boring or maybe I think you know he's not passionate about you know enough about what he's saying or maybe he's overly passionate passionate about what he's saying any of these things but the bottom line is people under this form of emotional mind control aren't listening to the message the actual information they're listening to how it's delivered or they're looking at the person and saying well I don't like his look or I don't like his style all forms of emotional mind control another part of emotional mind control as we covered last week is when people have in their mind and identification with another human being for exams for example perhaps the role that they play in a family like a father or a brother or a mother or a sister our daughter or son okay and therefore they graft that role on to another situation so how a father might treat a daughter in the family has nothing to do with the father's actions as a police officer or as a soldier he could go and commit complete and utter transgressions against natural law in certain roles and in other roles that he plays in his lower self his ego self okay he may play a completely different role in a relationship with someone else and that emotional attachment to a role that someone plays can be transferred or grafted on to another role that that person plays in life so a daughter seeing her father as a cop or as a soldier for an example she will graft on her identification or her idea of what that being actually is like as a father but refused to look at the role he is actually playing as a soldier for example this is another form of emotional mind control it is a form of emotional attachment to a role that we identify someone with in life such that we are justifying their behaviors in other roles okay and it's a powerful form of emotional attachment with extremely difficult bonds to break because they're rooted in the physiology specifically the physiology of the limbic brain which generates emotions and emotional attachments when we feel an emotion a a pattern is set in motion in the brain of neural activity and it gets routed like that because we're constantly exposed to this person in a particular role so when we try to see them in a different light in true respect you know not respecting what they do regardless of what it is that's not what I mean by that by taking an look at which is what the word respect really means from the Latin ream eaning again and SPECT Oh SPECT re which means to look at we need to really respect that individual to take another look at them in this alternative role that they are playing in the world and judge it honestly not with an emotional attachment we'll pick this up on the other side of the break you're listening to what on earth is happening here on talk radio [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark passio continuing to discuss emotional mind control why this form of mind control which I call heart control and to my knowledge that's a term I've coined myself why it's so difficult to break is because it has physiologically rooted a physiologically rooted nature within the brain in the limbic part of the brain where we can form emotional attachments and fall into a pattern of not taking a look honestly or in this case as I've said taking another look honestly the word respect truly respecting someone else's role in a different position in life just because we've formed a certain form of an emotional attachment to another role that there they happen to be playing so another kind of emotional mind control I covered last week is when people deliver a message in a certain way even if they're saying the truth many people will not want to hear them because they want it delivered in sweet and pleasant tones without ever pointing any fingers or without ever raising any alarms you know or anything like that they it's like a baby that can't chew a piece of food that needs it mushed up or put you know through a straw okay these are people who don't have a mature psychological sentence any mature psychological sensibilities they don't have the psychological acumen to be able to handle being told truth in an upfront and direct way and again this show is not for those individuals I'm not addressing those individuals I'm addressing the people who are real men and women and who can handle hearing something that is true and I'm trying to reach those individuals I'm not trying to reach babies among us okay to put it quite simply and harshly those people are going to have to go through enough pain and suffering to get the message unless they decide that they're going to grow up and come out of that emotional psychological and spiritual state of infant hood okay because that's what they are they're infants in those capacities mentally psychologically and spiritually and I don't make excuses for people like that and never have they're making a willful decision to remain in that state of consciousness you could blame it on mind control and fear all day long but ultimately it's because they hate the personal responsibility that comes with knowing that's all it really is about and let's start calling it as it is instead of making excuses or trying to justify it we're gonna talk about justification later in the show so an image number six here image five I put an image of what emotional mind control looks like the the monkeys with their hands over their eyes ears and mouth the see no evil hear no evil speak no evil image because that's what emotional mind control is about you know not wanting to take a look at the ugly truth that we're basically living in a prison here and it's a prison of our own design brought on by our own spiritual immaturity and refusal to take personal responsibility for our own actions image six is this idea that I'm talking about about people speaking the truth but perhaps we can get in a harsh way or in a way that is loud or abrasive and people refusing to listen to the actual message they're not seeing the two plus two equals four see what are what are their eyes and ears go to right is it going to the message that's in that speech bubble which is true unwaveringly true for all times and places from the beginning of creation till the end of time it's true and has no other solution to it okay or are they paying attention to what the guys hair looks like or what color lipstick the woman's wearing or how her hair is cut or that the one woman speaking through a microphone or the other guys wearing a suit all of this is and things that have no bearing on whether the message is true or not but people under this form of emotional mind control when it comes to hearing truth uh will accept the message coming from people who dress nicely and have wonderful posture and will put on that lovely mask oh the plastic face the plastic surgery face even that you see in in so many newscasters and Hollywood celebrities etc you know and OU will dress in our fancy three-piece suit and we'll have all the flashy graphics you know and well we'll talk to you like you're in in kindergarten okay well and well we'll treat you like the little baby that we know that you are and speak in such sweet and pleasant tones and yet we'll lie right to your face and tell you that 2+2 is 5 that black is white that war is peace and that slavery is freedom is slavery and vice versa and nothing can ever make what's in the the speech bubble in image number 7 true ever it will never be true no matter how sweetly it said no matter how much people want to accept it no matter how much people want to believe it's true and this holds true for anything else not just mathematics this holds true for laws of behavioral consequence for natural law for issues of right and wrong and that's why people have such a hard time when you tell them if you're focused on the people at the top of the pyramid and you're not trying to educate the people at the bottom you do not understand what is creating the prison you live in those people are a paltry infinitesimal few and could do nothing to the bulk of humanity on their own that their influence would be completely negated if the bulk of humanity had and exercised conscience and that's why people who are under emotional mind-control when it comes to the roles that individuals in a dominator culture are playing ok don't want to hear the truth that's written on slide number eight that it's the people at the base of the pyramid who are creating the problem not the people at the top those people at the top are influencers they're not actually taking the the violent actions do you see David Rockefeller taking violent action on other people this this bony old man who's practically infirm who could be blown over on a strong breeze is he the person who's physically injuring and harming other people and take physically taking their freedom away from them for non wrongs for non harm is he the one who's stepping all over other people's rights by acts of violence no he's perhaps not perhaps definitely influencing those actions but he's not the one taking those actions these are the people who are taking those actions and therefore they are the creators of what we have termed the dark new world order and that's unwaveringly continuously and forever the case it is true that statement is true definitively it's not an opinion and it's definitely absolutely the truth and if you don't understand that you you don't get it yet you don't get it yet okay so here's the here's the thing people go into this shutdown mode when they hear that there is such a thing as absolutely absolute nature of truth because this it doesn't resonate with what they've been told and programmed with through mind control since the day they were born they've been told truth is shades of grey it's not absolute it's not black and white and this is bunk this is New Age bunk and it's also mind control bunk because the truth is a particular way it is as things actually are it is what is that which is it's not open to interpretation it's not open to shading it's not open to to color of opinion it is a certain way causal dynamics that play out as physical manifestations in our world happen as a result of things playing out a certain way and that is called the truth that which actually does occur that which goes through the formality of actually occurring in physical manifestation is the truth of our situation and that's not open to an interpretation it's that which is we'll pick this aspect up on the other side of the break stay where there's folks to keep my cool make them think I made up stone [Music] we're back this is what on earth is happening on mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm talking about the absolute nature of truth the truth is extreme ladies and gentlemen it doesn't care what you think of it it doesn't matter whether you understand it or not its unwavering and unyielding that's how natural law operates grow up get over it the object for the successful navigation of this dimension this realm this universe however you want to look at it is the recognition of those natural laws and the willful decision to live in harmony with them because you are subject to them the end for all time that is what an adult has come to understand the nature of the situation that we're in here all bound together all one under immutable laws that we did not create as separate monads of consciousness as separate individual consciousnesses or you can look at it as individuated drops in an ocean which are formed of the same thing and are basically indistinguishable from each other in that ocean of consciousness all with the same rights but with different individual unique properties truth is absolute that's extreme it's contrary to what we've been told it is it works the same way at all times places and and scenarios the word absolute we covered it comes from Latin Bob which is a prefix meaning away from an solute which is the solid matter that needs to be dissolved in order to form a solution the solidity which is the ego which is what we're looking to dissolve in people to come to acceptance of that which is and that doesn't mean accept things the way they are even though they're wrong that's not what we're talking don't get it twisted into some nonsensical new-age bunk of there always has to be evil no evil is a choice made in the moment it's not something that is just forced it upon us that we have no choice but to accept and that is eternal and always must be this is new-age bone is what it is and if you believe that bunk your under mind control and I Got News for you you're not even under mind control by New Agers you're under mine controlled by the Satanists and the dark Luciferians that invent that new-age bunk and put it out there so you'll swallow it down like the bunch of crap that it is with a fork and a spoon to continue evil is a choice made by the rejection of conscience in the moment that is what it is perpetuated by ignorant and the refusal to accept personal responsibility for one's actions the solute is the ego that needs to be gone away from and you get rid of it by dissolving it with truth which is the solvent it has to be dissolved in a solvent it has to be broken down that's what this process of spiritual alchemy is about breaking down the calcification of the ego the solute so that a solution can be formed and enacted the word solvent is probably the most interesting when you break it down using atom ology and green language it comes from the Latin as well I'm on slide number 10 now it comes from the Latin Solvay which means to release to unbind to free to untie to open up think about it the solvent is the truth it is the solution the understanding of natural law saying no to evil saying no to domination saying no to ignorance this is the solution it is the solvent these are truths in which the ego must be dissolved and come to accept if you break down the word solvent soul vent the venting of the soul to vent something is to release it is to free it is the freeing of the soul the freeing of the light within a soul the Sun the one the uniqueness within the individual the unique value of every individual the infinite value of every individual the soul vent green language most people still can't see that and still think it's some kind of a coincidence that that's not some cosmic there's not cosmic significance to the way English language worked out I mean if you still think that I feel sorry for you that your perception is so devoid of wonder and so devoid of that pure simplistic Majesty that that is how language is telling us truth that I don't know what to tell you in many ways I think people that can't grasp that are truly something less than what they not only can be but were intended to be and that they are damaged in many ways they're they're their soul sick the the world is devoid of Wonder and magic to them and I think that that's pathetic and I feel immensely horribly sorry for an individual in that state of consciousness because the with a wonder of language and words in communicating ideas and knowledge and telling us the truths that we need to hear and understand just in the words alone is absolutely incredible how that works out synchro mystically but if we break it down even in language the word solvent comes from Latin meaning one okay and it's where the word son comes from the light of the world the bringer of life to our world and then vent comes from the Latin verb there's really not a V sound in classical Latin it's pronounced with a W so it's ven io is the verb and it's pronounced when yo when yo when ER a went us and that means to come or to be come present to arrive so think about it we break it down like that with the etymology of the the second part of the word vent from when he o entus in latin went us it means for the sun to arrive the light to arrive that's not amazing right no it's just a coincidence it's nothing to see here move along the light to become present the soul to become present the one to become present unbelievable and that is the solution the acceptance of the truth of the light of true unique individuality and the value of the individual the acceptance of that truth that is the solution that is the fundamental worldview shift that brings the solution into manifestation through the dissolving of the ego and the acceptance of truth now what we're going to talk about throughout this section involves the understanding of causality and natural law which we've already talked about we've talked about it to a point of practical sickness that I've repeated the same things over and over so much but unfortunately that's what's necessary to keep saying the same thing over and over again for people to really get it for it to sink in is that a form of mind control yes it is for the right reason it's a form of mind influence when it's done for the right reason it's not mind control it's the influence of people's psyche to put them on the right path so that they truly understand and grasp it for themselves at some future time but repeating it over and over and over and over again plants that seed in deep ground it plants the seed so can have deep roots and grow to be something strong in the individuals consciousness we need to keep repeating the same things over and over even if we don't like them having to do that so I'm going to pick up with an important aspect of causality on the other side of the break and we're gonna meet the Merovingian and you understand what I mean by that on the other side I'm gonna break down a very key scene in the Matrix trilogy the Matrix Reloaded part 2 on the other side of the break all right science believes you deserve the right to happen [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark casio my website want on earth is happening calm go up there to the radio show page to pull up the images that go along with today's show I'm getting ready to explain image number 11 this is a slide that I posted on Facebook this week and wrote a bit of an explanation of because I think it is the greatest seen in almost any movie ever made and it tells the ultimate secret to the universe basically it's from the Matrix Reloaded the second part of the Matrix trilogy movies which very few people understand from an allegorical perspective and they really need to understand what these movies are telling us because there's some incredible truths revealed through these allegories I just want to say if anyone is holding on the line who is called in I will not be taking calls today on the show and probably not for the next few weeks because this material is so important I'm going to just hammer on it okay and it's just gonna be me talking over the next few weeks so phone calls coming in several weeks let's just say that now okay so don't bother to call in for the next few weeks I'll let you know when I'm taking calls again I'm going to put this material out into the world in the way I want it put out there over the next few weeks because this is the things the people need to understand these are them these are the things people need to get regarding the dominator culture and I'm gonna put it out there in a completely unapologetic an unwavering fashion with no distraction so that having been said let's continue the Merovingian character is probably one of the greatest characters that has ever been invented in any movie and he hits the nail right down dead center drives it right home if you can understand what he is saying I'm going to explain the scene I'm gonna read the scene to you and then I will explain what the scene is about the scene is in the Matrix Reloaded the second part of the the trilogy which again many people think is somehow so much less than the original movie and it's not it actually holds much greater spiritual truths then even does the original one the original one is actually set up for the truths that are to come in parts two and three so the heroes are going into the stronghold of this character known as the Merovingian who is holding another character hostage the character is holding hostage is called the key-maker okay and the heroes want to get the key-maker out of this guy's custody they've been told to do this by another character called the Oracle in the movie and we'll all get to what all of these characters represent okay but let's listen let's listen in on the scene okay the characters the heroes are Morpheus Trinity and neo in the trilogy okay and they represent the three aspects of consciousness thought emotion and action Morpheus thought or the mind Trinity emotions okay the Sacred Feminine and neo who represents right action The Awakening - right action through the neocortex okay so the higher thought functions of the human brain are in the neocortex that's why as he's named Neil and he is the new human the emerging human with a conscience with a truly developed conscience the next evolutionary version of what a human being actually is who has a truly developed conscience so we'll get into the reading of this scene on the other side of the brain and then I'm gonna break it down for everybody if you're listening to what on earth is happening you're on Oracle broadcast and we'll be right back alright folks we're back let's jump right back into the subject matter we were talking about the scene with the Merovingian in the Matrix Reloaded so I'm gonna read the scene for you now on this slide number 11 called meet the Merovingian the heroes enter the room and sit down with the Merovingian and Morpheus says to the Merovingian you know why we are here and the Merovingian replies I am a trafficker of information I know everything I can the question is do you know why you are here Morpheus responds we are looking for the key-maker the Merovingian responds oh yes it is true the key-maker of course but this is not a reason this is not a why the key-maker himself his very nature is a means not an end and so to look for him is to be looking for a means to do what neo responds you know the answer to that question and the Merovingian responds but do you you think you do but you do not you are here because you were sent here you were old to come here and then you obeyed it is of course the way of all things you see there is only one constant one universal it is the only real truth causality action reaction cause effect the Morpheus character responds to this by saying everything begins with choice and the Merovingian replies no wrong choice is an illusion created between those with power and those without and this is the nature of the universe we struggle against it we fight to deny it but it is of course pretend it is a lie causality there is no escaping it we are forever slaves to it our only hope our only peace is to understand it to understand the why why is the only real source of power without it you are powerless and this is how you come to me without why without power another link in the chain neo responds to this by saying this isn't over and the Merovingian gets up from the table and says oh yes it is the key-maker is mine and I see no reason why I should give him up no reason at all that's basically the conclusion of that scene it goes on to where the characters basically fight to get the key-maker out of that building and they eventually do get him the heroes of the movie but um this is the absolute crux of the entire matrix films and I'm probably going to do an entire presentation soon on the Matrix trilogy live here in Philadelphia all booked at some place but it's something I've been wanting to do for a while and it's probably one of the next presentations I'm going to make I am in the process of talking to some people at a scene food market may be doing another lecture series there perhaps on natural law or maybe even perhaps something on the The Matrix trilogy would be pretty fun to do there so look for that in a few draw of course make announcements on the show when I have something booked definitively so I wrote a small essay describing what this scene represents so I'm gonna read that right now so I put exactly what I wanted to say into specific words okay here we go this is what this scene actually means in this scene from the Matrix Reloaded the heroes of the film Morpheus Trinity and neo representing thought emotion and action respectively have come to the stronghold of the villain known as the Merovingian now the Merovingian represents the dark o cultists those dark keepers of esoteric knowledge who are currently ruling over the people of earth right now okay that's who he represents he is one of the ultra elite that is set up that is a made man so to speak he is in the club okay he is in the dark occult and he's in a position of power over other people because he has knowledge he is a trafficker of information he has knowledge that they lack he understands things about the causal dynamics of the universe that they do not understand and as such in that differential of power through that differential of knowledge he can basically rule them and until they acquire that knowledge and then use it for the right reasons they're done done they're going to be slaves eternally as a result of their own ignorance and stupidity so going back to what I've written here the Merovingian is holding the character known as the key-maker hostage the key-maker character is the means for unlocking people's minds to the true nature of the control system in which they are embedded but more than that he is the means to impart the understanding of why the world became that way that's who the key-maker represents that's what the key-maker represents the key-maker is the means to understanding the natural law nature's law of cause and effect the causal relationships between choices that are made behaviors that are enacted and the manifested results that happen as a result of those behaviors the key-maker is the means to understanding the natural law of cause and effect and therefore he is the means to acquire the understanding of how not to create self-inflicted suffering that's what the key-maker character represents the Merovingian in this scene is mocking the heroes because they don't even understand what the key-maker is and yet they want him see they subconsciously know they need him because the Oracle told him to go get them they want the solution they need subconsciously know there's a problem they've been become cognizant of the control system that's been built up all around them but they have no idea why that it is that way what made it that way the heroes don't even understand what the key-maker is they do not get that he is the ultimate solution to all problems he can unlock all the locks on all the doors on all the cells in which we have caged ourselves the heroes were told to find the key maker by the Oracle character she represents our subconscious and intuitive capacities simple knowing but not at a conscious level we'll pick this up on the other side I'll continue to break down after these words we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen stay with us [Music] we're back this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark Pascale I'm jumping right back into the subject matter because it's so important talking about the scene of the Merovingian in the Matrix Reloaded probably the greatest allegorical scene in any movie ever made I was breaking it down that the heroes were told to find the key-maker by the Oracle character who represents our subconscious or intuitive capacities now many people fall into the error of thinking oh this is about us being sent to the earth or making a decision to come to the earth that's not what this allegorically represents the the Oracle is our intuition and she is sending us to the elite see intuitively we know there's a problem and we're looking to the people at the highest level of the pyramidal hierarchical structure as the solution that's what we have to go to get the solution to get the key-maker this has nothing to do the truth is we don't go to the elite to get the solution we have to understand the causal link between behavior and manifestation that is the solution to the problem and that's why the Merovingian is practically laughing at the heroes he knows they're a joke at this point because they don't understand the lie and he tells them as much and this is where the truth and freedom movement is ladies and gentlemen to have to break it to you in a really you know seemingly negative way and in a way that seems like it's you know has abandoned all hope the truth and freedom movement very few people within it really understand natural law and what rights are there are some there are some I'm not going to say that Arnon there are some people that do fully get it and it's encouraging to see those people to meet up with people like that as a matter of fact just last night at the truth freedom prosperity social I was talking with people who really did have a firm grasp and understanding of natural law and its principles and it was extremely refreshing to know that there are people like that out there but again don't make the mistake the people who do understand that please don't make the mistake of thinking that you're in the majority because nothing could be further from the truth this is a world full of dark souls that have not even the beginning of an inkling of the understanding of natural law or what rights are and or not so let's go back to the analysis of the scene this part of the allegory is explaining that even most of the people who have intuitively become aware that they that they are living in an artificially created consisting of control they have very little or no idea why that is the case or what type of change in their thinking and behavior is required to bring about a betterment of their current conditions the Merovingian then goes on to explain what could easily be termed the ultimate secret of the universe in elegant and devastating simplicity our behavior is the root causal factor which inevitably and unwaveringly leads to effects in our reality two manifestations two manifested effects in our reality upon taking certain actions certain effects are created and we must experience the consequences that arise as a result of that causal link between behavior and manifested reality right action guided by conscience and in harmony with natural law will lead to desirable consequences such as order peace and freedom while wrong action perpetuated by ignorance the refusal of personal responsibility and cop-outs such as quote I'm just following orders unquote will bring undesirable consequences such as chaos and ultimately enslavement these laws of causality are always operating and we are always bound by them whether or not we understand them like them or are even aware of their existence and sadly most people are not even aware of their existence only by discovering and understanding these natural laws of behavioral consequence can we ever ever hope to improve our condition as a species and gain true freedom without that knowledge and understanding we are forever forever enslaved by our own ignorance and as the Merovingian says just another link in the chain of slavery that is what that scene means and he's telling people even choice at some level is an illusion because you either have the free will choice decision to align yourself with with natural law which you are already bound by or you have the freewill decision to ignore it and suffer as a result and that doesn't mean natural law is here as a prison condition because the universe is a prison this is more nonsensical dark occult mixed with dark new-agey nonsense it's a construct for the experience of the spirit and these laws are here as guidance that can create effects that we can scarcely imagine as far as their wonders and possibilities and potential if we do side to live in harmony with those natural laws of creation we can have and be and do whatever we want so long as we are not violating other people's rights to do those things so this scene is incredibly empowering if possibly under if properly understood but most people have about a nursery school child's capability of understanding allegory they want to take everything at face value and just see it as a science fiction film when it's a powerful spiritual allegory wrapped as a story you have to peel back the exoteric and get to the whole the incredible esoteric truths to underlie the story stop seeing it just as a story the story is there for entertainment value to make the truth easier to accept so that people don't fall into the emotional mind control of just rejecting the message at face value because they're uncomfortable with it they're entertained they're in right-brain mode they're there you know in a calm state waiting to be entertained and then BOOM some powerful spiritual truths are hit them in the jaw like a right hook that's what an allegory should do if it's properly made so what we're getting at here is without the proper understanding of conscience and then the proper application of conscience humanity is doomed this is what we're here to learn ladies and gentlemen we're here to acquire the knowledge of conscience and then to put it to the right use to put it into use not just know it but to use it so I've put together a slide like this before but this is a new one on what conscience really is and it comes from the combining of the prefix con with the word science this is not a belief system I don't know how many times I have to say that this is a science of nullable and repeatable results is what the knowing of the natural laws of behavioral consequence are all about it is not a belief system or a religion it is science is it look what is consciousness and how to employ it on the other side we'll be right back [Music] [Music] we're back this is what on earth is happening on your host mark pasión well I want to thank my partner barb during that last break she brought me a an ice pop made with fresh organic mango and man was it good I feel totally recharged and rejuvenated after eating that during the break so thanks for that let's get back into conscience this is what we were talking about and we really need to have a good working understanding of what conscience really is if we're going to turn this around if we're going to harmonize ourselves with natural law conscience of course is we break the word down con science now what is the word con it comes from Latin it's a prefix that means together and the verb to know in Latin is ski Okyere so we put it together conscience means simply to know together it is common sense and also during a break I was taking a look in the chat room at the water on earth is happening radio show page it's always there for anyone who wants to join in on the chat room it's underneath the player somebody said in the chat room that this stuff is all pretty simple but it's not very common and I saw that comment and I was like he understands yes exactly it's all simple none of this is extraordinarily complex and impossible to grasp or understand you can understand language you can get this you can understand it there's no superhuman capability involved a shift in the quality of attention is involved and a shift in worldview is involved and that's it and everyone is capable of that ladies and gentlemen the people who think that there are just some people who can never get this you're wrong everyone can understand this information it is nothing that is difficult to understand people are under conditioning and mind control but more so than that they really don't want to get the information they don't want to know the truth because they know subconsciously that that implies personal responsibility to act based on knowledge so they would rather willfully remain ignorant so they could somehow attempt to justify their inaction by saying I don't know I didn't know that and you know what that's called utter nonsense it doesn't matter whether you think you can just put your hand out and say no please don't want to hear it I don't want to know how bad things are and that somehow absolves you of your personal responsibility it doesn't work that way you are still responsible because you are not Nash and the word nisshin's we talked about as being a form of not knowing but it's something you could not possibly have known the knowledge was sanitized and was not present at all that's completely different from ignorance which as I said a couple of weeks back on the vinny eastwood show I think we should stop calling it ignorant and start calling you ignorin s-- and emphasizing it like that because then people will really sit up and take notice of what ignorin s-- really is it's ignoring something that is present the truth is present in our world it's not absent from the world it's here it's all around us it's at your fingertips in a way that it never was before and most people are just continuing to ignore its presence and continuing to remain in a state of ignorance see how a little shift in just the pronunciation of a word can make take on in someone's mind a whole new meaning that's what ignorin siz about ignoring that which is present if someone's in a room and you're aware of their presence and you won't interact with them you refuse to interact with them that means you're ignoring them you're not nation' you are not unaware of their of their existence in the room you can clearly see them and hear them you're deliberately ignoring them and that's what the situation is like with the truth and this is totally related to conscience because most people know they do have a conscience and they're deliberately ignoring it they're betraying their conscience willfully by refusing to step up speak and take any action based on truth they think that they could ignore reality and that there are no consequences for doing so well you know what you can't ignore reality you could ignore it all you want but what is impossible what is not possible is escaping the consequences of the decision to ignore reality that's not possible ladies and gentlemen yes you can't ignore reality but you cannot escape the consequences for doing so and there are consequences that come with that decision that choice that freewill choice so conscience when we understand it in its proper etymological breakdown is to know together or it is common sense and as the gentleman in the chatroom or perhaps lady in the chat room not sure said this is all simple but it's not very common common sense is not present in the world ladies and gentlemen we don't have common knowledge of the definitive difference between right and wrong sadly and largely that's due to ignorance not nation' snot because it's not possible to know it's because most people don't want to take that knowledge into themselves because they think that they can shun personal response by continuing to claim ignorance and again it doesn't work that way so my working description or definition for what conscience actually is is conscience is knowing it is the possession of the definitive knowledge not opinion not belief but the definitive knowledge of the difference between right and wrong under natural law definitive knowledge it means that there aren't shades of gray when it comes to the understanding of right and wrong you know what right is you know what wrong is because it harms others and that which harms others is not one of our rights what is the what does it mean to actually use conscience or to exercise it to employ it in the world the next slide number 13 explains what this is the exercise of conscience and again in these two slides I've put an image of an angel in the background whether you agree with such an idea or construct or being it really doesn't make a difference this is a symbol that has been generally used throughout time immemorial to represent a concept of the higher self the the soul a higher form of consciousness which is constantly speaking to us and telling us the right thing the exercise of conscience is the willful choosing of right action over wrong action once the definitive knowledge of the difference between right and wrong under natural law has been acquired so you have the knowledge then you act upon the knowledge and the betrayal of conscience is having that knowledge knowing the definitive difference between right and wrong and choosing the wrong action over the right action that's what's been termed the sin against the Holy Spirit or the unforgivable sin in Christian tradition in Christian parlance okay that's betrayal of the Sacred Feminine aspect of the self the emotions the intuition care you're betraying your conscience when you choose the wrong action over the right action even though you do know what the difference between right and wrong is now people want to claim that most people don't know the true difference between right and wrong many people claim that they do and have no idea what the real difference between right and wrong is that's really sad when somebody who doesn't know tries to claim that they do know and you ask them to explain it to you and you hear just absolute verbal diarrhea pour out of their mouths like just an endless liquid brown sludge sorry to be so graphic but it's true you know they'll say I know the difference between right and wrong and cannot enunciate it or elucidate on it one iota not even a little tiny bit they can't even put it into words how they could practically spell it so it isn't that people don't real most people don't really know the difference between right and wrong it's their willfully choosing ignorance they're willfully choosing to go against their conscience they don't want the responsibility that comes with right action with knowing and right action they want to remain perpetual infants in consciousness and really the only thing that can turn that around is the development of willpower and courage stop being afraid of what the consequences are and do the right thing in the moment we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen [Music] [Music] the back folks last segment of what on earth happening for this edition on Tax Day of 2012 talk about wrong action and violence we're talking about conscience and the definitive knowledge between the difference between right and wrong we really covered this extensively on the section where we covered natural law as what needs to be the ultimate foundation for enacting any solution in the world you know until we understand that knowledge we really shouldn't be doing many actions at all we should really be reserving our action until we really understand that that's why natural law really needs to be taught to young people you know from as early as they can start comprehending language so that when they do start taking actions regarding other people in the world in relationship to other people in the world their actions will be in harmony with natural law and that's the problem we're not teaching natural law to anyone because we don't know it ourselves as a society it hasn't been taught to us and therefore the the propagation of ignorance goes down generation to generation so uh there's many slides there's four three slides here from the natural law section as a brief review I won't spend a lot of time on this but the word right is synonymous with correct because they are based in truth right means both moral and correct because it's based in truth and natural law if something is correct it's based in truth if something is moral it's based in natural law and it's based in truth and it's correct it's right actions that are based in right do not result in harm to other sentient beings wrong contrasted with right is incorrect it is immoral that's why we use it for both meaning both incorrect you're wrong about that you're you gave the wrong answer and immoral we what is not true it leads us to immoral behavior incorrect not based in truth immoral not based in natural law that's what wrong is and the reason that it's wrong is because actions that are based in it result in harm to other sentient beings and that's common sense you know when suffering is being caused to another person and if there is no soft suffering being caused to another living being that has provable cause the provable result of harm that has been done to them then there's no wrong action that has been done and someone has a right to take that action you know someone brought up the other day that okay the the Islamic law that prevents women from showing their face could that be in harmony with natural law absolutely not it's an it's an impossibility for that to be in harmony with natural law is it a right or not for a woman to show her face to someone else in public of course it is a right why is that a universal right it doesn't matter what a religion says about it it doesn't matter what a government says about it doesn't matter what any individual says about it at all times all places in the universe you are allowed to bare your face in public why is it right because you're not harming someone else as a result of that behavior so let's look at smoking marijuana for an example is that a right or is it not a right it is universally 100% unequivocally at all times and places in the entire universe a right why well one because you're doing it to you shoving the joint in someone else's mouth lighting it and forcing them you know holding your your fingers over their nose and your hand over their mouth until they're forced to take a breath is not a right because you're doing it to someone else that may not want that so you're coercing their will their free will whenever there's coercion of free will involved it's not a right because harm is being done the person is saying no and you're refusing to accept their refusal which this is what the show next week is going to be about entirely the whole show on apophysis and the power of the word no and I'm gonna go into some allegories again through popular fiction of the usage of the word no I'm going to look at three particular modern movies that the most powerful word in the universe is explained in allegorical fashion the word know which we need to start falling in love with and understand apophysis which I'm going to touch on at the end here today but this is the difference between right and wrong you're allowed to smoke marijuana under natural law because you're doing it to you you are taking something into your body that's your property you own this vehicle while your consciousness inhabits it in this realm someone else doesn't own your body therefore they're not allowed to tell you what you're allowed to do with your body via putting something into it it doesn't matter what justifications or reasons they come up with now that means you're responsible for what you do with your body after you ingest something you're not absolved of personal responsibility do you want to take some substance and then do something that is then subsequently subsequently do something that is immoral you need to be held accountable for the action it doesn't matter that that you took something you made a decision to take something that affected your judgment and then you did the action so you're accountable for it under natural law so understand what natural law is this is slide number 15 a living being must be harmed or defrauded in order for a violation of natural law rights to have taken place and rights that do not exist for an individual can never be granted by man's law to any other individual or any group of individuals you can't make up a write that other people don't have and saying well now this group of people has that right and this is what we think we can do with government and police and militaries etc and all kinds of bureaucratic institutions rights that other people do not have and they'll claim this nonsensical so non-existent social contract bunk as a result you know to justify their immoral behaviors and there is no such thing doesn't exist there is no such thing as a social contract there's individuals either choosing to live in harmony with natural law with each other or refusing to live in harmony with natural law and they're therefore creating chaos instead of order so we need to know what right is versus what wrong action is and the best way to know what right is is through the negative and I've keep emphasizing this over and over again stop accepting this new age bunk of never look at the negative or don't try to define things in the negative sense that's the best way to define what a right is is to take a look a good hardcore look and an honest appraisal of what is wrong what is a wrong is what you need to truly understand to understand what a right is because a right is anything which remains if there is no wrongdoing which is a harm to another person through your action so if I sit here and drink a beer that would have been illegal in 1920 even though I was harming no one and now suddenly magically today that's legal they can make something from immoral to moral or from moral to immoral at the stroke of a pen yeah you didn't know how that's how it works morality and immorality have nothing to do with nature's laws it has to do with the whims of a dictator who writes something down in a little book and now says well that's now a moral anybody that I catch doing it is it can be punished by whatever dictates I happen to also pen down that they will be punished according to it was moral to drink a beer in Maine in 1920 after prohibition was passed just like it is moral to do it now why because I'm putting it into my body do I have a right to hold someone down who says that they don't want to drink any alcohol and pour a beer down their throat no I do not and never will because that's someone else's vehicle for expression not mine it's all about ownership and the understanding of self ownership and look we've covered this extensively in the section on natural law which I encourage everybody to go back in the podcast and listen to it again even if you heard it once for those who haven't heard you need to go and listen to that material this is just a quick review I believe it was in the 70s up through the 80s is where I covered not word the the 60s up through the into the 70s something like that in the podcast section natural law holds true regardless of population you know people think oh that works when there's only a few people in the world but oh when we have a big population no we can't respect these rights are these rights we have to curtail those rights natural law holds true regardless of how many people and when in doubt whether an act is in harmony law visualized scenario with only two people and if it's right then it's right it's wrong it's wrong twelve of seven billion we're going to talk about apophatic equally apathetic nature of truth next when it comes to saying no to this control system that's all we have time for stick around Chris ever know that murky water purification system

freedom man that's what it's all about welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Mark Pascoe welcome ladies and gentlemen welcome one and all you are listening - what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening dot-com the network's website Oracle broadcasting dot-com today is Sunday April 22nd 2012 the show is live every Sunday from 5 to 7 p.m. East Coast time that's 4 to 6 p.m. Central Time and we have a great show planned for you here today we are going to be continuing our ongoing discussion regarding solutions to the problems that humanity faces in consciousness in other words how to get in how to get out of the mess that we've created for ourselves here on this planet and we have been covering the solution known as the non support of dominators for the last couple of weeks and we will continue to look into this in incredibly important solution over the next many weeks and we're going to look at things like conscience and justification and apophysis as a solution this is a word that not many people know about or understand a lot about but we've talked about it before here on what on earth is happening and it's basically called saying no if you want to really put it in very easy to understand terms it's what we shouldn't be doing what we have to start refrain from doing ok so we're going to talk a lot about the power of the negative of saying no no as being a word of power indeed the most powerful word in the universe for that matter so that's coming up on the show today I have a couple of event announcements and I want to really recap a little bit about the events that went on earlier today I'm fresh back from the and the Fed rally for Philadelphia and the Philly freedom rally at which Ron Paul just spoke here in Philadelphia and I have some constructive criticisms that I'd like to give for these events I'm not going to just praise them completely because I think that there were some things today that could have been done a lot better than how they were done so you know it's good that people all got together in the name of a good cause but there's still a lot of work that needs to be done in making these meetings really effective truly effective so I'll be talking about that in the next segment I do have a couple of quick event announcements I'm going to be on occult Empire I will be interviewed on occult Empire tomorrow evening ok that's Monday April 23rd at 8 p.m. I'll be interviewed by Bob from Cincinnati on the occult Empire show on the antimatter's own network I posted a announcement and a link in the news section of the website also in the news section look for the show that I just did on the Vinny on Vinny with Vinny Eastwood Vinny Eastwood brought myself later X and Curtis Davis onto the show for a roundtable discussion on general occultism and it was a really great show that's posted in the news section as well I have a couple of quick but quick event announcements when we come back stick around folks we'll be right back welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio want to get back into some event announcements for events taking place here in the philadelphia area and i want to talk a little bit about the events that took place today here in philadelphia and offer some constructive criticism in this segment so i mentioned that i would be on a cult empire in the last segment on tomorrow night and i neglected to mention the topic the topic will be the Rosicrucian tradition so we're going to be looking at the teachings of true esoteric Rosicrucianism and that should be a very interesting topic to talk about with bob so the truth freedom prosperity documentary night for this month as always happens on the last Wednesday of every month this month that's Wednesday April 25th and we'll be meeting at 7 o'clock p.m. at media Bureau Studios which is at the corner of 4th and brown exact address is 725 North 4th Street in the northern Liberty section of Philadelphia the film for this month is chyme Attica which is an excellent film talks a lot about the change in consciousness that is required to overcome the problems that humanity is currently beset with and I I still think that so many people still do not understand that a tremendous change in consciousness and worldview is required that we are not going to vote our way out of this mess that there is no political solution that there is no economic solution there is only philosophical solutions there is only solutions that are rooted in consciousness and natural law nothing else is going to get us out of where we are at right now so if you want to continue to believe all the opposite junk that's that's sold out there to people as a little cul-de-sacs before you reach the goldmine before you actually reach the real truth regarding the why the actual causal factors regarding why this is actually happening to humanity and how to get out of that state go right ahead and believe whatever you want to believe it's your suffering it's it's it's ultimately your funeral you know so I'm again as I've said many times on this show and will continue to repeat I'm not here to make front friends and tell people what they want to hear I'm here to tell people the truth so there's no political solution and too many people still don't understand that and I saw a lot of that today you know but I should have expected as much but you know we still have a long way to go folks is what I'm basically trying to say so let's see I will also be interviewed on occult science radio with Curtis Davis he is also known as the illuminated one and he will be interviewing me on Monday May 7th 2012 at 8:30 p.m. on his show occult science radio that's broadcast I believe on blog blog talk radio so enjoyed appearing with Curtis and Frater exon Vinny Vinny Eastwood show this past Tuesday again check that out in the news archive so it should be a great interview and I'm sure we'll be getting into all things occult on that radio program so look for that coming up in the near future so I want to get into the end the Fed rally for Philadelphia that happened earlier today and the Philly freedom rally at which Ron Paul spoke earlier today and I have to say that overall I'm a little bit disappointed and I'm sure some people will say well who cares who are you I'm not anyone special but I just want to offer some constructive criticism because there's things that could definitely have been done better and I think a part of the first thing is that the end the Fed rally looked more like the Ron Paul rally and speech than an end the Fed rally you know I mean first of all people who hardly ever show out to an end the Fed rally here in Philadelphia we're all there because Ron Paul was speaking later you know which of course you're going to expect because you know a big political candidate is making a speech in a major city but you know these people need to come when there's a regular end the Fed rally and Ron Paul isn't speaking but you saw a big increase in numbers today for a rally like this simply because he was speaking and of course many people will just expect that yeah and say that's how it is but it shouldn't be that way you know people should you know be coming out and supporting this effort regardless of who's speaking at it because it's the right thing to do and because you recognize the people at the Fed or one of the at one of the core problems and issues that is basically keeping people in extremely low consciousness by making them have to fight for survival because of their the machination is that they do with the American dollar with the with the the currency unit that is actively being used and believed in by the public so the things that they do are so incredibly immoral and need to be pointed out and understood by people and and here that this brings me to the next part not only did you know a bunch of people come out that aren't ordinarily there you know just because they're political candidate is is making an appearance but we also saw what I noticed is that hardly anyone uses these opportunities as outreach to the general public they come out in this in the sense of well I'm going to take part in an event with all people who are like-minded you know people who think like me and that's all great and wonderful and you know you should basically gather with people who are like mine and it's good to do but the point here is you're trying to call attention to the wrongdoing of the Federal Reserve System so that people can strive to put that immoral system to an end and hardly anybody comes out with any flyers or handouts or information to give to the unaware public myself one one or two other gentlemen and a few a couple of organizers tops at the rally actually brought information I want to say thanks to two Kevin who interviewed me on his show tinfoil hat area he brought out a ton of DVDs Kevin tells me a ton of DVDs a whole box full of DVDs documentary films to give to people that's great that's what this is supposed to be about a March is supposed to be about outreach calling attention to yourselves so that you can get other people to look at the information you have to present them with it's not a just about getting out and yelling in the street and being alongside other like-minded people like a party okay and too many people don't understand this so there might have been three or four people actually giving out information and that's not gonna get it done ladies and gentlemen I'm saying this not just even for the Philadelphia rally I'm saying any kind of action that is being taken you need to come prepared with information as a as a weapon this is a weapon in the information war you know and if you're not coming armed what's the point you know there's a war on for people's minds it's an information war and people are coming unarmed to the battlefield which is the streets of America you're not going to convince anybody or change their mind about anything that's going on if you're not prepared to offer them information and I saw too much yelling and screaming and chanting and way too little information sharing so I don't really care who said it takes umbrage with me for bringing up this point I'm gonna call it as I see it and I also want to talk about the pace of the event March which was way off and that you know really is a detriment to the entire thing people have to be better prepared and understand the psychology that needs to go behind something like this because we're not getting it done ladies and gentlemen so I'm gonna pick this up on the other side and then we'll get into the subject matter we'll be right back folks welcome back this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark SEO my website what on earth is happening calm I'm going to continue with a little bit more constructive criticism of the and the fed and filly freedom rally that took place earlier today here in Philadelphia the good things where people turned out it was a great turnout even on a rainy day I mean it was a terribly dismal day here in Philadelphia today cold damp raining constantly just a miserable day basically and yet there was still great turnout that's good I mean that's a good show of willpower on the part of the people here in Philadelphia and the surrounding area to come out even in really bad weather but as far as information goes I would have really liked to see better information sharing at the end the Fed rally and I would have liked you know the Ron Paul stuff to be toned down at the end the Fed rally because it wasn't about supposed to be about Ron Paul yes he does bring attention to the Federal Reserve and you know how bad they are for this country but you have to make it about what the March is about and too many people came there with Ron Paul signs instead of n the Fed signs you know or information about the Federal Reserve that they want to give to people and then your cross mixing your messages in the minds of other people you know are you here to talk about the Fed are you here to support a political candidate and yeah I understand he supports the ending of the Fed but again people in the vicinity who don't know what your march is about are not going to receive that message they're going to only focus on the Ron Paul stuff I think this is an overarching failing on the part of the end of Fed rallies in general that it brings out you know Ron's Ron Paul supporters because he supports the ending of the Fed but people aren't hammering home the message about the Fed they're drawing too much attention to Ron Paul as a political candidate and then that turns a lot of people off to your actual message which is supposed to be about what the Fed is what they're doing and why they're bad for everybody in this country and really throughout the world so the other aspect of that I really saw as far as some of the organizers of the March dropping the ball is that the the pace was way way too fast way too fast and again I'm not trying to create any divisive Nisour division here I'm trying to offer some constructive criticism you're not offering first of all when you're doing an action March like this you want to be seen and you want to be seen for as long of a period of time as possible and this the pace of this march was rushed of this end the Fed March was rushed so badly that it felt like it was over in less than 30 minutes it probably took about 35 minutes and I think this should have been dragged out over a period of two hours minimum you know to walk that distance that we walked today it should be slow a slow deliberate leisure almost leisurely pace so that you have time to engage with people on the sides of the march put information into their hands talk with them briefly and then maybe catch up with you know your place in the in the crowd that you were at I mean you stopped hand somebody a flyer they were a block down down the down Market Street and this is it's just that's unacceptable it's it's something that has to be worked out beforehand so that the people at the head of the line understand you're setting the pace and they walked like they were running a marathon not like they were trying to educate their fellow American citizens in a major city okay so I have a big problem with how that was conducted at the front of the line whoever was out up there dropped the ball as far as I'm concerned so I wasn't happy about that because I mean like I said you try to sit and engage with somebody for a second to hand them a flyer about what the Fed is they don't No you know you want to just briefly give them a sound byte of information so hopefully they'll look it up and start learning on their own and you know the the March is you know way up and you can barely even catch up to it so that should be discussed and strategy like that should be discussed and be known about and people should be on the same page about it before something like this is even conducted and it seems like that really wasn't done and I've actually mentioned that in the past that the spaces have been too fast for these and this one was the worst out of them all it seemingly got even faster so that's something that definitely needs to be looked at and barring the bad weather which obviously there's no point in complaining about that it is what it is that's the weather the speech at the independence Visitor Center where Ron Paul spoke in front of I wish that I could tell people in the audience what Ron Paul even talked about today but I can't because I could barely hear him the PA system was deplorable people eaten even a little bit far back from the front and I wasn't that far back there were people that were a probably a city block behind where I was standing okay you couldn't hear it all it was completely muffled and the PA was completely inadequate for the job for the task at hand and I'm told that this was not like this in in past speeches that there were significant PA systems brought raised up on you know PA pole systems so that they're up above the stage and this didn't seem like it was done it would seem like it was a completely inadequate PA to transmit sound to a size of this magnet crowd the size of this magnitude and covering the land area that they covered I'd say it was a great crowd there were several thousand people out there but you didn't have the organizers did not have a PA setup that was adequate to the task at hand that's it and I can't even tell people what Ron Paul speech was about because while I could decently see him from where I was standing I couldn't hear him at all it was completely muffled I mean it sounded you know to not to even make fun about it but it sounded worse than Charlie Brown's teacher that's how muffled it was okay and that's I'm sorry but I have to call it the way I see it and that's unacceptable if proper planning was done and I'm sure there was monies were there to adequately there to provide for whatever or sound specifications need to be needed to be provided for I see all I also see this as a dropping of the ball and and again you know you could say oh who are you to mention this I'm someone who's trying to get the message out that's who I am and the way I see it Ron Paul came here to Philadelphia to deliver to deliver a message and the venue was not even equipped to make him able to do that and that's the bottom line is his message could not really reach people's eyes and ears because the sound equipment was inadequate for that task so that's all I have to say about what took place today overall I have to reign it a tremendous disappointment for myself other people may have seen seen it differently but I'm gonna say it how I say it so perhaps if you were up in the first couple of rows and you had a great great seat and you you were able to hear it wonderful I'm happy for you but the majority of that crowd and a lot of them came from places outside of this area did not even get to hear what was said they did not even get to hear the message and if they did at least they didn't get to hear it very well because again it was extremely muffled and very low and you had this strained here and if there was any even slight rustling or noise around you which there always is and except in a size of that crowd it was extremely difficult to pay attention and hear because there was not enough volume generated by that PA system or clarity for that matter so that's my word on the two rallies I hope people you know try to start getting it together a little better and make the more professional effort when it comes to doing this because we have very little time to get this word out to people folks so I know that we can do better let's put it that way I know we can getting into the stretch at everyone's attention to the what on earth is happening dot-com website the radio show page underneath the player as with most of the shows that I do there will be links for images for today's show you can click on any of those numbered links and it will bring up images with slides basically that are related to what I'm going to be talking about here today on the show those will also be posted with the podcast and this will be podcast number 104 so the first image is of course an image I've been displaying here every week that I've been talking about solutions because I call this entire solutions section the way out it is indeed the way out of the the quagmire the absolute prison of consciousness that we have created for ourselves here on earth these are real solutions that can be enacted with enough willpower to change consciousness and to change our current conditions so that we can stop creating self-inflicted suffering and actually thrive here on this planet slide number two is the list of grassroots solutions that we've been talking about and will continue to discuss and continue to have guests on the show to discuss these solutions with we've covered most of the ones and all of the ones actually in the left-hand column and we've covered developing mindfulness in the right-hand column we've been looking at over the past few weeks the non support of dominators and the topics that I've been talking about are directly related to understanding why we need to stop supporting these individuals namely police and military but also everyone else who is involved in government jobs in the entire institution of government and authority this is what we are trying to pull support back from this is a religion ladies and gentlemen if you didn't catch the shows that I did on what really what really is okay and what the actual religions of the world that people truly believe in are go back and listen to that in the podcast section because religion is the entire problem with this planet and I'm not talking about organized world religions like Christianity Judaism Islam etc there's problems with them yes we talked about how they're all astro theologically based and are basically telling a cover story to obscure the real mystery tradition that does lie at the heart of those traditions if one digs deep enough and gets past the astro theological garbage to recognize the real allegory that lies beneath that's all about the human soul and all about the human conscience but so few people do dig deeply enough to do that I when I when I say religion in this context I mean the things that are actually holding back the evolutionary progress of humanity that's what religion is it's that which holds back from the Latin verb relig are a meaning to hold back to thwart to bind to bind by tying okay to hold back by tying and that's what this is this is tying up the human consciousness tying up the mind mind control binding of the mind and the human psyche and the human conscience so when I say religion I'm talking about government and money the religion of authority the religion of money these are religions that people believe in unquestioningly this is dogma is what it is and that's what the non-supportive dominators is ultimately about what I'm really actually attempting to ask people to do is to abandon a religion to give up their religion of authority that this is no small task and only a person with an extreme amount of willpower is even going to try to take on the task to get people to abandon their religion because they know how powerful religion is over the MA that's why it's used as a form of mind control so this solution is going to take many weeks to explain to get all the concepts out that I want to get out I'm going to take my time what we don't cover we'll do in future shows and as I've said before it will take as long as it takes I'm gonna spend a lot of time on this topic because without understanding that there is no right to forcibly dominate and impose your will on other people just because it a law has been scribbled down by any man or group of men okay men and women for that matter or group of people okay rights don't automatically become invented you know rights do not become created and then you're allowed to do those things to forcibly impose your will on other people who aren't harming anyone and people need to understand this and this is the apophatic understanding of rights you understand what your rights are by understanding what they are not what you do not have the right to do to another person too many people believe that there are rights that don't exist and that they have these rights magically just because someone wrote down something in a book or on a piece of paper so and this is a religion you know believing in that level of authority is a religion which I am attempting to help people to give up to quit to quit a religion this is an addiction of the mind it's actually an addiction of the soul because people are addicted to something that to a belief system that is untrue that is not based in reality that is not based in truth that is not based in natural law and is completely erroneous and has absolutely nothing whatsoever to do with the laws of nature or of reality itself it is a contract that exists only in a diseased mind so we began talking about the concept of not the concept the reality of what conscience actually is last week what caught is conscience and how is that different from the exercise of conscience actually using conscience because the two are not the same one can have a conscience and not really exercise it not use it I'd say that's a very very bad position to be in to have a conscience and not actually exercise it or use it and because then you're really bearing a lot of moral culpability you know when you really do know the difference between right and wrong and you're wilfully choosing the wrong over the right that's some bad news you know I wouldn't want to be in that situation but most people don't even have a conscience most people don't have common sense anymore it's not present in humanity in any large quantities because most people do not have the definitive knowledge of right and wrong which is what conscience is so we talked about last week conscience comes from the Latin words con which is a prefix meaning together or with together or with and ass Chios quiere which means to know or to understand so when you put them together a conscience okay science means to know it comes from CEOs quiere knowledge okay and this is what this is all about an actual science this is about a science of the soul okay a knowing of natural law a discovery of these laws of creation which are already in place which man did not create that nature created regardless of what you want to think of as that force you want to call it the Creator you want to call it God no problem go right ahead okay whether people are comfortable or uncomfortable with that term I could personally care less but call it whatever you like I like to determine the dynamic intelligent underlying principles of creation itself that basically determine reality okay that that make this construct that we call the actual physical universe alive dynamic extant at all in existence period that's what gives rise to natural law and do I know why it does no it is that way we need to understand that it is that way that there are laws in operation that govern conduct that govern behavior and the experience that must be lived as a result of certain behaviors or not taking other behaviors you know we have to understand there are consequences for the behaviors that we choose yes we have freewill choice to determine how we're going to act but ultimately we don't have free will when it comes to the experience of that choice that must come into manifestation and be experienced that's it in other words you could ignore reality but you can't ignore the consequences of reality you make a choice okay which you have free will to choose how you will behave but ultimately you don't have the choice as to whether to experience the consequences of that behavior you are going to experience the consequences of that choice okay and whether you make that choice or not whether you're actively making the choice or even you're if you're sitting back on the sidelines trying not to act because you don't want the responsibility that comes with action it doesn't matter you're still going operates focus we talk about cons justification and open system oh yes is happening calm they'll be over talk about conscience and I was basically breaking down the word conscience and defining it in slide number four is what we're looking at if you're following along on the slideshow on the what on earth is happening radio show page so conscience means to know together to come to a state of knowing of knowledge together it is common sense knowledge common sense understanding okay and what kind of knowledge it is is it is the possession to have conscience means that you are in possession of the definitive knowledge of the difference between right and wrong under natural law natural law the laws of creation you could call it the laws of behavioral consequence or the laws of cause and effect many people have termed it as well these were not made by man the universe created these laws and they're not suggestions or opinions it's not natural suggestions its natural law meaning you can attempt to go against it but there are repercussions and consequences for that it's always in operation just like gravity well you can attempt to defy gravity you know jump off of a tall building and try to defy gravity guaranteed you're not going to get away with defying a natural law like that you can think you are all you want but it's in effect you're bound by it while you're in a physical body you know when you're not in a physical body then let's worry about that you could jump off that building and you know somehow flow through the air or when superhuman capabilities have evolved in humanity then perhaps that might be possible but you're right here right now in 2012 and a physical human skin suit and good luck with that you want to believe you can wonderful enjoy enjoy what you're gonna get and that's like I feel like every day that's what I'm really trying to explain to people with all of this information people who are determined to leap off that building or that cliff and they want to tell me all the way down that they don't believe in gravity well enjoy good luck enjoy what you have you know don't expect it to improve either because natural law is always operating it's always in effect and you're always bound by it period the end for infinity that's it the problem is people hate that and they think that that's some kind of a prison and not guidelines that are there to help us to progress in evolution and in consciousness so that we could basically become co-creators with that force that dynamic living intelligence that underlies all of creation itself and then be basically be able to make whatever we want to make because we're aligning ourselves with the power and majesty of all creation of the universe itself of the all but people can't wrap their mind around the concept that that's why natural law is in place to help us to evolve to a point of becoming conscious co-creators with the divine no they want to rebel against that understanding they want to rebel against that they want to they want it to be pavatt both ways they want to say I can do whatever I want and there's no consequences for anything I do so I could be as ignorant as I want and somehow I could still magically be free and I told you ladies and gentlemen the gloves were coming off that like I'm not going to be apologetic for human stupidity anymore because this needs to just be explained in as overt and as upfront and and if necessary and as harsh terms as is needed to get people to sit up and pay attention because there's no more time for baby to hit the snooze button on the alarm clock of the universe anymore the cosmic alarm clock the snooze button is broken and now baby is gone who needs to become an adult he's gonna get dragged up by the hair thrown on the floor and kicked around until he decides to wake up alright there's not enough time - baby spoon feed this stuff to people anymore they need to become psychologically and emotionally mature before they destroy themselves so the possession of the definitive knowledge of right and wrong under natural law is what conscience actually is it is knowledge conscience is knowledge that's what something people don't understand it isn't the behavior itself okay the exercise of conscience is the taking of certain action that is either in keeping with natural law or not in keeping with natural law so the exercise of conscience I explained on slide number five this is the willful choosing once you do know you're making a willful choice to act in a certain way it's the willful choosing of right action over wrong action you're recognizing one is better than the other that one brings you that which you do wish for in desire and one does not get you the correct results that you're looking for this is how simple natural law is there is right and wrong you need to discover what a right is so that you can take action that is in keeping with right you need to know what right is by understanding what wrongs are here's the things you may not do under natural law because it brings harm to another being and then just say no to that stop doing that which is why I love the images that I've chosen to use behind this and whoever made this it's I think they may even have a very deep understanding I don't know the person the person who actually you know portrayed an image of an angel the way that they did in the background of these slides but I love that the angel is holding their hand up as if to say stop as if to say don't do that this is the concept of the negative the affirmation through negation coming to a place of conscience by stopping oneself it's about self-control it's about saying no I will not do that saying no which is what apophysis is okay and that's what the this you know archetype will image of an angel is putting their hand up as if to say no don't do that don't go there because you know that road only leads to death and destruction and chaos when we choose the wrong over the right the con the exercise of conscience is the willful choosing of right action or wrong action once the definitive knowledge of the difference between right and wrong under natural law has been acquired by an individual so you know first you take the knowledge into yourself first then you don't have doubt about it you know what right is you know what wrong is the knowledge is not shades of grey it is not relative is absolute it is objective it is definitive so you have definitive knowledge of what right is and what wrong is what rights are not and then you willfully deliberately actively choose the right over the wrong because you know that that is the decision that will lead to the greatest amount of prosperity success happiness peace freedom you name it and the the willful choice of the wrong over the right is always going to bring the opposite of those things destruction chaos suffering enslavement and I would say many people do not understand that this is how the universe works not only don't they understand they hate the people who try to explain to them this is how the universe works because they want to believe you can defy gravity and prosper they want to believe you can walk off that cliff and just magically float and that even if you're in a 1g field like you are here on earth you're not going to hit the ground and and break bones or die that's not going to happen to me I could defy the laws of nature and be completely and utterly insulated from the repercussions and the reason they hate that these laws are in effect and they hate when people try to explain it as simply clearly and concisely as I have been explaining it is because they don't want the personal responsibility that goes along with that knowledge they want to remain eternal cosmic children thinking that they can bear no responsibility for their own actions and somehow prosper well good luck folks that's why we're in this mess that's why are being inflamed because the belling's at that book walk it's a natural law the next three slides are a brief review of natural law I briefly did this last week I'm going to repeat that information again not take up a whole lot of time but I want to just hammer this home because I want to get to talking about why I'm gonna make a very controversial blanket statement okay there has never been in the history of humanity any police officer or soldier who has truly exercised his conscience it is an impossibility and I'm going to explain why I'm going to make a blanket statement like that okay that person does not have a fully developed sense of conscience and is not willfully choosing to exercise it yes they can have moments where they are exercising conscience but that's not what I'm saying I'm saying they cannot be a being that is willfully choosing to exercise their conscience and to allow their conscience to direct their actions and there has never ever in history been a being who is still doing that job and in that in an institution like that that has ever been a follower a true follower of conscience blanket statement people hate blanket statements because blanket statements reveal in many situations where they are true the absolute nature of truth people hate the absolute nature of truth they love relativism relativism gives them excuses gives them reasons for to make excuses it gives them opportunities for justification which we're going to talk a lot about okay and there are blanket statements that are not true and there are other blanket statements that are true people have to understand we've been sold this absolute bump new age and political lie that and this comes from these outcome-based education schools too you know pushing this propaganda crap down children's throats that any statement that ever begins with all or always where every can never be true and this is utter bunk this is utter complete nonsense there are blanket statements and I've talked about this in the past on the show that are absolutely true all every in every circumstance in every situation unequivocally every time and you can follow that up with certain qualifying statements and that would be true so I'm telling you every cop and soldier in the history of the human species has not been truly following conscience and I'm not even using the term their conscience you'll notice and that's deliberate because conscience isn't different for me than it is for you that's why it's called common knowledge common meaning shared meaning together meaning it's all the same for everyone rights aren't different for some people than for others right and wrong isn't different for some people than it is for others it is the same for everyone at all places at all times everywhere in creation and that's why there isn't my conscience or your conscience there is only conscience and whether you are following it or not whether you are exercising it or not it's a powerful yet absolutely true constant to get into your head without me doubt that's the case Oh apartments and natural law and slide number six has a chart that I posted during the podcasts the radio shows on natural law and I'm going to briefly revisit three of these slides because they're directly related with conscience they're directly related with the definitive knowledge of natural law the difference between right and wrong truly and which so few people have it's so sad they have to for I even look at it as bizarre that I am going on the air waves and attempting to explain the difference between right and wrong to an entire population and I know that the listening audience the general listening audience the Oracle gets a lot of what I'm saying maybe some perhaps don't but I'd like to think that the majority understand this material to some extent or another but to know that the mass is at large have no idea about any of this you know and have been brainwashed into believing that everything is relative it's it's bad I mean we're we're in a worse situation that we would imagine when just like I saw today we can't imagine that just because we know this other people don't I mean we walk past some people on Market Street that you could just tell weren't even present you know their mind was somewhere else they're not in the present moment they're in reptile brain mode and behavior and are all focused on survival the next buck the next thing I need to buy you know they're not thinking about anything conceptual they're not thinking about real ideas they're not worried about what right and wrong is I mean they're so degraded down to a level of consciousness that barely resembles a human being and I'm telling you I'm not the per and to just directly help these people like that people who do understand this knowledge need other people to get it so that they can help in this battle you know it's it's you know it's like a tag-team effort and it's like the people who have been in this battle for a long time and really understood this deeply for a long time are tired and need somebody to tag out - for a little while you know that's why I say I'm doing this for to create a more vertical approach for this information I don't really care if people who are resistant to this knowledge now don't get it now as I'm explaining it I'm trying to create other teachers that's who this show is for you know people make the absolutely erroneous have the absolutely erroneous impression that I'm doing this to try to educate every last one of the masses who absolutely don't get it at all that's not what I'm trying to do I'm trying to bring people who want to get this up to a higher level of understanding so that they can become lights in their communities that's what my role here is to act as an intermediary for those people you know someone that could you know transmit a little bit of this information out so that other people can get it and come way up to a higher level than they once were and then they can go out and start working on those lower those individuals who are in lower states of consciousness because quite frankly ladies and gentlemen I don't have the patience to do it you know I mean I I see where people are at and man dude it is bad I mean one gentleman on Market Street today as we were marching tried to accuse me of being racist what he knew zero about me and who I am and what I know and how I think I mean imagine that because and that was because of the Ron Paul signs because he buys into this corporate mainstream BS that Ron Paul is somehow racist you know because he doesn't want the government telling people that they have to choose right over wrong you know forcing them he wants people to make that decision and come to under standing on their own and perhaps even decide I'm not gonna frequent an establishment that is bigoted and does treat people differently based on race maybe that is what should happen maybe instead of the government telling everybody how they need to behave or not behave people should have common sense know the difference between right and wrong and then decide I'm gonna make repercussions necessary to be experienced by someone that decides to open a business sense a business and say I'm not going to serve people of certain racial groups of course they should suffer consequences for that but not because government wants to say that they're not allowed to do it I think nobody should frequent an establishment like that you should use your will to say no imagine that there's that concept again I'm gonna say no to what's wrong and that's how I'm gonna do right by saying no to evil you know and the New Age movement is another propagandizing tool to try to get people to think that this is not about anything negative never look at the bed only focus on the good the world is all happiness and flowers and peace and roses and we're going to look through our rose-colored glasses at the world that has absolutely nothing to do with reality and yet believe that it's some magical wonderful place that we want a light like to think it is and we don't really have to be confrontational at all with other people we don't have to call them on their BS you know we don't have to get up in their face ever and say look you're doing the wrong thing and I'm not gonna take it anymore that's it no no the New Age movement is about sitting in a lotus position meditating and suddenly manifesting a better reality and not one iota of action is required what what a absolute it's not even a word for it okay if you buy into this I feel sorry for you okay and too many people do they get into that whole mode too because they don't want to hear anything harsh oh I don't want to hear any harsh words I want everything told to me in the most sweet and pleasant tones imaginable you're a child let's face it that's what a child is like and that's how society has made these individuals well let's get back to the slides on natural law the first slide shows the difference between right and wrong very simply and succinctly there's a reason the word right is used for both correct as in factually correct and in and moral meaning doing the right thing because if your information is correct is factual is based in truth you're going to take actions that are based in natural law that are moral that are based in morality okay your actions that are based in right what you have a right to do actions based in right do not result in harm to other beings period I put sentient beings this is all beings individuated beings okay that includes animals people everybody you know we want to think it's only about people and that's a species astrology that includes animal as animals as well I would say if your actions are resulting in harm to animals you're doing wrong you don't have a right to do that and there are people who will argue this because they believe this biblical bunk that we've been given dominion over animals by God know if anything and this could be even be pushing it we're stewards to help guide them in their evolutionary effort if you should felt better in the ways of right and paws in fat so us do understand stay asleep Oh bang what do you look civic with these eyes is what we see when he looks it into the sunglasses we see the same things all the way through the subliminal sit wannabe courtesy of a Norwegian pet the dog it's matter we're talking about conscience and natural law you were looking to slide number six on the water on earth is happening calm radio show page or in the podcast archive the difference between right and wrong and a very simple concise and clear chart and just let me just briefly say I'm not going to be taking phone calls now or until the end of the section on the non-supportive dominators I've mentioned this last week so for as many weeks as it takes me to go through this material that's you're only going to be hearing me on this show that's how I'm doing it for this section I'll probably do a call-in show and let a bunch of people call in voice their opinions but for the non-supportive dominators section I'm giving this presentation and I'm gonna say what I want when I want because I want to put this information out there the way I want it to go out there if you don't agree with any of it or you want to elaborate on any of it more even if you do agree you could get your own show and do that but for the weeks that are required to go through the information on the non-supportive dominators you will only be hearing mark passio speak on the show I'm gonna go back to taking calls on the show after this section is done you could talk about what I presented after that but I want this material uninterrupted okay so the slide continues with the definition of wrong and the reason we use the term wrong in the context of being both incorrect and immoral is because it is the same thing incorrect is immoral actions that are not based in truth meaning they are incorrect will also not be based in natural law so if we are wrong meaning we have wrong information our actions will be geared toward non harmony with natural law and therefore will be creating chaos the simple definition of wrong is that actions based in it result in harm to other living beings other sentient things and as I was saying before the break that includes living beings period you know we want to be speciesist and think it's only about people but it's about animals as well and you know part of the reason I've said this before I'll repeat it again I am always repeating and again that's deliberate because just like repetition is a form of mind control it's a way to take someone out of mind control they keep hearing the same things over and over enough they'll start thinking about them a seed will be planted and eventually it will grow you know so you know what we do to animals is a big part of why we're experiencing what we're experiencing and I'll tell you a very simple truth what we do to others not only will it be done to us it must be done to us now you put that in the context of what we do to animals as human beings what we do to animals as a species and you on you will understand what is coming and you know in a lot of ways I don't have a problem with what's coming you know I'm trying to prevent it because I don't like to see beings suffering but is the suffering that's going to be experienced richly deserved you better believe it is you better believe that it is because we're allowing so much violence and wrongdoing to take place on our watch that it's deplorable its reprehensible and people just don't want to hear it spoken like that you know they want you to tell them they're wonderful beings and they're always doing the right thing and it's not true that isn't the truth so I'm not going to get up here and lie to people on the microphone and tell them that everybody is just a wonderful being that really is following their conscience because they're not and that's why they're in this mess and sometimes following your conscience means you might have to variants personal pain you might have to pull back from a situation that's going to result in some form of pain in the immediate present tense scenario but in the long term you're doing work upon the soul which is about your evolutionary progress as a being as a consciousness and therefore the reward comes in the long-term that's what people can't understand doing the right thing may involve personal pain in the immediate sense and that's all people want to avoid they want to avoid pain in the immediate sense because they're never looking at things really down the road they're looking at what am i doing that's actually they are in the future moment - but what I mean when it comes to pain is all they care about is this going to create pain for me right now in the short term you know they're not worried about the pain that might come as a result of them continuing to do what they're doing that is wrong so I'll leave the slide for right and wrong there there's much more I expanded on this a lot in the natural law section which I highly encourage people to go back and listen to again even if you already heard it the next slide is about knowing what natural law is all about natural law is basically putting forward that you can do what you want so long as you're not harming or defrauding another person it's that simple harm none do what you will that's it that's how easy natural law can be explained but the first thing is harm none that's it that's the first and foremost that means that's the principle harm none do what you will harm none is first principle first thing the first violation that natural law means of the violation of natural law means that a living being must be harmed or defrauded that's how you know a violation of natural law rights has taken place and so many people are enacting violence and destroying people's natural law rights for no violation of natural for something that people do have a right to do these cops or soldiers are coming in and saying well you can't do that because our owners told us you would that they don't like it and that's it and now I'm gonna stop you from doing it like the Pittsburgh thugs did at the g20 a couple of years back taking people's natural law right to speak their mind away because their owners their dog masters that they have these little puppies on their leashes and they think they're real men okay told them commanded them you're gonna go out and stop these people from speaking because we don't like what they're gonna say yes master right away and I'm a real man part of the problem is they know so much that they're not real men they hate themselves and that's why they want to go and be psycho fans to these to these complete lunatics to these total Psychopaths and we're going to talk about that self-loathing topics coming up that are going to explain why police do think the way they do why they have the psychology that they do we're going to talk about self loathing we're going to talk about repressed sexuality and a lot of repressed homosexuality when it comes to the police we're going to talk about trauma and bullying how they've lived through trauma and can't get over it can't get out of the past to live in the present moment and then they identify with the perpetrator or the victim of the trauma identification with perpetrator identification with victim these are all upcoming topics in the non-supportive dominators section and then ultimately the big one is the hatred for personal responsibility they want to remain eternal infants when it comes to making responsible choices for their own actions so they want other people constantly direct their actions for them so that they feel that they're never personal were you responsible for that which they do all of these things are coming off the future shows I might have a whole show that it came each one of them no like I've said this sections gonna be a while because people forget why not go and act that way they're gonna understand the why and that's the real source of power right back oops we got our natural law we're gonna be talking about justification and hopefully we can get to apophysis in the last segment continue with slide number seven rights that do not exist for an individual cannot be granted we talked about that a little bit earlier man's law cannot grant special rights to people and that's the entire problem with creating a government to begin with this is the abdication of personal responsibility and thinking that you can grant to an entity that is comprised of certain groups of individuals rights that individuals themselves do not have and this is folly and that's why there is no such thing as government that can ever work men are cast s-- don't get it they're not really on the path of higher consciousness because they still believe in authority and the grant of rights there is no such thing as the grant of rights ladies and gentlemen rights are inherent the Creator gave us the rights regardless of what you want to think of that force as again I'm not religious that's not a religious statement okay I told you I think of it as the underlying universal intelligent force that binds everything in creation that makes life possible at all that makes existence possible at all it is consciousness itself okay it is truth itself it is natural law itself that force granted me rights and you rights because it created the laws of right and wrong it created the laws of behavioral consequence or natural law therefore that's why I have certain rights and don't have other rights and everyone else has the same rights there are no special rights for me man cannot just decide this person has a right no you either have the right or you don't have the right it's not because man decided it you need to discover whether you have the right or not know it you can't grant rights to anyone else for any reason creating the government is folly because you are in the business then of granting rights to other people that don't exist for individuals and I again all I can say is I feel sorry for people that don't understand that you're creating suffering for yourself and others and you don't know it you don't know that that's what you're doing is that you are creating chaos in the world by even thinking that way this is the problem people continuing to think that authority is real and legitimate is the problem the next slide to understand what rights are we have to look at them in the apophatic sense and that's why understanding apophysis is so important we have to look at the negative and say what are what are my rights not what don't I have a right to do because it creates harm and another beings life okay then refrain from those actions say no to them and that's how you're doing right by not doing wrong people have a tough time with that concept of affirmation through negation it is all about I'm not even trying to tell Pete I'm not in any way trying to tell people what to do what I'm trying to tell people is what they should not do because there are things that you do if you engage in them you are creating suffering that is self-inflicted and you're creating chaos not only in the world for other people but for yourself in your own life chaos is getting created because you're not going to be insulated from the repercussions and the consequences of those decisions you're going to experience negative effects from them I highly recommend the works of Richard W Wetherill a listener to the show recommended them and I was not familiar with them and I have since become very familiar with his work and checked it all out and read some of his material that I was able to find online and I'm telling you this guy understood it beautifully beautifully and he was from the area that I'm from he was from the suburban region of Philadelphia I'm right in the city but he was from the outskirts of the city of Philadelphia and I believe died back in the 1960s or 70s but this gentleman was so on point and people should become familiar with his work but to continue with the slide about natural law and rights we need to understand them in the apophatic sense we need to understand what wrongs are before we could really understand what our rights are and so few people think that what they're doing is wrong that is wrong you know they think that they have the right to do this and that and that and that and they don't because they're creating harm and they're trying to suppress the rights of other people and they don't have those rights natural law holds true regardless of population it doesn't matter how many people there are in the world there could be two people or two hundred quadrillion people and their natural law still operates the same way so to say oh well you can do that if there's only a couple of people but hey we're living in a population with tons and tons of people you know no it doesn't make a difference how many people there are either you have a right or you don't have a right numbers are irrelevant when it comes to rights and the people who think that somehow population makes a difference as to what rights people have are under mind control it has nothing to do with population but a good way of thinking about rights is if there were only two people what I have a right to do it so let's say you're on an island there's only two people there okay nobody else around for hundreds of miles or even to envision there's only you and one other person on the earth you climb up a tree every day because you know how to climb to get some berries at the top or whatever okay fruit whatever and somebody else who isn't maybe capable of doing that maybe there's tons of other food available okay it doesn't mean that's the only food I'm not saying that and you're preventing them from eating when you're in a position to help there's tons of food but they want that fruit that's up in that tree and they're telling you every time you come down no matter how much you have I'm taking half you have to give me half you have a moral obligation to give me half well that's the fruit of your labor literally pun intended okay and you're under no moral obligation unless you want to voluntarily give or trade with him but he can't coerce you and force you he's not being kept alive by that he just wants it because you have it he can't say if you don't give me that half of that fruit I'm going to take a club and beat your head in okay now you know maybe a person could look at it like well you're not being very nice by not sharing but the whole point is sharing needs to be something that is voluntarily driven by a state of consciousness maybe you would climb up and decide wilfully to give him some of that fruit but he isn't automatically entitled to it just because you were able to climb the tree and he wasn't you did the labor okay he can't say to you I'm taking it and if you don't give it to me I'm gonna take violent action against you and that's all taxation is we have to understand that's not a right we can give voluntarily willfully if we want to give something to you be used for certain purposes but nobody can tell you you must give a certain amount of your the product of your labor or they're gonna do violence against you that's not a right that's not a right if there's two people it's not a right if there's two billion people it's not a right if there's 200 trillion people you can never make that into a right by writing it down and saying now it's right and now our enforcers are coming to get you in or take your property or take your money or take your freedom as they do with people who try to keep the products of their earnings because they don't want to be coerced and told how they need to spend it and even if the spending is immoral and it's going to wage war and kill people nobody's gonna tell me how my resources are going to be spent for immoral things no it isn't happening you're not gonna tell me yeah we're gonna go and kill these children now with the money you handed us not from not from me maybe from you but not me good luck because you can kill me a billion times and you still won't get a penny so when in doubt as to whether an action is in harmony with natural law a good visual visualization exercise to do is imagine a world with only two people and then if it's a right it's right if it's not you have no right to take that action it doesn't matter how many people are who told you you are allowed to do it so the people on slide number 9 the creators of the dark new world order as they definitely are people want don't want to hear that they think it's harsh you know they think that that's overstating things or you know not putting the emphasis or the blame where it really belongs and that's who it really belongs with the people on this slide they are the people leading the human race into bondage and enslavement I don't really care who gets upset over that pound your head against the wall if you like bang your fists on the desk go break some glass go break some plates get is angry about it as you want and get as offended about it as you want those are the creators of the dark new world order who listen to their owners listen to their masters who obey like the non men that they are these aren't real men real men stand for truth and real freedom they don't operate their lives on a leash I was born a shotgun in my hands behind the girl I'll make my day that's why they call me so today you're following along in the image today's images on the water on earth is happening calm radio show page we were talking about the police and military images depicted on slide number nine and these are the people who are really leading us into enslavement not the dark occultist the darker cultists are the people whispering in these people's a year telling them what they should and should not do and because of the inherent self-loathing because of the weakness spiritual intellectual psychological weakness of these individuals and because they loathe personal responsibility to choose right action over wrong action they want to be led like a little puppy dog on a leash and they want to be told what they are allowed to do and not allowed to do they want to be told what time to get up when the when to go to the bathroom when to eat when to sleep and they think they're real men and women they think they're real beings when in fact almost everything that makes up a genuine individual has been completely removed from them and they're being told at every turn that they're no longer a real individual they dress alike they walk alike they act alike they talk alike you're being told that you're a clone it's mockery by them even putting you all in the same uniform you're being told you're a clone like the stormtroopers are a clone in Star Wars and I might do an entire two programs on the occult mockery of the military and police like I did at the free your mind conference and if anyone hasn't seen that presentation you should watch it and I should go over that again on the show because it's something I didn't touch on extensively but the dark occult is who who owned this planet right now because we've let them own it through our ignorance as a people they loathe these individuals so much more than general population that it's impossible for me to even really describe it I could not communicate to you the hatred and loathing that they have for these people it would practically be impossible for you to grasp it unless you were in a room with them because you can palpably feel the seething hatred that is coming off of them because they know howdy graded as a being these people are and have allowed themselves to become and that's ultimately what they hate more than anything else that's why they want to eradicate people who have allowed themselves through their weakness to become like that and let me tell you something there are not times when I don't feel like that there are times when I feel like that what the difference between me and the dark occultist is is I stop just thinking that what needs to be done is these people need to be done away with because I think that if you give people accurate information instead of holding back knowledge from them not all of them but most of them will make a willful decision to decide to choose the right over the wrong conditions have a lot to do with that as well which is why the improvement of conditions has to play into that choice you know watch Trading Places you change conditions externally and you watch someone's behavior change the movie trading place is a beautiful elegant Masonic allegory by Aaron Russo that displays that human nature is not some predetermined thing that is set a certain way that you change the conditions you will change what the nature of the person will become like and that's a higher order of understanding that was taught by all the mystery school traditions so I'm going to talk a little bit about justification and the show I'm going to leave the section on apophysis and I'm going to leave those four slides as a teaser for next week I'll just briefly tell you that I'm going to break down four allegories about a path and about the word no okay and I'm we're gonna look at the matrix equilibrium Rise of the Planet of the Apes which is the first episode in the new Planet of the Apes saga I believe it's going to be a new saga okay and a movie called the box and these are all allegorical fictions allegorical works of fiction all about the situation that Humanity is in right now and suggesting a very very very powerful solution on how we might extract ourselves from the dangerous and perilous and extraordinarily suffering Laden state that we the condition that we are in as a species how we might help to free ourselves from that a way out and that's what apophysis is it is the speaking of the word no in other words it is saying what I'm going to do by saying no to what I will not do to what you will not make me do to why I will not willfully choose to do apophysis coming from the greek noun by the same name apophysis which comes from the greek word a perv a puffin eye which means not to speak to remain silent or it could be construed as to say no not to say to say no so that allegorical breakdown I'll save for next week rather than rush through it this week but what I want to talk about is how these non selves how these beings who are anything but a true self and a true individual these collectivists these group think mentality people in the police and military come up with all kinds of justifications for why they do the immoral things that they do and worse than that people who are even oppressed by their immoral actions come up with justifications for why they need to continue to do what they do well if it wasn't for our society would exist in total chaos no no no ignoramus it is because of you that society is in the chaotic state that it is you do not insulate anyone from chaos or suffering harmony with natural law does that one aligning their actions with natural law is what insulates someone from chaos and self-inflicted suffering not violent action taken under the authoritarian dictates of your psychopathic owners you can never be exercising your conscience you can only be making justifications for your actions in a capacity such as this and what justification means as seen on slide number 10 it comes from the Latin words use which means right or law and fat GRA which means to make or to create okay we get the word fascist from that too to force on someone to use force to create or to make fascism comes from the word thought facio thought GRA which means to make to make someone do something well this in the sense I'm using it justification is to create a right and I put create in quotes because you can never create right right is self existing it is inherent it always exists it is always one way you can't make new rights no more than you could eliminate or strike rights out of creation and that's what justification is it's man saying to himself I'm gonna make that right in my own mind I'm going to create a right that doesn't exist slap a label on it saying well that's a right now that's okay that's alright that's right yeah you didn't know you know everything that was done in the Third Reich was totally legal under man's law everything that was done in Soviet Russia was totally legal under man's law laws were passed to justify all of that immoral behavior and this is what justification always leads to ladies and gentlemen a field full of bodies nope are knit into your memory know that that's how you

Topics: Non-Support Of Dominators, Diametric Opposition between Order-Following and Conscience, Justification for Immoral Behavior, Apophasis, NO as the Most Powerful Word In The Universe, Allegories containing the concept of Apophasis

freedom man that's what it's all about welcome you are listening - what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of Earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches it's critical moment of choice and now here is your host Mark Pascoe welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network I'm your host mark passio my website is what on earth is happening dot-com the network's website Oracle broadcasting dot-com today is Sunday April 29th 2012 have a great show lined up for you here today and we are going to be continuing our ongoing solution oriented approaches for changing human consciousness and today we're going to continue to talk about conscience justification and apophysis or saying no and I'm gonna get into an allegorical examination of four major Hollywood films that deal with this concept of saying no that deal with apophysis that's coming up today on what on earth is happening I have several event announcements some pretty exciting things to talk about in the first segment and then probably into the second segment a couple of quick things about minor issues or problems with technical things last week there was a minor audio issue going on with the bumper music where it was cutting me off and there was no overlap between me and the bumper as soon as it came in that has been cleared up and that should not be a problem this week so I wanted to apologize for that it looks like it was an oversight on a setting on my part in the broadcasting software that we use to send the voice out over the airwaves so I took care of that and it is now corrected and that shouldn't be playing the show anymore the second minor technical change is I did upgrade the content management system software on my website what on earth is happening calm and I shortened or truncated or abbreviated however you want to look at it some of the URLs for the web pages and the subsections within the web page within the website so if you had bookmarks to certain play you might want to update those bookmarks all of the links within the site should still work and you just want to update your bookmarks and if you're seeing that certain links don't work before reporting them just empty the the cachet of your web browser and you might want to quit the web browser and then restart it as well that will often get rid of those glitches so I just want to let people know it was a minor upgrade to the content management system that's done it will probably not be noticeable at any level by most people but if you are noticing certain links not working try to refresh or empty your web browser cache a first and if you still find that things aren't working then you could send me an email and let me know I was on the show occult Empire with Bob from Cincinnati this past Monday April 23rd and Wow was it a memorable one we want to tell you all about it and tell you where to go to listen to that and to check the resources that were discussed during that great show this past Monday on the other side of this break stay with us ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcasting radio network we'll be right back welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm alright let's continue with the event announcements and I have some really good news for people today some bad news - the part of the good news is that the show that I did with Bob from Cincinnati on his show a cult Empire this past Monday April 23rd is up in the news section it's actually the first news item on the latest news section on the left-hand side of the website and while this show was phenomenal if I dare say so myself we got pretty deep into esoteric Rosicrucianism and if you go to the news page or click on the news item as it is right now under latest news the first item you'll be taken to a page that is headlined mark explorers the Rosicrucian tradition on a cult empire and you can listen to the broadcast there you could also click in to go to a cult empires page and underneath are the the player and the image for the show there are a ton of resources about the Rosicrucian tradition that will basically explain what this tradition is all about - any who are curious who any who want to go deeper into this form of occultism and understand what it is really teaching people and it will help to dispel a lot of misconceptions on Rosicrucianism and also on the light occult in general so there are probably over 50 documents posted something to that effect maybe maybe a somewhere a little bit less than that posted to the news section on of the headline that says mark explores the Rosicrucian tradition on a cult empire please do check out those resources there's also a great oh there I didn't get a chance to mention it on the show but it's called the Rosicrucian science of initiation which is a lecture by Robert Gilbert who is an excellent Rosicrucian initiate who does a great job of explaining this positive occult tradition so check that video out as well and let me let any feedback is welcome also so I have one piece of bad news the venue that we usually hold the truth freedom prosperity documentary night screening and discussion night at has gone away the building has been sold the business I I think is either relocating or packing up shop I'm not sure which but one thing is definitely for certain a media Bureau has sold the building that they were operating out of and therefore we no longer have access to that venue so I have a couple of places in mind I don't know whether they're going to work out I'm going to try to work something out over the next week but if anyone in the Philadelphia area who may be listening to the show has any ideas that could pan out could actually pan out regarding where we could host the truth freedom prosperity documentaries please send an email to me mark at what on earth is happening calm and let me know because we need to find another venue and hopefully we'll be able to find one before the last Wednesday of May which will be Wednesday May 30th okay which is the next scheduled documentary night for truth freedom prosperity I don't know if that will be happening yet or not because it will be dependent on whether we have secured a venue for the screening so that's the piece of bad news another piece of good news is that I will be appearing on a cult science radio with Curtis Davis known as the illuminated one on Monday May 7th 2012 at 8:30 p.m. so be on the lookout for that I'll post a link to that show in the new section as well now for the big announcement and I want people to really listen up because this is going to be huge okay I still to this day get tons and tons of complaints on a regular basis about commercials mark your information is powerful but I can't stand the commercials okay there's so many commercials on your show blah blah blah I have to listen through them and it distracts my train train of thought my attention span etc and people are constantly complaining about this personally I kind of think it's just because people like to complain you know like to have something that they can you know babble on about but that that's me maybe it's just their attention span is very weak due to years of abuse or neglect or not working it personally I have the attention span of probably a thousand people and I could barrel through any information no matter how dry unpalatable unpalatable presented boring or commercial Laden it happens to be because that is the strength of my will and if I want information I'm going to gather it regardless of what I have to put up with that's me and I realize that's not everyone so I've come up with something to finally let these people put their money where their mouth is so to speak okay and we understand why there are commercials you know because there's bandwidth required to put on a live radio network this isn't a podcast yes it goes into my podcast section after it is archived after being recorded live but this is a live radio network it isn't something that is recorded in a studio and then post it afterward to the website this is over-the-air live so that we can actually talk with people get feedback interview guests you know in person and as it is happening okay and there's a dynamic that goes along with a live radio show that makes it very much more preferable to many people rather than a podcast format that's why people tune into radio stations and listen to them live they want to hear new fresh information okay that is happening while they're listening to it that is going out over the years while they're listening to it so to finally give people an opportunity to make this particular radio broadcast commercial free I have come up with a plan and approved it with one of the owners of Oracle broadcasting Doug Owen and he's willing to work with this plan what we're gonna do is make the radio spot that is normally open to a commercial sponsor able to be purchased by anyone who wants me to continue to speak in that spot ad-free in other words a listener out in the listening audience can support the network and this radio show by purchasing a radio spot that would ordinarily be bought by sponsors okay and they can then if we get enough of them we can I can talk through those spots okay so if you're willing to buy that spot that that ad space okay a three-minute segment let's say because that's like I believe what it is you can get in touch with me and I will tell you who you can get in touch with to work out arrangements to actually purchase an a segment of ad space so that that radio that commercial segment will be removed and I will be able to continue speaking through that segment commercial-free I'm going to tell you exactly how to do that on the other side of the break stay with us ladies and gentlemen and you are listening to what on earth is happening made of stone all right folks were back we're listening to what on earth is happening on your host mark Cassio to continue with the big announcement regarding a possibility to support the network to support this show and to make the show go commercial free you can get in touch with me at mark at what on earth is happening calm you email me if you are serious about purchasing a spot I do not have the costs available right now okay we can you you will talk to someone at the network regarding that all right I won't give that out over the air someone who is serious about purchasing an ad spot to make it go commercial free on this show can email me mark at what on earth is happening calm in the title in the title I'm sorry the subject of the email you want to put commercial free sponsorship commercial free sponsorship put that in the subject of the email so I will know it is re in reference to you being serious about buying an ad spot on Oracle to allow me to continue to broadcast the information here on what on earth is happening commercial free okay and now if we do not have people stepping up and the show you continue to hear commercials on the show you'll know it's because no one wanted to actually step up support the network help pay for the bandwidth that is required to send this information out over the airwaves live okay and put their money where their mouth is so to speak and you know all of the opportunity is available to do just that right now okay so I want to thank Doug Owen for you know accepting that proposal to work with that idea and hopefully we will have some takers on that we will have some people who do want to step up and not just complain but actually do something about it and again it would be purchasing a 3 the 3 minute had spots so that I could talk straight through them and you know if you want to do it in groups you get together in a group you know people can put up each person could put up a portion that is required and you could all do it together you know so as long as the network is being supported and bandwidth costs are being you know covered the network is willing to work with this plan so I don't want to hear any more complaints I've already said that many times but people continue to send me stuff so I thought about it even a little bit more and said let's think outside the box how can we make that happen and there is a way to make it happen but people have to be willing to put their resources invest their resources into something that they want to see happen and something that they want to see a car and then they can make it happen so that's a huge announcement and again send email to mark at what on earth is happening and in the subject put commercial-free sponsorship and i will get back to you and let you know who you can contact to discuss what that would cost and again if someone doesn't have the money to do it by themself some may some may not you could partner with a group of people and put this together but as long as the network you know receives payment for that time slot it like another commercial sponsor would purchase that slot they will open it up and let me talk through it so we've worked out an arrangement and there it is on the table for anyone who really wants to make this a commercial free show here on oracle okay so that having been said I have one more quick thing before we jump into the subject material today is the 29th of April in two days it will be May first it will be the end of what is known as the occult season of sacrifice and nothing huge has occurred during this particular 40 day time period known as the season of sacrifice between March 22nd and May 1st I'm gonna go out on a limb and say May 1st may be the day to watch for and if nothing happens one but if something does happen people will be able to say hey I heard it on this show and you know there's a correlation being made here May 1st is a huge date in the dark occult okay it is the highest Sabbat or holiday if you want to look at it that way of the occult a year it is known as vol purchase nacht or the night of st. vigeous okay also called Beltane in older occult traditions and this is a day that is traditionally associated with sacrifice in occult traditions because it is the midpoint of the spring season and crops have basically been planted and you're looking for a bountiful harvest so a blood sacrifice traditionally in the form of an animal may be offered to the earth during that time period to kind of appease the gods or appease the spirits of nature appease the Sun and the earth so that a bountiful harvest will come about during harvest season at the end of the growing season this is where this belief goes stems from okay but it is extraordinarily twisted and perverted to a high degree in the modern world resulting in this practice of sacrificing large numbers of people or staging an event such as a false flag event during this 40 day window this forty day time period known as the season of sacrifice from the spring equinox to the midpoint of spring we've talked about this before on the show I did a show almost an entire show about it you can look that up on the podcast page in the archives and listen to that and there's associated imagery along with that but I just wanted to say this Tuesday okay is May 1st which is the end of this particular season of sacrifice window and Tuesday as we know is a day that dark occultist also like to pull different events false flag events etc because it is the Astra Theological a day that represents the God of War Tuesday in the French language is marady and of course that stands for the god Mars or the planet Mars who in the Roman tradition was the God of War this is partially I believe why 9/11 was chosen to be conducted on a Tuesday because it was a false flag event or a sacrifice a human sacrifice event that was geared to bring us into war and therefore invoked upon a Tuesday this is how the dark occult works they love symbol they love ritual okay they love repetition they do things on a schedule they do things according to ritual so I'll put it out there to say just watch for the possibility of some kind of a terror event or false flag event this coming Tuesday I'm not saying it's definitely going to happen I'm saying it would be definitely within the keeping of the tradition and rituals of dark occultism for them to attempt to pull something on this day okay so that is just out there I wanted to put that out there and that's all say about that so I want to direct everyone's attention to the what on earth is happening website on the radio show page as usual underneath the player are images for today's show they are numbered numbered links okay you can click on them and follow along with a virtual slideshow of the concepts and ideas that I'll be discussing here today on the show in the first part of the show I'm going to review some information about conscience and justification and then hopefully at the very top of the second hour I will be getting into apophysis and the allegorical meaning of the four movies that I want to briefly break down and look into today on the show which is which are the matrix the first Matrix movie equilibrium Rise of the Planet of the Apes and another film known as the box that's coming up on the show today stay with us ladies and gentlemen you're listening to what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting we'll be right back after these words welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle broadcast radio network last week we continued to talk about the concept of the non support of dominators and this is going to be the topic over the next many weeks I'm going to cover this until I feel comfortable that I have said what I wanted to say and I'm going to say that in an uninterrupted way as far as taking calls goes I'm not going to be taking calls today or in the next few weeks until I'm through with the non support of dominators solution after that we will have two entire call-in shows and people can voice their opinions bring up information regarding this topic this solution that I have proposed and basically talk about it in whatever way they wish to bring up on the air but today I'm going to continue with the examination of what conscience really is and statements that I made last week which could have possibly been taken in a very harsh way or in an unpleasant way or an even in an offensive way by many people and that's fine they're they're totally entitled to feel that way that's not going to change the truth of the statement that I made one bit because I said that no one who has ever ever done the job of being in the institutions of the military and the police have has ever truly had a developed conscience they are not in ownership of a developed conscience if your job is to follow orders and you continue to be a part of that institution institutional body it is an impossibility it is a contradiction in terms it is an antithesis of what it means to actually be in possession of a true one chance and you can have a problem with that statement all you want and as I often say on the show get is offended about it as you like it does we'll never make that statement untrue okay and I know that's extremely difficult for most people to comprehend because they're under a form of mind control that we talked about at the beginning of this section called emotional mind control this is the inability to separate out one's feelings from the rational thoughts regarding what is true or what is not true you're not hearing the actual truth that is contained in a statement you're thinking about how does that affect my feelings and in trying to think with feelings you're not ever reaching rational logical truth you're not actually able to comprehend and take in the understanding of conscience you're not able to take in the understanding of natural law the understanding of what a right actually is versus what a right is not ever okay and that's what why we're in this mess folks we're in this mess because of that level of emotional mind control that people can't separate out their feelings and they want to graft their feelings on to an external situation feelings that they have for an individual and often it's because they know someone who was involved in these institutions and so do I my grandfather served in the military so did my father okay it doesn't make one iota of difference I would tell them that they really deeply did not have an understanding or a true hold true possession of what a conscience actually is and there's a reason for that okay so in looking at the images on the slides on the radio show page one and three or images that have been up there over the last few weeks okay this is the section called the way out in the series of talks or presentations or radio shows however you want to look at them I put the actual solutions that I have listed in the next slide slide number two slide number 3 is the solution known as the non-supportive dominators and this we have talked in this section about knowing what conscience really is it is the DS essing possession of the definitive knowledge of the difference between right and wrong under natural law and that is that definition for what conscience really is is given on slide number four and conscience of course comes from the latin language con ski area which means to know together okay con meaning together prefix and ski eres Kyousuke re meaning to know so it's common sense knowledge okay this is something that we should know together that we should be in common possession of conscience is about ownership it is about possession of knowledge having knowledge not having an opinion conscience has nothing to do with an opinion it has nothing to do with feeling about information it only has to do with whether you definitively know whether something is right or wrong that's it and that can be known because right and wrong are not objects are not subjective they are not something that are open to interpretation or likes dislikes feelings anything like that they are objective realities objective realities in natural law that work 100% flawlessly 100% of the time and people have a problem with that because they don't like to hear that anything is absolute we've been brainwashed into thinking that the entire universe is something that is relative and it is not when it comes to natural law there is no relativity relativity does not apply to behavioral consequence laws and maybe we should stop even referring to it as natural law because people go to Darwinism when they hear the word natural that's where their mind has been conditioned through mind control to go oh you're talking about the survival of the fittest no I'm not talking about survival of the fittest not in any way shape or form I'm talking about the antithesis of survival of the fittest I'm talking about survival of those who really understand the laws of nature and have raised their consciousness up to a higher plane to understand causality that's what I'm talking about when I talk about natural law but unfortunately most people's brainwashed mind cannot take in the concept of the award that is carried by the word natural they immediately think Darwinian evolution and survival of the fittest and and the law of the jungle meaning oh let me just take whatever I can and do whatever I can to you to survive that's not what natural law is they immediately think of animals and law law of the jungle as it has been you know indoctrinated into people's minds to believe we should maybe start calling it the laws of behavioral consequences that there are in escapable consequences for the result of the behavior that we enact into the world that we will experience that which we put out period that that there is no escape for that and unfortunately people's behavior is completely in contradiction to natural law is it completely in contradiction to conscience and right from wrong and therefore they're bringing more and more and more chaos into the world as a result of this lack of understanding and their behavior that is in opposition to the laws of behavioral consequence and until they make that recognition and then adjust their thoughts and then subsequently adjust their be hey to align it with the laws of behavioral consequence or in other words conscience don't expect the external conditions ever to improve ever ever because the laws of reality and the laws of the universe do not function that way they do not allow for that level of ignorance you are going to be bringing on negative results meaning suffering pain chaos unto yourselves and others for as long as you continue to break those laws of nature the end for all time it doesn't make a difference what you think about that that's the reality that we are all living in whether any of us like it or even understand it or want to recognize it that's it it's not not because I said so either and again if you're just thinking I don't like the way he just explained that that seems a arrogant that he's so cocky and sure of that well you're under emotional mind-control because you're not actually hearing the information all you want to hear is how it's being delivered and I'm not gonna back down on how I deliver something and there's a reason for that because in a lot of ways I'm not trying to reach the people that are under deep emotional mind-control I'm trying to reach people who can work with them and help to take them out of that state because that's not me I'm here to work with the adults ladies and gentleman or I've said this before that's why I said the gloves are off now I'm here talking to people who at least have part partially opened their eyes and want to be treated like adults and they can go and work with the little children who need to be baby spoon-fed because that's not what I'm prepared to do welcome back everyone listening to what on earth is happening let's jump right back into the subject matter because I have some more to cover before we get to apophysis in the next hour in slide number five I talked about the difference between having conscience and exercising it using it putting it into practice in our lives the exercise of conscience is about using the knowledge that we have acquired of the definitive difference between right and wrong under natural under natural law pardon me the exercise of conscience is the willful choosing of right action over wrong action the willful choosing of right action over wrong action once that definitive knowledge of the difference between right and wrong has been acquired it's that simple you now know what the difference between a right and a wrong is so therefore you willfully choose only to exercise actions which are your right to take and you say no to doing things which you know definitively no you do not have a right to take actions which you do not have a right to take it's that simple and again ladies and gentlemen I've said this before many times it is so much more about what we need to stop doing what we need to say no to and that's why in the second part of the show today I'm going to be explaining the entire dynamic of apophysis were saying no the most powerful word in the universe no we have to understand this word we have to use it and the New Age the New Age movement people won't be happy about that and tough you know they want to make everything about affirmation and nothing about negation when in fact it's almost entirely about negation it's almost entirely about the refusal of things recognizing them as that which will lead to chaos and suffering and saying no I will not go there I will not do that and sadly there's so little courage in the world to make that statement too wrong to say no to to the doing of wrong deeds because people want the little trinkets that are tossed before them by their masters for doing things that they have absolutely no right to do and again their masters aren't doing this that's why I keep trying to explain to people yes the dark occultists of this world understand how the mind and how the motivations operate and they're all too willing to dangle that carrot out in front of you but you're the one who's doing the action and therefore the culpability lies with the one who is doing the action the overwhelming bulk of the culpability and consequence under natural law lies with the one who is actually taking the action and a lot of people will fight and argue over that to go right ahead it'll never change the reality that an order Barker one who is just barking out orders okay is not going to deal with the same level of karmic natural law consequence than the person who follows their immoral order will that is the reality of how natural law functions so you can blame it on the elitists sitting up in their ivory towers telling people do this do that all you want they're not the people who are actually destroying people's rights the police and the military are the ones who are actually taking those actions to destroy other people's rights which they have no right to do themselves but they're the ones taking those actions on the next slide I reiterated in so many words in a in a slightly different way what I said last week about these people do not have conscience they do not have that definitive knowledge in hand or at least they're not exercising it whether they have it or not regardless of whether they have it or not they're not exercising it so I wrote on an image in front of images of the police and military by definition by the very definition of the term if you are following orders you can not be exercising conscience these are complete diametrically opposed opposites they are antithesis antitheses completely diametrically opposed ideas it is an impossibility to do both of these things at the same time and yet there are so many people that will tell you that that's possible it is not possible it is not possible because even if you're following an order that you believe is right and you're following it because you're under orders you're not really doing that action because you know it to be right you're following it because you were ordered to if you're if you're following orders and if you know something is wrong whether you know something is wrong or not if it is wrong and your thought choosing to follow it you're certainly not exercising your conscience people who willfully act out of conscience do not do so because they're saying that they're following orders that's not why they're doing it they're doing it because they definitively know the difference between right and wrong and are choosing the right over the wrong and that is not what any cop any soldier in the history of humanity has ever been doing they have been following orders and they're all too happy to tell you that and this goes back to you know I want to even Drudge up some old things you know I want to put I'm gonna put on the the podcast that video that I posted back months ago of a cop who would was an african-american cop in a major USC I think he was outside of Washington DC or in Washington DC and he said if I were ordered to do it I would UN force segregation laws against African American citizens in other words if the if the Congress passed a law saying there's now segregation laws are now back in place we're going to begin discriminating against all African American human beings I would as an African American even you know which is showing you it has nothing to do with the fact that he's he's African American it's because the reason I even emphasized that in the show when I brought this up is because this this beings belief in authority his religion his religious his erroneous religious beliefs okay his Dogma is even more powerful than his identification with whatever race he claims to be a member of and this is the case with almost anyone who believes in authority that trumps every other form of identification and I've talked about how race is basically an illusion as well and you know people who identify with that don't understand what's really going on they don't get it you know regardless of where that racism may be coming from or who's enacting it or who's putting that those ideas out there it's always an illusion of false identification of identification with the false ego self and that cop even he probably even has that level of racial identification and that is completely and utterly trumped by his identification with authority because he's saying even if you want to oppress people I generally identify with in other areas of my life I'm still going to say yeah I'll oppress them because I believe you have the right to do that because you passed the law and I am the enforcer of that law that's all I do is follow orders that's the definition of not having a conscience this this individual does not possess a conscience he does not have that knowledge he's certainly not exercising a conscience making a decision like that or claiming that he would make a decision like that and this is the most reprehensible type of human being that exists there is no foul or form of human being that exists on the planet you are no your be up below an animal animals don't make choices like that you are below beneath animal consciousness far below it and it's sad it's not something you know I don't want to hate people like that it's so sad you're so ill you don't even understand how ill you are you are so destroyed you your real self is devastated is totally annihilated is totally destroyed and you don't even care enough about yourself to even know that and that's extraordinarily sad extraordinarily sad but these are the people who are building the dark new world order ladies and gentlemen until you get up in their face and make them see the error of their ways whether they want to see it or not they're gonna keep building that dark new world order unchallenged we'll be right back welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host Marc pastor Ward into the second hour of the show today I want to say a few words about justification which I brought up last week near the end of the program the people who continue to tread on other people's rights think somehow that they have some kind of a right to do this think somehow that they own someone else when they don't even own their own selves they don't even own their own minds or actions okay they've want to give away personal responsibility to some master who's gonna tell them everything that they need to do and that'll make it okay endlessly justify their actions and so do people who other people who think they have these imagined rights who think that they're allowed to be doing what they're doing because some psychopath in a suit and tie wrote it down in a book you know you you can write anything down and say you have a right to do it but that'll never make it true you can claim you can you know put infant children on spits and roast them over coals and eat them but that's not gonna ever make that true it's never gonna make it true it's always gonna be a wrong forever for eternity writing it down is not gonna change a thing which is why people have to get out of this mind control that somehow written down laws that are penned by man are somehow always in harmony with the laws of nature when nothing could be farther further from the truth as a matter of fact the vast majority of Myr are not in keeping with natural law and therefore leading people deeper and deeper into a chaotic manifestation of reality justification people love it because they try to use it to absolve themselves of their personal responsibility for making the right choice or the wrong choice as the case may be it comes from Latin yes which means right or law okay which is the root word for justice we will have justice when we are really living in harmony with true law natural law that's when we will be living in a state of right action these come from the same word the verb thought cherry myth would which means to make or to create forms the other part of it and that's what justification is doing it is a feeble attempt to turn a wrong into a right or to create a right quote unquote create a right which does not exist you can never create a right which is why I put it in double quotes there's no such thing as creating rights rights are not made by men rights are inherent to creation they are they are already self existing and the universe put them there the curt because the creator of the universe put right and wrong in place that's it so there is no such thing as creating a right granting a right which is why all forms of government are moderna sense and completely unjustified meaning it's wrong you can't justify it people think that somehow an authority figure can claim that they have rights that other people don't have there's no such thing as laying claim to a right that is a wrong you can never say oh that's wrong anybody else does it it's wrong but I'm going to claim it as a right that I'm allowed to do it but that's what justification is I'm gonna do this wrong and then I'm gonna claim somehow make a claim that it was okay for me to do for whatever reason I'm going to invent a reason in my head people need to stop falling for this and they need to stop supporting the people who continue to do this practice because they're wrong no matter what justifications they use to support their immoral behavior we'll be right back and talk about apophysis stay with us welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting under host mark passio my website what on earth is happening com we were talking about justification slide number eight with a disturbing image of bodies piled in a field and I said as long as people keep justifying immoral behavior expect to see more and more of this in the human future atrocities committed by all kinds of regimes throughout history doesn't matter where or when it's all based on people and their belief in authority believing that they need to continue to follow orders who will never say no they're yes men the most dangerous kind of individual in the world somebody who unquestioningly blindly accepts authority and says yes to it completely putting their conscience into a grave and ultimately if enough people continue to do that action they put themselves into a grave and humanity as a whole is moving toward this condition they don't understand just how quickly they're moving toward it they want to make it about the people at the very top you know espousing whatever tenets our ideologies they may espouse but ultimately you bought into that idea and actually took the action and once again that's why that's what I want to emphasize about why we should not be supporting anybody who is a follower of orders you shouldn't have a whole lot of respect or admiration for these people these are the people that whose behavior is look should be loathsome to us I'm not saying hate them attempt to continue to change them and not saying go along with their actions either that doesn't mean you may need to physically stop them from taking their actions okay so what I'm saying is we need to get the information about how wrong what these people are doing and that they don't have a right to do these things into their hands before they bring something far worse down upon themselves and everyone else around them because that's the direction we seem to be headed and the answer for the non-supportive dominators and for what these quote dominators themselves because they're not the real dominators they're taking orders from the real dominators okay they think they're in control they're nodding can the police and military are in control of nothing nothing their mind is handed over to people who actually are in control of them they own their body they because they own their mind and they can't see that people under this level of mind control think they're somehow in control of their own actions and this is what they want to do but they're still taking that action they're still taking it and I would even argue yes it's still an act of your will because you bought the idea you bought the idea from the psychopath you bought the idea from the globalist or the elitist or the psychopath or the occultist you bought into their worldview that's utter nonsense and now you're taking actions based on their commands an order follower and somehow you wear that as a badge of honor you're not that's not I've said this before that's not a man or a woman that's the exact opposite of that that's the lack of individual self that you know that doesn't make you bold or courageous or something that should be admired that makes you weak and deplorable and something that should be looked at with pity because you're ill you're ill you're psychologically ill you're mentally ill you're spiritually ill you're completely ill and many of you have no idea you don't even know it well someone needs to reach out and try to help these individuals become well become whole again because they are fragmented within their mind and within their heart and they're ultimately their true self is destroyed for the most part as to whether it can be resurrected the answer is in saying no to develop the courage to say no to things that you know are wrong that everyone knows is wrong you know when people are suffering you know when you're not doing the right thing you know when you're hurting someone else you know this everyone knows this everyone but you want the paycheck or you want the prestige or you want to just maintain the job or you want to maintain your living situation or your conditions or whatever it doesn't make a difference all of that is justification trying to make a wrong into a right I'm gonna do this because if I don't I might lose my house cuz I might not be able to pay my bills well then lose your house that's it that's the kind of resolve and courage this is gonna take you may need to live homeless for a while by choosing the right thing yes yes that is what I would tell someone yes that is what you do need to do if you can't if you absolutely have no other recourse oh maybe you might even need to starve I won't have any food I won't have any money to buy food well maybe you should still choose the right thing and starve how about that how about that I'll look somebody in the face and tell them that yeah a a secret police from you know Soviet Russia given orders to go and kill someone or otherwise hey maybe you go in the bread line with everyone else or even worse grow a set how about that and stand up to evil no you're too spiritually weak for that which is proof these people are not real men and women they want to think of themselves as some kind of tough guys but they're not real men they're cowards they're cowards when it comes to actually standing up to evil they won't tell their superiors to shove it no I'm not going to do that laughing laugh at orders as if somebody thinks they have a right to order someone else around tell them what they should be doing and the fact that people even buy into this shows what kind of psychological infants children they are but more than that really ultimately what it really goes down to showing unequivocally out in the light of day is that these people are self-hatred haters they hate who they are that's why they want to continue to bring about more suffering upon themselves something inside them hates what they are and ultimately the only thing that can truly heal this entire situation is for people to come to grips with their weaknesses admit them admit that you're weak admit that there's something wrong with you that you have an imbalance that you have an illness that you are weak that you are ill that you are sick and that you need help and there are plenty of people who are willing to come and help people I don't personally want to see anyone suffer like that one to be sick want to be in this existential sickness of self-loathing behavior because somehow you can't develop respect for yourself that respect is only truly going to come about by saying no apophysis saying no let's look at it in depth let's talk about what it actually is and then let's break down some examples of it in allegorical fiction we'll be right back you're listening - what on earth is happening stay with us everyone welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening I'm your host mark passio let's jump right back into the subject material on slide number nine I have the concept of apophysis which we want to really explore today and take a look at in allegorical fiction apophysis apo phas is apophysis otherwise known as apophatic inquiry the opposite of cata fatik inquiry okay what this is is affirmation through negation it means to arrive at an understanding okay to arrive at knowledge by way of the exclusion of known negatives it has also been called describing what something is by explaining that which it definitely is not so you're going to arrive at an understanding of something by saying well it's not this it's not this it's not this it's not this until you have a list of that which it definitely is not and then you come to know more about what it is by definitively recognizing that which it is not so you arrive at knowledge which is an affirmation which is a positive thing by way of negation we're saying that which it is not okay and that's what the word actually means apophysis is a Greek noun okay alpha Pi Omicron fee Alpha Sigma iota Sigma is how it is spelled in Greek apophysis okay it's a noun that is derived from the greek verb upon AI which means not to speak not to speak but see there's a connotation to this verb in Greek it doesn't mean to remain utterly silent it really means to say no to say no to say that which something is not okay negative description would be a good way of defining the word apart the verb upon I saying that which it is not the symbol of apophysis has been used in many different ways in the mystery traditions symbolically and I place this image on the left on this slide with the initiate who has arrived at an understanding of natural law and as such he is standing in between the raised pillars that are depicted as Jed pillars in the Egyptian tradition or I should say the Commission tradition with the winged disc of Motte the goddess of justice and law higher law order peace prosperity justice higher law natural law is what this goddess represented as the lintel a BA in this doorway or this gateway this star gate that the initiate has passed through because it is a star gate of understanding he is now in understanding of the laws of nature his feet arranged in the Masonic Square the up right square knot the inverted square that lies under the compasses but the one that has been turned up right a 90-degree angle a right angle that's why it is the symbol of the master of the lodge okay turned up right grasped by the balance point he is the balance point represented in the image as the middle pillar in between the other pillars that leads to the solar disk the Stargate the Sun the light the way the truth the life the light of the world Aleut cosmic illumination cry stood consciousness and he has his finger up to his lips in the typical pose you know shush in someone but that's not it doesn't mean don't speak stay silent it means say no say no to that which is wrong that is how you say yes to that which is right you stop doing action which is immoral which is morally wrong which is not within your natural law rights to take in the world and we talked about apophysis is how you arrived at the understanding of what you have a right to do and not do you describe that which you do not have a right to do because it causes harm to others it causes suffering the natural law transgressions which we talked about in the natural law section go back listen to those podcasts listen to them over and over again if you have to understand what a right is not that's how you know what your rights are your rights are actions which you may perform that do not cause harm to another living being through the four natural law basic natural law transgressions which all boil down to theft taking something which you do not have a right to take taking something which is not yours again this is all about ownership self ownership possession you see these words come up over and over again even in the definitions conscience is the possession of knowledge sovereignty is self ownership the ownership of your own mind thoughts your own thoughts emotions and actions not giving them away to someone else because you don't want the personal responsibility of using them wisely this is what apophysis is and it is the Apollo oh gee it's the same thing this concept represents the apology Oppo logos we could break that word down see the the noun son I in Greek is to speak which is that where the faceis comes from Oppo faceis apophysis okay an op ho means the negation of or to take away or to remove - so to take away speaking not to speak to say no apology means to take away the word op o logos apology to remove the word well that's how we speak through the word it means you're giving the word back you're saying no to evil and as such you're saying yes you know the theft of the logos is what the original true sin is about because it what you're really trying to do is say through your words your justifications that you have rights which you don't have that's what all quote sin or all transgressions against natural law are about making a claim that's your word you're making a claim you're lying you're saying something is right when it isn't you're saying you have a right that you don't that the Creator did not give you inherently and that's what making an apology is about giving back the word where it rightfully belongs not saying that you have a right to do things that you don't have a right to do anymore Apollo G to take away the word and ultimately that word is saying yes to evil you're removing the yes and replacing it with a no to evil so it's the same as apophysis again that's why this symbol of the enlightened initiate in the Stargate with his hand over his finger up over his lips that's why this is used it's an ancient concept that still applies today more now more than ever is when it needs to be employed we need to step up and say no we need to say no to people trying to take our rights and the people who are appointed to enforce those wrongs need to say no to their owners and stop doing those actions stay with us we're going to break down these four movies on the other side of this break engine for you we're back everyone talking about apophysis today on what on earth is happening a concept many people have never heard of but should become very familiar with if they want to really understand what's going to be required to get us out of this mess that we're in in consciousness here on the earth and there is a another aspect of apophysis that people may recognize of course yes the beginning see this has to do with speaking of course okay it has to do with vibration the kind of vibration we need to be in to say no to know that which is right and that which is wrong it's all about vibration the connection that we need to make to get into that vibration to the divine force of creation regardless of what you want to call that look at that as okay again that's someone's personal connection that they need to forge on a one-to-one basis I'm not here to tell anyone what that force or that intelligence that divine creative force is that's up to you to forge that connection okay but the word does also derive from the Egyptian God Apep okay we talked about before on the show and the Greek variant of that God was Apophis the the this was a God of darkness of chaos in many ways of the abyss of the void and there's a reason for that there's a reason why he stands against the word why the name comes from the negation of the word because yes vibration is that divine force everything is the word the universe the one word the one song the one sound it's all about vibration vibration stops things collapse back into the void or darkness there is no light the universe is spoken into existence so very important to keep in mind this does not mean not to speak the truth this is not telling the initiate never say anything that's that's how it's completely misinterpreted or that's the interpretation given by the dark occult to their initiative this information that you now know it is to be spoken of it is to be shared widely and freely there should not be secrecy and hiding of information if you really want to see order brought into the world so a pep who is going against the word in other words closing down those vibrations the light okay to bring the world into chaos it's named after him for a reason the removal of the word hey that's in a dark sense yes but again if you're taking away the word from where it rightfully belongs okay instead of leaving it with that divine intelligence where it belongs meaning you're trying to take or create rights which you do not have okay you're acting like a pepper or apophis you could look at it as Satan where the dark incarnation of Lucifer it doesn't matter it's all the same concept but the concept to take away the word and give it back to from man and give it back to where it rightfully belongs we are not the word see we are not the logos we are part of it but no man is it and that's what people who take the word and make claims that their God and they have a right to appoint rights to themself or deny others rights that they do inherently have we're trying to delegate rights to other people that they don't have that's what they're trying to be they're trying to be God they have taken the word by making that claim I hope people can understand that I know it's a little bit heady of a concept but if you really meditate or contemplate on it you wander stand all the connections in language to this word there's not many people not many researchers talked about this concept I know one of them is Michael - sorry on who says we need to fall in love with the word no and he's right you know he does talk about our apathetic inquiry I like to think I've expanded on it even more so because this is such an important concept so let's look at these movies in the in the remainder of the show the first is the matrix well first of all in slide number 10 I've just posted here in no uncertain terms that the most powerful word in the universe is no that's it it isn't yes it's no that's the mode that's the word of power and you might even say it is the lost word as they call it in the mystery traditions or in Freemasonry specifically know is the lost word is the word that we have seemingly not been able to say with any true power with any true force behind it we keep saying yes to evil and we refuse to say no to evil and these three images are places in these powerful allegorical films which the heroes of the film have found the courage and the power to speak the word of power which is no I will not cooperate I will not accept your worldview I will not do what you tell me to do for another instant that's when you have all the power that creation will ever afford to you that's what real power is I will not do what's wrong and it is found in the negative ladies and gentlemen and the New Age movement doesn't want you to know that it's put out there by a lot of dark occultists not all of them there's some good information in even within that movement I say I don't state that as a blanket statement and never have but a lot of people in the New Age movement are useful idiots because they bought into this completely erroneous idea of what the law of attraction is really a affirmation through negation apophysis saying no is what the real law of attraction is about and you will attract to yourself the greatest amount of power when you negate immorality when you negate doing things that you know you do not have the right to do and you say no I will not be part of that at any capacity in any capacity to the extent that it is within my capability so this slide kind of summarizes the movies that we're gonna look at and I did not put one of them in there because there's not actually it's kind of about the fail the failure of a pop apophysis the last movie I'm going to talk about and I don't know if I'm gonna even get to the last slide I might leave that as a mystery image you know Pete I almost didn't get a chance to discuss the initiate and the Stargate on that show I rushed it in the last few minutes of the show but I might even let this one dangle over and explain it in another in next week's show or something I really want to talk about these movies the matrix okay one of the greatest spiritual allegories ever made neo the hero of The Matrix who represents the higher mind the neocortex okay finally finds his real power as the one his name means new neo means new okay and you rearrange the letters to form one meaning the balanced individual the individual who is living in harmony with natural law the individual who has United his thoughts his emotions and his actions the individual who has United the the left and right brain hemisphere so that the brain the neocortex is operating in a state of balance or oneness okay in conjunction with the heart or conscience in the at the end of the movie when his heart is revived by the Sacred Feminine see his heart is physically pumped back to life by the Sacred Feminine represented by Trinity thought emotion and action coming together to reignite the pump the center of the self okay the heart the generative principle true care he finally steps up and stands up to the evil ones and what does he say the first word that leaves his mouth when the when the agents hold up their weapons and prepare to give him orders is no no is the word that neo speaks to truly become the one and then there's no stopping him he is able to manipulate the matrix at will he is able to stop bullets by thought I'm not saying that's a physical actual reality I'm saying that's where the real power to stop the inevitable chaos lies in saying no to evil not going along anymore refusing orders this is so beautifully portrayed in this movie because the allegory of the matrix is absolutely one of the highest level spiritual allegories that has ever been made and very very few people really understand it with any depth and it's sad that people can watch allegory and it can go right over their head I'm going to break down the last three in the last segment I think I'll leave that on in for next week you'll be right back ladies and gentlemen you're listening - what on earth is happening here on the auricle Broadcasting Network stay with us welcome back ladies and gentlemen last segment of what on earth is happening we're today let's jump right back into the material image number 12 shows scenes from the movie equilibrium and again that is considered to be the lost word of Freemasonry because equilibrium is what leads to the saying of the word know coming into harmony equilibrium balance just like in the Matrix movie when the Trinity is in the heart okay neo finally says no well when there is balance true balance the hero of this movie the grammaton cleric John Preston who is standing up to the man as God father of the Tetragrammaton the totalitarian world government okay who look at themselves as God tetragrammaton being a name for God okay he finally says no the idea in equilibrium is that all emotions are outlawed the Sacred Feminine itself is outlawed you're not allowed to display emotions you could be incinerated for doing so literally so he's one of the enforcers he's one of the cops in the allegory of this totalitarian regime led by father who you see there on the right and this is a Masonic allegory as well because the other grammaton cleric who he finally has to go to war with I believe his name is Brant in the movie you know Christian Bale who plays John Preston the grammaton cleric represents the white pillar the pillar of jackeen in Freemasonry and then his opponent Brandt who is trying to basically make him slip up or you know show display emotion and ultimately turns him into the tetragrammaton the it turns him into father and here these are basically scenes from the end of the movie when he has finally turned in and they're getting ready to you know try to put him down but he ultimately puts them all down okay that this is the light and dark pillar of Freemasonry people would think Oh what has to do with race it has nothing to do with race they are putting a african-american man in the role of Brant to represent the dark pillar which represents darkness the moon pillar the lunar ok yes it also represents in the synthesis between the masculine and feminine the the feminine but if you look at it from Freemasonry as representing especially in the first degree tracing board as I explained it if you turn it to its side you look at it as a stepwise progression from darkness to light which is what the tradition is actually about the progression from ignorance to knowledge from not understanding natural law to fully understanding it and choosing to live in harmony with it ok he is the dark pillar Brant the the evil grammaton cleric and John Preston is the light pillar that represents the Sun the light ok that you have to come to an understanding of natural law you have to arrive at knowledge which is what light is represented as light in Freemasonry okay so you'll you see this pillar symbolism in the movie as well especially when he comes into the chamber to do battle with Brant and father the the one who thinks he's God you know so there's also an interesting couple of interesting dynamics brought up in this movie first of all the symbolism is very powerful you see the Tao cross and the equal armed cross formed by the conjunction of the four Tao crosses in the bottom right hand of this slide but you also see the octagon around it representing the hypercube clearly someone had high amounts of occult symbolic knowledge to put this in the controller's room these are all symbols of the control system in the occult okay and the room is octagonal if you look at the end scene one of the scenes leading up to the end the fight scene at the end the big dramatic fight scene but uh John Preston displays no emotion see it's showing the emotional mind control was over and now he's ready to really say no he's not thinking with his emotions anymore okay that's what this galvanic skin response test that he's hooked up to when he's in the offices of Father is about and I highly recommend people watch this movie it's difficult to explain the entire thing just in a few moments but basically this former order follower who finally has a moment of conscience and refuses his orders is coming after his totalitarian oppressors his former masters and he's they're interviewing him to see if he's has emotions now and he's displaying all these emotions they they now know you know he's outed himself and the father character is saying well you've now given a given us given yourself to us calmly and coolly without without any incident and that's the moment that his emotions go flatline and now he's going to step up and do what needs to be done totally without thinking about it in an emotional sense which is sadly what it may need to come down to everything I do on the show as I've said many times is to avert that is to avoid it having to ever come down to anything like that like what we had to go through in the first American Revolution and it's always a failure to have to do it that way but there are many people who will definitively choose to continue to do it that way if it can't be done through consciousness because they're not willing to just say no I'm gonna cast in all the chips and say I'm done and I'm not going to give anybody a chance in the future to resist this tyranny and oppression so it's always done in an act of love that level of rebellion in the physical sense but at the same time recognize that it's always is a failure at some level because you're probably gonna have to go there again because you haven't gotten it done in consciousness and you haven't really taught people so that's a hard lesson to learn in the movie and I figured I'd comment on it a little bit Rise of the Planet of the Apes is the next movie depicted in image 13 and the star of the movie is the ape Caesar he's the hero who is evolving into something more than what he was okay and now humans are trying to hold him his evolutionary development back and still treat him like an animal which is what this control system is all about he's different than the other Apes there are qualities to him that are different even if you think you need to exercise control of over feral animals he is something different and has evolved to a place that is beyond the regular ape creature and he is being controlled by this other guard in this facility the guard is named dodge and you see him hitting him with a pain stick with a pain compliance thick an electrical like a cattle prod and Caesar finally recognizes his moment of truth and his moment of power by finally saying no depicted in the bottom left here too dodj and then he goes on to lead his fellow Apes to freedom you don't know what happens well maybe you do because it kind of you know what happens eventually you know he can't really control the other apes at some point in the future but the point here is he doesn't find his power as the most intelligent of them recognizing that Brandt I'm sorry Dodge is doing something that is he doesn't have a right to do and he's wrong for doing he doesn't recognize that true power and come into a position of true leadership until he says no and then finally the movie the box the last image I'm sorry the second-to-last image number 14 a stranger with this distorted face comes to a house of a couple and presents the choice he gives a box to them with a red button inside of it that they have to open and press and if they press that button they will receive a million dollars in cash but someone that they don't know will die so they have to ignore their conscience if they want that million dollars and press that button and of course they do woman presses that button she won't say no is something that she knows is wrong and ultimately the movie I highly encourage everyone to watch it is about the consequences that will inevitably result by the refusal to say no a great movie the box with Cameron Diaz from 2009 check it out we could talk about about these words Borg has moved

freedom man that's what it's all about [Music] you've got to groove on freedom like the good book says [Music] welcome you are listening to what on earth is happening this show will discuss the topics of human consciousness mind control natural law the occult and all issues that affect the freedom of the people of earth what on earth is happening will endeavor to shine light upon the darkness of our world and to offer empowering solutions to the problems we face as humanity approaches its critical moment of choice and now here is your host mark pascio welcome one and all you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the oracle broadcasting radio network i am your host mark pascio my website is what on earth is happening.com the network's website of course is oraclebroadcasting.com today is sunday may 6 2012. we have a great show lined up for you here today on oracle broadcasting we're going to be continuing talking about solutions and one of the biggest solutions being the withdrawal of our support from the dominator culture and those who continue to support coercion control and the abuse of other people's inherent natural law rights we are going to be talking about saying no to domination in general saying no to the entire mindset of being a controller or being controlled we are going to be talking about saying no to evil ladies and gentlemen because that is one of the biggest solutions this system cannot continue to do what it does without us supporting it and giving life to an immoral system of control so that's coming up today on what on earth is happening i do have a couple of quick event announcements before we get into the subject material for today's show i'm going to be appearing on occult science radio with curtis davis the illuminated one on monday may 7th that's tomorrow evening monday may 7th 2012 at 8 30 p.m i believe it's a two-hour show so 8 30 p.m to 10 30 p.m east coast time tomorrow evening occult science radio with the illuminated one curtis davis i'll be posting a link to the website tonight in the news section of what on earth is happening happening.com also it looks like we have found tentatively i will say a venue for the truth freedom prosperity documentary night and i'll be announcing whether that's definite tomorrow on the show here in philadelphia of course the meetup group truth freedom prosperity a great group of activists in the philadelphia area usually meet every uh last wednesday of the month for a free documentary screening and discussion evening this month i'm planning on showing max egan's new film transformation which i found to be excellent i just downloaded it and watched it a couple of weeks back when it first came out and that's the one i'm planning on showing this month it looks like we have a new venue here in philadelphia at essene food market essene food market which is on fourth and monroe streets here in philadelphia there's something about 4th street you know the freer mind conference happened just off of 4th street media bureau where we hosted the documentaries previously was on 4th street and now a little bit farther south uh below center city into south philadelphia we may be moving the documentary night that's tentative it's not definite if it works out it'll be on may 30th but more about that on the other side stay with us [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting i'm your host mark pascio my website what on earth is happening.com before the break i was talking about the um moving of the venue of the truth freedom prosperity documentary screening and discussion evenings here in philadelphia you know this is a unique meetup group here in in philly because i don't know of anyone else that's hosting documentary nights like this i wish there were more of them i wish more people were doing things like this but unfortunately i i don't really see many of them especially not here in the city i know that um betsy metz does her um 911 and other truth films at the anthony wayne theater in wayne uh pennsylvania just outside of the city limits but here in the city the tfp documentary night's one of the only documentary discussion screening and discussion evenings that i know of so very important i think to keep them going because we're definitely reaching a core audience of individuals who want to go further in their understanding and take their consciousness to a higher level so with that having been said like i said um i've been in discussions with one of the managers at a scene food market and it looks like it's going to work out i just have to find out the availability if the last wednesday of the month is available if not we may have to move it to another night during the week but if it is available uh and i will know that by probably sometime this week i'll announce it and uh it will be taking place on may 30th tentatively so um that's that announcement um there is one other quick announcement regarding the announcement that i made last week about ad-free sponsorship for this show so many people complain of the commercial breaks them being too frequent i've explained numerous times about why they're necessary it pays for bandwidth on the network this is a live radio show not a podcast as are the other shows on this network so um for the people i said who you know still wanted to complain about that there's now an opportunity to put your money where your mouth is literally so um i announced last week that there is the opportunity to sponsor this show uh to to have it go radio free i i was thinking outside the box about this scenario well the network needs to make make some money to pay for bandwidth costs and people don't like the commercials and the frequency so if someone would be willing to pay for blocks of ad time there they would have to take you know uh a section of of time um and i believe that the network is working it out that this actually has to be done in a month uh a several month basis in other words like for three months so they don't have to change the programming and then change it right back so um it's actually the rates are reasonable i've i've seen the rates i'm not going to announce them over the air if you're serious about uh doing this sponsorship to make the show go commercial free during the two hours that i'm on the air you can get in touch with me at what on earth is happening.com and i could uh have you get in touch with uh the uh uh individual who handles this at oracle broadcasting and they will give you the rates okay so that's how i'm i'm working it instead of just announcing what the cost would be on the air but i have seen the costs now and i'm realizing it is quite reasonable it's not something that would be you know way out of reach for many people so um uh perhaps people could go together and buy a three-month block of time okay and i already have one individual who's very interested in this and it looks like it's going to be going forward so at least for three months in the foreseeable future that this show will probably be commercial free now how long that will continue is up to the listening audience if they want to continue to sponsor the show uh and help the efforts of myself and oracle broadcasting they could contribute a little bit team up in in a pool of individuals and and contribute that way uh in that sense it wouldn't really take very much in the way of resources from what i have seen regarding the cost so if you are interested in perhaps teaming up with someone to do this uh get in touch with me and i could uh put you in touch with the individual at oracle you will need to speak to uh to get the exact rates but again like i said i have seen them and they are reasonable it is not something that i consider to be beyond feasibility so that's the last announcement that i have and let's jump into the subject material for today's show last week i was going into hypothesis in depth and for again this word is something that people many people have never heard of it's spelled a-p-o-p-h-a-s-i-s apophysis and it basically is a method of reasoning that is employed to arrive at knowledge by way of the exclusion of the negatives the exclusion of things that you definitely know uh something is not okay so you're removing the negative about something in order to understand that which it actually is okay so they call it apophatic inquiry okay it is affirmation through negation learning more about what something is by describing all of the qualities that actually have nothing to do with the thing that that it definitely is not and then by process by way of elimination you're actually left with the essence of the thing okay that's what apophis traditionally is what it means in its etymological roots if we go back to the greek uh root of the word it comes from the greek verb apopheni which means not to speak or in a in an actual deeper connotation it actually means to say no okay so apophis is to say that which something is not okay what we're really getting into here is how apophysis needs to be employed in order to stop giving power to the dominator system that is controlling us as a species stop propping up evil stop propping up immorality stop propping up coercion and the control of other human beings and the elimination of other people's natural rights and this really can only be done once we know what rights really are and apathetic inquiry of course we saw in the section on natural law and again uh reiterated recently is so critical to the understanding of what rights are we have to see our rights in the apathetic sense we have to know what they are by knowing what they are not by knowing what things we do not have the natural law right to do because those actions cause harm to other living beings so this section is about all about withdrawing our support as the battery that powers the dominator system that's what we've been talking about over the last many weeks if you go up to the what on earth is happening website on the radio show page click the radio show tab underneath the player for the show uh as always there are images for today's show and there are numerical links you can click them to bring up uh the slideshow of presentation slides of the concepts and ideas that i talk about on the show so as over the last many weeks the first three images are basically the same because we've been in the same section of this uh this information which is the solutions we're talking about solution oriented approaches and the solution that we're on is the non-supportive dominators so i want to pick up with image number four and five we talked about hypothesis that was image number four i want to go into image number five because i want to revisit these allegories which i really didn't have a chance to cover super in depth and i want to break them down a little bit more in depth this week on the show that's coming up stay with us everyone we'll be right back [Music] welcome back hypothesis or saying no to domination and i'm going to continue breaking down the four fictional allegories which really contain the concept of apophysis embedded in them at a deep level for those who are paying attention and really understand what these allegories are saying what they're all about uh one would recognize uh apothecis saying no as one of the huge uh central themes of these allegorical films and again people should not get hung up in the fictional aspect of these films they are they're like parables there are fictional tales yes but they're told to explain to us something about the real world in which we are living in and help us to gain a deeper understanding of that of those dynamics that are taking place around us in the in the world of the real not the the fictional okay so we have to understand that yes they're fictions but they're not really fictions they're allegorical fictions which are telling a deep moral teaching a deep moral lesson and wrapping it in the guise of a fiction of a story okay with that having been said last week we focused on four of these allegorical fictions and i i really kind of broke it out at the end of the show so i wanted to give a little bit more time to this that it because it does deserve a little bit more time because these um these concepts uh embedded in these films are so powerful when properly understood so we talked about the word no as it has been used throughout time and has as it has been used allegorically in these fictional um moral lesson teaching films and i called the word no the most powerful word in the entire universe people will say love is the most powerful word in the universe yes perhaps is the most powerful word you know truth the word no trumps them all ladies and gentlemen that's where real power may be found once we refuse to stop cooperating with the dark force once we refuse to stop cooperating with domination coercion control and we take control of ourselves our own thoughts our own emotions our own actions and bring them into unity with each other that's the only way we're going to develop the courage ever to say no to what is wrong in the new age movement again i know i harp on this a lot but it wants to tell you that this isn't how we should be approaching this and they're incorrect they're wrong they're basically trying to sugarcoat everything for people and tell them that it's never about saying no to anything it's only ever about saying yes to things and that's not the case as a matter of fact it's almost entirely the opposite as opposed to what we do need to be doing in the way of new things there's there's very little of that required okay we don't need to be doing all these different new things we need to stop doing the things that we are doing now that we don't have the right to do that are wrong that's how all of these problems that humanity is beset with would largely clear up practically in cosmic terms overnight if we started saying no to that which is wrong and the new age movement is a deflection away from that understanding they want you to think it's all good and it's all positive and never want to point a finger and say you know that's wrong and you should not be doing that they want to try to tell you all the things yes you should be doing this should be doing that see it's all about affirmation but it's never about negation never look at the negative is how the new age movement puts its message out there and again this is one of the most serious deceptions that is out there it is what i've called and many other researchers who understand this trap have called the last cul-de-sac before the gold mine before getting to the real alchemical gold which is apophysis which is the deep understanding of natural law and how it is being tr transgressed against at every turn by people who think that they have rights that they do not have who try to make justifications or creating rights that don't exist like we talked about a couple weeks back and last week also this movement you know of overly optimistic individuals perhaps who are misguided and then i would say at the very highest levels ultimately deceivers who are dark occultists who are trying to keep back the understanding of natural law and hypothesis at a deep level from people by feeding them this uh swill that they're feeding them about never looking at anything that's that's wrong or negative and telling them that that's bad and it'll bring it on when in fact you need to understand what's wrong you need to understand that because that's the answer to why you're experiencing what you're experiencing and that's what you need to stop doing if you no longer want to experience that self-inflicted suffering that is a direct result of taking those actions and it isn't just about telling people to start doing the right things it's it's all about i wouldn't say all but largely largely about telling them to stop doing the wrong things and then the self-corrective measures will organically take over at that juncture and yeah you do need to know what the right good things are to do but but i'm telling you it's largely about stopping the negative stuff largely about that and again the new age movement wants to tell you it's not that they and they can scream that until they're blue in the face and it will never make it true and again so many people who listen to information in general like this you know don't want to look at those negative things they want to believe it can all be solved or there's some you know by just you know doing positive work and never saying to people look you're still doing this and it's wrong and you need to stop doing that if more chaos isn't going to be created as a result and this is what they don't want people to do because they are cowards who fear any level of confrontation and there i said it that's what the people who will only engage the positive are all about they really don't have any real courage to stand up to a bully because that's what the lesson is here ladies and gentlemen that's ultimately what the lesson is saying no to a bully okay saying i'm not going to take this anymore for and mean it but also say i'm also not going to do your bidding anymore and mean it see hypothesis works it's a two-way street it's the people who are being oppressed by other dominators who need to say no i'm not going to continue to allow you to oppress me like this but also it's about the dominators telling their owners their masters you know who many of them don't even think that they have they think they're at the top of the food chain and that's pathetically laughable you know people in the police and military think they're the ones who are actually making the decisions that govern their actions you know and nobody owns them like a pet on a leash like a little lap dog okay it's pathetic i've talked about it before it's pathetic that these people think that they're real men or real women when they're not even really human beings at all at some level they've allowed what it means to be a human being to be completely taken and removed from them so they're they're taken they're chess pieces that have been taken you know in street lingo they've been took and don't even understand how they've been took and at some level it's absolutely pathetic that someone thinks that there's some kind of a real person and really they've completely given themselves up entirely over to another person another being just because they hate having to think for themselves and exercise true personal responsibility don't go anywhere we'll be right back folks [Music] [Music] welcome back everyone let's see what this happened i'm your first podcast here talk about fictional allegories containing the concept of hypothesis today and we're going to be breaking down four of them i'm gonna want to jump right into this right now because we only had a brief time to do this last week and i kind of rushed it so i think it deserves a little bit more time because these are phenomenal uh moral allegories if they're properly understood as something more than simple uh fictional movies so if we look at image number six it's a representation of one of the scenes in the movie the matrix from 1999 the first in the trilogy which i think all of the matrix movies all three of them are extraordinarily powerful allegorical um movies that explain not only the situation that we are in but also explain why we are in it the trilogy of the matrix actually gives us the answer to why this is happening and it's something many people don't understand they can't see the allegory in the matrix particularly the second and third movies these films resonated with people were huge box office successes but many people still the allegory escapes them and it goes right over their head even people who love the first one think that the second and third are you know weak in comparison when the deepest part of the allegory is contained in those films particularly film number two the matrix reloaded uh with the scene with the merovingian that i broke down of a couple of weeks back but this scene in image number six is at the end of the first film and it is when neo the hero of the movie played by keanu reeves uh he plays the character neo and this is an allegory for the neocortex the part of the brain that has to become one the one in order to unite with the heart which is the generative principle of care so that he can actually affect reality through his own will okay that's what the movie is about so when he finally realizes he is the one or in other words he has come to a place of balance and unity within his thoughts his emotions and his actions are one the aspects of his consciousness the left and right brain hemispheres are have become one they are no longer divided okay they're no longer chronically in a state of imbalance but they now have come into a state of balance okay his neo cortex operates at higher level thought in conjunction with the heart the generative principle of care meaning that which creates ultimately creates our experience that which we care about and then put our mind toward making a manifested reality by an act of our will okay so in this final scene in the movie or semi-final scene near the very end okay neo is dying he's brought back to life by trinity again this is another allegory trinity the three aspects the triune aspects of the self okay thought of motion action she represents the sacred feminine in the trinity of heroes which is morpheus representing thought trinity representing emotion and neo representing action or will okay she brings him to life okay so the generative principle of care our emotional qualities the emotional qualities of self the sacred feminine ultimately have to be brought back to life to inspire right action in the world when he realizes he is the one the first word out of his mouth when he stands to face the agents in the matrix who represent the control system depicted in the upper uh right hand panel on this image number six on the what on earth is happening radio show page or with the podcast for this show which i believe will be podcast 106. um the first word that leaves neo's mouth and i tried to catch the the scene tried to catch the frame in the upper left hand panel there as he is actually mouthing the word because he says it sort of quietly as his head is coming up from looking down but nonetheless the very first word that he speaks is no and upon saying that the realization of the power that he now holds is fully within him and he puts his hand up and is able to stop the bullets that leave the guns of the agents at will in other words he can now actually affect manifested reality and it doesn't mean that you're going to be able to put your hand up once you say no to the control system and fit and literally physically stop bullets of course this is an allegory it means that when we say no that's when this will be stopped but as long as we continue to give our support and say oh it's wonderful what our military boys are are doing it's wonderful what the cops do for us they're so necessary these institutions they keep us safe that's what they're here to do don't you know without them we'd be oh it would be a horrible situation for humanity you know as if somehow it isn't now a horrible situation and a much worse situation actually then of not having any idea what has led us into this mess rather than see the direct experiential results of k of actual chaos i would rather take my chances with that real chaos that real physical chaos that might happen if you let off controls off of people suddenly okay which sure there's an there's a potential for that am i afraid of that absolutely not i'll take my chances rather than live in a system that attempts at every turn to hold back and dissuade people from an understanding of natural law and therefore they don't understand how they're creating this chaos that they're living in they don't even understand that they are living in a state of chaos right now and what's called punctuated chaos which means it's very difficult ever to get rid of it or to jostle it free because you don't even understand what's causing it or why it's there to begin with no understanding of the causal factors which again is explained to the heroes in the movie in the second part of this allegory they want the solution to stopping all of this control they don't understand what's what really is causing it okay taking action is so important toward that end but you have to know the causal factor as well if you're really going to stop creating that which you do not want that's how the real law of attraction works you have to know how attraction operates you have to know how natural law works to bring us the experiences that we have on a day-to-day basis through our choices therefore you can make different choices and therefore change the experienced manifested results of those choices but so many people think that they can magically make it happen without actually having to do any real work upon themselves make any real change make any real changes in thoughts and behavior and suddenly the external reality is going to magically change or we can do little things that don't really involve any change like vote for someone give give someone else our support we don't actually have to change and we could somehow vote evil out of office and it never works that way it's not how reality operates people who are holding onto power are not going to want to give it up we have to say no to helping them with their plans ultimately to say well if you want to try to get that done you're going to have to do it by yourself because i'm not helping you that's where the real power to create change lies so everybody listening within the sound of my voice if you're still involved in an institution that you know is not helping humanity move forward or evolve there is no other solution than non-compliance with that institution it isn't about voting to get other people to tell those institutions hey stop stop oppressing those people or just oppress them a little bit less you know don't beat them on a daily basis why don't you try beating them on a weekly basis instead you know that's the equivalent of begging dominators for your rights you know let's try to vote for less aggressive coercion and violence please daddy don't beat me every single day take a day off here and there yeah it'll that'll work sure we'll continue to break down these four allegories we'll move on to equilibrium next we'll list two what on earth is happening here on the oracle podcast and radio network stay with us ladies and gentlemen [Music] all right folks we're back i'm not passing though my website is what on earth is happening.com let's move on to the next allegorical movie and break down the concept of hypothesis we're saying no contained within that film this movie is equilibrium depicted on image number seven on the website this is a masonic allegory the entire movie is a masonic allegory and i would say it is a light masonic allegory it is put out there by someone who understands freemasonry at a pretty deep level is familiar with its symbolism okay and is telling a moral teaching a moral lesson in this movie and hard moral lessons i might add things that many people will be very uncomfortable with okay they're not mincing any words they're not uh pulling any punches okay they're not holding back in this allegory it is hard harsh lessons about reality that are taught in this film let me see if i could set this up okay and again people should definitely check these movies out for themself and watch them a number of times not just once to really understand and let the allegory sink in but it's a totalitarian state okay that has basically taken over the world after uh i guess you know humanity uh basically fought a bunch of wars and almost destroyed themselves similar in that regard to the new allegorical film the hunger games i just uh saw that i thought it was excellent and i also uh read two of the books i'm in the middle of the third one uh you know nobody sent me any spoilers because i'm anxious to see how it turns out but uh also a powerful um allegorical film about you know it's a warning about what could happen if we stay on this course that we're on but um to go back to equilibrium there's a totalitarian state that has taken over uh they basically call themselves the tetragrammaton that's what the name of the government in this dystopian future is and that's a name for god and it's very appropriate they think they're god they think they own everyone they think they can slaughter anyone who goes against their will at whim okay just you know immediately take someone out they instantly incinerate summarily judge and incinerate people put them into incinerators who basically disobey them okay and basically they have outlawed all emotion it is illegal to show any compassion or emotion that's how far this totalitarian state has gone okay now they call people who break these laws quote unquote sense criminals or sense offenders sense offenders meaning if they have any compassion or emotion they're cr they're criminals sense offenders they call them okay and this is like an underground group of people or resistance movement that is basically uh you know deciding that they would like to stay human and not to completely destroy the emotional aspect of themselves so they have this um by by the way this uh tetragrammaton government basically keeps people drugged they give them this drug um i i believe the drug itself i can't remember the name of it i think it's called equilibrium it may not be but i'm not sure if that's where the name comes from but um basically they give them a drug that they inject into themselves on a daily basis that keeps their emotions suppressed and this is what television media entertainment indoctrination etc it's that's all it's an allegory for it's a veiled reference to that okay so they have a population of totally emotionally numb people and then there's the sense offenders who basically want to keep their emotions and want to keep art and culture and reading you know if people are found with books they're they're killed they're shot or immediately uh taken and judged and incinerated if they're found with art all art is outlawed and all displays of emotion are outlawed so how they enforce this is through their regular police forces in black uniforms of course all looking like storm troopers and in with a a special clerical or priest class of controllers that are called the gramaton clerics gramaton clerics now look at the words here in this allegory okay gramaton based on words in other words okay the word play the word magic that is all what the law is about okay trying to say that they own natural beings and you must obey them and you must follow their orders and dictates regardless of whether they're moral or not and cleric is a priest someone who's involved in a religion they're telling you this by the word choice people look at this and hear the word tetragrammaton and have no idea what that means unless you've studied the occult or studied at least you know old uh hebrew occult philosophies or even religions the word is sometimes brought up in judaism as well but it's definitely known about in kabbalistic circles and occult teachings as well because it's all about the four elements the four elements that come together and are bound together by spirit earth air water fire and spirit the five elements the quintessence is the fifth again we've talked about that i've talked about this on other shows like um occult empire when i got into alchemy and also rosicrucianism but tetragrammaton means four letter name okay that's basically what it means and it's the forces of nature that comprise the physical world earth air water and fire and then there's the fifth element or the quintessence which is the spirit that imbues them all with life okay so this tetragrammaton or total totalitarian state that thinks it's god is basically run by this central um figurehead called father okay because this is an allegory to god the father okay so father is depicted here on the upper right the upper left is the hero his name in the film is john preston he's played by christian bale father is played by an actor named sean pertwee okay and basically this scene is depicting the end of the film where father has become aware of christian baal not only beginning to feel beginning to develop emotions and display emotions and want to help people in their suffering and want to even help animals because there's a powerful scene with a dog a part of the movie with a dog portrayed in this that finally starts to reach this uh psychopathic individual or at least secondarily psychopathic individual the tetragram the gramaton cleric known as john preston when he starts to experience emotions his partner brandt another gramaton cleric basically wants to turn him in and he does everything he can to alert father to hit to um john preston's betrayal of the tetragrammaton so bale tries to play it up that you know it's the other agent who's really the the uh the traitor and uh who has been working with this resistance effort of of uh sense offenders there's a very powerful there's two other powerful characters in the movie one is named mary o'brien this is the representation of the sacred feminine who reminds preston of his own wife who he lost to the tetragrammaton for showing emotions they killed her basically this woman mary o'brien okay represents the sacred feminine mary the blessed mother okay the sacred feminine the goddess the holy spirit care okay because that's what this movie is about she has a conversation with the christian bale character uh john preston okay and explains to him the purpose of life is to feel because he says well she tries to ask him why do you do anything that you do you know and he wants to say it's all for the power and the glory of this thing [Music] it's so much so far beyond that so deeper than that that ultimate defines pr and that's our inner selves the core of our being which is all about our care explained to him by a woman named mary we'll pick this up on the other side don't go anywhere flawless science believes you deserve the sleep stay asleep when he looks at it with his eyes it's what we see when he looks at it from the sunglasses he's seeing the same things all the way through the subliminal [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening let's continue to break down the allegory of the film equilibrium from 2002 featuring christian bale about apothecis saying no and i said that this is a masonic allegory okay and that really comes to its fruition near the end of the film when christian bale is uh or john preston the tetragrammaton cleric is taken to father's resident he resonance he requests an audience with this psychopath father who is the head of the totalitarian government known as the tetragrammaton because he basically handed over the resistance to them and this was supposed to be a a plot okay so that he could actually kill father father is tipped off to this by the other the partner of john preston who is brandt and basically uh is now letting the christian bail character john preston know that he was aware of his deception he was aware he's a sense criminal and he's basically hooking him up to a machine proving that preston shows emotions so now he he's exposed and known about and he also has the resistance movement in his custody so father is telling john preston you've given not only the resistance over but you've given yourself over to me now you know through this failure of your little uh insurrection and your your plan to kill me and uh just for a moment i'd like to step back and uh i saw in the chat room during the break that someone did alert me to the name of the drug in equilibrium and thank you for that it is prosem and this is extremely allegorical because it's very similar to prozac because that's what it does it's it's an antidepressant okay it keeps your emotions at bay keeps you from really truly feeling the demon drugs as i refer to them selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors ssris so very similar to prozac and it is based on the word prose meaning words again word magic and this movie is all about the word words tetragrammaton gramaton cleric proseum and of course the name of the movie itself equilibrium which for anyone who understands anything about freemasonry they will recognize that as the lost word but what i would say is i no longer even feel that equilibrium is the so-called lost word of freemasonry it is the pathway to the lost word it is the only way you get to the lost word because ladies and gentlemen the true lost word is no that is the lost word that is the word that must be spoken in a chorus of humanity in order to free ourselves and it is the only word that can leave our mouths that has the power ultimately to free this species equilibrium is the pathway balance is the pathway to taking the power into ourselves to speak that lost word of no the most powerful word in creation coming up that was the short segment we're coming up to another break after this break i'm going to continue to break down this masonic allegory here on what on earth is happening and then we're going to look at two more allegories rise of the planet of the apes and the box stay with us ladies and gentlemen you won't want to miss this [Music] welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcasting let's jump right back into our breakdown of these allegorical films that put forward the idea of hypothesis or saying no we're talking about equilibrium a masonic allegory of course and this is really shown in the last scene particularly with preston and brandt dressed in their their light and dark uniforms respectedly respectively uh preston is dressed in all white representing light and brant dressed in black which is representative of darkness father of course wearing all black which is representative of darkness and chaos and evil and control okay so before i break down the last scene i want to talk about one other character the leader of the resistance named jurgen and he explains to the preston character that there are some times when good people in the protection of right need to basically realize a psychopath for what he is and do something about it because they're not going to back down on their own they need to be told no and if you can't convince other people not to say no to them eventually someone has to make a stand against them just like had to happen in this country 230 six years ago you know that's the whole point is that ultimately we're not going to ever get this done the right way unless it's done through understanding unless it's done by the people who do understand right from wrong use their words to put this out into the universe in such a force that people ultimately choose the right over the wrong through an act of their will if that doesn't happen we'll continue to have to do this through the same method which always ends ultimately in failure which is through the necessary use of force and it never succeeds ultimately it always comes back around again because it's never going to ultimately six that's why they call it a revolution a revolution of force always ultimately comes back upon itself that's why we didn't free ourselves after the american revolution because we could not convince people that people should be allowed simply to live free and stop oppressing people's rights because some psychopathic insane individual called calling himself a king thinking that he's god told you to do this just like some psychopathic insane individual thinking himself that he's god a politician told you to say you don't have any natural law rights and we're shutting down your freedom of speech or we're taking your guns etc etc any other number of means that dominators called police and military oppress people's rights every single day of the year and won't say no to their owners to their owners like the good little pets that they are and again they're all too happy to call them that i'm going to be giving coming up on the show i'm going to be giving the uh information regarding the occultic mockery of police and military in this segment similar to the information i gave at the free your mind conference except i'll probably even elaborate on it a little bit more i'm going to be look we're going to be looking at culpability who is morally culpable for what when actions are taken that aren't in harmony with natural law we're going to look at why these individuals do what they do and i've said this before on the show we'll be looking at trauma having experienced past trauma identification with the abuser and victim of trauma we'll be looking at the repression of sexuality especially if it doesn't fit in with a religious notion of what sexuality should be or a cultural notion of what sexuality should be and then the repression and subsequent frustration that develops out of that uh that leads to violent and immoral behavior because these people simply can't accept who they are because culture tells them it should be some other way or religion tells them it should be other way some other way with that being said uh back to the allegory of equilibrium the um jurgen character you know after the mary character mario bro mary o'brien explains to them the importance of emotion the jurgen character also explains to him the importance of sometimes keeping emotion in check because we can't think clearly if we're in emotion we're not if we're in an emotional frenzy we have to basically understand how to control our own emotions as well and sometimes that needs to be pulled back almost entirely to recognize you're not dealing with something someone who's actually like a human being you're dealing with someone who is more like a reptile or an animal whose circumstances or conditions or perhaps even genetics in the case of a primary psychopath okay which we're not going to get into why a primary psychopath exists maybe at a future show we may speculate on on that okay but know that they do exist i've talked about this condition before on past shows and you're not going to talk down a primary psychopath they are simply a stimulus response creature that is never going to listen to reason they're incapable of feeling and ultimately that means they're incapable of truly understanding why they're doing this to themselves at some level they're bringing down upon themselves what always comes down upon them which is an inevitable backlash and again i i told you before it's still a failure it doesn't ultimately get it done so we'll keep going through this this cycle over and over and over and over and over again until enough people wake up to a point where we can convey this information through words and not have to get it done through force because revolution means another turning of the wheel of suffering and that means you have to get it done through force this time well you'll be going around again ladies and gentlemen on the big wheel until you get it right the right way you not only have to get it right meaning free yourself you have to do it the right way which means through the understanding of natural law not just destroying the dominators when they won't back down and have backed you into a corner because you aren't teaching people natural law and this is the failure we're up against now we we went through through it the hard way in the american revolution whether you believe however you want to believe that war was fomented there's so many theories about that the bottom line is lots of people here did want true independence and true freedom and didn't want the creation of a government either they wanted to stop at the declaration of independence they wanted to really institute natural law rights in a real way watch the movie 1776 the abolition of slavery was being discussed in this country back then but because there were certain people who went this far and no further you know i'm gonna have a quote about this at the end of the show about the halfway people the people who go so far and only want things to be good for them okay they want to be free but when it comes to giving everybody their unequivocal freedom then they pull back and say whoa whoa let's not go that far [Music] we'll continue with these allegorical breakdowns on the other side of this break you're listening to what on earth is happening here on oracle broadcast we'll be right [Music] was back a shotgun in my hands behind the gun i'll make my finals day [Music] how appropriate is that this music would play during this exact time when i'm talking about the failure that is inherent in forceful revolution i'm not saying that that may not sometimes be necessary but it's always a failure if it's not followed up by massive true education in the realm of natural law and unfortunately this country massively massively fell short and dropped the ball when it came to doing anything close to that and let me tell you something ladies and gentlemen everything i do on this show and in my personal life is to attempt to avert the necessity of another forceful revolution in this country and i don't use the word violence i use the word forceful because i know the difference between force and violence violence is what is being done to us people who know understand and value their natural law inherent rights under natural law force is what people who are in a defensive mode may need to use to stop a violent aggressor which they have every right to do and i'm telling you right now everything i am doing and have been doing is to attempt to avert that necessity if it becomes necessary it will be chosen but i'm trying to avert that scenario by making it not required not necessary if enough people decide to say no to this control system peacefully willingly and back down from following orders that other people are telling you to do that you have no right to do that aren't right because that's what the whole problem is is order followers who don't question their orders and shut their emotions off don't use their emotions as a guide a moral compass okay and just follow orders because they don't want to think for themselves they don't want to truly have uh take on the personal responsibility for making their own decisions and their own actions and that's what largely police and military are people who hate personal responsibility and hate thinking for themselves they want to be told what to do and think that following orders is some kind of a virtue when in fact it is the antithesis of what virtue is all about because virtue comes from the willful choosing of right over the wrong after having taken in the definitive knowledge of natural law because virtue is about following your conscience obeying your conscience and you can't be going with your conscience if you are obeying the orders of any man no matter how smart you think they are or even how virtuous you think they are virtue is not about listening to me even if you think i'm right virtue is about finding out whether what i was saying the information regarding natural law and right versus wrong was right and then doing the right things things that don't inflict on other people's natural law rights things that don't cause suffering for others so that's what john preston in this movie equilibrium is finally at that level he's finally ready to say no and he's in father's uh stronghold you know and he's uh realizing that they have him and they also have the resistance movement because they've basically played him particularly brandt his the father figure through a screen says to him while he's hooked up to this uh galvanic skin response machine that's displaying his emotions there you see it on the lower left in image number seven the needle's going crazy showing that he's in a fit he's in a rage internally and when father says well you've given us you've given yourself to us calmly and coolly you've given us the resistance and all of this you know you've you've turned over the resistance to us through the failure of your plan and you've also turned yourself over to us totally calmly without any incident whatsoever well at that moment the needle goes completely still meaning that he has now turned off his emotions he is no longer in this emotional frenzy he is now seeing things exactly as they are not on their emotional mind control anymore the emotions are shut off and he can see perfectly clearly as to his situation and what is required and upon that all of the power flows into him and what is the first word that he says you got it no just like neo upon all of that power flowing into him when he knows he's the one when he knows he has come into balance in a state of equilibrium the name of this particular movie john preston just like neo the first word he says is no and he follows that with not without incident meaning maybe you've taken me in the resistance but it's not going to be without incident there will be a price so he goes into finally father's chambers where he's confronted with his guards he takes them out and then he fights with brandt finally and takes brandt out in a very striking fashion watch the movie to see what i mean by that and you'll see in the lower left uh right hand corner of this image here on image number seven uh preston the light has conquered the darkness and he is standing in the middle of the stronghold which is what the octagon represents the octagon and the tau crosses which i went over last week as far as symbolism goes but again that's the hypercube or tesseract which is the dark occult's main symbol which was in the middle of father's offices at his stronghold at the tetragrammaton headquarters the octagon right on the floor so they're they're explaining to you this symbolism and they're explaining to you the allegory that he is the light pillar the power of the sun the light the jockey pillar who conquers the darkness okay he comes to equilibrium with the unification of the left and right brain hemispheres with unification of emotion and action it's a beautiful allegory if it's properly understood he then goes on to turn off the signal turn off the media eventually you know get people off of their prozium and hopefully to re-educate the world about natural law such that this doesn't have to occur again and that's always the failure people want to do the revolutionary act but then they don't want to do they don't want to become a teacher and often it's because they don't still know natural law themselves they waited till it was too late to do it any other way they did it with force and then they still are in a place where they don't understand how it got to be that bad how they how it they got backed into a corner like an animal like that and that's often why they don't start teaching people natural law to see that that same disaster is again averted in the future that's why we're back to the same situation we were in in 1774 and 1775. we're back to the same situation ladies and gentlemen and like i said all i'm trying to do is avert the same outcome because ultimately that forceful revolution is a failure unless it is backed by an enormous re-education effort a mass true education effort to educate people in the realities of how natural law operated to bring them that experience through their own decisions and their own chaotic choices when they went against natural law principles and chose wrong over right they created that situation [Music] i'm going to pick up with the next two allegories on the other side of the break rise of the planet of the apes and fox we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen stay with us welcome back this is what on earth is happening i'm your host mark pacio let's move to the next allegorical breakdown of apophysis in a major hollywood film namely rise of the planet of the apes this came out last year in 2011 and of course it's the beginning of the story about how a basically a race of super apes came to be with highly advanced intelligence and this was done through some sort of genetic modification in a laboratory uh the uh main ape in the film is caesar okay who basically was modified to have human-like intelligence okay and in some ways even beyond human intelligence so upon reaching this state of awareness he doesn't appreciate uh continuing to be treated as an animal kept in a cage and you know just commanded and told everything what to do similar to what is going on on our world right now people being treated like animals in a cage and herded back into the cage whenever they attempt to do anything outside of the dictates of the their dominator owners and then you know they have someone sick people on them with a pain stick just like uh the character um dodge is doing in the scene with caesar there depicted in the upper right hand panel on image number eight in the slide presentation so dodge is kind of like one of the villains who you know wants to keep the apes under wraps he basically hates himself they show you this that he's not you know a popular human person and not a very popular uh man and you know he has a lot of issues psychologically he really doesn't you know he's kind of like borderline psychopathic and he just wants to hurt someone who he considers beneath him that's all that you know he's you generally it's easy for him to do because the apes don't have you know human level intelligence but upon attempting to do this to caesar caesar is a different breed of animal you know he's far in the way of intelligence above these other apes that he is gathered together and jailed with basically and upon getting hit with this pain stick a number of times caesar finally does something that no one has ever heard him do even though he's displayed above average intelligence he speaks for the first time and yes ladies and gentlemen you guessed it the word the word that he says that he screams at the top of his lungs at the top of his voice repeatedly over and over again is no he tells dodge the controller the cop if you will no i'm not going to continue to take this and he basically puts dodge in his place and ultimately gets his other ape friends out of their uh jailed quarters and leads them into freedom in the forests but you know i was saying last week we ultimately know you know if we've seen the other planet of the apes series i don't know what direction they'll take this if they go further with it this is supposed to be like a prelude to all of them what happens is the educational effort really isn't present in the real smart apes okay who who understand the truth about what should be said to control which is no which caesar at least understands in this movie anyway but you know in the future they become the same types of controllers and then they take humans on as their pets and keep them in the dark about their history that they took over the world from them as humanity basically exterminated itself and the few remaining survivors are kept as slaves by the apes again it's the same cycle repeating because people can't ultimately let go of domination of the desire to control other people they can't let go of that because there's something deep inside of them that is still unaddressed imbalances within the individual that is still unaddressed things that they haven't worked on upon themselves things that they haven't dealt with by looking in the mirror and facing it honestly and directly you know it's all things that they don't like about themselves that they're trying to avoid psychologically ignore and somehow think that they can prosper as a result of that ignorance you know and that's what this is all calling people to do is take a look at yourself how much are you involved in what's actually going on have you really withdrawn your support even by what you say are you still saying that this control is necessary these levels of control are you not speaking out about how wrong it is for basic rights to be attempted to be taken away from people like they're doing with saying you're not allowed to protest at national conventions you can't go and speak your mind or even assemble supposedly they're trying to say it the republican national convention coming up they don't even want assembly let alone protesting they're going to set up free speech zones that are miles away from the actual convention people don't have a right to do this you're allowed to assemble and speak period no one's allowed to tell you that you're not ever that's why that's written in the first amendment to the constitution that we allegedly have well you know huma the united states doesn't have a constitution let alone the world we have no constitution we're made of nothing because we won't say no and stand up for rights so ultimately the paper is meaningless the words printed on and are meaningless and the word constitution is meaningless because if you don't have an internal constitution it doesn't matter what's written down on a piece of paper ladies and gentlemen that's why the name is called a constitution it's supposed to be about what you're made of well if you will tolerate that kind of treatment to be corralled and herded like an animal and told where you're allowed to go and what you're allowed to say you deserve that treatment because you don't have any constitution you certainly don't have any courage and ultimately that's the kind of treatment you deserve how about that so until we develop the courage to say no like caesar does in this allegory and say you're not going to continue to treat me like a penned animal and i'll do something about it when i'm confronted with that kind of immoral behavior that you do not have a right to regardless of what some psychopath politician told you you were allowed to do ultimately you have no rights unless you're willing to step up and take courage into your own hands and do something about it you'll continue to get pushed around you don't want to tell anybody that's wrong i think the wives and children of those cops who show up for work should tell their own fathers husbands brothers your disgraceful scum of the earth who think you have rights that you don't have and i'm not going to support you i'm not going to stay with you i don't want to talk to you i don't want to i don't want to be around you until you decide to be a moral human being but no that's not going to happen because hey that it's all about the money you put food on the table you you buy me this and that and that and and and you know we go out to eat and go shopping and i have my nice house and television and you know 100 cable channels you know because that's ultimately what their constitution is isn't it isn't that right ladies and gentlemen that's why people won't even tell these people they don't have a right to do what they're doing because they don't have any courage in constitution ultimately they're as big of a piece of slime trash as the people who are willing to step on someone else's rights are in their silence they're totally complicit by not saying anything to them and that's what someone like that is a piece of human trash they're not really a true human being there's something far less than a human far less than an animal and far less than an ape is what i would say they are i would say most apes have more constitution than that and we think they're somehow lower than us i'll tell you what a lot of animals are made of so much more than most people are you could tell by just looking in their eyes at least they don't worship money as their god at least they're still involved in the natural world and the natural processes and they haven't left the true essence of what they are been ripped away from them and sold for a bag of silver coins as it goes in another allegorical tale so that's the truth folks that's what most people are made of and that's why most people won't say no to these scum thugs i'll break down the box and then perhaps we'll get to the enigmatic image that i left over from last week in the last second the first part on earth is happening here on the broadcast stay with this right back segments [Music] [Music] okay folks last segment for this edition of what on earth is happening let's take a look at the allegory called the box a great film from 2009 starring cameron diaz i highly encourage everyone to check this out it's probably the least known of these four films that i'm talking about that contain hypothesis and this film is about the failure to engage in apophysis the failure to say no um basically what it's about is a choice a simple choice that is made to a 70s suburban couple okay uh a strange gentleman his name is arlington played by frank langella depicted in the upper left with a huge uh disfigured uh scar to that bunch of scar tissue on his face it's actually like a hole in his face really um arrives at the doorstep of this couple uh they are the lewis's norma lewis lewis norma lewis is uh played by cameron diaz and her husband is arthur lewis well this strange character arlington steward shows up at their front door and presents a choice to norma lewis played by cameron diaz he says i'm going to give you this box and it's got a glass dome on it with a button underneath the glass dome the dome is unlocked with a key he gives her the key and he says if you open it and press the button someone who you do not know will die you don't know why you don't know where you definitely don't know them but you don't know what the circumstances are but they will die so you don't know how they will die or why they will die but you will be directly responsible for terminating the life of another human being at your will but if you do it you will receive one million dollars cash free i'm sorry one million dollars tax free in cash delivered the day after you press the box the button on the box well they debated and debated her and the husband and finally she presses the button seen there in the lower right hand image and then the rest of the movie is about the consequences that the couple have to face for doing it for not saying no to clearly an immoral decision that is returned in payment for in payment with money with the fake money federal reserve notes and it turns out that this character played by frank langella our arlington steward is not really human he's a dis corporate entity a disembodied entity that actually inhabits human beings and can actually kind of possess them in large numbers even and basically he has traveled to the earth from somewhere else in the galaxy you don't know where or what he really is in order to present these tests in the form of these boxes to human beings all over the planet to get a cross sampling of the moral fiber of humanity and if enough people press the button which they seemingly always do they will not stop pressing the button they always take the money and think that they can escape with the consequences of an immoral choice okay he he basically tells people that what he's doing well he tells people who are involved in his organization at langley which is uh uh cia okay he tells or nsa he tells people there when pressed as to why he's doing this that he's working for someone else and presenting the data to them and ultimately humanity is doing this to themselves and he's just a data collector that's all he's charged to do and he's going to present the data to his employers and then humanity's fate is going to be in the hands of his employers probably meaning some cosmic entity or some cosmic uh principality that will ultimately be charged with dealing humanity its fate because of what it is doing you know forces of nature in other words that's what the allegory represents you can continue to do immoral things but don't expect good things to happen as a result the universe is always bringing you what you've earned what you deserve it's always working flawlessly that's why we're in the situation we're in because of the moral fiber we have displayed thus far up to this point in our lives we won't say no to evil we won't say no to aggression we won't say no to domination we have that desire to do things that are only good for us regardless of how much suffering or even death it causes for other people and also the other people around us won't even stop us from doing it how much how complicit is the husband who's sitting there with the box in the room and just allows her to press it even though she's the one who's making the decision he doesn't really really truly try to talk her out of it or make it impossible for her to press it he basically lets her do it he softly tries to talk her out of it asking her a few questions about her you know you sure we should do this you know don't you think it's wrong but it's not anything that's even really truly impassioned he certainly doesn't slam down the lid of the box and say are you crazy are you sick is there something dementedly wrong with you for even thinking about doing that you don't hear the husband say that in the film he basically sits back and lets her push it for the most part so that's what the film is about the failure of apophysis not saying no and what it will lead to the kind of suffering it's going to lead to because the sins of the father shall be visited upon the sons and that's ultimately what you see in the movie allegorically because their most beloved person in the world their child a son ultimately is the one who gets this the repercussions of this choice taken out upon him and he suffers the most tremendously so watch the movie the box it's phenomenal in the last couple minutes i just want to say what this image of the clown is all about that i put up here last week it was the last image i never got to it but i'll tell you what this is and it's a story i don't know if i've told i may have mentioned it in an interview or two i really haven't gotten into it much here on what on earth is happening but i emailed a dark occultist that i worked with in the past back in i believe it was early 08 after i had kind of begun my lecture series and uh you know the whole uh truth movement and 911 truth movement was picking up a little bit of steam and people seemed to seemed to me to be waking up i put seemed in uh i'm doing a double air quotes right now um but things seem to be progressing back then at least to me anyway that was my perception of it and i asked him and it's meaningless for me to even drop this person's name because you won't know who it is it's a dark occultist who lives on the east coast that's really all anyone needs to know i sent him an email and asked him i i forget exactly how i worded it what i really wanted to say is what do your owners think about what's going on with the truth movement or with the freedom movement but i didn't use the word owners like because in all honesty he's never done anything to truly insult me or to or you know be vicious toward me i know he still works in the dark occult uh hierarchy okay and still has that mindset and heart set if you will still feels the same way still thinks the same way still lives the same way he has not had an awakening in conscience in any way shape or form may be a genetic psychopath for all i know but um basically had decent conversations with him and was treated respectfully when i was involved in the church of satan and attended certain uh functions where he was present so i just said what are the higher-ups i think was the word that i used what do they think about the truth and freedom movement of what's going on and in the dark occult when they don't really want to be bothered with you they'll often just answer you with a symbol or an image well he didn't send back any words he hit reply on the email and sent back this image a jpeg that he probably just found on the web someplace of a clown as a response to my question of what do the dark occult think of the truth and freedom movement a clown dressed in a polka dot suit with a frilly you know a neck neck piece and frilly arm pieces and you know a multi-colored afro wig and you know a hat uh and uh you know a party horn and the big floppy clown shoes that was the answer and to this day four years later i wish i could say that he's wrong but in a lot of ways i can't because people still do not understand the why of what they're doing and therefore they have shown up without power like merovingen has said because they do not understand the why on the nature of truth buddha once said that there are only two mistakes one can make on the path of truth not starting and not going all the way think about it folks in the section in the solutions section known as the non support of dominators I've been covering this over the last several weeks I have a few more weeks to go with this topic today we're going to be talking about moral culpability I'm gonna wrap up a little bit about what I got to in the later part of the show last week and then we're gonna move on to the topic of culpability or in other words who is at fault is there such a thing as blame and who can be blamed when things go wrong and chaotically is there such a thing and if so who is really at fault that's what moral culpability is about we're going to be discussing that today as part of the non support of dominators section in the entire solutions section of this podcast radio show if you will that's coming up on the show I have a couple of quick news and event announcements this past Monday May 7 2012 I was interviewed on occult science radio with Curtis Davis the illuminated one of the occult Network and we discussed occultism a dark versus light occultism we discussed objective morality we discussed natural law and it was a great night and that is up in the news section on what on earth is happening calm it's the first news item you could check out that interview there as I said last week the truth freedom prosperity documentary night we lost our venue here in Philadelphia for those who generally come out to these meetups we showed documentaries that talk about the causes of the problem and proposed solutions so media Bureau which is where we had been holding them was sold and or at least the building they were operating in was sold so we are unable to meet at the usual meeting place I have arranged with a seen food market on 4th and Monroe streets here in Philadelphia to have the meetings there but we are working out a night of the week it will no longer be on the last Wednesday of the month that is not available at a scene we're going to be doing the Madison market I'll be making an announcement through the meetup group and on the show probably next week as to the new night I'm guessing it's going to be Thursday night but that's still to be determined the ad free sponsorship offer for this show is still on the table as I talked about the last couple of weeks at the beginning of the show contact me if you are interested we'll be right back ladies and gentlemen they're listening to what on earth is happening welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening I'm your host Mark Hasse a my website what on earth is happening calm if if my voice is a little bit shaky today ladies and gentlemen you'll have to forgive me I was out all morning at an event here in Philadelphia it was the Susan komen Cancer Walk and a bunch of activists went out to this to try to give some information put some information into the hands of some of these people who came out to support cancer awareness and and cancer research etc we handed out about a thousand DVDs cancer is curable now it's a phenomenal documentary if you haven't seen it I highly encourage everyone to check it out because it explains how the cures for cancer have been suppressed for well over a century and there are now active cures for cancer to be found great interviews done in that documentary as well including no less than bruce lipton who i also encourage people to check out his information but i've been talking to people all day and just basically saying the same thing we were we were giving out these dvds we were making people aware also of royal raymond rife who also cured cancer almost a hundred years ago and was shut down as a result of doing so and his work confiscated and many people also feel that he was killed while hospitalized himself being given an overdose of a drug whether that was a deliberate effort or you know some sort of an accident or oversight it makes you wonder but I've been just putting out a lot of information for people today and trying to get them to take different pieces of information so I've been using my voice all day long since this morning so if it is a little shaky again I apologize I want to thank some of the other active for coming out to spread that great information to people on this walk and show them that there are alternatives out there there are there are already cures out there you know like Rick Simpsons check out the Rick Simpson story about hemp oil a concentrated hemp oil definitely look up Royal Raymond rife and check out this documentary maybe I'll post a link to it cancer is curable now but I want to thank Tim John Chris and Brian for coming out and doing a great job in distributing that information earlier today you know and it's all about really true care it's all about outreach you know telling people that there are alternatives to these treatments that are get quote treatments that are given today for these diseases that are often more harmful and dangerous than the disease itself so thanks to Tim John Chris and Brian for coming out and doing a great job earlier today in distributing some good positive information so I want to direct everyone to the website to the radio show page as we're getting ready to launch into the topic for discussion today go to the radio show page and underneath the player you will see images for today's show and there are as always a series of numeric links there that you can click on that will bring up the images that go along with the talk for today and of course that will be also posted with the podcast this will be podcast number 107 so as has been the case over the last many weeks the first three images are remaining the same this is the section called the way out or in other words solutions I list the solutions on slide number two that will be taught have been and will be talking about over the next many weeks and the section we're taught the solution in particular we have been talking about is the non support of dominators I'd also like to remind everyone I will not be taking calls today and will not be taking calls until I am satisfied find for myself that I have covered the section on the non-supportive dominators to my own satisfaction that's when I will be taking calls again when I've covered the topics that I want to cover and feel that I have exhausted this section then I will be having I will be doing two entire radio shows with nothing but calls on this topic okay so after I'm finished laying out what I wanted to want to lay out on the non-supportive dominators uninterrupted then I will do two entire radio shows with nothing but phone calls on the topic of the non support of dominators so no no that there is no I will not be taking calls today or probably in the next few weeks over the last many weeks of the show one of the the main topics the main concepts that I have been hammering on is the concept of apophysis apo pH ASIS and this is basically saying no this is learning about the the truth about something by eliminating everything that something is not so it is describing what something is by way of the exclusion of the known negatives regarding that thing okay so you're saying this is definitely not what this is this is not one of its characteristics this is not one of its characteristics or something that that can be said to describe it and then what you're left with is the truth of the essence of that thing or that concept so that having been said apophysis is a powerful method of truth discovery the apophatic inquiry is also known as affirmation through negation finding out what something is by eliminating everything that it is not and this is the way that we really need to understand our rights we need to understand our rights through apophysis through saying no to wrongs we need to understand what we do have a right to do by understanding what we do not have a right to do because it causes harm to another living being it's that simple and the solution on a grand scale is to say no to people who are abusing rights to say no to people who do think that they are God here and have authority over other beings and can just dictate or the way life is going to be and other people are expected to agree that they have some moral obligation to follow somebody just because they're making a claim of authority there is no authority in the three-dimensional realm no man no woman no group of men or group of women or a group of men and women are an authority here and never will be there is no such thing as Authority in human form as I've said numerous times in numerous times WOD infinitum the only authority in this realm is truth itself the only authority here is natural law the laws that govern creation the laws that govern manifestation that's the authority in this realm no man no woman put those laws in place they are inherent to creation itself and the Creator put those laws in place regardless of what you want to think of that force that entity whatever you look at it as that consciousness that intelligence those laws are put in place by something that is not you is not me is not any man or woman the all the totality of creation consciousness itself if you will the living dynamic intelligence that underlies everything put those laws of behavioral consequence in place that we are bound hard and the problem is we're not living according to them not even close you think we have rights that we don't we won't respect rights that do exist we'll pick this up on the other side of the break you're listening to what on earth is happening don't go anywhere welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on the host mark passio before the break we were talking about apophysis or apophatic employee it's about saying no to control ultimately that's what it's all about that's why I put it and featured it so prominently in this section saying no to dominators refusing to support their efforts which ultimately lead to nothing but chaos people think it leads to safety people think it leads to some sort of order but it leads to nothing but chaos in the physical domain the object of life in general is to recognize that the control game is one we should not be participating in at all that's what this image of the initiate in the the cosmic gateway the Stargate if you will between the two pillars okay with the the lintel having the Sun the wind solar disk that's the disk of MOT the goddess of justice and truth and right morality and the the laws of math as they're set down in the Commission tradition or for the in the Egyptian tradition if you will okay are all apophatic they are all about what you did not do in life you have you are asked questions about did you did you do this form of harm and you need to be able to answer I did not do that form of harm in the negative it's all about apophysis saying no did you say no to what was wrong did you say no to evil did you say no to the control game see the the left hand path of Kabbalah could be likened as they call it the path of severity okay now yes it is the the path of looking at the internal nature of self and in the positive light but if we looked at the the left-hand path as a skewing as a going off course just like the right-hand path would because it's not neither one of these are the most direct route from base consciousness to unity consciousness the most direct route is the middle way the middle path the path of wisdom the path of the will this is who the initiate represents standing in between these two opposing pillars the left-hand path would be the path of being a controller you allowed your consciousness to go too much to the left brain hemisphere and therefore you acted as a controller as a Dominator of others the other path of imbalance the right-hand path and again this is one interpretation of the Kabbalistic paths again they mean other things of course but this is one way of seeing these paths as taking someone away from the centering of the self which is not playing the domination game at all not playing the game of control but to go back to the right-hand path this would be not exerting your rights enough not standing up for yourself and allowing yourself to be controlled saying yes to would be masters who are claiming authority over you so the the real name of the game to reach the Stargate okay to reach the light which is what his head is directly pointing at okay and his feet are in the square in the upright orientation of the square meaning morality meaning self mastery meaning really knowing the difference between right and wrong and not being a pawn in someone else's game see this initiate who is saying no that's what the the finger over the lips is it's not doesn't mean silence it means not to say not to speak like the word apophysis is based upon but it ultimately means connotative li to say no that's what enlightenment is all about saying no to that which is wrong you recognize what wrongs are you recognize what you do not have the right to do so this is a powerful image and it's an image used in the mystery traditions and has been used for many many years the initiate is the middle pillar he has recognized all forms of control are an illusion and a game we should not be playing therefore he is now centered he represents the middle pillar which is the spinal column and the awakening of the energy that leads up to the crown chakra of that at the top of the head at the top of the the brain he is the illuminated one he has the illuminated eye on top of his forehead okay he's the middle pillar not being a Dominator and not being willing to be controlled by someone else taking orders he's not an order giver or an order follower he is his own self the self the true self has been born within him so that is what we have been discussing over the last many weeks apophysis and this will be coming up again and again but I want to move to that enigmatic image that I started describing at the end of the show last week this image of a clown in a wacky suit with big clown shoes and a horn okay and a multicolored wig I was explaining a story about a few years back after I began speaking and giving presentations I contacted a Satanist that I used to work with when I was a priest within the Church of Satan and again I said for me to give his name is meaningless because no one would know who he is anyway he's not a known figure he's just an individual that I encountered while affiliated with that group with that organization and I sent an email after my awakening and subsequent leaving the dark occult and starting to speak on these topics and I asked him what do your masters for I didn't say it that way to him but for lack of a better term that's really what I was asking him what do the people who still own you because I know you're still involved in Satanism and the dark occult I think I just worded it as what do they the higher-ups quote unquote you know or the people above you in the hierarchy think of the quote truth movement the truth and freedom movement in double quotes okay and in the occult when someone doesn't really isn't really taking your your question even seriously or is brushing you off very often you'll just be given a symbol or a an image as opposed to them taking any time to write any thoughts out or even speak any thoughts to you it's almost like a subtle form of dismissal or laughing at you okay this is an image he emailed me back with no words he sent this image of a clown back to me saying that that's what they think of the quote truth and freedom movements and I left the show I went off the air last week on a dark note saying that I cannot tell anyone that this is untrue I cannot disagree with that statement at the risk of offending my own audience and any but one who takes the quote truth and freedom movements very to heart and seriously I cannot tell anyone that I disagree with his assessment or what I should say is his owners assessment okay the real dark occultists who are really still controlling the game I cannot tell you that their assessment incorrect I wish I could and I'm going to explain that a little bit on the other side of the break about why I personally do feel that way so stay with us and you'll understand what I mean by that you're listening to what on earth is happening here on the Oracle Broadcasting radio network we'll be right back folks welcome back everyone you're listening to what on earth is happening on your host mark passio I was describing this strange image that I was sent by a Satanist years ago when I asked him what the higher level dark o cultists that he still works for thought about the quote truth and freedom movement and I continued to say quote truth and freedom movement because it has not really truly blossomed into a true truth movement or a true freedom movement it is the semblance of one okay it's the quote truth and freedom movement in a guys it's the guise of truth and freedom it's people who say this is what they want but when they're really pressed to go down to the cause of why what is happening is in fact occurring they are absolutely clueless to explain it because they don't have the understanding of natural law in hand and they want freedom for themselves more than anything else you know they don't want freedom for all it isn't about true care it isn't really about truth to them that's the whole problem see what in the equation truth love freedom that's the order that it has to take place in you're never going to get freedom until you go through truth and care true care not mushy Hollywood roam and romance novel depictions of love true love true self respect true self knowledge true self mastery and you're never going to get to that unless you understand the truth about why what is happening is occurring you need to get down to the causes forget about dealing in the realm of effects and unfortunate the quote truth and freedom movement bickers among itself and that this is again I want to make it very clear here this is not what I am doing I am NOT bickering and pointing out things other people specific people are doing wrong and saying you need to do this you need to do that I'm talking about overarching attitudes overarching ways of seeing things that is continued continuing to hold us back because there's no unity see these dark occultists have unity the universe is always going to respect unity even if it's for ill purposes for ill will done in in the name of evil people have a hard time with that concept why else would they be defeating us why else would they be winning and they are winning the people who think we're winning this battle are delusional absolutely delusional I don't know what they're seeing I don't know what they're saying they're seeing the tiny cracks of awakening happening and thinking it's some massive flood of light pouring into the world and it's it's not there's a few people who really understand this dynamic from the level of causality a handful and who are attempting to convey that to people everyone else is focused on infighting trying to disprove this person's theory of how the towers were taken down and then saying anybody who says anything other way is an agent you know disinfo agent bickering about religion bickering about race bickering about any wet thing that divides people or separates them and that's what they're doing creating more divisive nosaka reading unity not getting down to the real causes not getting certainly never talking about natural law there's a handful of people on the earth that discuss this topic there's a handful of people on the earth who really understand it that's why and this is what the dark occultists know they know this ladies and gentlemen they know this definitively they know this is how it is and I can't say that they're wrong about this I can't tell you that their assessment that the truth quote truth and freedom movements are a joke is incorrect or inaccurate I really wish I could say that it really sticks in my craw to have to admit that they're correct about this you know it doesn't make anything that they're doing morally right okay I'm not saying that I'm not saying I agree with what they want to do or what they are doing I'm telling you that regarding this they are correct at least whoever the individual is that suggested that this other Satan has send this image to me I would suggest he has an accurate understanding of the dynamic although he may be on the wrong side he may be on the evil side he still understands how it works he gets it these people know how natural law works and they have successfully subvert it it they have successfully made it such that they are basically getting around it they are bending natural law not fully breaking it that's not really possible but they are bending it to the extent that it is possible to bend it and that's what we're going to talk about here today how they successfully accomplished this this is something a lot of people ask me if natural law is real why do these psychopaths continue to get away with they're getting away with and I'm going to explain that dynamic today on the show why do they continue to get away with what they're doing and you know what ladies and gentlemen I'm going to tell you something that's going to be painful to hear they're going to continue to get away with it for as long as we refuse to say no to them it's going to continue and it's going to ratchet up it's going to get worse it's gonna get more painful it's gonna get more chaotic the more people don't understand the objective nature of morality the objective right and wrong that is inherent to creation and continue to say yes when these people bark out their orders and expect you to just go along and follow it the longer that continues longer that dynamic stays in place the longer these people are going to stay in power and continue to be granted their way by the universe that is how the laws of manifestation work and the New Age movement doesn't want to tell people this they want to put this big smokescreen in place that it's all about just feeling a certain feeling or visualizing something it is about being unified within yourself such that as you think so you feel and so you act and the people who claim make the claim that they want freedom don't have that unity they're not unified in goodness in the way that the dark occultists who are controlling this game are unified in their evil and therefore that evil is always going to triumph get is mad about that get as upset about that get as offended about that as you want that's how the laws of manifestation work and they know it they know this and they have us clowned they have us clowned over it because we don't get it we don't understand that that's why we're having our ass handed to us to put in quite plain and frank terms in this war and like I said get get as mad about that as you want that's how it is you have people bickering over all the things that divide people but never talking about natural law god forbid you know that might imply a little bit of personal responsibility that might imply the will power in your own self to actually say no to exert your will now we can't have that we need to look at what the other guy is saying or doing and try to just punch holes in it you know talk about the littlest my nudist details that this person or that person is doing wrong instead of all the good they have done you know and try to create whatever divisive mistake an in a lot of cases it isn't you know a direct SIOP by an disinfo agent it's just a moron who doesn't know what they're talking about and doesn't understand really what they're doing they're they're they're just an idiot you know they can't really they can't really think on the level of the laws of cause and effect they're incapable of thinking on that level they're incapable of truly assuming real personal responsibility otherwise they'd be doing something profound themselves they wouldn't be sitting there talking about what someone else is doing and again I don't really want to spend too much time on that on anybody in particular I'm not gonna bring up anybody in particular I'm talking about the overarching ways that they're going about trying to do anything about this that are completely ineffective they're never really getting down to the mechanics of how manifestation works and that's why they're powerless to change it so let's really start looking at that how the do those mechanics work and why are we failing so miserably recognizing that we're changing it at any level we'll be right back folks don't go anywhere welcome back everyone this is what on earth is happening on your host mark pass you was explaining the enigmatic image of the clown in a slideshow that goes along with this podcast as being an example of what the dark occultists actually feel and think about the quote truth and freedom movements they don't look at it as a threat at all and I I agree with their assessment because it's completely fragmented it's not unified people don't understand the causes of what they're experiencing and therefore they have no power to change them in the long run the vast majority of these movements actually are still under the erroneous perception and belief system that you're going to be able to change things through politics or voting or a reform of the financial system they think that there's a political or economic solution to the problems that humanity is beset with and that in and of itself displays a complete lack of understanding of the laws of manifestation they're looking for the easy solution they're looking for the solution that doesn't involve introspection that doesn't involve true internal change will just rearrange the furniture on the deck of the Titanic and everything will be wonderful everything will be fine you'll see they don't understand you have to go beyond the realm of effects of already manifested realities to change things at the realm of causality and this is what the next slide is about I analyzed the allegory contained within the matrix regarding the plane of causality a couple of shows back I think it was three shows back and in this movie there they're telling you something in a hidden form and really putting it right out there it's not even so veiled it isn't even so veiled it's pretty blatant as a matter of fact if you know what's being said if you kind of already have some inkling of you know how things actually work the Merovingian in this first movie I'm starting the second movie this is the Matrix Reloaded I'm talking about he is given the name for a reason this is one of the quote Illuminati bloodlines it's one of the ancient bloodlines of occultism that stretches back into the ancient world the Merovingian bloodline that's why he's even named that he is representing the true hidden power the true hidden elite that is actually controlling the entire world because they understand how the realm how the laws of manifestation operate and they also know how to somewhat bend those laws whereas we don't understand how they work at all and are ultimately creating in a completely unconscious way and then work complaining woe is us look at what I made look at what I created it's an utter mess it's a complete mess well you didn't understand how the laws of creation worked and then you want to complain about you created a mess maybe instead of taking all kinds of action that you probably should not be taking or definitely should not be taking you should understand what results are going to come about what manifestations are going to occur as a result of taking those actions before you take them so you won't end up with a big pile of crap on your hands as a result of taking actions that you didn't understand what they were going to result in and unfortunately that's what we have a bunch of people who don't understand the why which is what the Merovingian is explaining in this scene he's telling people you don't understand causality it's the only constant in the universe there are natural laws you work within them you generate one particular kind of result you go against them you generate a different kind of result that's it it always works that way it's not a debate no debate there's no asking even you know how did it become that way all of that is irrelevant completely irrelevant it is that way that is the truth that you need to accept at some level of your being by recognizing simply that's what is that is the way things actually are pointless is it to debate how gravity came into manifestation gravity exists it is manifested you are bound by it it does affect you you can witness the effects you can measure the effects you can calculate the effects and we think it's so different the the laws that govern behavior and the laws that govern the consequences of behavior just because they're not as physical or or as seen but see they are just as physical they're not as seen they manifest the same physical realities but there's a time lag often present this is the great difficulty in recognizing natural law it doesn't immediately display its results it reorganizes the Fiat the dynamic field of intelligence to bring us experiences and sometimes that happens over time so it isn't like you do a wrong and a brick hits you in the face immediately if only if it were only that simple we would get it because there would be immediate physical repercussions for wrongdoing but it doesn't work that way we keep choosing the wrong over the right and slowly over time things become more chaotic more disorganized more painful for us to experience we experience more suffering in the physical domain we experience more controls placed over us in the physical domain and I would argue more my control so it becomes even harder to come out of it the more we make these choices and that's what that's what the manipulators of the world are working with they're they know that's how it works they already know this so they're manipulating people's minds into continuously choosing the wrong behaviors and therefore more chaos results but they're insulated from it because of how they've already positioned themselves and set up society so that they benefit from all of this chaos and ultimately people say well how do they continue to get away with it they're not the ones doing it which is what we're going to talk about today but take a look at that Matrix Reloaded seen again with a Merovingian it's it's posted as a video on the site a few podcasts back and understand what he's saying the nature of the universe we struggle against it we fight to deny it but this is a lie to deny it is a lie causality there is no escaping it we are forever slaves to it but our only hope our only peace is to understand it understand it you are in a physical domain bound by the laws that govern consequences of behavior that's that's immutably true and the proof of that people want to know what the proof of that is the proof of that is the manifested experiences the results the effects that is the proof that those laws are in effect what is happening is the proof that those dynamics are in effect and we are governed by those laws you only need to look at the manifested results to understand the causes and you need to understand the causes to change the manifested results the Merovingian is telling people to understand natural law is the only source of power without the why of what occurs in the plane of causality of causes you are powerless to change the realm of effects the manifested world and he's telling the heroes of the movie in the second movie of the heroes of the trilogy in the second movie that they have come to him asking for you know a favor asking for him to release his power over them by giving them this character the key-maker when they have come to him with no understanding at all why should the The Game Master relinquish all of his power when the people who are asking him to relinquish it are Know Nothings are know-nothings and in this sense I totally agree with the darker cultists of the world he says he sees no reason why he should give up that power no reason at all because they have come to him without power because they have come to him without the understanding of live without the understanding of causality we're gonna pick this up on the other side and break down the plain of causality versus the plain of effects on the other side we'll be right back ambu all right folks you're listening - what on earth is happening on their host mark cassia we're already into the second hour of the broadcast today where does the time go so let's start to pick up on causality versus effects the plane of causes versus the plane of effects this is such critical information to understand and it can be abstract it can be heady you really have to sit and think about this you need to contemplate it you need to actually put it into motion in a scenario in a visualization exercise in your own mind in a contemplative experience not meditative not concentrative but contemplative contemplate on it run through a visualization exercise about this ok let's start with ultimately there's really only two planes of reality on on the mental level there is the plane of effects this is the actual manifested physical realities that have already taken place they have formed they have they have calcified they have hardened they have solidified they are that which is and it's already done it happened it happened in the present moment nothing can change it you're not going to go back into the past and change the manifested reality that already occurred that led to this present moment it's done you can start right now creating consciously in the present moment if you want to change the manifested results but this is the world of effects the plane of effects manifested realities which formed because of their causes and you just look at the word because here's more green language they'll be cause the cause that led to its being be-kaws right in the word you're being told the way that be happens or the actual manifested reality is because of a cause that occurred due to a cause no power to affect any change lies in the plane of effects it is that which has already occurred it is done you are witnessing the result of the cause played out in the physical domain this is where human consciousness seems to be trapped and I put that in quotes because it's a willful decision actually nothing is really holding consciousness there except our stubbornness and being trapped in ego based consciousness in low base conscious awareness and there's many reasons for that yes there's mind control but ultimately it's about the lack of self-respect it's about people who really loathe themselves they love the suffering and enslavement that they're in because at some level they ultimately hate themselves and people want to dismiss that and think I'll know everybody really loves themself everybody might love their lower case as self the physical body and not want to be harmed or not want to experience physical suffering but they don't really love that their true essence the higher self they really don't want anything to do with it they want to run away from it ultimately because they want to run away from personal responsibility which is all this all comes down to that's the ultimate solution be willing to take personal responsibility for what you are creating and 99.9 you know how they say the 99% the 99% ladies and gentlemen does not want that responsibility but the manipulators of this world they're accepting that personal responsibility believe me they accept it they know that they know what they're creating and they take full-on responsibility for it they're creating consciously we're creating unconsciously and that's why there's been no contest up to this point we'll be right back welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening com we were looking at the plane of effects and how on this plane of manifested results that has already come into manifestation has already played out as a physical reality that we experience there is actually no power in that domain to create or effect change you cannot affect change from the realm of that which has already manifested you have to raise your consciousness up to a higher level of awareness which is the plane of causes okay our consciousness is trapped in the plane of effects and I say trapped in quotes because it's not really being willfully held there by some force that we cannot overcome it is being held there by our erroneous notions our erroneous worldviews it is being held there by the human ego that has run out of control it is being held there by the lower self that isn't who we really are the false aspect of self it's being held there by the identification and attachment to that false notion of self and these completely erroneous worldviews that do nothing but create more chaos and suffering in our lives that we cling to dogmatically as a religion because we don't want to face our true higher selves and we don't want to admit that we have created all of this chaos and suffering as a result of our own ignorance there's no one else doing it to us at some fundamental level you could even say the dark occultists aren't the ones actually doing this are they psychopathic yes do they have a completely horrific poisoned worldview yes is what they're telling people to do moral no but are they the ones actually doing what they're telling people to do no see that's the key lies right there ladies and gentlemen they're not the people who were doing the wrong they're the ones who are telling people to do the wrong that's what has to be grasped that's what needs to be understood and that's the reason they get away with what they get away with and will continue for as long as we continue to do their bidding and specifically for as long as two major groups of individuals continue to do their bidding the plane of effects no power lies there and our consciousness unfortunately is still trapped there as a whole as a species mind our mind and our will has to take a higher road it has to go up toward the plane of causality which lies above the plane of effects you could look at this as precipitation you can look at the plane of causality as the layer that generates the weather and then there's actually precipitation that forms and goes down to the ground where it then becomes part of our daily experience and that's the plane of effects look at it like that the higher realm is where it's generated then it actually is manifested and we experience it in the lower realm if you want to make a change to that you are not going to make changes to the weather on the ground you have to make it in the in the stratosphere in the light the layer of the atmosphere where weather actually occurs so you have to rise up to that plane of reality that plane is the plane of causality or simply the plane of causes what lies underneath the the manifested results I call the plane of causality the why in all capital letters bold and underlined it is the why that the Merovingian talked about in the Matrix Reloaded that's what the plause allottee is it's the why the reason that underlies and proceeds all manifested reality all manifested results in our daily experience and as such as that being the prime generator as that being the why or the reason things happen all the power to create and effect change lies in that domain in that mental realm the plane of causality this is where our consciousness needs to quote go it's not us actually going anywhere it's us making a fundamental worldview shift and a shift in understanding this is what the paradigm shift that has been heralded is about its making a fundamental change in our consciousness that reflects the understanding of how natural law operates to bring us the experiences that we actually live with so if you want the qualities of those experience to get better to improve and to be less painful so that we're not in as much suffering you have to change things from the level of causality you change the behavior by understanding what causes are those behaviors going to set into motion that are going to play out on the realm of a in the realm of effects it always works the same way you're never going to change the way that works that's how it works folks I'm not telling you because that's my opinion I'm explaining how a law operates I have understood it that's all I'm not the first I'm not gonna be the last there's nothing special about me for having understood that no more than there's anything special about anyone who has understood how gravity operates but unfortunately most people unlike gravity that they accept because they can see it at face value and in real time most people want to reject this natural law that is just as real as gravity because they don't see it play out in real time the direction of manifestation is always from that higher realm to the lower realm it starts in the realm of generation the realm of causality and proceeds down to that lower world the plane of manifested results or the plane of effects it never operates in the opposite direction that's what that arrow there to the left is there to demonstrate and the arrow to the right is to demonstrate that if we want to change what takes place in the plane of effects we must raise our level of understanding and our consciousness to the plane of causality without that you are powerless you have no power you will never create any positive lasting change ever and that's the reason this slide right here the lack of understanding of what is written on this slide is the reason why humanity is that clown that that dark occult this sentiment that's the very reason and we're going to remain clown until we understand that let's pick up on the other side with who's actually generating these negative results it's it's really almost all of us but there's two particular groups that make it particularly bad so we'll pick up with that on the other side of the break stay with us welcome back everyone you're listening - what on earth is happening we were talking about the difference between the plane of causes and the plane of effects and how we are never ever going to change the manifested results that we experience until we raise our consciousness to the level of causality and understand why the manifested experiences that we are living on a day to day basis are taking place most people will reject that till the day that they die and that's fine they obviously want to suffer and love their chains they love their enslavement and they will have it they will have it generously for as long as they stay in that mindset so the people who are really truly bringing this on massively are the people who have decided for a whole lot of different reasons to become people who are engaged in the game of control as what they think of as the controllers the people who actually give orders when in fact they are the order followers and are the dogs are the servants are the actual pets of the dominating manipulative priests class that is actually running this place because we've given our personal responsibility to choose right over wrong and have decided we're going to follow their orders this is the truth this is the unspoken truth of humanity that all too brilliantly was put forward in the New Avengers movie I had a chance to check out and the words of Loki were the most brilliant truth spoken in possibly any film in the last hundred years the villain once again speaks the truth in the movie see this is kind of a little game that they play in Hollywood they put them the the biggest piece of wisdom the biggest piece of truth and knowledge that is irrefutable into the mouths of the the the psychopathic villain who wants to control and dominate everyone it's almost done so that you'll dismiss it well look at that crazy person who's told people the truth you know it's kind of a PSYOP and its own right for anyone who has seen it they'll know what I'm talking about there's a scene where Loki the villain in the Avengers movie comes forward and and you know he's got human he's got this whole crowd at his mercy with his a high-tech weaponry and he's telling people to kneel before him he commands them all to kneel and of course they get down on their knees and kneel because all they're concerned about is their physical well-being so he he tells them this is he says something to the effect of isn't this so much simpler this is the unspoken truth of humanity that you love your servitude that it is your very identity that you love your chains and that in the end you will always be on your knees and then someone speaks up and says not to people like the men like you and he says there are no men like me and the person responds there are always men like you you know but he's telling people the truth he tells them also they were created created to be servants and that's an even bigger unspoken truth of humanity which I won't be getting into today but maybe in the future he's telling people in the open this character in this movie you know basically he's telling the people in the audience looking right out into the audience and telling people the truth about what they are it's the truth folks I wish it wasn't but it is unlike other people I accept what is that's the truth people love their chains they don't want to think for themself they don't want to understand how things work for themselves they would rather live in the chains there is so easily the yoke that is so easily placed upon them by their manipulative overlords because they don't want to think for themselves and they don't want any personal responsibility to do the right thing but the joke's on them that's why their clowned you can't give away that personal responsibility it is impossible you are always responsible for everything that's manifesting always whether you're creating consciously or unconsciously you're the one creating the manifested result whether you know it or not or and whether you understand how it works or not those laws are always in effect you are always using them you are always living with them and under them and you can never give away responsibility for what you're creating it's not possible and these individuals on on image number eight believe that they can give away that personal responsibility as order followers they believe that they can say someone else was giving me orders and I had to unquestioningly obey those orders I had some sort of a moral obligation to obey someone else's orders even if they were wrong these are infants cosmic infants infants in consciousness ultimately people who low themselves at some fundamental level and that's what we're going to start talking about in the very near future on this section coming up on this section on the non supportive dominators why we need to stop looking at these people with any respect whatsoever they're not to be respected if anything they're to be pitied because they're so ill they're so sick and I mean not just mentally emotionally spiritually these are ill people at every level of being they are mentally emotionally in many cases physically and the physical brain damage is able to be measured but most of all spiritually ill individuals who only want to crave some little portion of domination over others because ultimately there they're striving to try to destroy what they hate so much you know they want to project themselves out and see themselves in other people and then go and control it because ultimately they hate themselves we're going to talk about self loathing more in this section I'm gonna have an entire day an entire show on trauma and bullying how these people are or often the bullied not the bullies they became the bullies because they be psychologically identified with their abuser at some point we're going to look at psychological identification and transference these are important psychological understandings to have and and to really keep in mind when we look at the reasons that motivate these people's behavior the reasons they have justified in their own mind for their behavior identification with abuser or victim we're going to have an entire show on repressed sexuality and a complete show on repressed sexuality particularly repressed homosexuality because that's another big huge huge part of why these people go into these roles gigantic part that needs to be understood and I'm probably going to do a whole show about the utter hatred the loathing of the inescapability of personal responsibility that that can never be abandoned and ultimately that's what people want to do more than anything else is abandon what they can never abandon you can never get rid of that it is an impossibility under natural law you cannot abdicate personal responsibility but this is what people try to do it all turns because they don't want to be an adult they want to remain this cosmic infant this cosmic no nothing and it's a perfect word no to nothing they won't say no to anything no nothing it's because they don't have any knowledge of what is true and what is real and how the laws of manifest and work that's why they won't say no you see how the language works have I have I made it clear over this this 2-year period how it really operates green language is amazing if you really get down to grasp in it we're going to look at conscience and following orders on the other side of this bridge stay with us we can't stop someone who has raised their consciousness up to a truly high level and understands the laws that govern our manifested reality unfortunately there is such a small number of them and it looks like that number really isn't growing too significantly if I had to be honest about what I see you know I try not to blow smoke up people's rear end and give them false hope and tell them everything's going to be ok and everybody's getting it and the world is waking up I would love to be able to come on here and tell you that but do I see that actual reality shaping and taking place I personally do not I have to be honest about you and I'm not saying I'm honest with you I'm not saying that I don't come on here and say that to discourage anyone or make people feel bad or tell you you shouldn't continue to go forward into truth and speak truth and be an activist or anything like that that it's all for naught it's not all for naught even if we don't accomplish what we are setting out to accomplish in the physical domain which is true freedom doing what we know to be right is victory in and of itself because this realm is not the higher realm yeah the the evil ones may actually win the physical game but they're not gonna win the game in the higher realm and they're ultimately gonna pay a price for what they do here I do know that that's not my belief either I know those laws exist and they're going to be held accountable they ultimately know this they're not fooling themselves see you know in a big way that clown suit really belongs on them to be honest they've ultimately clown themselves they think they've clown us but ultimately they've clown themselves they've played themselves these dark occultists they don't understand that it doesn't really make a difference even if they win in this realm at a cosmic level of awareness yeah it's going to actually matter it's gonna affect a lot of people's lives that experience is real you could go down and go down to the understanding of that matter actually is only vibratory energy and is not real as such as hard physical thing and it's just pure energy at some fundamental level but the experience of that realm is real because it takes place in mind in consciousness which is real so ultimately these people the jokes ultimately on them yes we're allowing ourselves to be played but at some higher cosmic level they're ultimately playing themselves these dark occultists the whole maxim of you know what does it benefit someone if they gain the whole world and lose their soul lose true connection to their higher self which is what is of real value and real importance so let's look at their minions because that's who's really bringing in the dark new world order is the minions of these dark cultists the people who are willing to follow their orders and dictates because they think that they are an authority that they have to follow the dictates of these psychopathic people and many of them many of the people in these institutions such as the military and police are psychopathic and secondarily psychopathic it's another reason they gravitate toward an institution that is there to inflict pain they know that at an intuitive level what they want to give you some nonsense BS excuses about how they really want to help people these are people who really want to hurt people otherwise they would if they you wanted to help people truly wanted to help people and you really take took a look at deeply the best way to help people you would understand there's only one way to do that and that's through true education you have to get to the truth about what's really taking place and educate people about and that's the only way you can really be of true assistance and help to the people of this realm not by trying to control them not by trying to create some BS fake form of order that equates to nothing but slavery you through your actions military and police are putting people into deeper and deeper and deeper chains and you don't even understand that you're putting your children into deep chains of bondage because of who you're listening to who you're paying attention to and who you're ultimately obeying and I'll tell that right to one of your faces right to one of your faces because that's the truth and it doesn't matter that it came from me it's the truth no matter who spoke it that's why we're going into a hell world the prison planet if you will that's the very reason is because people don't understand you're never going to create any positive change by dealing with the manifested results you only can create any true lasting positive change by raising your consciousness to the plane of causality and then teaching how that those laws actually govern and create and generate the manifested results that you're getting so until you change that way of thinking and ultimately that way of behaving that is generating those results do not expect those results to change and this is the fatal fundamental flaw that the truth and quote truth and freedom movements make on a daily basis they want to rearrange the furniture on the Titanic and expect a different result they want to do the same thing and expect a different result oh yeah you can vote you can vote the controllers out of office you didn't know yeah we just need a reformed monetary policy and the problems of human consciousness wall evaporate boom just like that overnight just like that yeah you didn't know that's how it works and yeah I'm being sarcastic because I mean these people are so insane that they actually believe you can do the same thing and get a different result that end which is the actual definition of insanity that's what a crazy person does that's what somebody who has lost all mental faculties does they keep doing the same thing the same result is given to them over and over and over and yet they continue to do the same thing claiming all the while they want a different result and are horribly upset with the result they've already gotten and yet they continue to do the same thing it's madness that's the definition of madness people say it's not all cops and not all soldiers you know this is part of not going far enough in your understanding and thinking that there is no such thing as a blanket statement that can be true this is part of relativism as it is taught to people hammered into their heads from the day that they're born the any statement that starts with all or always is automatically false in a lot of people's minds and that's not the case there are some blanket statements that are totally true and that there are some blanket statements that are not true that are made by ignorant people you can't just say someone who says all or always or everyone is automatically incorrect because that's not the case there are some instances where you can say all every always every time everyone and it'd be an accurate statement there are some things that are absolute truth is absolute so by definition if you are taking the role of an order follower and you're saying I'm going to do what I'm told by definition you have abandoned conscience every person who does that not some not a few not most all people who have done that have abandoned conscience every / who steps into the role of an order follower has abandoned the exercise of their own conscience of conscience I don't even say I don't even want to say their own conscience strike that of conscience itself conscience is the same for everyone there is no my conscience your conscience his conscience her conscience there is only conscience common knowledge that's what the word means con meaning together with or common and science from ski o ski ra in Latin meaning to know to understand knowledge common sense common knowledge knowledge that is true for everyone that is the same for everyone that's what conscience is the definitive understanding of the difference between right and wrong objectively and these people have abandoned this knowledge they don't want it they don't want the personal responsibility that goes on with the taking in of the knowledge of conscience of common sense therefore they want to give away their powers of mental judgment and behavior okay of control over their behavior to someone else here you have the reins on my behavior you tell me what to do that is by definition the abandonment of conscience and no one can refute that that is the definition so every one of those people has made a decision to abandon conscience and as a result cannot be actively for themselves choosing the good over the wrong choosing rights over wrong it is an impossibility those two things are antithesis of each other biometric opposites we'll be right back don't go anywhere welcome back everyone this is the last segment of this edition of what on earth is happening here on Oracle broadcasting I'm your host mark passio my website what on earth is happening calm we're talking about the diametric opposition the polar antithesis of being an order follower and being one who exercises conscience these two things cannot exist simultaneously they are diametrically opposed one is the exact opposite of the other people don't want to accept that truth they want to believe you can go into an institution that is all about the following of orders and still be a person that exercises conscience and that's an impossibility it doesn't exist it never has existed it never will exist by definition it cannot exist but because people's mindset is clouded and has been bombarded with these notions of respect and admiration for the this control class they actually believe that these are people of conscience that they could be people of conscience maybe they could have conscience and exercise it in their daily lives not operating as one of these controllers but as soon as that role is taken up and you're saying I will follow orders you have abandoned conscience so in that role you cannot have conscience and be following it actually be exercising it it is not a possibility I don't know if people are even capable of comprehending this I think that most people literally have been dumbed down to such a degree that it's not even possible for them to comprehend that basic philosophy conscience is doing what you know to be right following orders is just that taking an order from another and then doing the action regardless of whether the order is right or not that's what an order follower is somebody who's unthinkingly acts because they've given up their logical processing thinking critical thinking capabilities and said you just tell me what to do that's the definition of order following which is why we have to get our mindset out of respect for this modality of Conch of unconsciousness it doesn't is on it is unworthy and undeserving of any respect whatsoever it is deplorable and loathsome and should be avoided at all costs and should be pointed out as something that is horrible this is what how bad people think and behave it is the hallmark of bad thinking and bad behavior doing what you're told you shouldn't do anything because you were told to do it you should do anything because you know it to be the correct and moral thing to do and it will not generate chaos in your life or anyone else's slide number 10 people should just put this on their screen blow it up as big as you can and contemplate it for hours if that's what it takes that's the result of following orders period this is what order following gets you in life and always has brought us now regardless of where that picture was taken it could have been taken in a concentration camp in Russia or in Germany or in Poland ultimately this is an archetypal image that shows people this is going to be result the result if you refuse to say no to order following and if you refuse to say no to the people who think they have a right to just follow orders unquestioningly both groups of people need to say no humanity who is being accosted and having their rights devoured by these unthinking people who think they have rights that they don't and that those people themselves need to develop develop enough self-respect for themselves to come forward and say no to their owners whoo look at them as dogs that's another thing that's gonna be coming up on the show after I go through the all the physical things and the worldly aspects of this even the philosophical ones as well okay if why these people act the way they act I'm then going to before we go to the the two shows on taking calls on this I'm going to go to the occult aspects of this the dark occult aspects of how the occultists view their order followers and you would think oh they love them and want them always to be around and they couldn't get done what they're going to get done without them and so they're gonna treat them with respect and nothing could be farther from the truth they loathe them more than they loathe the general population they call them their dogs their pets that's their name for them and I'm going to show you all the ways they ritualistically through symbolism symbolically Mock the beings that they call their pets the military and the police at every turn they're being viciously wickedly mocked but never through direct words sometimes sometimes it's not true very occasionally through their actual words of these this psychopathic class but it's much less frequent that it's ever done verbally it's always done symbolically and ritualistically that's how they love to tell people what they think of them through a symbol or an image okay the excuse the justification the moral justification that I was just following orders is never a valid excuse or justification for immoral criminal behavior and should never be accepted by anyone as such that's the problem as too many people are willing to say well it's not the police and militaries are doing you know they're just following their orders as if that makes it okay see it's justification the process of creating a right that does not exist exist creating a right making up what is right saying that's okay that's right you're allowed to do that it's okay that you did that and it's never right it's never a justification it can never be made into right it's always wrong so I was just following orders it should never be accepted as a valid justification for immoral behavior these people are doing criminal behavior when they abuse rights or harm other people by thinking that they have rights which they do not possess that no one possesses so here's the question I want to leave people with for the day okay and this is something I want to talk a little bit more about at the top of the next show but I would like people to here's a homework assignment for the show for this show okay so for the listeners and the people listening on podcast here is a homework assignment start this discussion among anyone you are acquainted with or are affiliated with your family members your friends co-workers whoever you can begin this conversation with ask this question first of all you should think about this question very deeply contemplated here's another slide you should put up on the screen and think about this the answer to this question for hours who is more morally culpable and culpability means who is at fault who is the one who made the mistake who is the one who can be blamed for the negative consequences or repercussions of that behavior having been taken that's what it comes from the latin noun culpa which means fault or blame in the latin language that's where a culpable comes from meaning able to be blamed there is such a thing as fault see the New Age movement this complete fabricated consciousness quote quote consciousness movement called the New Age movement once that's how people there's no such thing as blame no one's to blame it's nobody's fault no one actually did the harm there's no harm done no one's at fault nobody's to blame go back to sleep children you can never point a finger and say I didn't act like that you did you created the chaos you created the harm you created the suffering you got to be honest are you involved are you actually doing harm to and if you're not I would say you need to call somebody out on their crap on their junk that they don't have a right to be doing so who's more more morally culpable or at fault the order Giver or the order follower and I would say without any hesitation it's always the order follower who bears the brunt of the moral culpability and we're going to look at this next week finally I'll wrap it up with that same quote from Buddha there are only two mistakes you make on the path to truth not starting and not going all the way that's all the time we have this for this week folks we'll see you next week
